NATIONAL GUILD OF WEAVERS BEGINS 2-WEEK MEET TUESDAY

The tenth session of the National Conference of American Handweavers will occur the last two weeks of August on the Willamette campus and sponsors of the session are the members of the Salem Weavers' Guild. There will be a two weeks course beginning 9:A. M. Aug. 19, and ending 12:noon, Aug. 29. One semester hour credit will be given for the full course, the only qualification being that the person taking the course for credit be above freshman rank in some accredited institution of higher learning.

Both beginners and advanced students may join, all who are sincerely interested in acquiring a thorough and authentic background for the weaving craft. Hobbyist, teachers, art directors, social workers, home makers, club women and occupational therapists, all unite in a period of study, observation, personal consultation, thread analysis, draft writing, and practical activity periods of spinning, weaving, belt-making, knot tying, etc.

The number of looms approximates the number of attendants. Work is carefully balanced between theory and practise. There will be printed forms recording processes.

Very constructive exhibits of handwovens by the staff as well as a collection of weaving literature will be shown.

There will be a $10. registration fee with the balance payable at opening of conference. The cost of the two weeks course will be $45. The cost of the single week is $30.

Registration will be at Lausanne hall Aug. 18, 5-9 P.M. for the first week course, and Aug. 24, 5-9 P.M. for the second week's course.

OLD OPERA OPUS ONEROUS

The strange characters in three-cornered hats and curls who have haunted the steps of Waller hall in the evenings of this last week were not ghosts, although they wore themselves down almost to that point in the final week of rehearsals for "The Beggar's Opera," interrupted by examinations, seminars, classes and such inconsequential things.

Along with the ordinary routine there were added the shocks that came from seeing themselves in costume and make-up and then looking around and trying to find their friends.

Mr. Ringnald was make-up man, and when he got through with a character-- it was just that. Screams from Waller might have been from Palmer Lee or Helen Ward or Bob Guild as they first looked at themselves in the mirror after Mr. Ring got through with them. Or they might have come from Terry Cakes as her cruel father pinched her; or they might have been wrung from Paulie Wallace as her also cruel father threw her across the stage. But it is far more probable that the yells came from the whole cast as it took its first look at Reid Shelton in blonde curls.

In the afternoon Bob Scott might be found in a Moslem attitude of prayer, gently beating the carpet of Waller with his fists as he saw the difficulties of building the set, or Frances Sopp could be found perched on a tall ladder painting while the cast rushed back and forth underneath. The Music department had its troubles, too.

"Stand up and sing," Dean Geist would say, and at first nothing at all happened, but after perhaps the third time, he had singers going. Katherine Schissler spent so much of the summer transposing and copying music that she sees notes going up and down staves, and when Wally Bjerke came in to play the violin, he began to see them, too.

Nevertheless everything is ready for the "Boggar's Opera," to begin tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

ON VACATION

It was announced this week from the president's office that president G. Herbert Smith is now taking a vacation and will be back on the campus the early part of next week.

FENIX REPORTS BIG YEAR AHEAD

Robert W. Fenix, Willamette university business manager reporting Thursday on campus conditions expressed the opinion that the university will have its most successful year coming up.

Though the new dormitory will be completed structurally in December, he said because of fixture installations and built-in furniture installations, occupancy of the building would be delayed until the month of February, 1948.

The shortage of housing for students, he said, would probably be the most hazardous drawback to the success of the coming semester.

Summer session attendance is the highest on record, and there is every indication, he said that the coming year will probably bring another record attendance.

Some of the things he mentioned to take care of this record attendance expected are the further remodeling of Eaton and Waller halls, much of which is completed; the addition of a large classroom in the basement of the law building to be begun this fall; the completion of work on Chresto cottage for use for fall semester social gatherings; the completion of the new buildings west of Sweetland grandstand to house music and art department facilities and a complete landscaping of the area along Mill creek as a park area. The new infirmary building will also be ready for use for the fall term, Fenix said.

VENEREAL ILLS DISCUSSED

Promiscuity is the largest cause of the spread of venereal diseases. And the underlying reasons for promiscuity are "personal disorganization" and "social disorganization." Dr. A. Weinzirl of the U. of O. medical school enlarged on this central idea in his lecture Tuesday night on the "Sociological Significance of Ven-

GATKE TO ATTEND FRAT MEET IN OHIO

Dr. Robert M. Gatke, the genial professor of political science, instructing mainly in Soviet and United Nations courses during the summer session, will leave Salem at the end of next week to attend the Sigma Chi Training Conference in Bowling Green, Ohio, August 31 through September 6.

Dr. Gatke, as representative from the Delta Zeta chapter here will be the guest of the national organization at the conference to which all U.S. chapters are invited to send their chapter advisers consisting of the presidents and managers of the chapter.

He said Thursday that he had not drawn up his itinerary yet but hopes to stop in Chicago to visit relatives and make other brief visits along the way.

He has scheduled the end of his summer session work to make it possible to leave at the end of next week, he said.

ereal Disease."

One kind of personal disorganization he named could result from the feeling of insecurity of a child growing up in a discordant home.

Social disorganization, he explained, resulted from certain groups being "economically depressed, culturally ignored, and educationally neglected."

Thus, the complete control of V.D., Dr. Weinzirl said, would come as a by-product of the "elimination of chaos from our lives," both as individuals and as groups. All leaders -- teachers, industrial and labor leaders parents, and others "must become statesmen" to bring about this goal.

Next Tuesday's lecture, "Prospects for the Future" by Dr. O. R. Chambers, head of the psychology department at O.S.C., will describe the current radical changes in family life and what it may be like in the future. Time and place -- Music hall, 7:30 P.M.

INTRODUCING W.U.'S COACH LEWIS

Willamette's other half of the new coaching team, John Lewis, is now on the campus, and surprisingly enough, has already settled down in a large residence on South High.

Prior to arriving on the campus about two weeks ago Lewis had just wound up a stretch as mentor of the Aero Club team in the A.L. baseball league in Portland.

During a seven year run in coaching, minus two when he served as a Lt. (jg) deck officer on a SG from '44 to '46, Lewis ran up an enviable 59-27 won and loss record in baseball and basketball.

A U of O grad, Lewis began his coaching career as basketball coach at Kent high in Washington in 1940 and remained there until 1942.

Then Roosevelt high of Portland beckoned and Lewis served another two year term, as Basketball and baseball mentor, amassing 40 wins and dropping 18 while there.

As Grant high coach last year, he again proved himself a winner by amassing 11 out 16 on the casaba court and 8 out of 12 on the diamond.

While at Orono, Lewis played varsity basketball and baseball in '35, '36, and '37. After graduating he broke in with Yakima in 1938 as a pitcher and won 12 and lost 7 the first year. In 1939 he developed arm trouble and dropped out near the end of the year with a 9 won 13 lost record.

RUBE REEL

By Ovilce

With the howl, "You can't use ten men", ringing in my ears, I study the calendar for an inspiration. My gosh! There are only eight school days until exams. Calling all Rubes!

Larry McKeel and Marv Goodman come to Portland with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and perform for the first time as pros (football), against the Los Angeles Dons. All Willamette and the Rubes should turn out for the game to be played at Multnomah Stadium this Sunday at 8 PM. Good luck, to a pair of popular W.U. Athletes.

Monday, the big double elimination mural softball title is settled. The unbiased Rube Reel wishes both clubs luck, and may both have the required ton men. The faculty will!

GOLF FINISHED

Because of apparent lack of interest on the part of lower flight participants, the Gold tournament was officially ended this week.

S P O R T S

FACULTY TRIUMPHS TWICE

The rejuvenated Faculty softball team turned in two wins this week in the play-off series, knocking off the favored Rubes in Monday's contest, 5 to 3, and turning back Alpha in Tuesday's game by the score of 7 to 6.

Monday's game saw the Faculty squad push across 3 runs in the second inning on 2 hits, 2 walks, and an infield error to come from behind after the Rubes had taken a 3 to 1 lead in the first inning. Bailey gave up only five hits for the Rubes but got little fielding support.

Tuesday noon the Alpha team staged a 3 run rally in the last inning to throw a giant sized scare into the Faculty club, but Compton bore down to get Bartlett on a fly, ending the game with the tying run on third. The winners collected only three hits off Roth, but four Alpha errors helped to defeat him.

Both the Faculty and Alpha now have one defeat in the double elimination play-offs, necessitating a third game between the two clubs next Monday for the championship.
