

SALEM ALUMNI ARE ORGANIZED

Oscar D. Olson, Harold Eakin are Named for Presidential Office

SEPT. 30 NEXT MEETING

According to the Files About 200 Alumni Live in Salem and Vicinity

The first Salem Willamette university alumni association which is to be fully organized here soon held its first meeting Tuesday, September 9. Oscar D. Olson, local florist and an ex-student of Willamette, acted as temporary chairman for the new organization. A short business meeting was held and Miss Mary Eyre was appointed chairman of a nominating committee. The nominees were announced Saturday and were as follows:

Harold Eakin and Oscar D. Olson are the selections for president. Mrs. C. E. Bates and Mrs. J. H. Lauterman for vice-president; Miss Lillian Scott and Mrs. Ray L. Smith for secretary.

Olson, elected as chairman, states that he will call a meeting early next week—probably September 30, at which time the new officers might be elected and plans made for drawing up a constitution.

In the alumni files in the graduate manager's office, there are some 200 Willamette alumni residing in or near Salem. This group if organized will prove a great help in boosting Willamette. Willamette needs boosters especially among her alumni and all new ideas for progress will be heartily appreciated.

A. S. B. TICKETS AT SPARKS' OFFICE

Student body tickets have been obtainable for the past week on presentation of student fee receipts at the Graduate Manager's office above the gymnasium. 390 have been issued to date, which is a larger number than were issued at this time last year. The student body ticket is important because it admits its holder to all university athletic contests. It also entitles one to the weekly Collegian and the Wallulah, yearly student publication.

Mr. Sparks' office is open only in the afternoon from one o'clock until five.

Chivalry Marks Bookstore Mob as Co-eds Make Friends

Subjects of Conversation Are Weather and Styles

In the latter days of September, all Willamette students come, eventually to the Willamette Book Store—for even football men must occasionally buy a book. A freshman can easily find his way there by following the stream of youth running constantly into the basement of Walker hall—and out again, burdened with many books, but singularly relieved of the burden of money.

The thirst for knowledge—that disgraceful trait which was dragging my fellow students down, down to the very depths of Walker hall basement—sucked me, on the very first day of school, into the stream which was gravitating helplessly toward books and financial destruction. One last look around as I stood on the threshold of the book store; then a hand reached out; I was pulled

W. U. Alumnus Continues Work In Higher School

Teruye Otsuki '30, Will Study for Advanced Degree in Columbia U.

Teruye Otsuki, '30, left September 18 for New York City where she will next week enter Columbia university to study toward an advanced degree. While at Willamette Miss Otsuki majored in sociology and she will continue the study of this subject at Columbia.

She will live at the international house, home of students of various races and nationalities, where international problems are of great interest and much discussed.

Miss Otsuki added experience to her study when several years ago she established a school for small Japanese children in the Labish district where she and they made their homes. In this school Miss Otsuki taught Japanese reading and writing and through it she was able to come into contact with a number of the people of that neighborhood.

Teruye Otsuki came to the United States while she was in high school but because her schooling had been in Japanese entered a grammar school. In a remarkably short time she had caught up with her Japanese education. She graduated from Salem high school in 1925 and that fall entered Willamette university.

Y.M.C.A. PLANS TO REFINISH CHRESTO

Financial Campaign Carried on During Summer Very Successful

Hayes Beall, Y.M.C.A. president, announcing the plans of the organization for the coming year, says the Y.M. will promote social activities on the campus, and especially among the men. The major project to be undertaken is the development of Chresto cottage; and a large part of the budget will be used to help make this possible.

The cottage is not only to be used by the Y.M., but will be a center for meetings or social activities of any group or organization on the campus. The Y.M.C.A. wishes Chresto to be a campus "home" for all the men.

During the summer, response from the alumni to a call for financial aid has been most encouraging, and, in the near future, the freshmen on the campus will be solicited. The Y.M. sent letters to all the men here last year urging Seabeck conference, and also to freshmen acquainting them with the Y.M.

An announcement of great interest to all students is the Y.M.-Y.W. formal reception which will occur October 11th, and will be held at Lausanne hall. Plans are definitely under way for this important event.

The first regular evening meeting will be held October second, with Professor Jones as the main speaker.

The Y. W. will hold its first meeting Thursday evening, Sept. 25, at 7:15 at Lausanne hall. Every member is urged to be present and the freshmen and new girls are especially invited.

In, swallowed up in the crowd, and lost for an hour.

The scene was almost interesting enough to compensate for that, however. All about me was a loud babble of voices. Someone on my right was saying, "And I just told him he'd have to get some other girl!" From the left came, "Why, hello, honey. Where have you been? I was just thinking about you this morning—oh, yes—a lovely time." Then from all sides, "Yes, isn't it hot! I got out my white dress today, and—" "I'm ruined. Every blessed one of my books is going to cost me at least three dollars. The profs that I have, all possess a mania for changing books." "Yeh, the Freshman girl over there—no, that one—I'm gonna have a date with her." "A sophomore rhetoric book and a chemistry book. (Continued on page 2)

OFFICE FILES SHOW 16 DENOMINATIONS

Registration Totals 512; Frosh Have 19 More Men than Women

Five hundred twelve students have completed their registrations in Willamette university, according to Mr. H. M. Tennant, the registrar. Of these, 247 are men and 265 are women.

The Freshman class this year has upset all precedent, in that more men have registered than women. There are 101 men and 82 women, making a total of 183.

Thirteen post-graduate students have enrolled, and it is interesting to note that some of them have come from schools in Texas, Idaho, Kansas and Washington. Last year Willamette had only three post-graduate students.

A new arrangement for the use of offices and classrooms has made possible a greater conservation of space. Two convenient classrooms have been assigned to six of the instructors, three in each room. The other classrooms can then be used by different instructors, during the several periods. Formerly each professor used his classroom for an office, which made it impossible for the room to be used by another class when he had a vacant period. Last year the registrar's office was in the room now occupied by President Doney and Dean Erickson. Moving it across the hall has resulted in greater convenience for all three of them.

Willamette has been generally regarded as a Methodist college. Examination of the registrar's files reveals the fact that sixteen distinct denominations are represented in Willamette this year. They are as follows: Baptist, Methodist, Christian Science, Lutheran, Episcopal, Christian, Presbyterian, Friends, United Brethren, Seventh Day Adventist, Greek Orthodox, Unitarian, Roman Catholic, Congregational, Japanese and Evangelical.

ENGLISH DIVISIONS CHANGED THIS YEAR

On Friday, September 12, one hundred sixty-two Freshmen of Willamette university took the English classification test. Again on September 22, fourteen more took the same examination.

This examination places the students in sections of the English department according to the score received. The department is divided into sections A, B, and C. Eighty-seven students made scores placing them in the A division, twenty-three in the B section, and fifty-eight in the C division.

The examination this year was a time test. This made it somewhat more difficult than the entrance tests in previous years. The head of the English department states, however, that this year's freshmen placed exceptionally high.

There are no freshmen this year taking English entirely without credit as has been the case formerly. Students in the B section do however, take one hour of corrective work besides the regular three credit hours. The C section takes two hours of corrective work besides the three credit hours. This plan is believed by university officials, to be much better than any previously worked out because it enables freshmen of the lower division to complete freshman English during the first year.

Willamette Has First Booth at Fair This Week

Booth, Decorated in School Colors, is Located in Agricultural Building

Willamette university takes a place with other schools and organizations in maintaining a booth at the State Fair this year. The booth is in the form of a writing room, is located in the Agricultural building. It is equipped with writing desks, Willamette stationery, ink, and magazines. Ferns, flowers and pennants make an effective background for the booth. This arrangement was made possible through the efforts of the publicity department, headed by Mr. Tennant, registrar.

W. S. C. BROADCASTS PROGRAM OF SKITS

Student Radio Station Begins October 1 with Elaborate Schedule

Radio station KWSC at Washington State college will start broadcasting October 1 with a gala opening featuring clever collegiate skits, music and humorous bits, according to Arvilla Welsel, student program director.

Both educational and entertaining programs have been arranged for the winter months. Dr. Gordon F. Cadisch, director of the school of business administration, will talk 15 minutes each week on business conditions. The members of the English department will give courses in practical grammar over the air. "Among Modern Writers," a series covering essays, poetry, novels and plays will also be given by the English faculty.

A. E. Drucker, dean of the school of mines and geology, will continue his popular travelogue. He will present musical records of Japan, China and Korea in addition to his talks on those countries. Dr. C. I. Erickson, associate professor of psychology, will give a course in psychology. Prominent students and faculty members will be introduced during the year. Sorority and fraternity singing, which proved so popular last year, will again be on the program as a weekly feature.

W. U. GRADS PASS STATE BAR EXAMS

Percentage Rank of Willamette Lawyers Heads List of Competitors

Out of seventeen men who finished law at Willamette last year, fourteen of that number passed the bar examination which was held in the early part of July, 1930. Willamette ranked first in the percentage of those passing the examination and the law school deserves great praise, because only about 55% of all those who took the examination passed.

Those who finished Willamette law school and passed were: Kenneth Denman, Karl Corey, Jackson, Ralph Campbell, Jesse Turner, John Ebinger, Edward Stader Jr., Bruce Spaulding, Harold Tomlinson, Paul Geddes, Lowell Mundorff, Ian Mac Iver, Bernard Flaxel, William Linfoot.

SUCCESS TO YOU! WE WISH YOU WELL

The Morris Optical company, previously situated at 301-251 First National Bank building, has moved to 444 State street. The Collegian wishes them well, and hopes that in this new location their concern will prosper.

The Y. M. is making plans for a "Stag Feed" which will probably be held next week. Definite announcements will be made later.

New Professors Display Foreign Culture and Work

With French and Russian Degrees

A Russian refugee, formerly a member of the army of the Czar, is among the group of five new professors who are starting their work at Willamette this year.

Ralph B. Winn, psychology and philosophy, is taking the place of Dr. Chas. L. Sherman, who is on leave of absence. Born in Helsinki, Finland, Dr. Winn first attended the University of Petrograd in Russia. Since then he has traveled extensively and has undergone many unusual experiences. During the past two years, Dr. Winn has been affiliated with the University of Southern California, where he has been an advanced student and a teacher. In June of this year, he obtained his Ph. D. at that school. Dr. Winn has had several articles on psychology published in the "Personalist."

Dr. C. P. Cambiaire comes to Willamette university from the University of Louisville, Kentucky. A native of France, Dr. Cambiaire received his first degrees from the University of Lille and the University of Paris. However, schools in the United States have also been attended by Dr. Cambiaire, for he received his A. M. and his Ph. D. at the University of Missouri and the State University of Iowa, respectively. His name is found in the "Who's Who Among North American Writers." 1929-1930, for he has written two books and has contributed to several leading publications. He is the Grand President of Beta Phi Theta. Since he has studied Latin and Greek since he was nine years old, Dr. Cambiaire is well qualified to teach these languages at Willamette during the year's leave of absence of Professor W. E. Kirk, who, with his wife has spent most of the summer on the Vergilian cruise in Europe, where they saw the world famous Passion Play. Professor and Mrs. Kirk are now taking work at Columbia university in New York; he is in classical languages; she in drama.

Dr. Daniel Schulze, a native of Texas, came from the University of Chicago to teach Religion here. Cameron Marshall, although he is originally from Iowa, comes to the school of music here from Brownwood, Texas, where he was in charge of the music department at the Howard Payne college. He has studied music extensively and is a good pianist, as well as being endowed with an excellent voice.

Miss Echo Balderes is the new instructor in women's physical education. She is taking the place of Miss Alda Gale Curry, who has been studying during the summer at the University of California. At present Miss Curry is in New York.

A. S. W. U. ELECTS EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Class and faculty representatives on the executive committee were nominated and elected at the initial meeting of the A. S. W. U. during the chapel hour, September 22.

Senior class nominees were: Frank Van Dyke, Leslie Frewing, Ralph Purvine, and Raymond Waddell. Junior class, Edith Findley and Clara White. Sophomore class, John Nelson, Tyrus Hillway and Harold Ross. Freshman class, Percy Sweet, Ruth Pick, Kathleen Skinner and Fred Blatchford. Edith Lindley and John Nelson were elected by majority vote as representatives of their respective classes. A ballot will be recast in the near future to decide between Frank Van Dyke and Leslie Frewing for senior representative, and Kathleen Skinner and Percy Sweet of the Freshman class. Dean Erickson was unanimously elected to represent the faculty.

Among the other business was the announcement by the Freshman glee committee that the song this year would be a victory song of two stanzas.

Donnell Sanders was elected yell king, after the resignation of Curtis Frenzel, and Charles Gill was unanimously elected as interclass rivalry chairman.

The following people were named to receive awards at the next awards day: Athletics, Eugene Silke; debate, Yvonne Cornell; Collegian, Evelyn High and Bertha Nabcock.

FRANKLINS VISIT ALASKA AND EAST

Both Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Franklin had profitable and interesting summer vacations spent in study and travel. Dr. Franklin attended the meeting of the American Library association held in Los Angeles during July. Later he spent six weeks of study at the University of Chicago where special attention is given to the reading interests of the different classes of people.

Mrs. Franklin went to Alaska on the University of Oregon summer tour.

ALUMNI

The Collegian wishes to announce that all alumni who pay their alumni dues ($1.00) will be sent the Collegian during the ensuing year.

Eastern School Tries Morning Football Game

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (IP)—Marquette university, not satisfied with having had the distinction of introducing night football to the collegiate mid-west last season, will present another novelty in college football this year, when it stages the Thanksgiving day game with Butler university at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Marquette has recorded some of the best football turnouts on Thanksgiving afternoons, but college authorities believe that even more fans will be able to see the game if it is played in the morning.

Members of the Marquette team are reported to be jubilant as they think of the Thanksgiving dinner they have been denied in the past, which now will be theirs after a well-earned shower bath at noon.

WALLULAH EDITOR TO SELECT STAFF SOON

Wallulah cuts have recently been filed in the graduate manager's office. Mr. Sparks states that since the cuts are used by the various organizations of the University they should be kept where they may be easily available. A loan slip, stating the use and time of return of each cut must be filled out before they can be secured.

Work on the Wallulah is progressing speedily, according to Helen Stiles, editor. This year's complete staff will be announced within the next two weeks. Freshmen interested in annual work are again urged to sign up, as there are still positions to be filled.

CHAPIN, EX-W. U. PROF IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Leland Chapin, alumnus of Willamette university, who is a graduate instructor at Stanford university in Palo Alto, and who will in a short time begin his junior year in Stanford law school, was the principal speaker during the chapel period Friday, September 19.

His main topic was the contrast between the American and the Chinese social customs and modes of conversation. The prevalence of such succinct, though pointed, expressions as "and how," "mud in your eye," and "oh, yeah?" he attributes to the disregard and indifference to old age. The latter should be respected, he holds, only when it is deserving of esteem.

Mr. Chapin was professor of public speaking in this institution during 1928-1929, and prior to that time he taught for a period of four years in a men's college in China.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

Owing to the fact that a number of members have not yet been elected, the Executive committee has had no regular meeting this year. However, the returns of the election will have been determined by the end of the week and the committee will be able to meet for business by next Tuesday, September 20.

Freshmen Don Rook Lids at Strenuous Formal Initiation

Suffering Neophyte Describes Painful Experience

Rook lids were donned by all freshmen after a strenuous initiation last Monday afternoon, September 14.

The process, graphically described by a surviving neophyte, reads as follows:

"The boys were requested to turn their trousers inside out, roll up their right trouser leg to the knee and then take out their left shoe string. All complied with the request and then took the rook's oath. The hardest part of the oath was, to many, to obey the sophas at all times.

"After the oath, the boys showed their 'bibbles' and to those not having their 'bibbles' present were given three 'hacks.' When the 'hacking' was over all marched in serpentine fashion to Lausanne hall, where the girls reviewed the latest in what the well dressed

W. U. MEN DIG UP MAMMOTH

Huge Animal Died at Spring In Hills Near Lebanon 20,000 Years Ago

LIVED AFTER ICE AGE

Specimen Was One of Ancestors of Tropical Elephant it Resembles

Remains of a pre-historic mammoth of one of the later types were removed from a clay-bed lying near a spring some five miles up in the hills above Lebanon Saturday when a party of seventeen faculty members and Willamette students spent a day in studying from actual observation the form of the huge elephant-like creatures which once roamed over North America.

A party led by Professor Herman Clark, geology instructor, Professor Cecil Monk, of the biology department, and Dr. S. B. Laughlin, head of the departments of economics and sociology whose interest in fossil structures has been manifested in a number of expeditions into the different fossil grounds in Oregon during the past summer, followed a suggestion picked up by a former Willamette student as to the whereabouts of buried skeleton, and located the mammoth.

One huge tusk was so decayed by the water which has run over it for thousands of years that it could not be taken out intact but is said to have measured six or eight feet in length. The other tusk which had been broken off sometime during the lifetime of the beast, measures two and a half or three feet long with a diameter of about six inches where it grew out of the skull. The bones of the skull were also in a state of decay. One leg bone about a foot and a half long was discovered.

Although the animal probably died some fifteen or twenty thousand years ago, the wet clay which caused the decay of the bone material had so sealed the body that remains of organic matter were still to be found and a strong odor was given off.

It is thought that this recent discovery lived after the ice age in North America had passed, probably after the time of Paleolithic man.

Mammoths, huge black-haired animals resembling elephants and thought to be the ancestors of the tropical elephants of today, are thought to have lived in this country while portions of what is now the Bering Sea were still dry ground. Remains found in this country tally very closely with those found in France, Spain and Siberia. In Siberia almost perfectly preserved specimens have been found.

Warmer climates in other localities have destroyed many of the remains. The teeth and the tusks are usually the last portions to disappear and it is by these that the animals are recognized as belonging to a certain age. The convulsions on the grinding surface of the one perfect tooth found by Saturday's expedition has led Professor

A FRESHMAN WELCOMES THE SENIORS

Editor's note: It is customary to bid the freshmen welcome upon the issuance of the first COLLEGIAN. This year the freshmen have been welcomed and re-welcomed and now we are going to give them a chance to speak for themselves through the impressions of a

FRESHMEN CO-ED

By Helen Childs

Hello! folks, here we are at last. At first we thought that we had wandered into the wrong place; you know, we expected to see light flannel trousers, golf clubs, and boys playing tricks on the professors scattered here and there over the campus. We had collected our ideas on college life from Hollywood productions (the movies forgot to picture English classifying exams, intelligence tests, and so-forth-and-so-on).

We simply felt lost. There wasn't a single Collegian hanging from the roof of old Eaton waving pennants. What a disappointment! There wasn't even any audible fussing going on and not a single Romeo attempting to sing beneath a window. Then, too, the co-eds were dressed just like other humans. Diamond necklaces and spike heels were conspicuous by their absence. Kidnaping the professors is a sport never indulged in, we are told.

In fact, the only things we found resembling the college days of Jack Oakie were the conversations concerning the food at the girls' dorm and a couple of whoopee Fords.

Anyhow we're here, and we've already discovered that above all things college students don't care to be considered "collegiate a la movie star."

We're striving to discover more interesting things. . . . Because we were on the campus before you were this fall, we the freshman class of 1934 bid you a hearty welcome at Willamette. . . . we feel at home and hope you feel at home with us.

IN RESPONSE

We do feel at home with you—incoming members of the Associated Student Body of Willamette University and we cordially invite you to cooperate with us in making Willamette university the "best in the west." Already it has been approved by the American Association of Universities and Colleges, and placed, by the way, in the upper 200 of the 800 approved; two years ago Willamette women were honored when the American Association of University Women granted a chapter to Willamette. (There are only 160 colleges included in the A. A. U. W. membership); W. U. did brilliantly in the field of athletics last year. But, of course, laurels rested on soon wither so we welcome fresh recruits who with the old-timers can push W. U. along to the place it truly merits in collegiate standing. Will you accept the challenge? Yes?

We wish the faculty would not forget how very much the students enjoyed the informal social affairs with which some of them entertained last year.

Measurement of noted brains at Cornell university has demonstrated that women are equal mentally to men.

A good education is not a vast stock of knowledge acquired, but the stimulus given to mental activity.

Clark to believe this was one of the last mammoths.

About fifteen years ago the owners of the farm upon which the spring and the clay-bed are located, dug out the spring. In their digging several pieces of bone and a peculiar tooth came to light. Only slight curiosity was exhibited at that time, but only a few weeks ago Mark Wald, who last summer graduated from Willamette, was in Lebanon and observed this peculiar tooth among a collection of relics in a store there. Questioning revealed that the tooth had come from the spring.

The party found the remains of the mammoth buried several feet below the surface of the ground and lying on a rock shelf. It is the theory of Professor Clark that the animal was coming to the spring to get a drink and was killed by other huge beasts which existed at that time. Certain it is that the few remains of the skeleton were found scattered and broken.

By using a violet ray, experts were able to determine that the body of a man taken from the drainage canal at Chicago recently was that of a Chinaman. An extracted tooth was used for the test.

Exports from the United States in 1928-29 showed that the use of tobacco is increasing rapidly in China and Japan.

Years Ago

FIVE YEARS AGO

Abraham Lincoln, whom some of the students will recall, was at one time president of our United States, is reputed to have uttered a saying during the course of his career, the gist of which is something like this: No one can insult me but a gentleman—and a gentleman wouldn't.

Which may have nothing to do with the case as this is primarily an account of the game played by the Bearcats last Saturday against Oregon Agriculture college. The game ended in O. A. C.'s favor 51-9.

For the first time in the history of Willamette perhaps, the Freshman class is smaller than the Sophomore class. It is now up to the Freshmen to show that quality makes up for quantity. There are only 125 in the class of 1929, 72 of this number being girls and 53 boys.

What is a Freshman?

We notice that College Humor is offering a prize for the best definition for a Freshman. That ought to be easy. As a freshman, if he has not taken the intelligence test yet, he will tactfully give you to understand that he considers himself next in importance to the college president. But as a Sophomore.

To a Sophomore a Freshman is what little Johnnie from the country on a visit to the metropolis is to his city cousin.

To a Junior: he's a necessary evil.

To a Senior: he's the hope of the college.

To a co-ed: he's a possibility.

To the coach: ambition minus all brains.

To a "Big Sis": an animated question mark.

To his mother: an exceptional child going out into an unappreciative world.

To his father: his son.

To his little brother: a future Red Grange.

TEN YEARS AGO

September 22, 1920

Sweetland field has been the scene of daily football workouts since the opening day of registration, when nearly 20 men answered the initial call for gridiron candidates. Rain was not permitted to interfere with early practice periods which were spent principally in patting the men through setting-up exercises and drill work designed for improving the wind.

The opening of the school year finds four new organizations taking their place in the student life of Willamette. One sorority and three fraternities mark the result of several months of conscientious and determined effort on the part of the various groups of students involved, and in each case the new orders are able to report the first cycle of their experience comfortably housed and equipped to be of real service to their members.

Below are the names and personnel of these organizations: Delta Phi, 332 North Church—Marie Corner, president; Mary Notson, vice-president; Helen McInturf, secretary; Fay Pratt, treasurer; Vivian Isham, manager.

Alpha Psi Delta, 940 Mill St.—Tinkham Gilbert, president; Hubert Wilken, manager. Kappa Gamma Rho, 1133 Court—Raymond Schmale, president; Edward Notson, manager.

New students at Willamette this year were greeted, as they arrived on the campus by the sight of cement mixers, bricks, scaffolds, and all kinds of men and machinery, busily engaged in finishing up the work of reconstructing Waller and building Lausanne Hall, and if it looked somewhat promising to them it surely looked more encouraging to the older students who remember the completion of the buildings were in when they left, last commencement.

Y. W. PLANS JOLLY JAUNT, RECEPTION

Some Y.W.C.A. plans for the year have recently been announced.

The Jolly Jaunt to Chestnut farm is scheduled for October 4. At this time all Big Sisters take their little sisters for an afternoon of fun and food.

The annual "Y.M.-Y.W." reception will be on the evening of October 11. Sometime in the near future, a recognition service will be held for the new members when all the phases of Y.W. organization are presented and explained, and where the new girls are given an opportunity to sign up for the phase of work which interests them most.

Announcements

Dr. Pratt of Portland, well known to all Epworth Leaguers who have been attendants at Institute, will speak at the Leslie M. E. church, corner of South Commercial and Myers streets on the evening of Sunday, October 5 at 7:30 o'clock. He has not announced his subject but is to speak especially to the young folks. All are cordially invited to attend.

please—and double the order, by the way. "Glee club meeting today? Oh, I can't—" "And have you seen the new psych. prof? Say, he's cute, isn't he?"

There was a general struggle to get near the counter. There were others besides me, evidently, who were anxious to get a public speaking, or an astronomy book before they were gone. A faint groan for an instant hushed the babble; but no one was ill. It was only that the last astronomy book was sold. The crowd thinned out a little, with the exit of disappointed astronomy students. With a mighty effort I extricated myself from my position where I had been wedged between two girls, and was precipitated into the front row. Though I was sure I was two inches thinner, my spirits rose. I was in the front row! The worst was over. After all, the first hundred years are the hardest. I heaved deeply again and looked around me.

Over in one corner some boys were leaning against the wall, talking—too chivalrous to join the mob until most of the girls had been served. From time to time, they glanced anxiously at their watches, and then looked with discouraged eyes at the stream of students pouring in an unremitting stream through the door.

Over in another part of the room, a group of girls who had evidently finished their purchases were talking in low tones. Rushing? A party? A good looking boy? What was it that they were speaking of in sepulchral tones?

I had no time to find out, for now was my chance to be waited upon. I shouted forth the names of the books I wanted, and sighed with relief when I found that there were still a few public speaking books left. What luck! I turned to go out, and met some students whom I knew. We stopped and talked, and I wrote my name in my books. Just as I finished, a tall boy pushed through the crowd. Through the general noise, his voice rang out: "Does anyone want to buy a second-hand public speaking book?"

With his words, I was sunk into purpural gloom. My ink was hardly dry—but the deed had been done. And I—who was already so near financial embarrassment—had missed a chance like that! Crushed and blighted, I staggered to my next class.

FACULTY GIVES ITS OPINION OF FROSH

New Program Used for Freshman Week is Approved; Tests Good

This year a new schedule was planned for Freshman week. Before much of the time was taken in explaining the work of the various departments of the school. This year more time was spent in intelligence and aptitude tests. The faculty prefer this new program and find it more practical than the old one. The tests were now at Willamette this fall, but have been used in other colleges throughout the United States. The object of the test is to discover the student's ability and needs.

The first event of Freshman week was an address by Dr. Doney in which he told something of the history and traditions of the school. Other talks given were a talk about student finances by Mr. Eakin, representing the Salem banks, and a talk on student health, by Dr. Power, the school physician.

The following quotations are from the faculty concerning the freshman class:

Dr. Doney: "The best class that has ever entered Willamette university. Each class is better than the one before it and this one is living up to tradition—a very promising class."

Dean Erickson: "It is as good as it is big."

Professor Clark: "This new class has shown a great deal of cooperation."

Every person in the United States is on the average $2.32 poorer than he was a year ago.

Frosh Affairs Lead Campus Social Life

Making life gay for the Freshmen holds the interest in campus social activities each year during the opening weeks of school. Students and faculty combine to make the Frosh's first days at Willamette happy ones. They are reared at receptions and parties till college life seems nothing but play. The beginning of classes soon dispels this dream as social time gives way to studying and parties are put in week-end schedules only.

Faculty Reception
A reception given by the faculty members at Lausanne Hall, Friday, September 12th gave the Freshmen an opportunity to become acquainted with their classmates and to meet the members of the faculty. The soft glow of lights and the warm colors of autumn flowers gave a spirit of friendship.

During the evening Mr. Ronald Craven and Miss Josephine Albert furnished vocal solos, Miss Edith Findley a piano solo, and Miss Helen Pemberton a reading.

Y. M.-Y. W. Party
An evening of fun was sponsored by the campus Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., Saturday evening, September 13. Even dignified upperclassmen entered into the games and athletic contests with enthusiasm.

The program of the evening included piano solos by Miss Margaret Warnke, Miss Edith Findley and a vocal solo by Miss Josephine Albert.

Epworth League
After a week of studying, the Freshmen welcomed the informal evening planned by the First Methodist church Epworth League, Friday, Sept. 19. From eight o'clock till ten-thirty they played and sang.

Beta Chi Honors New House Mother

Mrs. F. A. Elliott, the house mother of Beta Chi, was honored at a tea at the sorority house on State street, Wednesday, September 17th. Autumn colors were featured in the flowers and tapers which added charm to the rooms.

In the receiving line were Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Miss Evelyn High, and Mrs. R. C. Aiken. Those pouring the first hour were Mrs. Paul E. Edwards and Mrs. Paul Wallace, the second hour, Mrs. Frank A. Erickson and Mrs. Connell Dyer.

The guests were entertained by vocal solos by Miss Josephine Albert and piano selections by Miss Rosalind Van Winkle.

Sigma Tau Pledges Entertained

On Wednesday evening, September 17th, the members of Sigma Tau fraternity were hosts for their new pledges at a line party at the Elsinore theater. Later, refreshments were served at the fraternity house on Oak street.

Mrs. Roy S. Keene entertained with a tea recently honoring Miss McGill and Miss Frances Richards, both formerly affiliated with Willamette University.

Mrs. W. V. Johnson is unable to return to Alpha Phi Alpha this year to act as house mother on account of illness. Mrs. Mason Bishop is acting as house mother for the present.

Mr. Leland Chapin has been entertained by the various fraternities while in Salem. Mr. Chapin was a luncheon guest of Alpha Psi Delta on Monday, September 22. He and Dr. H. C. Kohler were dinner guests at the Kappa Gamma Rho house Monday evening.

Miss Dossadean Shackelford and her cousin, Miss Lella French, were visitors at Alpha Phi Alpha Sunday.

Mr. Tom Dodge, who is now attending Oregon State college, was a house guest of Mr. Alfred King at the Kappa house last week.

Miss Ellen Jean Moody spent the first of school with friends in Salem. She will attend the College of Puget Sound this year but may return next year to complete her course at Willamette.

Miss Lucille Schultz spent part of this week at the Beta Chi house. Miss Schultz will attend the University of Washington this year.

Summer Time Is Wedding Time

Summer time was wedding time for a large number of Willamette graduates and students. In Oregon and Washington and far away places, at impressively formal church weddings and delightfully simple home weddings, amid June roses, summer larkspurs, and fall gladiolas they were wed. There were members from each of the sororities and fraternities. Wedding time past, they have made their homes in all parts of the country.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized for: Miss Margaret Wood and Mr. Meredith Woodworth; Miss Margaret Bodine and Mr. Filmer Carter; Miss Viola Carrier and Mr. Harold Byron Renshaw; Miss Margaret Morehouse and Mr. Charles Kaufman; Miss Rose Ellen Hale and Mr. Ian McIver; Miss Frances McGilvra and Mr. Kenneth Litchfield; Miss Dorothy Pemberton and Mr. Gurnee Flesher; Miss Mary Findley and Professor Roy Lockenour; Miss Mary Notson and Mr. Verner Sackett; Miss Doris Phoenix and Mr. Eugene Silke; Miss Georgia Fairbanks and Mr. Vernon Taylor; Miss Elizabeth Silver and Mr. Hubert Armstrong; Miss Virginia Merle Cris and Mr. George Rigby; Miss Ruth Bauer and Mr. John Versteeg; Miss Helen Sande and Mr. Oscar White; Miss Susan Chadwick and Mr. William Hall.

Faculty Club Meet

The first meeting of the Faculty Women's Club for the new school year was held at Lausanne Hall on Thursday, September 18. The greeting to the several new members and to Mrs. Carl G. Doney, who has just returned from the east, was the main feature of the meeting.

Hostesses were Dean Olive M. Dahl, Mrs. Leslie Sparks, Mrs. C. C. Haworth, and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson.

Miss Ruth Warnke of Oregon State college was a week-end guest at Alpha Phi Alpha.

BALDEREE LEADS WOMEN IN SPORTS

The women's gymnasium program for the coming year includes many sports which have never been introduced previously at Willamette. One of the very newest sports is that of hockey, which Miss Echo Baldersee is planning to teach in a class held every Monday at 2:10. If there is enough interest in this sport, possibly field ball will be introduced.

These two sports will be conducted on the athletic field and will probably prove the outstanding sports of the season. Archery is another sport for women which will be continued this year. Practice has already begun and although they are quite small at present, there is promise of a large group who will enter this activity and who will not enter one of a more strenuous type. It is also hoped that an archery meet may be held in the near future as several colleges have declared their desire to undertake a tournament with an archery team at Willamette.

Basketball will be played off early this season; probably starting in two weeks. This decision was reached in order that the women might have the use of the gymnasium for more lengthy practices. Swimming will also be a sport which will expand into a wider program. Tennis for women is going to have an early start and representatives from the different classes have already signed up for the try-outs for the tournament which will be held between the classes.

This program reveals a greater number of activities for women to enter during the first semester and will obliterate the crowding of several activities such as volleyball and baseball later in the spring.

The first book from the Hunter College Press, just established is a Latin text book for adults.

Pledging List is Named by Fraternities

The formal pledging of the new Willamette men took place at the various fraternity houses last week.

Alpha Psi Delta announces the pledging of Mr. Louis B. Hershberger, Mr. Joe Hershberger, Independence; Mr. Douglas W. Sinclair, Oakland, Calif.; Mr. Ted Parker, Toledo, Ohio; Mr. Lowell L. Gribble, Woodburn; Mr. W. Arnold Waring, Mr. Chester Pritchard, Mr. Miles Woodworth and Mr. Tom Hall, Portland; Mr. Arthur Erickson, Clatskanie; Mr. George Douglas, Mr. Paul Girod, Mr. Louis L. Girod, Salem; Mr. Percy Sweet, Bandon; Mr. Robert M. Spencer, Bend; Mr. Joe L. Blanchard, Glendale; Mr. Jim Burdett, McMinnville; Mr. Gerald Carpenter, Woodland, Wash.; Mr. Harold Lamb, Tillamook; Mr. Dwight Miller, Oregon City.

Kappa Gamma Rho announces the formal pledging of Mr. Emerson Baldwin, Woodburn; Mr. Francis Pemberton, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. Robert Colbertson, Mr. Thomas Goynne, Tillamook; Mr. Carl Marcy, Mr. Lawrence Yarnes, Salem; Mr. Eugene Smith, Eugene; Mr. Claude Cook, Estacada; Mr. Wesley Janke, Mr. Fred Harris, Portland.

Formal Dinner Given at Spa

A group of Delta Phi girls met for a formal no-host dinner at the Spa, Friday evening, September 19. The tables were charmingly decorated with fall flowers and candles.

Those present were Miss Virginia Edwards, Miss Edith Findley, Miss Margaret Baird, Miss Bertha Babcock, Miss Mildred Miller, Miss Pauline Findley, Miss Lois Barker, Miss Gertrude Oehler, Miss Elizabeth Clement, Miss Marie Ledbetter, Miss Dorothy Bossart, and Miss Frances Laws.

Leave Conceit Home, Advises Radio Speaker

Conceit is Not the Way to Popularity at College, Says President

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(IP)—The 200,000 or more men and women who are entering college for the first time this fall were advised to "leave their conceit at home," when Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers university, addressed them over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

"Conceit in any society or group is not the way to popularity," he said, "least of all on the college campus. It is better to keep still about one's merits and achievements, and better still entirely to forget them."

"In every college one starts from scratch, and it is wise not to scramble to the first row when the freshman picture is taken. Merit, ability and powers of leadership find their just recognition as surely and as properly on an American college campus as in any place in the world."

Special Appropriations All for Existing State Departments, Seen Here

Although deficiency appropriation authorized this year by the state emergency board aggregates approximately $260,000, all of this amount with the exception of $53,000 was required to care for emergencies existing in various state departments and institutions already created.

The new project for which a deficiency appropriation was authorized is the construction of a new wing at the Oregon state penitentiary at a cost of $53,000 of emergency funds. Approximately $38,000 originally was in hand for the construction of this wing.

Officials said that while this is a new project it was regarded an emergency for the reason that the prison is now crowded to capacity and it has been necessary to assign two men to a cell. It also was necessary to transfer approximately 70 men to the prison annex five miles east of Salem, and house more than 75 men on the second floor of the institution garage. There are now 900 men and women in the penitentiary, or a gain of approximately 100 during the past year.

Temporary Relief To Be Afforded

The new cell block, when completed will house more than 300 prisoners and will relieve temporarily the crowded conditions in the institution. Virtually all of the work will be done by convict labor, and much of the material to be used will be manufactured within the prison walls. Officials estimate that the total cost of the cell block would exceed $85,000.

The emergency board also was required to appropriate $35,000 for the payment of salaries and wages, operation and maintenance and outlays, in connection with the capitol buildings and grounds. The secretary of state explained that this appropriation was requested because of the erection of the new state office building. The legislature, at the time of providing funds for this structure, failed to make any provision for its maintenance. The secretary of state estimated that $35,000 would be needed for this purpose during the remainder of the biennium.

Another deficiency appropriation of $45,000 was needed to care for the salaries and expenses of circuit judges. This deficiency appropriation was inspired by a law enacted at the 1929 legislative session increasing the salaries of circuit judges in certain districts.

The legislature failed to authorize an appropriation to take care of the increased salaries, but passed this on to the secretary of state who is also state auditor, and must approve all claims before they are paid. An additional $3000 also was appropriated by the emergency board to take care of the salaries and expenses of district attorneys.

Irrigation Debt Payments Heavy

There also was appropriated by the emergency board $29,000 to pay interest on bonds issued by irrigation and drainage districts. This appropriation was asked by the state treasurer. A proposed constitutional amendment will be on the ballot at the November election seeking the repeal of the law which makes it incumbent upon the state to pay interest on these bonds for a period of five years.

Another substantial appropriation of $28,500 was authorized by the emergency board to meet the expenses of the Eastern Oregon tuberculosis hospital at The Dalles. This institution was completed only a year ago, and the population exceeded materially the original estimates by officials.

Not Required As Result of New Taxes

Other deficiency appropriations authorized during the past year include $2500 to cover emergency expenses of the state supreme court, $45,977 for the support of homeless, neglected and abused foundlings, and $11,000 for water surveys in Wasco and Harney counties.

Reports that some of the emergency appropriations were authorized because of increased state revenue resulting from operation of the intangibles and excise tax laws, were denied by state officials. It was explained by these officials that money derived from the intangibles and excise tax laws goes into the general fund and is applied toward reducing the property tax.

It was indicated that two additional deficiency appropriations will be required before the current biennium expires. One of these, estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000, probably will be required at the state penitentiary while $5000 will be needed at the state training school for boys.

WRESTLING CLASS BEGINS WORKOUTS

Sport May Become Minor Part of Willamette Athletic Program

It is the keen desire of Roy Mink, student coach at Willamette, and Director Leslie J. Sparks, to make wrestling a minor sport and it is with this ultimate objective in view that classes will be working out in the gymnasium twice a week.

There are two of these groups, the elementary class in which the foundation and elements of wrestling are taken up, and the intermediate class in which more advanced work is done. The morning class meets on Monday and Wednesday at 8:40, and the afternoon class in either the sixth or seventh periods. The squad will also work out each evening after school, and all men interested are urged to report to Roy Mink in the gym.

The wrestling team this year at Willamette will not be supported by the university but will be carried on solely by the enthusiasm of the participants, and, as there is now no wrestling in the northwest conference, there is no hope of making it a minor sport this year. However, this is the second year for wrestling at Willamette, and the men and coaches are confident of turning in a record that will interest the student body and the public to such a degree that the initiating of wrestling as a minor sport will eventually be possible. One of the suggested plans for attracting attention to the team, which may possibly be carried out this year, is the staging of wrestling matches between the halves of basketball games.

Wrestlers are divided into six divisions in a manner similar to boxers. The featherweight is a man weighing around 125 pounds, the lightweight, one of 135 pounds, the welterweight, 145, the middleweight 160, the light heavyweight, around 175, and the heavyweight from 175 up. It will be seen from this list that no man will be outclassed by weight in his matches.

The team made a good record last year. Two men placed in the district Y. M. C. A. meet at Portland, one man in the featherweight class in the northwest championship meet, and two men, one in the heavyweight and one in the welterweight class in the Y. M. C. A. meet at Salem. This is indeed a fine record for men participating in an unrecognized sport, and they are looking forward to greater success this year if supported by the men of the school and the student body as a whole.

Some of the old men are returning this year, including Philpott and Keith Jones, last year's heavyweights, Girod, last year's welterweight, and the hard-working student coach, Roy Mink, a sophomore and a classy featherweight. Although these men are experienced, and some of them placed high in the meets last year, the new men will bring plenty of enthusiasm and fight and the vets are expected to have a struggle for their positions.

HOOVER FINDS NO BOOKS IN MANSION

Nation's Booksellers Decide to Make a Gift of 500 Volumes.

WASHINGTON (IP)—Because the President of the United States could not find a popular book in the executive mansion the first night of his occupancy, the nation's booksellers are now reported to be preparing a collection of five hundred volumes as a gift to the White House.

Such books as Don Quixote, Sherlock Holmes, Tom Sawyer and Uncle Remus, as well as many of the best current novels, are to be included in the list.

The idea is said to have originated with Mr. Watson, father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, Jr., who noticed, the evening after Hoover's inauguration and before the Hoover private library was installed, that members of the family wished to turn to books for relaxation and that none was available.

New York City has 1,200,000 school children.

SCHISLER'S MEN TAKE FIRST TILT

Win 48 to 0 in College Night Game Opener at Corvallis

STATERS START STRONG

Seven Touchdowns Scored and Six Goals Converted in Fray

Smothered under the driving attack of Coach Paul J. Schissler's "mystery team," the Willamette eleven went down to a 48 to 0 defeat at the hands of Oregon State on Bell Field Saturday night in the first collegiate night football game in the Willamette valley. The Staters went through their lighter opponents for seven touchdowns, one each in the first and third, two in the second and three in the final period.

Led by the veteran Cecil Sherwood, big "Red" Rust, a newcomer, from Eastern Normal school, Frank Little, playing his first year on the varsity, "Rowdy" Kerr, and Bill Head, the Oregon State team had everything its own way when it came to running the ball. In the early part of the game Rust and Kerr smashed through for long gains, while Little and Sherwood took up the burden later. Coach Schissler used almost four complete teams during the fray to wear down "Spec" Keene's meager squad.

The Staters scored after nine minutes of play when Little carried the ball over for the first touchdown after Kerr had packed it from his own 35 yards line in two successive runs of 25 and 22 yards. Thompson converted.

Soon after the opening of the second period with the ball deep in Willamette territory Kerr and Little drove through to carry it over for the second score, Little making the final plunge of nine yards.

In the second period when Kaiser intercepted a pass deep in Oregon State territory, Willamette made its first and only serious threat to score. A pass brought the ball to the 13-yard line where the drive was stopped by the husky Staters. A bunch of second string men sent in by Schissler at that point reversed the direction of the ball, a pass, McDonald to Rust, bringing the ball within scoring distance. Two plays brought the touchdown and try for point was successful, making the score 21 to 0 for Oregon State.

Four touchdowns were scored during the last half, Leggett getting the first after a long pass from Ramponi in the third period. With the ball on Willamette's three yard line at the beginning of the final quarter the Oregon State men paved the way for three touchdowns over the tired Willamette team.

Although outweighed over 20 pounds to the man, Spec Keene's squad showed plenty of fight and promise. In one department of the game, running back punts, the Bearcats excelled, and although Erickson had difficulty in judging the kicks under the lights of Bell field, he returned several for sizeable gains. The Oregon State backs were stopped in their tracks repeatedly by the local linemen, especially Jones and Carpenter, who showed the fight that made them all-conference men last year. In the backfield Erickson, DePoe, Kaiser and Lang starred.

Erickson and Gill, guards, were carried from the field during the fray and for a time their injuries were thought serious enough to keep them out of the remainder of the season. Both will be back in time for conference competition, however, Keene says.

After a crushing defeat at the hands of the 2000 pound Oregon State eleven, or rather eleven, the Bearcats go into the final pre-season conflict against the University of Oregon tomorrow night. Yes, it's another night game, the first ever played on Hayward field at Eugene.

Coach "Spec" Keene and his men seem not a whit discouraged after the game Saturday and plan to give the university boys a struggle. Keene plans to be the first to score a touchdown against "Doc" C. W. Spears' men, he says, so it's going to be an interesting fight. From reports, we gather that Spears is driving his men, probably because of the poor showing the team made against Pacific university. The Badgers held them to 20 to 0 last Saturday.

Willamette wasn't the only team that came out of the fray last Saturday night with several injured men. O. S. C., according to word received here, has two of its stellar men in the hospital. Bryce Nosler, quarter, and Red Rust, half, are suffering from severe muscle injuries, while Buerke, Ramponi, and Moe were all more or less seriously injured, although not badly enough to keep them off the field this week.

Our impressions of night football? It was a novelty and seems practical, especially from the financial standpoint. O. S. C. was able to pay Willamette its $750 guarantee besides having a $2000 surplus to send its hand to Chicago for the Oregon State-West Virginia game late this fall. The only thing we didn't like was the fact that you can't distinguish the players as well as by daylight. It is hard to depend upon numbers and shapes, but when one gets accustomed to it, probably it will work out all right.

We got a big jolt out of watching the moths and bats flying across the field and around the lights.

CONFERENCE TEAMS HAVE NEW MENTORS

Linfield and Pacific Among Northwest Schools Who Greet Coaches

At least three new coaches will face Willamette this year, not only in football, but in the other major sports. The new famous "Doc" C. W. Spears, new mentor at the University of Oregon, will pit his team against "Spec" Keene's tomorrow night in a night football game on Hayward field at Eugene.

Spears comes from the University of Minnesota and began his coaching duties at the University of Oregon late last spring. His first actual games, however, will be this fall.

Two northwest conference teams, Pacific and Linfield, have new coaches this year, Eldon Jenne, former coach at Washington high school in Portland, going to Forest Grove, and Henry W. Lever from Myrtle Point succeeding Coach Sielk at Linfield college. Both are expected to have improved teams over those of their predecessors.

The new Linfield coach is the father of "Tommy" Lever, a freshman at Willamette last year.

President Hoover's spacious mansion overlooking the Stanford university campus is for rent.

COACH OPTIMISTIC ABOUT PROSPECTS

Not Disappointed in Team's Showing in O. S. C. Game, He Says

LACKS RESERVE MEN

All Conference Teams Pointed Toward Last Year's Champions

By Bill Waring

"It is hard to say what kind of a team we will have this year," stated Coach "Spec" Keene when interviewed about Willamette's 1930 football prospects. "We have some good material, but our greatest handicap at present is the lack of reserve material. All of the conference teams will be much stronger and there is going to be a tough struggle to gain the championship for any team."

Much of the material lacks experience and it will be hard to tell what the possibilities are until later in the season. The veterans, Carpenter, Ackerman, Philpott, Jones, Haldane, Depoe, Erickson, Lang, and Gill, all help add to the possibilities.

Willamette is going to have a hard time defending its championship because all of the conference teams are going to be much stronger than they were last year. Whitman, College of Idaho and Pacific will be strong contenders. Willamette will have an especially hard time because all teams will be set for them as the main team to beat.

The Willamette Oregon State game last Saturday night by no means showed the team's strength. Most of the Willamette men had only had four days' practice while the Oregon State men had been tossing the pigskin since August. However, the team did well, and Coach Keene said that he was not disappointed. Carpenter, all-conference tackle, time after time would crash through the Stater's line and get down on the punts to hold them for very little return. Erickson, also did some fine running especially in returning the kicks.

Injuries sustained from the Oregon State game may prove to be a large handicap to the team.

FOOTBALL SCHED FOR SEASON GIVEN

Three home games, including the "big" game with Whitman college, who last year lost the championship of the northwest conference to Willamette, are listed on this year's football schedule. The first game with Erickson, Philpott, and Gill all received injuries. Erickson is nursing an injured wrist while Gill is hopping with an injured knee which was dislocated at the game.

"Prospects are not so good," said Keene, "considering that we are supposed to be a championship team. However, if we are not held back too much by injuries, we will have a fair break."

After the Oregon game next Saturday the team will be able to start polishing its offense and get down to real business. Coach Keene is going to work a lot on fundamentals and try to develop a fast, hard-tackling team.

Oregon State college was played last Saturday, Willamette losing 48 to 0.

The conference season will open October 18 when the Bearcats meet the College of Idaho in a night game at Caldwell. A game with the University of Oregon tomorrow night will conclude the pre-season schedule.

With the excursion this year planned for November 15 when the university team meets Eldon Jenne's Pacific University eleven in a night game at Multnomah stadium in Portland, most of the students of the school will be able to take advantage of the trip it is believed. Details of the excursion will be worked out soon and announcement probably made in next week's Collegian.

The complete season's schedule is: Sept. 27, U. of O. at Eugene; Oct. 18, College of Idaho at Caldwell; Oct. 25, College of Puget Sound here (Homecoming); Nov. 11, Linfield at Salem; Nov. 22, Whitman at Salem.
