

"NO QUALIFIED student should be denied an education because of cost. The Reynolds Fund will help assure a future Willamette education for hundreds of students."

The largest endowed scholarship fund in Willamette's 126-year history has been transferred to the University by the Centenary-Wilbur Methodist Church in Portland. The $331,472 Reynolds Trust Fund was transferred from management by the church to the University's endowment.

Income from the trust goes to scholarships for Willamette students who are members of the Methodist Church. The Reynolds Trust Fund will nearly double the income Willamette now receives from endowed scholarships.

The Fund was established by the will of Nettie B. Reynolds, the late widow of John W. Reynolds who graduated from Willamette in 1895 and served as Dean of the College of Law from 1903 to 1907. Amounting to $50,000 in 1943, the fund was under management by Centenary-Wilbur Methodist Church and scholarships were originally granted to students from that church who attended Willamette.

Since then, the Fund has grown to its present size and scholarships have no longer been restricted to members of Centenary-Wilbur, but rather to Methodist students in general. The original trust stipulated that recipients are to be selected on the basis of need, Christian character, scholarship record and demonstrated leadership ability.

This year, 16 students are receiving from $400 to $900 from the Fund.

President of the Reynolds Trust Fund, Dr. Vern Bain, and treasurer James Bergmann are both graduates of Willamette. Bergmann, a Portland attorney, is a former Reynolds scholar.

PRESIDENT G. Herbert Smith (above left) talks with Dr. Vern Bain, (center) president of the Reynolds Trust Fund, and James Bergmann, treasurer, after receiving word of the $331,472 transfer of funds to Willamette's endowment.

Study Abroad & Foreign Students Receive Attention

The commingling of Willamette students with foreign students will be enhanced on two fronts in the near future according to Dean Byron Doenges of the College of Liberal Arts.

First, the University has been invited to affiliate with the Institute of European Studies (IES) to encourage study abroad at five cities in Europe, and secondly, groundwork is in process to encourage more foreign students to study at Willamette.

The IES is comprised of strong liberal arts colleges such as Willamette who desire a very academic, but very flexible, program for foreign study. Centers of study are located in Madrid, Paris, Vienna, Nance (France) and Freiburg (Germany). England is under consideration as a future site.

Some Willamette students have already participated under the IES program, but institutional affiliation will permit Willamette a voice in policy formation according to Dean Doenges. Students attending the foreign schools must be facile in the native language and the programs of study should tie in with courses they are pursuing at Willamette.

Some criticism has been pointed at Willamette for its failure to attract more foreign students. "There's no question that we should be doing more in this area," allows Dean Doenges, "but one of the problems is money. We must be able to offer substantial financial assistance to bring foreign students here." He explained that there is no question as to the availability of foreign students seeking U.S. training, but many of them are seeking specialty courses that a liberal arts college doesn't offer.

On Jan. 18, the director of the National Association of Foreign Student Advisers will meet with Willamette officials to discuss various means of supporting and attracting foreign students. "A program in this area would give Willamette another dimension," concluded the Dean.

Faculty Lifts Requirements on Orals & Comps

Something old, something new, and something borrowed might well describe recent plans on the academic scene at Willamette.

The traditional "ordeal" of oral and comprehensive examinations before graduation has been revised; Willamette is a new charter member of the Northwest Association of Private Colleges and Universities (NAPCU); and the faculty policy committee is considering a limited pass-fail grading system that has worked well at other colleges.

Old System Revised

Oral examinations and the possibility of comprehensive written examinations within each major field of study are no longer university requirements. Instead, individual departments can determine the type of senior evaluation, subject to faculty approval. In part, the statement adopted by the faculty includes:

"A notation of having completed the evaluation (or completed "with distinction") will be recorded on the student's transcript. Some possible activities to be evaluated: 1. Written and/or comprehensive examinations; 2. A recital, an exhibit, or a presentation of a substantial literary work; 3. A research project to be completed and presented for discussion and explanation before a committee; 4. Two seminar papers accepted by a committee as of senior "comprehensive" quality, and 5. A project proposed by an individual student to demonstrate his accomplishment and accepted by the faculty in his major program."

The decision as to whether a senior must pass a senior evaluation or whether he must merely be subjected to such an evaluation has been left up to the individual departments.

Nineteen Colleges Cooperate

Nineteen colleges in Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Idaho and Montana have formed NAPCU, and Dean Byron Doenges of the Willamette College of Liberal Arts has been named to the Executive Council. Essentially, NAPCU will seek to promote cooperation in as many ways as possible between the member institutions without infringing on individual autonomy.

Dr. Fredric Santler, vice president of administration at Whitman College, was elected chairman. He suggested that cooperative efforts might include joint purchase of insurance, inter-library lending, sponsoring outstanding artists in residence who would visit each college for a certain length of time, publishing a journal of the best writing of students, establishing unique academic programs and promoting joint research and conferences on various topics. He believes that NAPCU members will save money by cooperating in some of these areas rather than by doing them independently.

Member colleges include Alaska Methodist, Carroll College, Cascade, College of Great Falls, College of Idaho, Gonzaga, Lewis and Clark, Marylhurst, Mount Angel, Northwest Nazarene, Pacific, Pacific Lutheran, Reed, St. Martin's, University of Portland, University of Puget Sound, Walla Walla College, Whitman and Willamette.

Pass-Fail Considered

Students who are hesitant about taking a certain course outside of their major disciplines for fear of hurting their overall grade point average might have the answer by the Fall of 1968. The faculty policy committee is considering a limited pass-fail grade system that may permit a student to take one course each semester on a pass-fail basis rather than the usual letter grade.

Ideally, the program will facilitate a broadening of the liberal arts background by alleviating some of the grade consciousness. Many details have to be worked out, according to Dean Doenges, particularly the definition of the point between a pass and a fail. One professor said that "it should be a positive program and not one to serve as a refuge for students to hide their D's."

Survey Reveals Geographical Change

Geographically, Willamette has become less homogenous in the past decade. A survey of the Fall enrollment of 1,507 students (up 30 per cent from the total ten years ago) shows that the current student body represents 37 states and 10 foreign countries. In the Fall of 1958, the students represented 23 states and eight foreign countries.

A shift has also been noted in Oregon enrollment. A decade ago, Oregon students represented 68 per cent of the total, while today just over one-half of the student body comes from the state. Comparative percentages for Washington show an increase from 7.8 per cent to 15 per cent and for California a slight increase from 15.3 per cent to 16.8 per cent.

By number, Oregon shows 794 students, California, 254, and Washington, 232. Various cities sending a significant number of students include: Portland (263), Salem (157), Seattle (47), Tacoma (25), Lake Oswego (25), Honolulu (22), Milwaukie (19), Medford (19), Vancouver (16) and Palo Alto (15).

Hunnex Essay Featured

Philosophy professor Milton D. Hunnux, who is on sabbatical leave this semester, wrote the lead article for the Oct. 13 issue of Christianity Today. Entitled "Have the Secularists Ambushed God?" the essay is the fourth contributed to the journal by Dr. Hunnux the past two years.

Richard Cox, chairman of the Young Republicans, sells a copy of Mrs. Mark O. Hatfield's "ReMARKable Recipes" to junior Jan Cooper.

YR Sale Boosts Hatfield Prize

A project in the interest of cooking and scholarship has been undertaken by the Willamette Young Republicans. The group is selling the cookbook written by Mrs. Mark O. Hatfield, "ReMARKable Recipes," for Christmas gifts and applying over $1 of each sale to the endowment of the prize that Mrs. Hatfield established in honor of her husband. Mrs. Hatfield provided the initial prize from royalties she has received on her book and she hopes that eventually the prize will become the Mark O. Hatfield scholarship. The Young Republicans hope so too. Mail orders will be received by the Willamette bookstore. Checks in the amount of $5.15 made payable to W.U. Young Republicans will cover cost and return postage.

Pozzi, Emerson Join Trustees

Two new members have been elected to Willamette University's Board of Trustees, Portland attorney Frank Pozzi (left) and the Rev. George Emerson, superintendent of the Forest Grove District of the Methodist Church.

Pozzi is a graduate of the University of Portland with a J.D. degree from Willamette's College of Law. He is past president of the Western division of the American Trial Lawyers Association and a member of the Governor's Advisory Board, Workmen's Compensation. He is a partner in the firm of Pozzi, Levin & Wilson.

Rev. Emerson was born and educated in Great Britain and served as chaplain to the Royal Air Force from 1943-47. He served several pastorates in Great Britain before coming to the Oregon Conference in 1959. He was appointed superintendent of the Forest Grove District in 1967.

Operation Midpoint Under Way

Operation Midpoint, an effort to move the Fund for Educational Excellence, 1965-1972 (FEE 125) past the midpoint in resources by the midpoint in time, is well under way among Alumni and other friends of Willamette University.

Early objectives of FEE 125 have been realized with completion of five new buildings and the addition of more than $3,000,000 to the University's endowment fund, the income from which will be used for the expansion of the Faculty and the improvement of salaries.

The Operation Midpoint goal is

$1,250,000 including $300,000 to complete the Truman Wesley Collins Legal Center and Endowment Fund, $300,000 to complete the University Center Fund and assure start of its construction within the next year, $300,000 for the endowment of new scholarships, $210,000 to complete purchase of land now available for campus expansion, and a three year total of $140,000 for the Alumni Loyalty Fund which will provide further support for Faculty salaries.

Pledges are being sought for a three year period, 1967-1970, with Alumni being asked to consider a three year pledge to the Loyalty Fund and the capital projects.

Trustees of the University, Faculty and Alumni are presently being contacted personally wherever possible by a corps of more than five hundred volunteer workers. The Parents' Fund which last year provided more than $18,000 for the University Center will again support this project.

Every step forward in the $12,500,000 FEE 125 program assures orderly and steady progress for the University. Every gift is significant regardless of size, offering each friend of the University the opportunity for full participation.

PARENTS EXCEED GOAL

Contributions to the Parents' Fund in 1967 exceeded the goal of $17,500. Outgoing president Clayton L. Davidson, Portland, announced at Parents' Weekend Oct. 14 that the parents donated $18,535 to be applied to the proposed University Center.

New officers of the Parents' Association were presented during the weekend which was attended by nearly 700 parents. The officers are: president, Clifford B. Olsen, Portland; vice-president, G. T. Danielson, Oregon City; and secretary, Mrs. William Woodworth, Lebanon.

Students Launch Investment Club

University Mutual Incorporated, an investment club inspired by four students, has been registered with the Securities Exchange Commission and will soon be issuing shares of stock.

College Who's Who Taps 24 Students

Twenty-four Willamette students will be included in "Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges." They were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, educational and extracurricular activities, citizenship and promise.

The students are Earline Anderson, Shirley Baird, Bill Bennett, Doug Bosco, David Brink, Larry Brown, Dennis Cole, Susan Corcoran, Vernon (Gib) Gilmore, Dawn Hanson, Ginnilyn Hawkins, Charles Honeycutt, Kit Jensen, Charlotte Langford, Joan Loomis, Thomas Mathiesen, Richard Meeder, Richard Montieth, Kenneth Rice, Robert Selander, Robert Schlegal, Michael Shinn, Karen Swim and Peter Wallmark.

UMI is primarily concerned with enhancing the knowledge of students about the stock market through participation. By its nature, individual liability will be kept to a minimum, and depending upon stock choice, participants may reap some dividends.

The originators are Grant Sharp, Molalla; Bill Howe and Russ Ferguson, Medford, and Bob Jerman, Richland, Wash., all underclassmen. Al Berglund, instructor in earth science, is serving as advisor, while stock brokers from Wals-ton & Co. will provide investment advice. Trust officer for the Corporation is Jerry Reynolds of the Commercial Bank of Salem, while the board of directors includes Sharp, Howe and Ferguson.

The directors have accumulated assets of over $1,000, and they anticipate that shares in the corporation will be sold for $10 each. At the time of this writing, UMI was awaiting final approval of the Oregon Commerce Commission before issuing stock.

Sharp said that shareholders in the corporation will actively participate in the decision on stock purchases.

Homecoming Queen Teresa Krug

Homecoming Successful

Over 300 Alumni returned to the campus for Homecoming Nov. 4, and the reunion banquets for the classes of 1952, '57 and '62 were well attended. Junior Teresa Krug (above) of Ashland was elected Queen, while Mary Linda Laird and Joy Gustafson of Portland were princesses. Highlight of the weekend was Willamette's 61-7 football victory over Whitman, the highest victory total for a Bearcat team since a 75-0 win over Whitman in 1934.

On The Scene

FEBRUARY

- 7 Group for Contemporary Music. Instrumentalists from Portland State College will appear for the third time in the College of Music Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m. The Group, sponsored by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, numerous patrons, donors, and friends, has a repertoire of music from the contemporary period. No admission charge.
- 9 Educational Film Series, "The Best Years of Our Lives" starring Fredric March and Myrna Loy will be shown in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 7 p.m. The movie portrays the return of war veterans and their problems of readjustment. Tickets will be sold at the door.
- 10 Campus Preview. High school students in Salem and the surrounding area who wish to get a preview of college life may visit the campus for a scheduled day of activities. Further details are available from the Admissions Office.
- 14 Middle East Report. Rabbi Emanuel Rose of the Congregation Beth Israel in Portland will speak in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 11 a.m. Rabbi Rose spent 3 months in Israel the past summer. No admission charge.
- 14 Orchestra and Choral Concert. The University Chamber Orchestra and the Willamette Singers will combine for a presentation of musical entertainment in the College of Music Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m. No admission charge.
- 16 Distinguished Artists' Series. Duo-pianists, Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz will perform in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The recording artists have played together for seventeen years. Tickets are available at Stevens and Son and will also be sold at the box office performance night.
- 21 Doney Speech Contest. Four or five students will present 10 minute orations on topics of their own choosing in competition for cash prizes in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 11 a.m. No admission charge.
- 21 Oregon Symphony Concert. An all orchestral program will be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Tickets for the Symphony's final concert of the season may be purchased at Stevens and Son and at the Fine Arts box office performance night.
- 28 French Farce-comedy, "Let's Get a Divorce" by Victorien Sardou and Emile de Najac will be presented arena style in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The play, written in 1880, satirizes the perils of divorce. Tickets are available at Stevens and Son and at the box office performance night.

1967-68

Basketball Schedule

Dec. 1 at Southern Oregon
 Dec. 2 at University of Nevada
 Dec. 7-9 NAIA Tip-Off
 Dec. 28-30 at Chico Tournament
 Jan. 5-6 at College of Idaho
 Jan. 8 at Whitman
 Jan. 12 Lewis & Clark
 Jan. 13 at Lewis and Clark
 Jan. 19 at Pacific
 Jan. 20 at Pacific Lutheran
 Jan. 23 at Pacific
 Jan. 26 Linfield
 Feb. 2 at Linfield
 Feb. 3 Pacific
 Feb. 9-10 Pacific Lutheran
 Feb. 15 College of Idaho
 Feb. 16-17 Whitman
 Feb. 23 at Linfield
 Feb. 24 Lewis and Clark

On The Scene

DECEMBER

- 1 Dance Lecture-Demonstration. Students of Miss Romona Searle in the dance composition group and class of fundamentals of creative dance will perform at 8:15 p.m. on the Fine Arts Auditorium stage. Miss Searle will explain the basics of modern dance, qualities of movement and use of space, time and gravity, while her students perform. No admission charge.
- 3 Salem Community Symphony. Violinist Sergiu Luca will appear as guest soloist with the 70-piece orchestra in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 3 p.m. Featured works will be Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto and Symphony No. 2 by Charles Ives. Season or individual tickets may be purchased at Stevens and Son Jewelers in Salem or at Fine Arts box office at the performance.
- 4 Rotary Pops Concert. Under the direction of Del Milne, the Rotary Pops orchestra will present a program of popular tunes at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Proceeds from the $1 admission fee help finance a Rotary Club scholarship for a Willamette student. Tickets are available at Stevens and Son, from Rotary members, or at the box office performance night.
- 6 Oregon Symphony Concert. Guest artist for the second concert of the Symphony's season in Salem will be pianist John Browning in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The program includes Samuel Barber's piano concert. Season tickets are available at Stevens and Son Jewelers. Individual tickets at $4, $3, and $2 will also be available at the box office performance night.
- 8 Educational Film Series. "Shoot the Piano Player," a French film of life's comedies and inescapable tragedies, will be shown in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 7 p.m. The movie, complete with dialogue, is a French director's impression of an American Gang Novel. Tickets will be available at the door.
- 10 Christmas Concert. The Willamette Chamber Orchestra, a brass ensemble from the Band, the Chapel Choir and the 43-voice University Choir, will combine for an annual Vespers Concert of Christmas music in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 3 p.m. No admission charge.

ART

The Fine Arts Gallery, located at the east end of the Fine Arts Auditorium, will feature a different exhibit each month. Gallery hours are 9-4 weekdays and when the auditorium is in use during the evenings.

December. Paintings from the Willamette University collection.

January. Student display of mixed media representing the art training at Willamette.

February. A different student display.

21 Fall Semester Ends. Registration for Spring Semester is Jan. 13. Classes will resume Jan. 15.

JANUARY

- 10 Oregon Symphony Concert. A Japanese program will feature works by Toyana presented by Kimo Eto, kotoist, and Toshiya Eto, violinist, in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are available at Stevens and Son and will be sold at the door performance night.
- 14 Band Concert. Maurice Brennen will conduct the University Band in a concert of varied musical numbers in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. No admission charge.
- 17 Founders' and Benefactors' Day. Two students will speak on a founder and benefactor of the University. Mid-year commencement and citations of alumni will also take place in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 11 a.m. No admission charge.
- 22 Christian Resources Week. Dr. Elton Trueblood, a Quaker and presently professor-at-large at Earlham College, will speak on the theme "Stability in a World of Storm" in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 11 a.m. both days. No admission charge.
- 23
- 24 Educational Film Series. "Lord Jim" starring Peter O'Toole and James Mason will be shown in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 7 p.m. The film deals with a man's quest to forget what he feels is an unforgivable mistake. Tickets will be sold at the door.
- 31 The Willamette Duo. Cellist William Konney and pianist Robert Chauls will combine for a concert in the College of Music Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m. Konney holds a Master of Arts degree from the University of Iowa and a Master of Music degree from Oberlin Conservatory. He joined the music faculty last Fall. Chauls received his Masters degree from the University of Michigan. This is his second year at Willamette. No admission charge.

ATHLETICS

Basketball. NAIA Tip-Off Tournament is scheduled for the Willamette gymnasium Dec. 7-8 and in the Armory Auditorium Dec. 9. Other home basketball games are: Jan. 12, Lewis & Clark; Jan. 26, Linfield; Feb. 3, Pacific; Feb. 9-10, Pacific Lutheran; Feb. 15, College of Idaho; Feb. 16-17, Whitman; Feb. 24, Lewis & Clark. (See reverse side for complete basketball schedule.) Jayvee games start at 6 p.m., varsity at 8 p.m.

Wrestling. Home wrestling matches are scheduled: Dec. 9, Linfield, 2 p.m.; Jan. 19, Cascade, 3 p.m.; Jan. 29, Pacific, 3 p.m.; Feb. 3, Seattle Pacific, 3 p.m.; Feb. 10, Oregon College, 2 p.m.

Outright Title Eludes Young Bearcat Gridders

In a nutshell, or more vividly, in a cast, Willamette lost its chance for sole possession of the Northwest Conference football title when the young Bearcats bowed to Linfield 16-7 Nov. 11.

The loss of fullback Ron Jensen with two broken bones in his hand and torn ligaments in his knee and the loss of swingback Rod Allison with a shoulder separation early in the ball game were important causes in stopping short Willamette's six-game victory streak and tumbling the Bearcats from their ranking as 14th best in NAIA ratings.

In all probability, the title will be shared three ways, as Willamette, Linfield and Lewis and Clark all have one loss. The Bearcats and the Pioneers have a game remaining at the time of this writing.

With only three seniors on the squad, all indications point to a banner year for the Bearcats next Fall. Allison and tight end Bob Riensche will be the only losses on offense, while middle guard Bob Shields is the lone senior defender. Willamette is leading the league in total offense with 342 yards per game and in total defense by allowing opponents 204.1 yards per game.

Little All-American candidate Jim Nicholson at tailback has averaged nearly 130 yards per game rushing and junior quarterback Mike Shinn has a passing average of nearly 150 yards per game. Both will be back to spark the Bearcat offense next year.

Ogdahl speaks of a "new dimension" on this year's team in the person of Gib Gilmore. A former prep All-State quarterback, Gilmore is the top Bearcat pass receiver with over 30 receptions and five touchdowns. He hardly misses his kicks for extra points and he has four field goals, the longest a 48-yarder. His punting this year has allowed Willamette to keep opponents deep in their own territory and his field goal threat has given the Bearcats a new weapon.

For the record, the Bearcats ran up six wins following their opening loss to the University of Nevada, 32-15. The victories were: 43-13 over the University of British Columbia; 40-13 over Pacific Lutheran; 42-0 over Pacific; 17-10 over defending champion Lewis and Clark; 16-0 over the University of Puget Sound, and 61-7 over Whitman.

Willamette gained a share of the NWC grid title with a victory over College of Idaho on Nov. 18, 58 to 13.

Hoopers Await Season Opener

Basketball season opens for Willamette Dec. 1, and there will be a new look. For the first time in 20 years, the Bearcats will be operating without John Lewis at the helm. Lewis, who compiled a 277-239 record, is still athletic director and baseball coach, but former Lewis and Clark Little All-American Jim Boutin has taken over the basketball chores.

Boutin thinks that his Bearcats might surprise a few people this year, but he's not overly optimistic. He's concerned about lack of height and the development of a strong post man. To compensate, his team will use the fast break a great deal and employ a pressing defense.

His probable starting lineup this year includes four lettermen and one transfer. Two of them started last year, forward John Barker (6-3) and guard Sandy Marcelino (5-8½). The other lettermen are forward Rich Benner (6-2) and center Ed Gibb (6-5), while transfer Jim George (6-3) from Scottsbluff Junior College (Nebraska) will be the other guard.

Some outstanding freshmen are making strong bids to remain on the squad. They include two former All-City players from Portland, forward Jack Dale (6-5) and center Bob Lundahl (6-4); A-2 All State forward Tom Williams (6-4) from Nestucca; forward Dick Kraus (6-4) Parkrose; and guard Bob Douglass (6-1) Bend. Letterman guard Gib Gilmore got a late start after football season, and two other lettermen are on the squad, forwards Denzil Scheller (6-3) and Gib Stewart (6-2).

Boutin believes that Linfield will be the team to beat, although the conference as a whole should be well balanced. (See On The Scene for basketball schedule.)

Willamette Scene

Vol. I, No. 4 December, 1967

Robert C. Woodle, Editor

Published quarterly by Willamette University, Salem, Oregon 97301, for constituents of Willamette University. Second class postage paid at Salem, Oregon 97301.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY
SALEM, OREGON 97301

RETURN REQUESTED