

WU Concert Series Financial Success

After a tabulation of ticket sales following the William Warfield appearance on Wednesday night, Phil Ringle, concert manager, called the 1951-'52 Willamette Distinguished Artist Series "a favorable success."

Maurice Cohn, chief accountant, announced the approximate profits and expenses of the four concert series. The net profit is now $264.26 with a few dollars of tickets not yet turned in to his office. This amount was reached by deducting the expenditures of the series from the total amount of ticket sales for the entire season.

The expenses are listed as $8,026.10, $6,500 of which was guaranteed to the artists before the opening of this year's series and the remainder, or approximately $1,500, for promotional costs. The income tally is now $8,290.36. The profit of this year's series exceeds that of the same number of concerts of last year which was $250.

In the fall of 1951 the Student council, after realizing a profit from the last years four individual concerts, elected to sponsor a series this year. The council decided to underwrite the series for $7,500 and any loss was to be made up by the student union fund.

Harley Hoppe was appointed by the council as the manager of the newly formed series and he chose Phil Ringle as his assistant. Under this leadership an Executive Committee was formed for the promotion of the series.

In February Hoppe, after serving for three concerts, resigned and named his assistant to the top concert post. With the advent of the new manager Bill Briggs, Darrel de Chaby, Tom Schrock, and Dick Scott were chosen as assistants and Dean Melvin O. Geist of the Music school became advisor to the executive committee.

Glee Words and Music Due; Practice to Start Wednesday

Words and music to Glee songs are due in Maurice Cohn's office at 4 p.m. today, Ruben Menashe, Glee manager reported. Proposed formations must be submitted to Menashe by Wednesday, which will also be the opening date for optional practices.

Four copies of the music and four copies of the words will be necessary. Songs must be done on standard score sheets in black india ink.

The name of the class represented and the name of the person writing the song must appear on one copy of the words and one copy of the music.

Formations must be submitted in writing to eliminate dissension in regard to changes, Menashe said. Each class must have one basic formation, with only minor changes which will not alter the size, shape, or theme allowed. All formations will be kept in strictest confidence, Menashe stated.

The gym will not be available for practices until March 17, but optional campus practices may begin Wednesday.

Glee committee chairmen for the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes were appointed this week.

'Twelfth Night' Tryouts Set; Tuesday, Wednesday Dates

All campus tryouts for the last major production of the year, William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," have been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

The cast includes three women's roles and 14 male characters.

The comedy will be presented as the May Weekend production May 1 and 2 in Waller hall.

The cast includes three women's roles and 14 male characters. The comedy will be presented as the May Weekend production May 1 and 2 in Waller hall.

According to Director Dean Graunke, the tryouts will be in Waller hall's Little Theatre Tuesday, from 7 to 9:30 p. m., and on Wednesday, from 8:30 to 10 p.m. Students who can not be accommodated by these hours are advised to contact Graunke for private readings.

Graunke describes the play as "Shakespeare in a supremely delightful mood. Laughter is provoked by such widely divergent characters as Toby and Malvolio. It all takes place in the mythical and charming Illyria."

Getting Spirited

Glee spirit is getting underway none too soon with the Frosh capture and midnite ride of Harold Silke, sophomore class prexy. Frosh are new at the game, however, and don't realize that all presidents of the upper classes have a secret network of spies, and also have means of transportation from every possible dumping-off place.

Hal was back and in bed within 20 minutes.

Last Day to Apply

Today is the last day to make application for the selective service examination to be given April 24 on this campus. Applications may be obtained from the local draft board, and must be in the mail by midnight, Monday, March 10. To apply for the test a student must be pursuing a full-time course of study with the university, and must not have taken the test before.

UN Voted Top Policy Issue

The United Nations is considered the most important aspect of foreign policy by 40 per cent of Willamette students, results of the mock convention chapel poll showed. Twenty-three per cent voted first choice on military aid to friendly nations.

In domestic issues, improvement in government, civil rights, civil liberties, and statehood for Alaska and Hawaii were considered the most important planks.

Both Sides Presented Here

One of the biggest issues on the Willamette campus this year has been the dismissal of Dr. Edward C. Kollmann, professor of philosophy, and the events leading up to it.

Students realize that policy-making for the University is usually carried out by the administration and the board of trustees. However, in the final analysis, the customer has a good deal of influence on all judgments of policy. Students and their families feel that their views of what is to their own best interests, and hence worthy of their moral and financial support, is bound to be of some value to the future welfare and progress of Willamette university.

On this basis, many students have asked for information and clarification of the dismissal of Professor Kollmann.

The Collegian has therefore gathered together such information, statements, and explanations as are available to present the issue as we see it, as objectively as possible. There is no intent to criticize, accuse, justify, or carry a torch for any point of view, person, or event.

Board of Trustees Rules - - -

President Smith was asked to explain the position of the Board of Trustees to the students. This is the release from his office.

The board of trustees of Willamette university, at the regular mid-year meeting, received a report from its committee on faculty which reviewed the board actions taken during the past year on the reduction of faculty and staff. The trustee committee on faculty pointed out that President Smith had presented the request from students that the board consider a change in its action in terminating the services of one faculty member at the close of the current year.

The first consideration of the necessity of reducing staff came in the meeting of the faculty committee of the board of trustees more than a year ago on January 26, 1951. At that meeting the president of the University pointed out to the trustees the reduction which had taken place in the full-time enrollment of the University from the high point of 1278 to 1,013 students (as of January 1951) and the corresponding decrease in tuition income which made necessary the solicitation of a large trustee emergency fund to make possible the operation of the University during the year 1950-51. At that time, in January 1951, the committee recognized the need of reducing the staff as one method of helping solve the current and continuing financial problems. Willamette, in fact, was the last private college in the state to make reductions in staff.

After careful consideration and conference with the faculty advisory committee to the president, the faculty committee of the board of trustees adopted the following action:

"That four of the younger members of the staff, as discussed in the meeting, be advised that while they are appointed for 1951-52, they would not expect to be reappointed for the year 1952-53."

This report of the committee was adopted at the mid-year meeting of the board one year ago on February 15, 1951. The notification to staff members was withheld until it could be determined if the financial problems continued to demand this action.

By the time of the June 1951 meeting of the board of trustees, it was obvious that the financial position of the University demanded every possible savings if another and much larger tuition increase were to be avoided. At that meeting, the president made the following report:

"The members of the board of trustees are aware that the current college year has been the most difficult from a financial standpoint of any in the past decade. The University has been caught between the jaws of reduced income because of lower enrollment, on one side, and increased costs on the other side."

At this meeting in June, 1951, the faculty committee received the previous actions on adjustments in staff which were taken by the February meeting. It was pointed out that these adjustments would result in decided savings in the budget at a time when greatly needed. The trustee faculty committee further pointed out that it was now evident that the University could anticipate a reduced enrollment, from the previous high, for a period of several years.

The board then adopted the committee recommendation "that the four faculty members concerned in the February action be advised of the action of the board of trustees and be given a year's notice that their appointments would not be continued beyond June of 1952." The action of the board of trustees was relayed to the staff members concerned both in conference and in writing.

The recent board meeting, in February, 1952, not only reviewed the actions previously taken, but pointed out that the current enrollment of 967 full-time students, was a further indication that the board of trustees had anticipated the enrollment trend correctly, and had taken the proper action.

In view of these facts, the board of trustees voted unanimously that it found no reason to reverse its previous action, and instructed the president of the University to carry out the program which had been adopted. The board further requested the president of the university to give the students of Willamette the background of facts which are here stated.

Students Question

Four hundred WU students signed a petition protesting the dismissal of Dr. Kollmann. Here are some of the student feelings on the matter.

Two students, Joyce Aschenbrenner and Jack Pierce, obtained an interview with Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of the University, Tuesday afternoon to secure an official statement from him regarding the action taken by the Board of Trustees of the University on the student petition requesting reconsideration of the dismissal of Dr. Edward Kollmann, head of the philosophy department. The two students were acting as spokesmen for the group of nine students who authored the petition and, indirectly, for the more than four hundred students who signed the petition which was circulated last fall.

In keeping with the current retrenchment policy of the university four professors were notified last year that their contracts would not be renewed for the 1952-53 school year. The decision to release the four professors was made in February, 1951, and they were to be four of the younger members of the staff. At this same February meeting of the Board Dr. Kollmann was elevated to an associate professorship. The four professors whose contracts will not be renewed includes, besides Dr. Kollmann, Alfred W. Sheets, asst. professor of sociology, Dr. Arthur H. Maynard, acting assistant professor of religion, and Willard Smith, asst. professor of economics, who did not return this year.

The particular objective of the students was to attempt to clarify the rumors which have circulated in relation to Dr. Kollmann's dismissal. Dr. Smith stated that there was no correlation between Dr. Kollmann's stand on the ROTC issue and his dismissal. Kollmann had stood not for or against the establishment of an ROTC unit on campus but for the right of students to express themselves on the issue.

Dr. Smith asked what the reason was for the particular emphasis on Dr. Kollmann as the subject of a student petition. The two students affirmed their view, which in effect was expressed in the petition, that Dr. Kollmann has been a constant source of inspiration to students as an educator and as a person, that he has in four years developed the philosophy department to its present peak enrollment and that his interest in the students and in student affairs has made him an integral part of campus life.

Dr. Smith construed this as a fine compliment to Dr. Kollmann and stated that it was his belief that Dr. Kollmann has a brilliant future in the teaching profession.

Kollman States

Dr. Kollmann was asked to make a statement, since he has never made a printed statement before regarding his dismissal. He received notice of dismissal several months after the other professors, Alfred Sheets, Arthur Maynard, and Gerald Smith, received theirs.

During the past four years I have been very happy in my associations with the students and faculty of Willamette university as well as with many members of the Salem community.

It has been highly gratifying to know that the competence of my work as teacher and scholar has been recognized by the promotion in rank granted to me by the Board of Trustees in February, 1951, by my election this year to the Committee of the Pacific Conference on Teaching Philosophy, and by the expansion of the Philosophy department as evidenced by steady growth in enrollment over the past four years. It has been especially rewarding to witness the growth in intellectual stature of the many students with whom I have come to have close and stimulating relations and to thus realize that I am helping to further true education at Willamette by improving its young men and women through helping them learn to think for themselves.

Hence, I have been perplexed as to the reason for my termination of tenure as Associate Professor of philosophy at Willamette university, effective with the end of the current academic year. It is particularly perplexing in view of the further fact that at the time of announcement it was made definite in a personal interview with Dr. Smith that any changes in the financial condition of the University or in the enrollment figures would not lead to any reconsideration of the Board's action, since in my case the action taken by the Board's action, since in my case the action taken by the Board of Trustees is final.

Editor's Note: Other campuses have their problems too! Another Associated Collegiate press feature release for reader interest and enjoyment.

Students and faculty at the University of Minnesota are doing a lot of talking these days about Forrest O. Wiggins, instructor of philosophy.

Wiggins, who has taught at the University for five years, was notified last month that he will not be rehired next year. Thirty-seven other instructors received identical letters of termination, in accordance with tenure regulations.

Wiggins protested immediately, claiming he was dismissed because of his leftish political views and because of pressure from the state legislature. Some of his backers implied that Wiggins was dismissed because he is a Negro.

A Student Action committee was quickly organized. It submitted a petition signed by more than 2,000 students to President J. L. Morrill calling on him to clarify the administration's stand.

Morrill replied that Wiggins was considered "incompetent" and added that he had "documentary evidence" in support of the claim. He categorically denied that the dismissal had anything to do with Wiggins' race or his politics. He said the administration had yielded to no pressure from the legislature.

One is the administration's. It says, "The principle of academic freedom is not involved in the Wiggins case." Wiggins, says the administration, was dismissed because "serious doubts" had been cast on his scholastic competence. The administration says it yielded to no outside pressure in making the decisions.

The other side is represented by the Student Action committee. It claims the administration has failed to support its charge that Wiggins is incompetent. The issue, it says, is one of academic freedom. It has petitioned the Board of Regents to reinstate Dr. Wiggins.

Commented the Minnesota Daily, "The student petition made it clear that the University judgment is being questioned. Yet students still are expected to rely on the judgment of administrators, because they haven't been provided with the information they need to 'co-judge' Dr. Wiggins' competence. Unless that information is provided, the University stands to lose the confidence of a number of students."

Dear Willamette Student Body:

The fins to the 1952 basketball season has just been written. It has been a rewarding season. For the senior fellows it was a fitting climax of four fine years together. For those returning to play again, this season will serve as an inspiration to even greater heights. And yet in the final analysis it will not be the records or the victories which will live on in the minds and hearts of each of us. It is the feeling, the spirit, the support, for which you the students were greatly responsible, that remains important. This spirit, which sustained us throughout the season, bound team and students together so that whatever accomplishments were ours were in no small measure yours also. For this support we wish to sincerely thank each and every one of you.

Perhaps you will never realize how tremendously important to the success of your athletic teams your wholehearted support is. Believe us it did, and does, make a difference. As a team we have been exceedingly proud to represent a student body which realizes and practices the value of courteous and sportsman-like conduct.

The 1952 Basketball Team

To the Editor:

I wish to express my appreciation and gratitude to all those who helped make the reception following the William Warfield concert the success it was. To members of Mu Phi Epsilon go particular thanks for acting as hostesses at the reception, also to Mrs. Geist and Mrs. Dobbs who served the punch and Dean Hatfield who was in the receiving line. Miss Jack and Mrs. Johnson who gave so generously of their time taking care of the many details, receive all our thanks for their contribution, and of course without Pop Cray there would have been no punch. Finally I want to thank again the fellows who pitched in and helped clean up the mess after the reception. With their help we polished off fifteen dozen punch glasses in a matter of minutes. And thanks again to "honest" George Buland who helped so much to make things run smoothly. If I have forgotten anyone let me simply say, thank you all.

Dear Editor:

The student body would like to take this opportunity to recognize the remarkable achievements which time, energy, interest, and enthusiasm of six graduating seniors have helped create. These seniors are Hugh Bellinger, Dick Brouwer, Ted Loder, Doug Logue, Lou Scrivens and Larry Smith.

These players have contributed to the winning of four consecutive Northwest conference championships. The appreciation of the student body was shown by 500 in attendance to support the Bearcats for the regional bid to Kansas City at the NAIB tourney in Portland last week.

Mock Conventions at Oberlin Set Precedent for Willamette

Although the mock convention to be sponsored by Willamette this year will be the first one of its kind on the Pacific Coast, Oberlin college in Ohio has held mock conventions of this type for 92 years.

The first Oberlin convention was in 1860 when the students nominated Abraham Lincoln. Out of 23 conventions, 21 have been Republican, with the Oberlin students correctly naming the successful candidate nine times. Among these candidates were McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, and Hoover.

Mock conventions are a big thing at Oberlin, according to the schedule sheet. The chairman is appointed more than a year ahead of time.

Throughout the year committees are busy lining up delegates and speakers and making physical arrangements for the convention. A delegates' ball is held a month before the convention. On the opening day of the convention, a fifty-foot parade winds through town.

After 92 years of conventions, Oberlin has attracted radio and magazine publicity, and its proceedings are watched carefully by the nations' politicians.

Lou Prediletto New Rotarian

Lou Prediletto, newly-elected second vice-president of the student body, was elected Rotarian of the month at the student council meeting last Wednesday.

Prediletto, a senior pre-law and economics major, is from Vancouver, Wash. He has served as junior class representative, sophomore class president and president of Cardinal Key. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Students Compete In Linfield Meet

Joining in competition with nearly 500 students from forty other colleges and universities west of the Rockies, a speech and drama squad of sixteen Willamette students is participating in the annual Linfield college tournament started yesterday and runs through tomorrow.

Willamette speech and drama students competing in the annual event are: James Wood, Tom Scheidel, Elliott Motschenbacher, Fenton Hughes, Paul Johnson, Richard Geer, David Belch, Earl Atkinson, Marion Putnam, Jean Kyle, Ann Ellsperman, Marjorie Aldinger, Caroline Matter, Sue Mellor, Judi Wood, Eunice Peck-enpaugh and Margaret Conklin.

The Linfield college tournament is the largest event of its kind held annually in the United States. The Willamette delegation is participating in debates, extemporaneous speaking, acting, interpretive reading, impromptu and oratory.

Accompanying the Willamette group and serving as tournament judges are Dean F. Graunke and Howard W. Runkel of the speech and drama staff.

Art Students Exhibit Work; New Projects Now Underway

Art students of Willamette are now working on varied new projects, having completed last semester's work. Most of the finished work is on exhibit throughout the art building, and is open for Willamette students to see.

AWS Elects Lumijarvi New President

Nancy Lumijarvi, newly elected president of the Associated Women Students took office at an informal ceremony at the home of Mrs. Roy Lockenour on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Lumijarvi is a junior majoring in economics and a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

The other officers that were installed during the ceremony were vice-president, Jane Gray; secretary, Diana Hobart; treasurer, La Vaughn Sleeper; freshman class representative, Janet De Weese and Ruth Joseph.

Elected as sophomore class representatives were Lisbeth Shields and Mary Campbell. Harriet Aller was elected as the junior representative.

WUPs to Show 'Thirty-nine Steps'

Next Wednesday night at 7 p.m. the Willamette University Players will present the movie, "The Thirty-nine Steps," in Waller hall.

The movie, for WUPs only, stars Madeline Carroll and Robert Donat and was produced by Alfred Hitchcock.

Admission will be 10 cents.

The exhibit includes drawings, water colors, and sketches by the drawing and painting classes; silk screens and etchings, along with oil paintings, masks, and modeling done in clay and plaster-of-Paris.

A particular highlight of the display is a group of 20 masks which are made by first modeling clay in the form of a face, and then placing strips of newspaper soaked in paste over the clay.

About seven layers of paper are needed and the clay is removed by digging it out. It is then painted, leaving a not quite so life-like mask.

Most of the work-up is done by students who are not art majors and who have had little if any art before. But through the method of attacking each problem, the results obtained are very good, and are well worth seeing.

The exhibit will be up for one week before it is removed. Students are invited to see it in the art building from 9 until 5 o'clock on week days.

KOCO Airs Show By Studio A Group

"Drums Along the Mohawk," a comedy, was presented last night over the Studio A series on KOCO. The script was written especially for radio by Jim Scott and as students will remember, he wrote the drama called "Lesser Lines" produced in Chapel just before Christmas.

"Drums Along the Mohawk" or "Uncle Tom-Tom's Cabin" employs every type of humor from sweet sarcasm to something out of a "Springmaid Sheet Ad."

The cast, Dick Geer, Rollie Cocking, Lyn Wence and Loren Ranton did very well as did Director Bob Kaplan with assistance by Eric Ohland.

Topping to Offer Recital Monday

Miss Clorinda Topping, soprano, will appear in recital next Monday night in the Waller hall chapel at 8:15.

Miss Topping's program will include works by Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, Hugo Wolf, Purcell-Britten and several other artists.

Included on the program will be a clarinet obligato, "The Shepherd on the Mountain", played by Charles Martin.

Faculty to Meet W Club in Basketball Clash; Big Change for Equality Spurs Lettermen

Something is really going to break loose Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. when the faculty meets the lettermen in their annual basketball clash. This conflict is destined to bring together the greatest collection of brain, brawn and blubber ever seen at Willamette.

The lettermen, realizing that this is their big chance to meet the faculty on equal terms, are putting up a team of fighting hustlers. Some of the lettermen who will be out fighting for the glory of the undergraduates will be Hogg Hosford, Tank Clark, Muscles Markoskie, Andy George and Crusher Koepf. All lettermen that have not played freshman or varsity ball are eligible to join in the fray.

It looks like the lettermen will have to use everything they have if they hope to win, for Captain Velde, coach of the faculty, is bringing together a collection of talent, the likes of which has never been imagined. The striking power of the faculty has been greatly bolstered by the men of the AROTC.

Manager Nancy Stuart divulges that Sergeant Hartman has three years of playing experience behind him as a member of the University of Oklahoma's varsity squad; Sergeant Eugene Bull has traveled extensively in both North Africa and Italy, playing on Air Force teams; Sergeant Tyler has spent two seasons playing for Stewart Chevrolet; and Captain Velde himself is a hoop star from the University of Oregon with four years of varsity experience. Fortunately these men have kept themselves in top condition by practice shooting from the gym balcony.

There is some bad news from the faculty squad, however. Dr. Gregg is being troubled by his trick knee, Dean Hatfield is so snowed by the load of putting so many parking violators on probation that he may not be able to see action, and the squad's greatest hook shot artist of last year, Dr. Springer, states she will "ride on her laurels this year" and will not see action.

Luckily, Sam Vokes is in top condition. He has a background of great experience as a four-year varsity basketball ace at Ithaca college, and on top of this he has played varsity La Crosse, which makes him a double threat.

Captain Velde has expressed, with heartfelt emotion and indomitable spirit, the determination of his team: "We will defend with our backs to the volleyball nets; we will defend with our backs to the center stripe; we will defend with our backs to the foul line; we will fight all the way back to the backboard; and with this undying spirit ultimate victory is assured!"

Coach Velde feels that his lineup "will be able to put considerable pressure on the floor at all times." He is further confident of victory by the possession of the former foul throwing champion of Colorado State college, Major Thompson. It is reported that Major Thompson throws as foul a shot as ever was thrown.

All in all, Tuesday evening promises to be an unrehearsed madhouse and a heck of a good time. The lettermen are planning to make a real evening out of it, including special half-time entertainment. The time is 7:30, the place is the gym, the price is 25 cents, and the prediction is hilarity.

Pilots Crush Bearcats; Win NAIB Tournament

By Pete Pratt

The University of Portland Pilots rang up a double triumph last Tuesday night, scoring their first "century" and at the same time winning the district 2 NAIB title, when they trounced a fighting Willamette Bearcat squad 100-77.

The Bearcats had come a long way and had rolled up an impressive record in the season's play, but they had not been faced with the stiff competition that gave Portland their cool confidence under pressure.

The Bearcats turned in a 75-56 victory over OCE Monday night as Portland downed Lewis and Clark 82-65. Lewis and Clark topped OCE 86-61 Tuesday to take third place in the tourney. OCE didn't win either of their ball games in the tourney, but played clean ball all the way and won the sportsmanship trophy.

Pilots Qualify for National

The victory gives the Pilots the privilege of representing district two in the national tournament to be held in Kansas City starting next Monday. It was the first time Willamette had a century scored against them since Seattle university scored 106 in a pre-season game in the 1950-51 season. The Bearcats had been defeated once previously this season by the Pilots.

M. H. McGilvery started the scoring Tuesday night with a field goal, followed by a free throw by little Jim Winters. Two field goals by Ted Loder made it 4-3 for the Bearcats, but a shot by McGilvery again gave the Pilots the lead. Two free throws by Loder gave Willamette a 6-5 edge, but McGilvery shot a field goal to make it 7-6 for the Pilots. A bucket by Dick Mase made it 8-7, Willamette. Ray Foleen scored to put the Pilots out in front, and Willamette never caught up again.

After the Pilots led 17-16, they started rolling and made it 29-18 at the end of the first quarter. It was 55-41 at half and 74-52 at the start of the last period.

Loder Leads Scoring

Loder led Willamette scorers with 21, followed by Mase with 14. Lou Scrivens with 12, and Dick Brouwer with 10. McGilvery led Portland with 24, followed by Winters who scored 18.

Monday night Mase scored 20 and Doug Logue scored 19 to lead the Bearcats to their 75-56 first round NAIB victory over OCE. Pitcher led OCE with 20.

'Kittens Nip Pacific 54-48; End Slate With 20-2 Count

Willamette's eager Bearkittens annexed the mythical Northwest conference freshmen hoop crown last Friday night as they dumped the Pacific Junior Varsity 54-49 at Forest Grove.

Sam Vokes' Bearkittens closed the most successful frosh season in the school's history since 1932 when Les Sparks coached a Bearkitten squad to 15 straight wins without a single defeat. Coach Vokes' Bearkittens captured 20 wins in 22 starts this year. The setbacks came at the hands of the Campbell Insulators of the City league and the Linfield Rooks.

In the Friday encounter at the Pacific "cracker box," the well-polished Cardinal and Gold machine grabbed a 10-4 first quarter lead as both teams had difficulty in hitting the hoop. The Pacific Jayvees closed the gap to 21-20 at intermission. Third quarter action was slow, but the Bearkittens still remained out in front as the fourth period started. With a 35-31 lead, the 'Kittens began to hit the hoop in the last stanza.

Larry Baggett, leading scorer for the Bearkittens this year with 282 points, sparked the WU attack with 13 counters. Dave Gray and Jim Hudelson followed close behind with 11 and ten points respectively.

STAN NELSON

All hands were silent after that 100-77 shellacking from Portland Tuesday night in the NAIB finals. It's tough for any team that has been in the habit of knocking the daylight out of most every team that got in its way to lose one like that. The game was one of the most important of the season, against a team that Willamette wanted to beat in the worst way, and what hurts most, it was the last game for a bunch of guys that have made basketball history at Willamette. Of all the games the seniors on the squad have played in their four fabulous years here, the last Portland contest will stick on their minds the longest—that's the one they'll remember. No wonder coach John Lewis was silent. But as a fitting climax Lewis came out with a statement right from the heart when he declared, "I'll take my boys anytime." And he meant it.

That's all Lewis would say, but it's enough to show how a coach feels about the players he guides through ball games. Lewis once told us that he is going to miss the players that are graduating this year, "not just for their playing abilities, but because of the guys themselves." Perhaps more than anything else, Lewis will miss those little chats he has enjoyed with his players when they would drop in at his office. He has grown especially close to the boys that have been for four years. What a tremendous climax it would have been to finally whip a team that had beaten them in every game those seniors had come up against them!

Team Writes Letter of Appreciation

Wonder why Lewis wanted to win it? The effect would have been immeasurable for Lewis and his charges—especially for the seniors. The deep disappointment that resulted, however, was felt just as keenly by the Bearcat followers as it was by the team and its coach. We refer you to the editorial page where the team has expressed its feelings in a letter to the student body. It leaves us with the feeling that the linkage between the coach, team, and fans this season, has been almost utopian.

Despite the result of the last game, looking back, we find that the past season has been nothing short of stupendous. It has been one of the best seasons in Willamette's history. Records fell as the fast-breaking Bearcats poured 2,027 points through the hoop for a 75.1 average, both of them records. The past season also saw Doug Logue ram home 477 counters to eclipse an old mark of 404 set by Bob Johnson in 1948. Logue averaged 17.6 per game. Ted Loder climaxed a brilliant four-year career by running his all-time total to 1396 points, a mark that should stand for quite a spell.

And So An Era Ends

This marks not only the end of a fabulous season, but also the end of an era—an era that started four years ago with Loder and Logue landing varsity berths. Since then, basketball has reached its most glorious heights at Willamette.

Attention Faculty

All faculty members who are interested in playing on the Faculty basketball squad are urged to contact Theodore M. Velde, captain of the squad, or Manager Nancy Stuart.

The Faculty-Lettermen game is set for next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. The Faculty team will be out to avenge a loss handed them last year by the Lettermen quintet.

Betas, SAE's, Phi Delt, Baxter Open 'Mural Volleyball Meet Tomorrow

The Beta "C" league team meets the SAE "A" league squad and the Phi Delt "B" league team takes on the Baxter "C" league team in opening round of the intramural volleyball tournament tomorrow morning at 9:00 a.m.

The All-American "B" team and the Phi Delt "A" squad drew first round byes in the tournament and will play the winners of the opening round. The AA's will play the winner of the Beta-SAE clash and the Phi Delt will meet the winner of the Baxter-Phi Delt game. Both games will start at 10:00 p.m.

Two teams from each of the three volleyball leagues are entered in the tournament. First round losers will be dropped from the tourney action while second round losers will play off for third spot at 11:00 p.m. The championship game of the tournament will be played at 11:00 p.m.

The SAE's qualified for the tournament as they finished first in the "A" league. The Phi Delt "A" team enters the tourney as they finished right behind the SAE's. The Phi Delt and the All-Americans of the "B" circuit ended up in a first place tie and were both qualified for the post season action.

In the "C" league, the All-Americans, the Betas and Baxter finished in a deadlock for the league honors and a double elimination playoff was held last Saturday afternoon to determine the two teams who would enter into the tournament. The Betas and Baxter won the right to enter tourney action.

In the playoff action last Saturday afternoon, the Betas dropped the Baxter squad by scores of 15-6, 12-15 and 15-11, and the All-Americans by scores of 15-5 and 15-10. The Baxter squad captured the remaining tournament berth as they dropped the AA's by scores of 15-12 and 15-10 after losing the first game 15-9.

Record-Setting Sextet Ends Casaba Careers For Cardinal and Gold

Six graduating seniors finished up their college basketball careers in fine fashsion as they brought to Willamette its fourth straight Northwest conference championship.

Hugh Bellinger, Dick Brouwer, Ted Loder, Doug Logue and Lou Scrivens, who have played on championship teams in their four years at Willamette, and Larry Smith, who joined the squad in his junior year after attending Clark Junior college for two years, are the six seniors.

Logue and Loder share the highest individual total for a single performance at 32 points. Logue also holds the record for most points scored in a single season on a Bearcat squad with 477. Loder established a new scoring record for four-year totals at 1392 points.

Bellinger, Loder, Logue and Scrivens have all been named to an all-conference squad. Loder and Logue have placed on the team twice while Scrivens and Bellinger have taken single nods. Smith placed on the second all-star team last season.

Willamette Smothers Badgers; Loder Leads 'Cats in League Finale

The Willamette university Bearcats finished their regular season play in grand style last Friday night as they whipped the Badgers of Pacific university 79-55 on the losers' home floor.

The win gave the 'Cats a 14-1 record in league play and advanced their all seasons total to Julian Amaya, Pacific's ace forward, turned in the best performance in the point making department for either team as he scored 20 points. Teammate Clint Agee was next to Amaya in the Pacific scoring as Agee connected with ten counters.

Loder led Willamette with 17 points followed by Scrivens with 14 and Logue was next with 13. Larry Smith and Dick Brouwer both hit for ten. Logue's 13 points increased his season's total to 477, a Willamette record for individual scoring in one season.

The game marked the end of college basketball for six graduating seniors in regular season play. The seniors are Hugh Bellinger, Brower, Loder, Logue, Scrivens and Smith. All of the seniors except Smith, who joined the Bearcats in his junior year, played on only conference winning teams in their four years on the Cardinal and Gold squad. The sextet captured 43 conference wins and dropped only 11 in four years of action.

Final Northwest Conference Standings

Pacific	5	10	.333	855	976
Whitman	5	10	.333	907	974

21 wins in 25 starts, one of the finest records a Willamette team has had in years.

The Jasons, who had wrapped up their fourth straight conference title a week before, had a rough time of it the first half. But in the third period, their fast-breaking attack begin to click and they went on to win easily.

Loder Sparks Rally

The Badgers jumped to an early lead only to lost it on Lou Scrivens' bucket with the game seven minutes old. Willamette lead 16-12 at the end of the first quarter and 28-21 by halftime.

Ted Loder dumped in five baskets to lead the 'Cats to their third period rally. Willamette scored 28 points while holding Pacific to ten, and lead 56-31 at the end of the quarter.

Doug Logue and Scrivens left the game via the foul route late in the third canto followed by Daryl Girod in the fourth. Reserves played most of the final period for Willamette and built up the final 79-55 count.

Sorority Bids to Be Issued Tomorrow as Rush Ends

Rush functions for the spring semester began last night with parties held at chapter houses of all the sororities. Tonight informal parties will again be held, and rush functions will end tomorrow, when the second preferential luncheon and the first preference banquet will be held. Following the banquet and the final choice of formal bids, fire-sides will be held at all the chapter houses.

Delta Gamma entertained rushers of the spring semester last night at their chapter house from 6:30 until 7:15. Betty Ann Lindley was in charge of the guest book, and the guests were entertained by musical numbers and readings. Alpha Chi Omega entertained at their chapter house from 7:30 until 8:15. A program was presented for the guests by Betty Jean Mullin and Ardith Bailey. Refreshments of the traditional angel pie and punch were served.

Pi Beta Phi entertained their guests last night from 8:30 to 9:15. A skit was presented, and refreshments of ice cream cones were served. At the Chi Omega chapter house rushers were entertained from 9:30 until 10:15. Dorothea Church played a piano solo, and cake, decorated with the name of the guest in icing, was served.

Members of Pi Beta Phi will entertain their guests tonight from 6:30 to 7:15. The Pi Phi quartet will sing for the group, and Sally Bridgeman will do a hula dance. At the Delta Gamma chapter house guests will be entertained by a program planned by Janice Gladden, from 7:30 until 8:30.

Tonight from 8:30 until 9:15 will find the Alpha Chi Omega members entertaining their guests with the Alpha Chi quartet and Bavarian creme will be served. A parlor game, led by Dorothea Church, will entertain rushers at the Chi Omega house tonight from 9:30 to 10:15. Marilyn Hunter will sing.

At the second preferential luncheon tomorrow from 1:30 until 2:30, Alpha Chi Omega will serve refreshments of dream cake and punch. Chi Omega will entertain their guests with a reading presented by Ruth Joseph, and fruit salad and hot rolls will be served.

Members of Delta Gamma will entertain rushers at their chapter house tomorrow with a program pertaining to their national project. The Delta Gamma string trio will play background music for the luncheon. Pi Beta Phi will entertain their guests with a program on a Pi Phi theme. Pecan nut pie will be served.

Tomorrow evening from 5:15 until 7 o'clock the first preferential banquet will be held, and Alpha Chi Omega members will entertain their guests with the dream cake ceremony, performed by Lola Brooke. The members of Chi Omega will entertain rushers informally at a smorgasbord.

Delta Gamma will entertain their guests at the chapter house tomorrow night with a program planned by Anne Swanson. The Delta Gamma string trio will provide background music. Members of Pi Beta Phi will entertain rushers with a program of entertainment and a speaker.

Sue Mellor Outstanding 'WU Co-Ed' for March

Sue Mellor

Chosen to be "WU Co-Ed of the Month" for March was Sue Mellor. Miss Mellor, a senior majoring in drama, was selected for her outstanding activities and character.

The March "Co-Ed" will be presented with the Associated

Mu Phi Musical Set for Sunday

Mu Phi Epsilon will present their spring musical, to be held at 3 o'clock Sunday in the Music recital hall.

Participating in the program are members of Mu Phi Epsilon, music sorority. Gladys Blue will present three selections on the piano, and Anne Swanson, contralto, accompanied by Miss Blue, will sing two solos. Harriet Aller, accompanied by Miss Blue, will play the viola.

Jane Gray will play a piano selection, and Gay Simons, playing the clarinet, will be accompanied by Barbara Gertson. Doris Hale follows with a piano solo. A violin selection will be played by Doris Loder, accompanied by Edna Marie Hill on the piano.

Following the program, a reception for all attending will be held.

The Amen Corner

Westminster house, on the campus of Oregon State college, will play hosts to members of the local Westminster fellowship at their regular weekly meeting Sunday evening. Dr. John Anderson, faculty member of Lewis and Clark college, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "The New Testament and the Student Mind." The group will leave from the First Presbyterian church at 5:30 p.m.

Wesley will meet Sunday evening at 6 o'clock for "Sunday supper," recreation, and fellowship. A group of members will present "Empty Hands," a melodrama in one act. The cast includes Judy Fullager, Jo Taylor, Pat Moil, Hal Hargreaves, Doug Graham and Bob Alfred.

Members of Phi Zeta Christo will hear a report on the tour of Portland churches at their weekly meeting. Edith Tripp and Hillis Davidson will lead the discussion, and Jeanne duBuy will be in charge of worship. The group will meet at 6 o'clock for refreshments.

Canterbury club will hold their usual meeting on Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the parish house of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Members To Petition For Post

Any sophomore or junior woman belonging to the Associated Women Students has the opportunity to become a delegate to the AWS regional convention held in April, at the University of California, in Berkeley, Calif.

Petitions of the applicants will be reviewed by the AWS council and the Dean of Women, and the candidates nominated by this group from the applicants will be voted upon by the members of the Associated Women Students.

Petitions may be obtained in the student body office or in the women's living organizations. They must be submitted by Monday, March 17, to a member of the AWS council or to the student body office.

Attending the convention with the delegate to be elected will be the incoming AWS president, Nancy Lumijarvi. The representatives will have their expenses paid by the AWS.

Honoraries To Assemble

Members of Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary, will travel to Corvallis tomorrow to meet members of Mortar Board honorary on the Oregon State college campus.

Discussions will be held on projects and qualifications for embership in the national honorary with the Oregon State members and several members from the University of Oregon.

The local group will be accompanied by Dean Regina Ewalt, Dr. Martha Springer and Miss Ethel Lou Stanek. A luncheon will be held in Corvallis at noon.

Initiations Held Sunday

Delta Gamma initiated 21 women into the chapter last Sunday.

Newly initiated members are Augusta Krause, Sandra Schuerman, Heather Strange and Gail Updike all of Portland, Betty Ann Lindley of Lebanon, Ann Blatchford of Milwaukie, Jean Helgeron and Marilyn Witham of Seattle, Janet DeWeese of Camas, Wash., Alcott Gilbert, Vivian Chance, Kay Perrin and Sophie Polales of Salem, Barbara Manley of Medford, Nancy Hanson of Ketchikan, Alaska, Lisbeth Shields of Castleford, Idaho, Rosemary Weaver of Bogota, Columbia, Winifred Wyche of Burlingame, Calif., Donna Cheney of San Mateo, Calif., Pat Moll of Olympia, Wash., and Pat Sundstrom of Montesano, Wash.

A joint Founder's Day and initiation banquet was given Sunday afternoon at the Marion hotel by the Salem alumnae.

Musicians Enjoy Lively Band Tour

By Hal Johnson

Five o'clock in the morning is a great time for leaving for somewhere, and Monday, February 18 was no exception. For the ensuing 87 hours of the Willamette university band tour, these wasn't a dull moment.

The bus had been loaded on Sunday afternoon and we had been told the week before that if we weren't ready to leave at five on the dot, we would be left behind. We left at 5:15.

We had an 11 o'clock concert in Roseburg (the main reason for our early departure). The true value of real team work was discovered when it came time to unload the equipment from the bus. As soon as the bus jerked to a halt, we fought our way out and grabbed the first thing at hand and carried it in. That was real organization and we had it down to a science by the time the trip was over.

The Roseburg "auditorium" must have been one of these new-fangled dual purpose rooms, used for an auditorium and also as a cold storage room for the home economics department.

After our Redding concert we started north for Dunsmuir where we played that afternoon.

Some very colorful events took place on our little jaunt. Roll call was more or less an example of 40 different methods of saying "here." Answers ranged from "yo-yo" to "si si" and "aye-aye." Once in a while some daring soul took his life in his hands and answered "here."

We also saw the worlds soundest sleeper, Bill Covert, in action. He was picked up and shoved into the baggage rack above his seat, where he slept for at least an hour before he finally woke up.

There were other colorful goings-on, but Mrs. Brennan said we shouldn't talk about them. All in all, it was a great experience and the student organizer, Bill Bissell, did a great job in keeping things running smoothly.

Concert Proves Warfield 'Truly Great'

By Darrel deChaby

The audience which packed the Salem High School auditorium Wednesday evening heard an artist whose integrity, versatility and magnificent voice place him in the ranks of those artists who can be called "great." William Warfield is a great artist because no facet of his art is missing. It is the sum of an interpretative intelligence which is so finely developed as to be almost innate and the ability to express, project and vivify the thoughts of the composer by this intelligence through that gift which is his, the voice. Seldom are we permitted to hear an artist in whom the intellectual, physical and emotional elements are so admirably combined.

"Call Me Bill"

In addition to being a great artist William Warfield is also a great guy. On the concert platform he becomes the being in whom musical ideas assimilated and interpreted and through whom they are projected, but off the concert platform he—well, one of his first remarks to the group which met his train early

Wednesday morning was "Call me Bill."

Phil Ringle, Dick Scott and I accompanied Warfield and the charming and cultured Otto Herz to their hotel. Incidentally the relationship between these two is one of long standing and they are not so much singer and accompanist as two artistic collaborators who understand each other perfectly. Herz is Hungarian and has had close personal contact with two of the most significant composers of our time, Bartok and Kodaly in Hungary and in New York. The good-natured interplay between the two was very amusing. At the hotel Warfield wondered why his ears were popping and Herz remarked gently that they had just come over the mountains. He then surprised us all by giving the correct altitude of Salem and otherwise revealed that he is a man who possesses a wealth of detailed information about wherever he happens to be.

While Warfield unpacked his bags he unloaded a couple of jokes which were delivered in a perfect English accent and with appropriate gestures of a delicately crooked pinky which gave us the kind of yuks you get only when you have heard a joke for the first time. He is full of anecdotes about people he knows in the entertainment field including Tallulah Bankhead, Jean Kelly, Danny Kaye and Ava Gardner. One on Ava had us howling. It seems that Warfield was running through a song one day on the MGM lot when Ava appeared and listened attentively. After he had finished she said, "Gee, Bill, that's hep, that's reet. Wow, I'll bet Frankie could sing the tail offa that." We were still laughing at other anecdotes when Warfield picked up the check.

After arrangements were made for a radio interview for Warfield late in the morning I found myself engaged in an interview with him which lasted for an hour and a half. The circumstances of his concert debut were interesting in that he did not anticipate attendance by first string critics or that they would pronounce him a finished artist. They were unanimous in their critical judgment however and following the debut, contracts came thick and fast. Warfield agreed that "Showboat" gave him the tremendous popular appeal which he enjoys while still retaining his stature as an artist. He also observed that the success of the "Old Man River" number was due to the fact that every detail of its singing, staging and orchestration was worked out beforehand and carefully planned for the required effect. His ideas upon artistic standards were very interesting. It is his opinion that certain artists whom we take to be the greatest in their fields are responsible for maintaining high standards but that it sometimes happens that they fall below their own standards and in so doing lower the standards for their field. It then remains for another artist in the same field to rise above the lowered standards and set a new one.

Upon the question of racial prejudice which arose quite naturally in relation to his travels throughout the country, Warfield was quite willing to express himself. He sees a great deal of progress being made in the direction of better racial relations and anticipates that this will be accomplished in a single generation when the time is right. In speaking of his own experiences it became apparent that his particular method for dealing with the problem is in seeking to engender better feeling by being himself free from any sort of prejudice. He believes deeply in the brotherhood of man and considers prejudice, no matter what form it might take in the judgment of one man by another, as being blasphemous.

Following his radio interview Warfield and Herz were invited to the Sig house for lunch where a good time was had by all. Warfield played boogie on the piano while Herz cringed.

Warfield's personality and artistry aroused to Salem audience to a state of enthusiasm which I have never seen here before and his concert was a fitting climax to the Distinguished Artist Series for this season.

To the WU Student Body—

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who made the Warfield Concert a success.

Thanks are to be extended for the splendid cooperation that has been displayed by the Concert Committees. Special recognition is due my excellent assistant managers, Darrel deChaby, Tom Schrock, Richard Scott, and Bill Briggs. Appreciation is also extended to the townspeople who have helped us in many ways to make this a successful project.

Much credit for the outstanding artists offered this year goes to Harley Hoppe who was the originator of the series. According to Dr. Herz, Mr. Warfield's accompanist, this is the finest series he has been privileged to participate in on the Pacific coast.

If a medal were given for the most tickets sold by anyone individual, it would certainly go to "shrewd" George Buland, chairman of the campus ticket sales committee, who personally sold 20 tickets in an hour and 15 minutes. Thanks, George.

My sincere desire is that the student body will see fit to support The Distinguished Artist Series for many years to come. It is truly a cultural endeavor befitting our campus.

Fourth Air Force Officers Complete AROTC Inspection

Colonel Dietz and his staff from the Fourth Air Force inspected the Willamette AFROTC unit Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Colonel Dietz's staff consisted of Lieutenant Colonel Riddle, Captain Edmundson, Captain Molehlendorf, and Miss Banning who was their secretary.

Monday, Colonel Dietz and his staff inspected the facilities of the Willamette AFROTC unit. Included in this inspection were the classrooms, methods of teaching, the teaching aids that are available, and the administration and their policies.

The big event Tuesday was the drill and inspection of the students. This drill was originally to be held at one o'clock on Sweetland field. Due to the damp weather, it was held in the gym.

The two squadrons formed on the gym floor, facing west. The inspection team entered and was received by Cadet Captain Platenberg. The team then inspected the unit. In addition to Colonel Dietz and his staff, Dr. Smith, Dean Hatfield, and Dean Gregg were on the inspection team.

After the inspection was completed, the two squadrons were sent to the balcony and the drill team put on an eight minute exhibition. After the exhibition, the two squadrons were again formed on the gym floor and were then dismissed.

Wednesday, Colonel Dietz and his staff finished the inspection and prepared their report. At two o'clock Colonel Dietz had a conference with Dr. Smith. At this conference Colonel Dietz gave Dr. Smith a copy of the official report on the Willamette AFROTC unit.

When asked about the inspection Colonel Dietz said the inspection proceeded very satisfactorily. He was very pleased with the turnout of students in the gym and thought the leadership, drilling, and execution of commands was very good. He commented that Willamette's AFROTC has a good drill team and band in the making. Colonel Dietz said that the overall exhibition was commendable.

Colonel Dietz is in charge of the AFROTC detachment at the University of Washington. He holds the same position there that Major Champion holds at Willamette.

Kollmann Speaks In Faculty Forum

Constructive contributions in human thought, was the idea stressed by Dr. Edward Kollmann in his speech Monday night. This was the third of the faculty forum series held in the music recital hall.

Interested faculty, students, and town people heard the associate professor of philosophy speak on "Comparative Philosophy and the Philosophical Community."

He gave an exposition of the schools of analysis and existentialism as dominant trends in contemporary philosophical thinking which have had considerable influence on the current cultural climate in western thinking, especially in western Europe and America. Although both of these trends have been held to resolve all of the problems of Western traditional thinking, it was noted that in each instance the developments of the approach have brought forward problems linked with the traditional thought of the past as well as new problems.

As a result, Kollmann believes that philosophy is about to strike out anew along more speculative lines and make constructive contributions to human thought. He stressed especially the need to keep an open mind with respect to the developments stemming from the concern of certain contemporary English and American philosophers with the problems raised by physical research, often termed extra sensory perception.

The date of the next faculty forum will be announced later. Professor Herman Clark of the science department and Dean Seward P. Reese of the law school are scheduled for future programs.

French Film Next On UNESCO Bill, Due Friday Night

The French film version of "Crime and Punishment" will be shown next Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Waller hall, Don Drake, UNESCO foreign film chairman, announced.

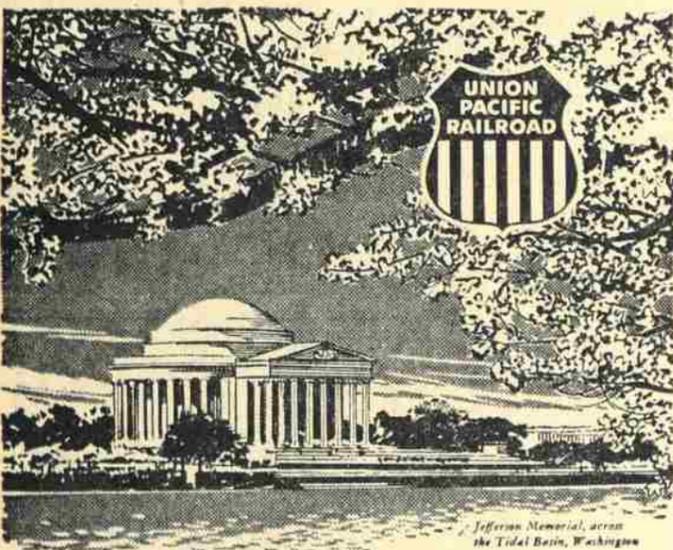

The plot of the movie, based on the novel by Dostoevski, concerns a young impoverished student who commits an axe-murder to obtain some much needed money and later breaks under the strain of a sense of guilt. English subtitles will translate the dialogue.

A geographical short, "Where on Earth?" will be shown with the main feature. Admission is 40 cents.

Marine in Cat

Lt. McCloskey, Marine corps representative, will be in the Cat Cavern today to interview all men interested in the Marines.

D. S. from D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—Three of us tried to demonstrate over the Washington birthday weekend that the best things in life are free—practically. We left Washington and headed for New York Thursday morning. Four days and $31 later we felt we had seen as much of that city as was humanly possible for anyone with as low finances as we had.

In general we followed an outline presented in Fortune magazine telling how to see New York for $50. We did it $20 better. Our $31 tour included transportation to New York, room and board, two stage shows, Radio City Music hall, Rockefeller Center, Empire State building and the Statue of Liberty.

The rest of New York, the really interesting part, was practically free. It cost only a dime to travel by subway where the transportation was not the only novelty to us. The people who travel the subway, in fact the people of New York, are the most interesting curiosities we have yet seen.

People walk down the crowded streets singing and whistling. Crowds swarm across the street like so much jelly, and cars blast their way through by leaning on their horns and keeping their foot on the gas.

In the street or on the subway, people pay no attention to anyone else. They push through crowds and the subway doors like wound-up robots who have one thing on their mind — get home in a hurry. And yet they talk incessantly, usually in some Brooklyn accent or allied dialect.

Among the most interesting free experiences were the radio and television shows we saw. Tickets are free but just try to get one for a really popular show. We did manage to see one quiz program and two TV shows; Perry Como and the Hit Parade. The Hit Parade is a major production involving nine changes of scenery within one small stage. Ticket holders formed a triple line around the block waiting to get in.

Equally free, if you have the will power to stay out of the expensive places, are Times Square and Fifth avenue. Times square is the biggest stretch of solid flashing lights in the world, and

Glee Date Looms, But Bets Still Lag

By Lyn Wence

Three weeks from tomorrow Freshmen Glee will be a reality. This writer was surprised to find that hardly any bets have been made on campus to this date. "I just haven't thought about it. Is it really that close to Glee?" Few people other than the committee members evidently have given Glee much attention.

Contrary to those who haven't yet made their bets, we find one very early bird. An eager freshman made a bet last year for this coming Freshmen Glee. In a bit of eavesdropping about the campus lately, we found the seniors not at all sure of themselves. The freshmen and sophomores have the highest confidence so far, and the few bets that have been made are between these two classes.

We will try to explain the betting procedure since the question has been asked by many newcomers. The idea is to find some member of another class willing to stand staunchly for his class and make some crazy bet. One rather precarious promise was made between two freshmen women and a sophomore man. They call it "Slave for a Day." If the frosh win the young gent will serve the ladies faithfully for a day and vice versa.

Seniors recall humorous incidents of past Blue Monday like sitting in a bird bath blowing bubbles and eating breakfast at an intersection in the middle of town. What other bright ideas will Blue Monday of 1952 bring?

Officer to Discuss Marine Program

First Lieutenant D. V. McCoskey, Pacific Northwest Marine Corps procurement officer, will be in the Cat Cavern all day today, to discuss programs leading to a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Two programs are now open, according to Lieutenant McCoskey. One, the Platoon Leaders class is open to freshmen, sophomores and juniors. The other, the Officer Candidate course, is for graduating seniors.

This will be the final visit of the school year by the procurement officer.
