Smith Greets Students; 'Tradition of Friendship'

The opening of a new college year is always an exciting and happy time on a university campus. Old friendships are renewed, and new students will soon find themselves making the lasting friendships of their lives.

Willamette university is proud of its tradition of friendship. In welcoming you to the Willamette family, may I urge you to take the opportunities offered you to know the faculty and your fellow students well. You are attending a university rich in tradition and progressive in its outlook for the future. My hope for each of you is that you may enter fully into the life of the campus, and as we work and play together, may you find your life enriched and Willamette university a better place because you are here. I'm happy to welcome you to Willamette.

Willamette Trustees Adopt Ten-Year Development Plan

Outline of a ten year university development program was acted upon at the fall meeting of the board of trustees Saturday in Portland. The expansion will include construction of new buildings on the campus, moving of the athletic field and a drive to strengthen the financial condition of the university through direct donations and endowment fund.

The plans call for the moving of the athletic field to an off-campus location where adequate room would be available. The present field will be re-landscaped to make room for the new buildings. Buildings planned are a men's dormitory and houses to be leased to fraternity chapters. The board also agreed to construct a student union building when feasible. A possible location for the new athletic field is the Bush pasture area.

Enrollment of the university will be limited to 800 students for the next three years according to action taken by the board. The trustees also voted to assess an incidental fee of $25 on all students which will replace miscellaneous fees formerly assessed. The new ruling will go into effect July 1, 1945 and will be in addition to the student body membership charge.

Another feature of the financial program will be the creating of a position for a full-time financial promoter to work for the school. The person's work will be in connection with the drive to raise a fund of $321,000 and to carry out plans for increasing the endowment structure. Plans will be drafted for the latter by the board.

Final point of the ten year program is to develop vocational guidance work and emphasize a pre-professional curricula. Policy of the university was stated as the maintenance of a Christian liberal arts college and music and law schools.

Collegian Again Wins 'Pacemaker' Rating

New prestige came to the University's department of journalism and its student journalists with the arrival this week of the official Associated Collegiate Press scorebooks stating that Nadene Mathews has been awarded a second consecutive pacemaker award for the spring semester Collegian. The Collegian was one of six college newspapers throughout the nation given this recognition of excellence and one of three to win a second consecutive award.

The other five "Pacemakers" were the Campus Chat, North Texas State Teachers College; the Daily Texan, University of Texas; the Hatchet, George Washington University; the Los Angeles Collegian, Los Angeles City College, and the Mac Weekly, Macalester college.

"A board of judges in the independent study has named these six papers as the outstanding entries in the Thirty-first All-American Critical Service," the scorebook stated. Continuing the book commented, "Pacemaker" is not a higher rating than All-American, but it is an additional distinction given to those papers which are outstanding in their all around quality and whose vitality makes them leaders in the college journalism field. Before a paper is named a "Pacemaker," it must stand out

Freshmen Register Today

Cavern Opens Today; Seeks New Manager

The Bearcat Cavern will be open today for business under the temporary manager ship of Elsie Kook. The student union will also remain open next week when it is hoped that a new manager will have been appointed to succeed Miss Kook and Ruth Farmer, summer co-managers who are resigning their positions.

Students wishing to apply for the Cavern manager ship should contact Dean Walter E. Erickson of the Cavern board. In the event that no student manager can be obtained, an effort will be made to employ a full-time manager from off the campus.

Latest addition to the Cavern plant is the new coat of paint in the Cavern proper which blends with the color scheme in the new Cavern annex. Funds for the improvement were given by an anonymous donor. Work on the annex, also financed by an anonymous contributor, was completed earlier in the summer and opened to the students in connection with the Homecoming weekend.

Women students wishing to work in the Cavern may apply with Miss Kook in the Cavern. A number of vacancies need to be filled.

Women Students to Dominate Fall Enrollment by 2-1 Ratio

First phase in the registration and orientation for freshmen will be covered today with a full program planned. Placement tests, a welcome chapel, meeting of new men and women psychological examinations and registration will all be held today. Programs giving the time and place of all events for registration and orientation are available at the registration office. Students may also receive lists of courses and registration procedure may also be obtained there.

Freshmen will meet in the library with their advisors at 3:15 for registration. Information regarding registration will be given them at a meeting in the chapel of Waller hall at 2:45. Upper class registration will be held tomorrow in the library from 10:00 a.m. to 5 p.m. Payment of fees will be handled at the time of registration.

If women students thought they were in the majority last year, they will find themselves even more so this year according to figures released yesterday by the registrar's office. Freshmen women applicants number 200 as compared with 149 in 1943. The number of men dropped from 29 last year to 20 this year. In addition there are 20 transfer women students.

Total number of civilian students is expected to reach 450 according to Dean Walter E. Erickson. Last year's registration of civilians showed 368.

As the civilians increase, the number in the navy unit decreases. Two hundred fifty eight men were in the Willamette V-12 last year while approximately 200 will be in it this year. Summer enrollment for 1944 showed eight freshmen women and ten men. It is expected that some of the men will be in military service by the end of the semester.

Physical examinations for new women will be held Saturday morning. Freshmen who do not finish registration today may register tomorrow from 8:30 to 10:00 a.m. A YM-YW mixer will be held at 8 p.m. of the same day to mark the first social affair of the term.

Classes will begin Monday. Women's physical examinations will be held Monday morning also and will hold precedence over all other appointments. The first library orientation will be held that afternoon and V-12 registration will take place in the library from 7 to 9 p.m.

Eight Seniors Will Receive Degrees at Tuesday Chapel

Eight Willamette seniors will receive their diplomas at formal graduation exercises to be held during the chapel period in Waller hall Tuesday. Forty-seven men of the naval unit received certificates for their Willamette work at a chapel last Friday before the contingent left the campus for further training.

Speaker at the Tuesday program will be Dr. Orlando Hollis, acting president of the University of Oregon. The usual academic procession will precede the graduation ceremonies. Special music is in charge of Dean Melvin H. Geist.

Those receiving degrees are Marion Cake, Clark Robb, Robert Lee, Glennerva Harnsberger, Beverly Wells, Marjorie Mauling, bachelor of arts; Marcia Fry Johnson, bachelor of music; Janet Hagglund, bachelor of science.

Those navy men receiving certificates were Acton, Ahlberg, Aungst, Blade, Brown, C. C. Carson, Camstock, Cowan, Crumican, Dillon, Dolan, Doughton, Elliott, Farrior, Farris, Frank, Gandy, Hancock, Hill, Heubner, Hunter, Hurd, Jacobson, F. M. Jacobson, W. E. Johnson, E. H. Kellogg, Kleint, Kolda, Lemmon, Loftis, Malinowski, Myers, Oberst, Badcliffe, Reberger, Robb, Rogers, M. S. Roscoe, Rowley, Scott, Sias, Slatler, Stroud, Watson, Williams, J. B. Wittliff, Woodworth, Wynkoop, Yapp.

NADENE MATHEWS

in its own group and then it must stand the severest test of being judged with other leading papers from all classifications. In the current Critical Service, the above six "Pacemakers" were named from a larger group of 21 All-Americans. These 1944 "Pacemakers" deserve hearty congratulations for their splendid work."

Since the spring issues of the Collegian required the All-American award before being considered for the "Pacemaker" class, the win also chalks up the eighth All-American award for the weekly news sheet, previous similar classification having been received by Miss Mathews for both her summer and fall volumes, by Dix Moser in both his semesters as editor, by Hale Taber for two semesters and by Marion Sanders in her final term as editor. After joining the Associated Collegiate Press in 1939, the Collegian was rated in the second class bracket for two semesters. In the fall of 1940 Miss Sanders took over the editorship and brought the paper up to a first class rating.

Comments included in the scorebook termed the Collegian "indeed outstandingly well done, with personality that reflects an alert, exceptionally well-trained staff." "The front page make-up is sparkling, interestingly varied" was a further remark. Editing was stated to "show the results of conscientious work." A general comment was that "unusual variety is an apparent keynote."

Written-in ratings of superior were received on sports writing, front page makeup and treatment. On the remaining 22 points of judging 15 were given "excellent" ratings.

Judging for the All-American and lesser awards is done by groups classified on the basis of enrollment from less than 500, the Collegian's rank for the spring term, to over 5,000, the frequency of issue and the type of school—college or university, teachers college, junior college and normal school.

Constructive Criticism

Of the significances of the enrollment of a new class at Willamette there are undoubtedly many, but perhaps that which most concerns us is the fact that the members of the class of '47 constitute the proverbial "new blood" and "shot in the arm." Trite phrases, true, but nonetheless practical and doubly applicable.

For those entering Willamette today as neophytes come with an objectivity of mind that has been lost to those who have become closely associated with the university. They come with the ability in observing our campus and its students for the first time, to detect therein flaws as well as merits which cannot be discerned by the older student just as one can see himself objectively only with difficulty.

Thus it is the privilege of the freshman class to provide much of the progressive spirit which will serve as impetus to further growth. Realizing that privilege, we who have preceded you as freshmen urge you to show us our weak points and congratulate us on our good ones, be there such. Moreover, necessity virtually demands that you and all students give of your ideas if we are to improve the temper of our student program.

And much we have to build on in undertaking to further perfect our setup in this new school year. The summer semester has undoubtedly proved to be one of the outstanding in the annals of student activities, doubly so considering the handicaps under which it was carried out.

The student ticket sale conducted early in the term was highly successful both from the standpoint of pledges made and pledges collected. Deserving of special commendation is the fine forensics schedule which undoubtedly brought that entire phase of extracurricular activity closer to the student body than has been done in recent years. Another field of endeavor to become well established as an activity during the summer months has been the compiling of the year book which has drawn many ASWU members into its organization. But perhaps the essence of the high peak achieved is the Homecoming weekend which received the enthusiastic approval of Willamette students of every year as a celebration long to be remembered and not soon to be surpassed.

The events of the past semester will not only be of value as a mere precedent. Their success has added meaning in that a high majority of the summer students who participated in those activities are returning to the campus with the desire to continue a program of equal caliber.

We have the pattern, we have the spirit, and with the helpful criticism of those joining the "Willamette family" we have every reason to look to the year ahead in anticipation of a high point in student programs at WU.

True Confessions of a Looking Glass

I am a mirror.

It's really worse than that, though, because I am a sailor's mirror. And I guess you know what that means. It means I work overtime, double time, and all the time and with no time and a half, either. Not even for Saturday night, when I have a date, do I get anything extra from that little apprentice seaman that looks into my reflecting surface each evening only to sigh "Oopph, handsome!"

No, sir, and I'm not the only one that's griping either. It's not as if this were strictly my idea, but the comb says the same thing and the after-shave lotion, Mr. Green Stripe. After all, when a fellow has an extra-special date with the cutest little compact mirror you ever saw . . . well, he deserves a break now and then, that's all. He deserves a break.

Coed Correspondence

Frosh Life a Hectic One

Here I am at Willamette, and boy, is life hectic! If my writing is a little wobbly, blame it on registration. I wrote the equivalent of two huge libraries and all the campaign speeches since 1932 FDR. It's like a lesson in the first grade—you sign your name until you get the right slant and never want to hear it again and then you write FR on about 50,000 little scraps of paper until you're convinced you're a Democrat and then you go around and get all the pros to give you their autographs—sort of a pre-school apple-polishing gag, I suppose. And if you think Grand Central station is a riot, you should try to register at WU!

Everyone decides to see the same prof at the same time. These professors are pretty particular whom they have in their classes too; if they don't like the color of ink you use or the way you make your "r's" or the brand of fountain pen you carry, they suggest you wait until your senior year to take the course. Dr. Oliver is not fussy though. He sits there with a book in one hand and a pen in the other, signing his name on the table once every three minutes. You just slip your card under the pen and wait—he never looks up. I'm going to get a copy of that book he was reading. By the time I reached him you had to slip your card under the table—he had signed on the table so often!

Then there is a prof they call Judy (or however you spell it). Teaches biology and a lot of other junk and stuff. He's got a sign on his table that reads: "Hurry, hurry, hurry! First 25 students to register in biology will be given free, absolutely free, a lecture on the 'Sex Life of a Hormone!'" He signs anything—I wonder how much I should fill in on that check? There's another doctor who hangs around the same table, nicknamed "Monk." I don't think it's a very nice of the kids—he seems like a keen guy. (Note to Monk: please remember this when grades come out!)

They have all the names of the professors on signs hung around on the book shelves. Part of the game is to match the pros to the signs. It isn't so bad when they're on opposite sides of the room, but when they stick Spelbrink in the stacks, that's cheating! After you've got writer's cramp, bruises all over from being bashed around, a splitting headache and a course that won't help it any, they take all your money away from you and insinuate you don't have to come back unless you can get more to use for buying books.

And as for the male life on the campus, oh mom! I haven't seen a sailor since I've been here! And that Junior told me I just had to come to WU. She said, "Why, dearie, this summer there were 20 guys to every gal—of course—only one out of the 20 ever asked for a date—but you should have seen the other 19 and besides one sailor keeps you plenty busy!" Well, I haven't even seen a little boy dressed in a sailor suit yet! I've seen so many girls though, I'm beginning to think I'm back at the Little Women Workers' Summer Camp, or attending Mamie's Boarding School for Young Ladies, or perhaps just in the Girls' Reformatory!

"Don't worry, mom, I don't care—phooey on sailors (until I see one!)—I'm going to have a wonderful time—I'm already in love—with Mr. Ludden, the music prof! Yee hoo!"

Your loving daughter,
GERTRUDE.

It all starts out after Saturday inspection, when my apprentice seaman comes in and looks at me, making a face even uglier than the natural article, and growls, as if there were an audience, "Now see here, George, I just don't feel quite in the humor to accept any demerits today, and my uniform isn't so dirty that you have to get hard-nose about it, anyway. Tell you what you do . . . come around and see my secretary in the morning and we'll see if we can't settle this thing peaceably. Otherwise, George, . . . and believe me, it would hurt me more than it would hurt you . . . I'm afraid you leave me no recourse but to break you." And then he looks at himself, and grins a sickening self-satisfied smirk and says, "That's the way to do it, boy, that's the way to do it." And when I laugh like I always do at times like that, he thinks my glass is wavy.

When he's all through re-building his ego, he decides to take a shower, so he takes off his blues and his skivvy shirt, and stands in front of me and bulges the little lump in his upper arm that he so fondly calls a bicep. And my glass goes wavy again.

After his shower, he comes back to shave. He looks at his whiskers and decides that he'll put in a blade this week, which he does, none too deftly and starts to work. Blood spatters the overhead. What a gory mess! And, to top that off, he sticks adhesive plaster on all his wounds and goes out in the hall to flag his older shipmates and says to each "Look what I did . . . (pause for effect) . . . shaving!"

All that I could stand. After all, that's what I'm here for, and it's only 4 p.m. by this time. But his date is at 8 and mine is at 7:30 and he doesn't figure he's completed his toilet until he's spent every minute possible with his ugly pan looking back at him from me.

Just between you and me, Mr. Green Stripe, the after-shave lotion, and I don't get along any too well, but he has a case here, and even if his best friends won't tell him that confidentially he . . . well, he does . . . he gets misused every Saturday. I don't know what my apprentice seaman thinks Mr. Green Stripe's right name is. He must believe that he's "Evening in Paris" or "Maiden's Delight," traveling incognito in a little flat bottle judging from the way he uses him.

It makes one ashamed of his own sex! First, he puts a little dab behind each ear . . . so! Then a liberal sprinkling on his hair, a drop at the bend of each elbow and then, to top it all off, a whole half-pint on his manly chest where she will be snuggling during the dance. Officer material!

But the cruelest blow of all is the combing. Pains-takingly, with his tongue sticking out the corner of his mouth, he puts each hair delicately in place. And then, when every lock is adjusted with just the proper amount of wave, he musses it up and starts all over again.

Finally he judges himself to be ready to meet the light of his life. Eight o'clock has rolled around, and the time set for his tryst is at hand, but mine is a half an hour overdue. What can I do? How can I explain to her that it wasn't my fault. I couldn't help it. After all, I'm just a mirror.

It's really worse than that, though, because I'm a sailor's mirror, and I guess you know what that means.

Taste the Salty Tongue of the Navy

For the benefit of you who are uninitiated into the lingo of the navy, here is a sample of the naval phraseology, translated into civilian terms, which apprentice seamen by navy regulation are enjoined to use at all times in both official and unofficial correspondence and conversation. You'd better start now, because Willamette has adopted a new language and you'll be lost in a foreign country if you can't understand the vernacular.

Decks—The various floor levels.

All Hands—Entire body of men.

Hold—The basement of the building.

Bear a Hand—Hurry up.

Ship—The school or building.

Belay—Stop.

Main Deck—The entrance level.

Binnacle List—Sick list.

Bridge Deck—The second floor level.

Breakout—To get an article from its storage place.

Quarterdeck—The area at the main deck adjacent to the main entrance.

Carry On—To go ahead with what you are doing.

Gangway—The entrance steps.

Field Day—General cleaning day.

Passageways—The corridors.

Gangway—Passageway. As a command, "Clear the passageway, step aside."

Ladders—The stairways.

Gear—A term for miscellaneous articles, as "Mess Gear."

Hoists—The elevators.

Handsomely—Carefully.

Ports—The windows.

Irish Pennants—Loose ends giving an untidy appearance.

Sick Bay—Dressing station, Lausanne Hall.

Knock Off—Used as a command to stop doing a thing.

Forward—That end of the building to the right of the main gangway as you enter the school.

Aft—The opposite end.

Lucky Bag—Place where lost articles are stowed until claimed.

Muster—An assembly at which the roll is called.

Starboard—The main gangway side; the front of the building as such.

Port—The opposite side.

Quarters—A person's rooms or living space.

Secure—To make fast or as a command to stow gear or dismiss personnel.

Topside—Upstairs.

Stand By—To be in readiness.

Below—Downstairs.

Silence—Very important command and means silent and motionless.

Heads—Toilets.

Turn In—To go to bed.

The Ensign—The flag; the National Colors.

Turn To—To commence working.

Scuttlebutt—Drinking fountain.

Galley—Kitchen.

Mess Hall—Dining room.

Gouging—Cheating in examinations.

Lockers—Closets.

Gouge—Answer sheet.

Bulkheads—Walls.

Greasing—Apple polishing.

Bunks—Beds.

On the Tree—Failing a subject, on probation.

Overheads—Ceilings.

Swabs—Mops.

And while you're at it, you'd better get used to telling time the navy way instead of by the usual a.m. and p.m. designation. Navy time runs 24 hours in the day rather than 12 hours in the a.m. and 12 in the p.m.

The hours are designated by hundreds, and the minutes by units and 10's. For instance, 6 a.m., when the apprentice seamen hit the deck, is 0600, and 6:10 a.m., when they start calisthenics before breakfast, is 0610. The first afternoon class begins at 1325, or 1:25 civilian time. The men are confined to quarters at 2200 (10 p.m.), and lights go out at 2400, or midnight. One minute past midnight is 0001.

University Housing Cares For 201 Women Students

Two hundred and one freshmen and returning coeds were today more or less situated in University housing facilities after moving in yesterday. Of the number 48 are living in private homes while the remainder are located in the five university halls.

The "Y" dormitory is housing 44 women who also eat in the newly acquired quarters. An additional 12 also are taking meals there, raising the total to 56. Mrs. Ellen Foster is house-mother.

Forty-four coeds are also living in Fredrickson while 16 have moved into the annex which will be converted into the Chi Omicron chapter house at the end of the semester. A total of 75 will take their meals in the Fredrickson dining room. No men students will board at the hall. Mrs. Helen Goodenough is housemother at Fredrickson while Mrs. Florence Connolly has that duty at the annex.

The former Kappa Gamma

Rho fraternity will accommodate 23 and an additional 10 will also eat there. Mrs. A. A. Reed is housemother. Second fraternity now housing women is the Alpha Psi Delta chapter house where 20 women will live. The dining room is arranged to care for a total of 30. Mrs. E. M. Bailey is housemother.

Improvements in the laundry facilities at Alpha Psi have been made according to Miss Lorena Jack, director of dormitories. The refrigeration capacity of units in several of the halls have also been enlarged.

Knight Plans Wednesday Chapels

Responsibility for the planning of Wednesday worship chapels has been turned over by the president to the religion office directed by Prof. John L. Knight who will cooperate with the Interfaith Council in arranging for the weekly programs. First such chapel is scheduled for Wednesday, November 8, when Dr. Silas Fairham, member of the board of trustees and district superintendent in the Oregon conference of the Methodist church, will be the guest speaker.

The worship services to be presented preceding the guest speakers will be planned by a worship committee of the Interfaith Council which is composed of representatives of the major campus and city college religious groups. It is hoped that the group may also assist in choosing speakers.

Programs have been arranged through the Christmas holiday and include Dudley L. Strain, president of the Salem ministerial association, Dr. Channing Tobias, outstanding Negro religious leader, Ralph Kleen, WU grad and Methodist minister at Lebanon, and the Negro quartet from Rust college of Mississippi. On Thanksgiving and Christmas special programs will be presented. Knight will speak at the second chapel.

Paint, Lights Now Brighten Eaton, Waller

Returning students will find that various additions and changes have been made in Eaton and Waller halls. In the latter building, the chapel has been completely redecorated. The color scheme is highlighted by an ivory ceiling and woodwork with contrasting walls of grey-green. The organ is refinished and organ pipes are again a bright bronze. Also the stage woodwork has been refinished and new lighting fixtures added on the stage and at the entrances.

In Eaton, fluorescent lighting fixtures which give foot candle power recommended by lighting engineers for classrooms have been installed in all classrooms and offices.

The exterior appearance of Eaton and Waller has been brightened with white trimmign on all woodwork and aluminum paint on the smoke stacks.

33 V-12 Transfers Slated To Arrive on Campus Monday

Thirty-three new men are being assigned to the Willamette V-12 unit for the fall semester. The majority of the new men come from the unit at University of Washington. Walt Skronald, who was a member of the Willamette unit before his transfer to navy air corps, is returning to Willamette for his third semester of V-12 training. The new men are due to arrive on the campus Monday and will register Monday evening from 7 to 9.

Of the men who have completed their work at Willamette, several will return to pick up transportation reservations, but all have received their orders to report to new stations.

During the week between semesters, the portside of the USS Lausanne has been renovated. New linoleum has been laid and the quarters have been cleaned and painted in preparation for the new semester.

25 New Students Attend WU On Honor Scholarships

Among newly enrolled Willamette students for the fall term 25 will enter as holders of university awarded honor scholarships or on funds awarded by local civic groups or private persons. Arline Boehl, Portland student who was a member of the 1944 Rose Festival court, is attending school on a scholarship granted by the Rose Festival association.

From Missoula, Montana, Joyce Furman is coming to Willamette on a scholarship established by the local Elks lodge. Like the Rose Festival scholarship, it may be used at any college or university. Dorothy Deal, Longview, has been awarded a scholarship which is the gift of Isaac Hunt, new member of the board of trustees.

Holders of the honor scholarships are Ruth Bain, Salem; Doris Bartholemey, Washington, Portland; Jean Caldwell, Newberg; Mary Ella Carson, Jefferson, Portland; Caroline Cooper, Jefferson, Portland; Shirley Gribskov, Junction City; Larry Horton, Franklin, Portland; Evelyn Jory, Burlingame, Calif.; Katherine Kanopp, Lincoln, Portland; Lois Messing, Grant, Portland; Meryl Mathison, Milwaukie; Geraldine Nelson, Salem; Elizabeth Olson, Milwaukie; Helen Terry, Carlton; Jean Ludlow, Hillsboro; Eileen Lytle, Grant, Portland; Hendrina Van Leeuwen, Albany; Helen Louise Wilson, Gates; Jane Brown, Canby; Marjorie Smith, Mapleton.

Church List Now Available

Available today at the student body office in Waller hall and Prof. John L. Knight's office in Eaton hall, are the new illustrated religious directories, "Religion On and About the Campus," a brief summary of the religious activities at Willamette, compiled by Knight who directs religious activities.

Intended to introduce the religious side of campus life, the folders have been mailed to all new students enrolled for the next semester and are ready now for any student interested in having an outline of the student religious activities.

Music Students Appear

A student recital was held in the music auditorium Wednesday, October 18. Those participating were Marcia Fry Johnson, violin; Jim Glasse, Melvin Gilson, Elizabeth Nelson, voice; Faith Idso, piano; Geraldine Schmoiker, violin.

Dorothy Tate, Hume Downs Wed at Monday Ceremony

At a ceremony solemnized Monday evening in the First Congregational church, Dorothy Tate became the bride of Edward Hume Downs, USN. The wedding was read by Dean Daniel H. Schulze before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums, gladioluses and tapers.

Warren Downs, brother of the groom, played several cello selections preceding the ceremony. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Rich at the organ.

Miss Tate was escorted by her father down the aisle marked with white ribbons caught with white flowers. She wore a white satin gown with full skirt and long train. The bodice was gathered and the yoke was of marquisette with beading. Tiny buttons arranged from the waistline to the neckline accented the round neck. The train length veil was held by a small crocheted pillbox cap. She carried a bouquet of white gladioluses and chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor was her sister, Laura Lee Tate, who wore a fuchsia silk jersey gown with pleated skirt and short sleeves. She wore long pink gloves and feathers of the same shade in her hair. She carried pink carnations.

Other attendants were Mrs. Richard Olson, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Bruce Carlin, who were gowned in dresses of silk jersey, Mrs. Olson in blue and Mrs. Carlin in pink. They wore long fuchsia gloves and feathers in the hair. Bouquets of pink roses and dahlias were carried by both.

Warren Downs stood with his brother as best man.

Ushering were Dr. Robert H. Tschudy and Allan Robertson, USN.

Mrs. Downs was senior scholar in biology and first vice-president of the student body. She was a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority and served as president of that organization. Miss Tate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tate of Sublimity. Downs was a member of Kappa Gamma Rho and was second vice-president of the ASWU. He is the son of Dr. Chester Downs of Salem. Both were members of the class of '43.

They will reside in Los Angeles where Downs is enrolled in the University of Southern California medical school.

Dorothy Mott To Wed Ben Whisenand

Dorothy Mott, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. James W. Mott, will become the bride of Ensign Benjamin Whisenand at a ceremony to be read Sunday afternoon at the bride's country home at Zena. Miss Mott is a former Oregon State student while Whisenand was a member of the Willamette V-12 unit.

Nancy Kirkpatrick, a Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sister of the bride, will sing preceding the 2 p.m. ceremony which will be read by Rev. George Herbert Swift.

Miss Mott has selected her sister, Mrs. John L. Sullivan, to be matron of honor. Edith Moxley will be her only other attendant. Best man will be selected upon Whisenand's return from Notre Dame where he is receiving his commission this weekend.

Congressman Mott will give his daughter in marriage.

A reception will immediately follow the wedding ceremony.

Town and Gown Has Initial Meet

The first fall meeting of Town and Gown was held yesterday afternoon in the music hall with Mrs. Daniel H. Schulze, president, presiding. Mrs. G. Herbert Smith was hostess to the group at a tea following the meeting at University house.

Speaker of the afternoon was Joy Hills, principal of Leslie Junior high school, who discussed "The Passing of the Fireside." Ralph Dobbs of the music faculty presented several piano numbers.

Pouring at the tea were Mrs. George Rossman and Mrs. Chester F. Luther. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. George Alexander, Mrs. Oscar Cutler, Mrs. J. N. Chambers, Mrs. Melvin H. Geist, Mrs. L. C. McLeod, Mrs. William L. Phillips, sr., Mrs. Rex Putnam, Mrs. W. H. Wood, Mrs. Ray A. Yocum, Mrs. W. E. Hanson, Mrs. W. I. Needham, Mrs. H. E. Rahe, Mrs. George C. Bliss, Mrs. George T. Shepard and Mrs. Arthur Hay.

Greek Women Entertain Freshman Coeds of Salem

Women students of the Salem area registering with the freshman class today have been the incentive for rush functions given by the three women's Greek organizations during recent weeks.

The women of Alpha Chi Omega entertained freshman coeds at a line party at the Elsinore theater on Sunday. The group adjourned to the chapter house for a buffet supper following the showing. Virginia Barber was general chairman. Assisting here were Dorothy Hoar, entertainment; Thyra Jean Currey, decorations and Mary Bennett, refreshments.

In a setting of autumn flowers, Alpha Chi Omega also honored prospective students at a tea at the home of Mrs. R. L. Elfstrom on Sunday, October 15. Greeting the guests was Roberta Jean Yocum, rush chairman, while Dorothy Hoar was in charge of the guest book.

Thyra Jean Currey introduced guests to the line which included Mrs. W. E. Kirk, housemother, Mrs. Burton A. Meyers, president of the Salem alumnae of Alpha Chi Omega, Mrs. Elfstrom and Betty Hanauka, president of the Beta Chi chapter.

The sorority colors of scarlet and olive green were used effectively in decorating the serving table. Presiding during the first hour were Mrs. William Phillips, sr., and Mrs. R. I. Lovell. Mrs. Lestle J. Sparks and Mrs. George Alexander poured during the second hour.

Members serving were Pat Mansfield, Ruth Reinwald, Dorothy Kenny and Peggy Weinert.

Phyllis Nelson and Jean Barham were co-chairmen for the affair. Maxine Wagner was in charge of decorations while Shirley Blackman planned refreshments.

Also entertaining on Sunday, October 15, were the members of the Oregon Gamma chapter of Pi Beta Phi who greeted Salem freshmen women at a formal mother-daughter tea at the home of Mrs. James T. Brand.

Receiving in the line were Mrs. Brand, president of the Salem alumnae of Pi Beta Phi, Betty Andrews, president of the local chapter, Mrs. Wayne Doughton and Mrs. Edwin Keech. Betty Jeanne Smith introduced to the line.

Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry and Mrs. Paul Wallace poured during the first hour, while Mrs. Melvin H. Geist and Leila Johnson poured for the second hour.

An arrangement of wine carnations flanked by blue candles in silver holders carried out the sorority colors. Autumn flowers were about the rooms.

Serving were Georgia Hull, Lorah Kate Griffith, Betty McGee, Shirley Rabenau, Florence Lewis, Barbara Causey and Virginia Covert.

Greeting the guests at the door was Carolyn Brady. Thelma Wilcox handled the guest book.

Aiding Miss Smith with plans for the affair were Bernice Elgin and Jane Huston.

Earlier in the summer members of Delta Phi sorority honored prospective students at an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Harry Belt. The West Salem home of Mrs. Tinkham Gilbert was the setting of a buffet supper preceding the Willamette-Washington game when the women of Delta Phi again honored rushees.

Spring Grad Marries WU Man at Spokane Nuptials

The Spokane home of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Finney was the setting Wednesday evening for the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to William Laughlin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Seeva B. Laughlin. Miss Finney was a prominent member of the spring graduating class. Laughlin is also a WU graduate.

Rev. John M. Finney, brother of the bride, officiated at the ceremony. The bride was given away by her father.

Miss Finney chose a gown of white silk jersey with an Avoncon lace yoke and long full sleeves gathered to a lace cuff. Her fingertip length veil was held by a tiara of Avoncon lace. She carried white roses.

Maid of honor was Lois Phillips, also a spring graduate, while Mary Laughlin, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Both wore blue taffeta and carried autumn flowers.

Susanna Schramm and Jan

Johnson lighted the tapers preceding the wedding. The couple greeted guests at a buffet supper following the ceremony.

Miss Finney was society editor of the Collegian under the editorship of Dix Moser. She was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Laughlin received his master's degree at Haverford college, Haverford, Pa., after graduating from WU.

After a short trip to the Oregon beaches, the couple will make their home in Roseburg.

Faculty Women Fete Newcomers

Women of the Willamette faculty and wives of faculty members were entertained by Mrs. G. Herbert Smith Thursday, October 13, at University house in the first meeting of the Willamette faculty women's club of the fall season.

Special guests were Mrs. Lawrence A. Riggs, whose husband joins the education department with the beginning of the present term; Mrs. William Moeller, wife of the new head of languages; Mrs. Herbert McMurtry, who is wife of the new member of the psychology department and Margaret E. Scruggs, who was recently announced as the successor to Evangeline Merritt as instructor in voice and public school music.

YM-YW Mixer Tomorrow Night; Other Events Slated

First social event of the new fall term will be the YM-YW mixer for new students to be held in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church from 8 to 10 p.m. tomorrow evening. The affair is to be very informal with sports clothes the order of the day.

Each new student will receive a tiny cardinal and gold pennant on which to inscribe his name and address. Dean Walter E. Erickson will introduce to the line which will consist of Pres. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dean and Mrs. Chester Luther, Dean and Mrs. Daniel Schulze, Dean Olive Dahl, Miss Delvon Long, president of the campus YWCA, and Richard Wicks, ASWU prexy.

Members of the faculty have been invited and will be present to greet the new students. Representatives of each of the sororities and the housemothers of the university halls have also been issued invitations.

Dan Graves, new assistant librarian, is planning games and entertainment for the evening. Cider and doughnuts will be served. Decorations will be in the fall theme.

Miss Long has been serving as head of arrangements for the affair with Marian Carter and Carola Hays assisting her.

An informal student body dance has been tentatively scheduled for next Saturday. The affair will be held in Eaton hall with Wilma Froman, first vice-president of the student body in charge.

On Thursday, November 9, the four Greek women's organizations will honor freshmen co-eds at rush teas at the chapter houses. On Friday Pres. and Mrs. Smith will receive new students at a formal reception at the University house. An all student body dance has been set for Saturday, November 11, in the university gymnasium.

DTG Tea Thursday

Members of Delta Tau Gamma, national women's independent organization will honor women of the freshman class at a tea Thursday, November 2, in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church. Hours will be from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

First meeting of the new term of the members of the organization has been called for Monday. Plans for the tea will be discussed at that time.

Lois Robinson is president of the group. Dean Olive M. Dahl acts as advisor.

Faculty Couple Make Home Here

Making their home in Salem this fall will be the newly married couple, Prof. and Mrs. Stephen C. Smith. They were married October 1. Smith came to the Willamette campus last year in the economics department. He is a graduate of DePauw university.

His wife is the former Megan Marie Fairham of Salem. She recently completed cadet nurse's training at Good Samaritan hospital and attended Multnomah college and St. Helens hall previously.

WU Women Join Waves

Enlisting in the Waves are two former Willamette students. Hazel Wells, a student at the summer session, and Beryl Seacat, graduate of the class of '43, have entrained for Hunter college, N. Y., where they will receive indoctrination training.

Miss Wells was a second term junior. She hopes to enter the medical division of the corps where she will serve as a laboratory technician. Miss Seacat is a graduate in biology and was formerly employed in the USDA office on the campus. She was a member of Beta Chi sorority.

Dean Olive M. Dahl who is assisting with the organization of Panhellenic.

Panhellenic To Organize

Panhellenic held their first meeting of the year in Dean Olive M. Dahl's office Thursday evening at 6:30 with Miss Dahl present.

The new Panhellenic group on the campus has been organized by Pi Beta Phi, the oldest national sorority on the campus. This is in accordance with Panhellenic rules. An invitation has been extended to the local sorority, Delta Phi, and the Chi Omicron chapter of Chi Omega organizing on the campus, to join Panhellenic. This group will replace the intersorority council that has directed sorority groups in the past.

Rush rules and dates for rushing to include Chi Omega will be made at this meeting. By-laws will be set up at a later meeting.

Betty Andrews, president of Pi Beta Phi will be in charge of the meeting. Betty Hanauska, president of Alpha Chi, will represent her group. Betty Randall, rush chairman of Delta Phi will represent her sorority. Barbara Carrol will represent Chi Omega, and Mrs. R. Harris will also attend on behalf of Chi Omega. She is a member of the Chi Omega alumnae group in Salem.

Officers for the group have not been chosen yet. However they will be selected by the plan of rotation at a meeting after school begins.

Cate Heads Blue Key

Plans for the coming semester are already under way this week by members of Blue Key with their selection of Bill Cate to head the organization during the fall session. Other officers are listed at the Tuesday noon meeting were Stan Boyd, vice president; Charles Strong, secretary-treasurer, and Rich Wicks, sergeant-at-arms.

Retiring prexy of the local chapter of the national men's honorary is Jack Wittliff. Other officers have been Bill Blude, Cate and Clark Robb.

The men decided to limit the membership to the wartime quota of 10 members.

Eight New Courses Offered In Semester Curriculum

Eight new courses appear on today's curriculum outlines. Of the number, three are taught by new faculty members and two have been added to meet requirements for the third semester of V-12 deck training.

Dr. Lawrence A. Riggs is offering two courses in the education department which are of interest not only to education majors but to men and women already in the educational field. Psychology of Adolescence, a three-hour course offered to upper division students, deals with the physical growth, mental development, emotional maturity and the personal-social relationships of adolescence with special reference to the effect on behavior. The second course, Role of the Teacher in Personnel Work, is to be arranged for three hours credit and will also be open only to upperclassmen. It is designed for teachers, counselors and administrators and also for non-specialists in educational work.

Dr. Herbert McMurtry is offering a three-hour class in Applied Psychology which will deal with the demonstration of the principles of psychology in common situations. Class members will do research in the fields in which they are particularly interested—medicine, law, education.

Prof. John L. Knight's The Old Testament Prophets is a course standard in most accredited colleges. It will deal with the philosophy, social and religious, of the principal prophets in the light of the history of the times. The class will meet three hours weekly and is open only to students who have had Bible history.

Prof. Stephen Smith is teaching a three-hour course dealing with the Social Control of Business. Controls of business will be studied from the standpoint of the public rather than the government and will analyze in the light of history what they are and why they were demanded.

A Red Cross course in nutrition is being conducted by Lois Latimer. The one-hour course is a simplified study of the principles of nutrition and students completing the course will be given the Red Cross certificate.

Heat and Thermodynamics taught by Prof. W. W. Schulz and Dr. R. I. Lovell's course in Naval History are designed for third semester navy men and are not open to other students.

STAN-DOFFS

By BOYD

Before getting into the campus sport chatter, we would first like to extend a hearty "hello-hello-hello" to new Willamette students and a "glad-to-see-ya" to returning Bearcats. Softball, tennis, baseball, ping pong, golf and touch football have helped to satisfy the desires of sports enthusiasts this summer and we feel that an indoor program will be able to do the same from now until February.

Games Lined Up . . .

According to athletic director Les Sparks, eight games have already been lined up for the Bearcat casaba squad. Four each with Oregon and Oregon State of the home and home variety. Opener with OSC is on the 17th with further games depending on clearing up of finances after a not-too-fruitful season.

In speaking of football we want to let everyone know that one of the hardest playing footballers here this summer, Jerry Wolfsehr, was elected honorary captain of the squad at the final banquet after the second Washington game. Jerry certainly deserved it and we'd like to add our belated congrats.

Incidentally, at that banquet of the Multnomah hotel, after Trotter made the announcement that Jerry had been elected, numerous cries of "speech, speech" arose from the football squad. As Jerry started to stand and say a few words, he developed a Charley-horse in his leg. His unsympathetic teammates called "fake" and thought that it his way of getting out of saying anything.

However, we're convinced that it was all "legit" for two reasons: (1) Jerry frequently is seized by these muscle spasms in his legs after working hard as he does in those games, and (2) a guy that likes to talk as much as he does wouldn't flub a chance like that on purpose.

Football Star Back . . .

Seen on the campus just before the end of the semester was Garret "Truck" Deiner, 225-pound tackle of the navy-issue Bearcat '43 football squad. He certainly would have been a welcome addition to this year's squad. Truck's been at demolition school since getting his gold stripe from Northwestern. He's now down in California. Another ex-Willamette athlete, John Macy, was up for the Washington game at Portland and looked mighty good in his gold stripe, though this wasn't his first return since commissioning.

Ping Pong Tourney Planned . . .

Plans are now being laid for another paddle-wielder's tournament, not only for navy men but also for women and civilians as well as mixed doubles. Matches will probably be played on the two tables in the gym where scores can be readily posted. Further details will be forthcoming later. Only champion determined this summer along this line was at the "Y" where Jack Sias came out on top. At Lausanne, Nicholai, Utter and B. B. Carson were still battling for it with the close of the semester.

The Doff . . .

Since a week of leave lends nothing to the spotlight, the doff this week should go to Captain Jerry Wolfsehr and the whole Bearcat gridiron squad for a hard-played, successful season.

Cece Johnson Quits Hospital for U of W

Final chapter in the hard-luck story of the season was written Wednesday when Cece Johnson, right halfback for the Bearcats was released from the hospital and permitted to go on leave before reporting to the University of Washington where he will receive training as an engineering specialist on aeronautical engines.

Removed from the initial Whitman game after the first five minutes of play with a sprained ankle, Johnson returned to the squad after two weeks' absence. Injured again before the final Washington game, he was placed in the hospital where he remained until this week.

Faculty Fans To Bat Birdy In Noon Tilts

Also due for rejuvenation with the beginning of the present term is the faculty badminton competition which was shelved for the spring and summer months in favor of softball and golf.

Professional racket-wielders are again slated to take the gymnasium floor on Monday and Friday noons to polish up on their game and take part in impromptu tourneys.

Showing in the 1943-44 season were Chester Luther, Lestle Sparks, Walt Erickson and Egbert Oliver, although Drs. McLeod and Tschudy are "coming up" to quote the latter.

Feminine enthusiasts occasionally joining the male aspirants were Helen Murdock of the alumni office, Maxine Lantz of Robert E. fame, Gale Currey and Marion Morange of the bicycles and Phoebe Gueffroy, Miss Currey's able senior scholar in physical education.

Slated to try a hand at the game are neophytes Jean Fries and Catharine Thomas, biology majors who contend that Dr. Tschudy has nothing to do with their sudden interest in the art.

ASB Office Hours Scheduled; Job Open

The ASWU office located in the basement of Waller hall will be open from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m., and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. daily beginning Monday, according to Dr. Robert E. Lantz, general manager.

Barbara Shirley will again aid in the office work. However, additional student help is needed and anyone interested in such part-time employment should contact Lantz.

Collegians will be distributed from the office as usual on Fridays. The phone will be available for student use. A lost and found will also be maintained.

Don Rochon, left halfback of the 1944 navy edition of the Willamette Bearcats who sparked the offensive play of the Trotter-coached eleven.—Statesman cut.

Bearcat Gridmen Chalk Up Three Wins, Two Losses

Although the Trotter-coached Bearcats dropped their second game to the Washington Husky eleven to the tune of a 40-6 score in an October 7 clash on Multnomah field in Portland, twin wins over the rival Whitman team and a triumph over the highly touted Klamath Falls marine outfit placed the Willamette gridsters well in the win column for the 1944 season.

Showing considerable improvement over their first game with the Huskies, the Willamette eleven was the first to score in the opening minutes of the Portland classic. Taking the ball on his own 33, triple-threat Don Rochon flipped a 17-yard pass to freshman end Wayne Mayfield, substituting for the injured Marv Goodman, who romped the remaining 50 yards to opay dirt. Rowe's try for extra point was blocked. However, Washington's DeCoursey scored soon after and the Huskies went out in front 7 to 6 at the quarter mark.

A poor Willamette punt in the second period gave the ball to the Huskies on the WU 30 yard line from where Washington's Gilmore ran for a touchdown.

With the Bearcats holding back two determined Husky drives on downs, the half ended with a 14-6 score in favor of the northerners.

Entering the third period the Huskies went on a 20-point spree and added one more tally in the fourth quarter to end the game 40 to 6.

In their opening game of the season, the Bearcats outfought and outplayed Whitman on the Missionaries home soil to gain a decisive 13-0 victory. The first touchdown was earned by a brilliant 35-yard run by halfback Rochon. The second counter was scored in the last quarter by Fullback Floyd Simmons. Both Simmons and Rochon showed up well and served notice to future opposing teams that they would bear watching.

The second game of the season and return match with the Missionaries on Sweetland field saw a much improved Willamette team plaster the Whitman eleven by a 22-6 score. Again it was Simmons and Rochon doing the fancy ball carrying. Highlights of the game were a long pass by Rochon to Goodman to score the first touchdown and later a 75-yard runback of an interception for a touchdown by Simmons.

Meeting the powerful Washington Huskies of Seattle in the third game of the season, the fighting Bearcats took it on the chin by a score of 71-0. The Huskies had just too much weight, power and reserve strength for the lighter inexperienced Bearcats. However, Willamette's Simmons stole the show in the fourth quarter when he ran 76 yards to the Husky 12-yard stripe. Rochon also played an outstanding game as did Goodman and Quarterback Pavlock.

Although out-weighted, out-manned and completely out-experienced, the surprising Bearcat eleven overwhelmed the highly touted K-Falls marine team by a 34-14 score. The most spectacular play of the season came in the first quarter of the game when 'Cat Center Cal Wardrop recovered a marine fumble on his own goal line and raced 100 yards for a touchdown. Simmons and Goodman accounted for the remaining touchdowns, with two apiece. Center A Rowe hit his stride and made good four of five conversion tries.

Winding up team activities for the season was the election by the squad of Jerry Wolfsehr as honorary captain for the season. The hard-playing tackle was a consistent star in line play throughout the series of Willamette encounters.

Trotter Issues First Call For Hoop Practice Nov. 1

Varsity basketball practice will officially begin Wednesday, November 1, with the first turnout for aspirants in the casaba sport. Back as head coach for the 1944-45 season will be big "Duke" Trotter who piloted the 'Cats to a successful season last year and has just completed his second season as football coach guiding the 'Cats to a three and two win-loss score.

Although there will be no returning lettermen from last year's squad, there is expected to be a large turnout, many of whom have had high school experience.

The first game will be played with the University of Oregon at Eugene, November 17. The next night will feature a return engagement with the Ducks in the Willamette gymnasium.

Eight games have already been scheduled, four each with Oregon and Oregon State of the home-and-home variety.

Trotter urges all those with previous basketball experience to turn out at the initial practice.

Women's Sports

By Thyra Jean Currey

New Setup

This year we're hoping that all of you girls will be showing a big interest in women's sports. Last year our old WAA organization was replaced by a new system of activities called sports clubs. Each sport in its season will be handled by a manager and conducted on Friday afternoon from 1 to 4. This period is one of Willamette's extracurricular activities for your enjoyment and relaxation.

Cycle Fans

As usual, you freshman women will be required to take at least one semester of regular gym classes. After that you may change to archery, swimming, badminton or tennis. In charge of these regular gym classes will be Willamette's associate professor of physical education, Gale Currey, Miss Currey who has been at Willamette since 1926 has just returned from her most recent cycling trip with Marion Morange. They started from the Cascade summit on the Willamette highway and coasted for nearly 25 miles. This scenic trip was short and easy pedaling compared to their cycling adventures over Europe while they were studying there.

Cycling will be one of the sports to look forward to this spring. The success of all the sports will depend on your participation so watch the paper for the beginning of these activities.

Basketball Heads 'Mural Schedule

Inter-platoon basketball will headline the intramural bill of fare for the new semester with intramural director Tony Fratola getting the round robin tourney underway with the beginning of the second week of school.

Assisting Fratola will be the members of Lestle Sparks' leadership and organization class. The plan now is to complete the inter-platoon competition before the Christmas holidays and to start volley ball upon the return at the first of the new year.

Also scheduled for the intramural calendar are boxing and wrestling matches. A repeat performance of the highly successful Happy Hour held last year is planned to climax activity in this department.

Winding up intramural activities for the summer term, the men of C-2 added another win to their growing list of triumphs by copping the title in the touch football tournament.

Scholarships, Loan Fund Given

Bookstore Moved; Open 8-5 Monday

The university bookstore which now occupies the former Wallulah office will be open for business from 8 to 5 Monday and Tuesday to accommodate students purchasing books, according to Mrs. Ruth Larson, manager. Throughout the remainder of the week the opening hour will be 8:30 a.m. On Monday, November 5, the regular 1-5 p.m. daily schedule will be resumed.

Students assisting Mrs. Larson this semester will be Virginia Pope, Alice Jones, Doris Marvel and Ruth Farmer.

Endowments Honoring Three WU Graduates Established

Two scholarships and a loan fund were this week given to the university according to an announcement from the office of Pres. G. Herbert Smith. An endowment fund, the income from which is to be devoted annually to the tuition of a student of the College of Music, is the gift of Mrs. Charles S. Weller of Salem. A loan fund for the assistance of men students and a one-year scholarship for a student from Yelm, Wash., were presented by John Joseph Rogers of Yelm.

The former scholarship is to bear the name of Ellen J. Chamberlin and Mrs. Julia L. Schultz, both outstanding Willamette graduates and sisters of Mrs. Weller. Mrs. Weller has been assisted in the creation of the endowment by a number of heirs of Miss Chamberlin and Mrs. Schultz. The scholarship will be awarded annually beginning next year by the scholarship committee of the University with the assistance of the dean of the music school and preference will be given to talented students of music in need of financial assistance.

The Rogers' endowment of $1500 to create a loan fund for worthy men students in need of financial assistance is a memorial to Capt. Ellis Albert Rogers, Rogers' son and a Willamette graduate who was killed over Germany on May 8, 1944, while piloting a P-51. The fund will be known as the Abby Rogers' loan fund. Loans repaid within 12 months will be interest-exempt and the portion of loans unpaid will be subject to four percent interest. Applications for loans may be made through Dean Erickson and are now available.

Rogers has also established a one-year scholarship for a Yelm student through the loyalty fund of the alumni association which permits the creation of a scholarship upon the subscription of forty $5 units to the fund. The scholarship is available now and if not awarded will be open for application next semester.

Six New Professors Join Roster of Faculty Members

Six new names appear on the faculty roster listed on the 1944 curriculum schedule. The appointees return to full strength the faculty depleted by retirements and resignations at the close of the spring term. Additions have been made in the personnel of the chemistry and psychology departments.

Most recent appointment and newest arrival on the campus is Margaret Scruggs who succeeds Evangeline Merritt as instructor in voice and public school music. Miss Scruggs comes to the university from the music faculties of Bowling Green State university in Ohio and Milwaukee-Downer college in Wisconsin. She is a graduate of Oberlin and has received her master's degree from Northwestern.

Also a recent arrival is Dr. Lawrence A. Riggs who assumes the post in the educational department left by Dr. H. C. Hutchins. Riggs served five years with the staff of Johns Hopkins university. He completed his undergraduate work at the University of California and did graduate work at Columbia university.

Assisting Dr. Charles L. Sherman in the department of psychology will be Dr. Herbert C. McMurtry. Not a newcomer to Oregon, McMurtry received his Ph. D. at the University of Oregon. Previous work for his master's degree was done at the University of Chicago while his undergraduate study was at Yankton college in South Dakota. He succeeded his father as head of the philosophy and psychology department at Yankton in 1928.

Already a familiar face in the library is that of Dan Graves who arrived late in the summer to take over the assistant librarianship resigned by Elizabeth Kennedy. Graves has served with the navy and completed work for the diploma in library science at the University of Denver after receiving a medical discharge from the armed forces. He has held positions at both the Mary Reed and public libraries of Denver.

Also serving during the summer term has been Leuisa Plummer, assistant professor of chemistry. A graduate of Hanover college, Hanover, Ind., Miss Plummer received her M. A. from the University of Minnesota. She has taught at the latter institution and also served on the staff of the University of Teheran. She is now on leave of absence from the Northern Montana college at Havre, Mont. She will teach classes in both the math and chemistry departments.

Final faculty addition is Dr. William Moellering, formerly of Western State College of Colorado, who assumes the head of the language department. He will teach the Spanish courses previously conducted by Prof. Charles Haworth, retired, and Dr. Alexander Vazakas, now in his native Greece in reconstruction work. Moellering graduated from Stanford and also did work for his advanced degrees there. He has also served on the faculty of the University of Idaho, southern branch.

WSSF Drive Plans Grow

Mary Robe, national secretary of the World Student Service Fund, will be the speaker in chapel Tuesday, November 14, setting the keynote for the annual drive for campus contributions to the fund. The fund is employed in aiding students throughout the world to continue their studies in the face of the war situation. It has also been responsible for important work among the prisoners of war of all countries.

The Willamette drive for funds is scheduled to last until November 21. Marian Carter is heading plans for the campaign.

Contributions last year totaled $116 as compared with per capita contributions exceeding $1 on some campuses of the west coast.

GOOD WILL

"Good Will," said the U. S. Supreme Court in a recent important decision, "is the disposition of the customer to return to the place where he has been well received." That has always been our idea, too, and it has made our aisles the most well worn paths in town. For your good will is our most precious prize... and we aim to keep it and treasure it always.

Concert Series Tickets On Sale at Registration

A venture into a new field of university activity will be made at registration today when students purchase the first tickets to the university-sponsored series of three concerts by professional artists to be presented on the campus during the winter months. First program in the group is slated for Tuesday, November 7, when Hazel Hildred, mezzo-contralto, appears in an all-Stephen Foster concert at 8:15 p.m. in Waller hall.

Season tickets will be available to students at $1.20, tax included, while purchase price for the general public will be $2.40. No reserved seats will be sold. The sale, which is being handled by Mu Phi Epsilon under the chairmanship of Louise Wrisley, will continue in Eaton hall on Monday where the public may obtain tickets.

Additional artists in the series are Gertrude Hopkins, harpist, who will appear on December 12 and Arron Twerdowsky, cellist, and Georgia Graves, contralto, who are scheduled to arrive on the campus January 17 for a joint performance.

A program of popular appeal in contrast to the more serious music of the later concerts will be that presented by Miss Hildred. A foremost interpreter of the music of Stephen Foster, Miss Hildred has scored successes at the Royal Theatre in Naples and in concert and radio.

Miss Hopkins has earned for herself recognition as one of America's most distinguished harpists, appearing on concert stages throughout the country, before school and college audiences and with leading American orchestras. She has studied with Marcel Gradjany, known as the world's greatest harpist. Shortly before Pearl Harbor, Miss Hopkins appeared as soloist for the Pro Arte Musical of Havana, the best known musical organization of Cuba where she was acclaimed by the Havana press.

Considered to be one of America's promising artists, Twerdowsky was a student and close associate of the late Emanuel Feuermann, one of the world's great cellists. He is at present a member of the Columbia Symphony orchestra under the direction of Howard Barlow and has also played with the Wallenstein Sinfonietta and the New York Philharmonic orchestra.

Miss Graves studied with the famous Madame Schumann-Heink on scholarship. She has appeared on the concert stage throughout the East and mid-west and has also appeared in Europe where she sang for the great Finnish composer, Sibelius.

BETTY RANDALL

Betty Randall Edits Second ASWU Guide

Information blanks included in today's registration material are first evidence of the forthcoming publication of the 1944 ASWU fuser's guide. Betty Randall, last year's editor, will again compile the student directory.

The provided questionnaires must be filled out by each student if his name is to appear in the annual publication. Miss Randall said. She also stated that the new system of obtaining the directory will eliminate the usual preliminary preparation of printer's copy and should make publication of the booklet possible within three weeks.

Unique feature of the Randall-edited guide will be a section listing the addresses and telephone numbers of officers of important campus groups including ASWU, Greek organizations, living groups and honoraries. Faculty home addresses and telephones as well as university offices will again be listed. Home and Salem addresses and telephones of all students will be compiled.

Class Pictures Next on Bill For Wallulah Staff Members

Arranging for class pictures will be the next big item in order for members of the Wallulah staff returning from a week's respite from their efforts on the yearbook during the summer semester and new aides recruited from among freshman students and upperclassmen back on the campus from full summer vacations.

The work of the summer staff members under the leadership of Editor Jean Fries is evident in the full photographic coverage of events of the semester now in Wallulah files. A complete outline of the book's contents is also on file with half of the planned pages already in detailed layouts.

Those continuing from the summer staff are Ruth Farmer, classes; Alice Jones, activities; Bill Bauman, sports, and Rosella Bell, living groups. Staff members assisting with the summer work but no longer on the campus are Jim Elliott, make-up; Whitey Jacobson, sports; Marion Calk, curriculum and campus, and Ted Comstock, photography.

WU Infirmary Ready Soon

A university infirmary is expected to be ready for use soon according to the office of Pres. G. Herbert Smith which stated this week that the use of a house located south of the Devreux apartments on 15th street has been obtained by the university health department.

The residence is now occupied by tenants and will require minor remodeling before being made available to civilian student patients. The plan includes four bedrooms, kitchen and living room. Capacity for the establishment has been set at 10 to 12.

Although the addition to the university plant is designed primarily for civilian women of the student body, the infirmary will be available for navy men in the event of need for isolation in an epidemic of a contagious nature.
