

WEEKLY WILLAMETTE COLLECIAN

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY.

VOL. XV.

SALEM, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 28, 1903.

NO. 4

VICTORY IS OURS.

Willamette, 28; Monmouth, 0.

Once again the boys of Old Willamette have proven that the hoo-doo is broken, and this year's work in football is going to be at least a great improvement over last year. When the cardinal jerseyed team lined up, last Saturday, they faced no such easy aggregation as the week before, but the score of 28 to 0 proves their ability to rise to the occasion.

The teams were almost evenly matched, as to weight, but the superior work of the home eleven was shown at every down by the facility with which they broke through the line or rounded the ends of their opponents.

Willamette kicked off, and Monmouth secured the ball. They made a few short gains, and then were forced to punt. The Varsity had but little trouble in bucking through the teachers line, and in six minutes after the game was called Pollard had the ball behind the goal posts. Miller kicked the goal.

On the second kick-off the Normal team was thrown back for losses, forced to punt, and Long soon made another touch-down.

The next kick-off Monmouth again lost the ball on downs. Willamette was penalized for an offside play, forced to punt, and Monmouth secured a free kick by a fair catch. Willamette caught the ball and gradually advanced it to the teachers' ten-yard line, where, as the half was almost up, Miller made a successful trial for goal from field.

The second half gave us two more touchdowns, one each by Pollard and Long. Once we were forced to punt, and the pedagogues again secured a free kick by fair catch. The last goal was kicked one minute before the close of the game.

The work of Pollard and Long was good, as usual, and Miller showed up much better than the week before, giving his signals with more snap, proving himself ready, and winning laurels, especially by his drop-kick and quarter back runs. James and Wolf were knocked out in the first half, and their places taken by Jerman and Knotts. For the visitors Murphy was easily the star.

The game was much more spectacular, more evenly matched, and more hardily contested than the battle with McMinnville, yet there was less than half the number present, and the gate receipts were very slim. Willamette is putting up good football this year, and it is the duty of every student, not only to be present, but to tell all his friends, acquaintances and his neighbors to come, and to ask them to do likewise.

More genuine advertising can be done in this way than in any other, and it costs nothing.

For more real good was done the team by the Monmouth than by the McMinnville game.

They were difficult enough to show us our weak points, and to let us see what a stronger team might have done to us. We will strengthen the weak places before next Saturday, and go to Eugene ready for another victory.

The line-up was as follows:

Willamette.	Monmouth.
Beauchamp L. E.	Wiest
Hewitt L. T.	Butler
Wolf, Knotts L. G.	Beknap
Unruh C. H. Hoisington
Love R. G.	Turenberger
Juhl R. T.	Crowley
Kebhan R. E.	Murlock
Miller Q.	Stein
Long L. H.	Murphy
James, Jerman R. H.	Smith
Pollard (Capt.) F. B. L. Hoisington

Touch downs — Pollard 2; Long 2.

Goal from field—Miller 1.
Time keeper—R. R. Hamilton, Salem.

Referee—Fechter.
Umpire—Forbes.
Time of halves—twenty min.

SIX TO NOTHING.

Saturday's victory of Willamette's second team over the Salem Junior was due almost entirely to superior weight. Again and again the light line would give away to the plunges of our heavier backs. The defense of the Juniors was plucky, but they were outplayed at almost every stage of the game. The contest was played in ten-minute halves, making a low score inevitable. The first half the Varsity scrubs moved slowly but persistently down to the Salem goal. The yardage was made by the backs in line plunges, the ball alternating between Grannis and the Averill brothers. No long games were made either around the end or through the line. After about the first seven minutes of play M. Averill carried the ball over for a touch-down, Winslow kicking goal, and the score stood 6 to 0 for Willamette. In the short time remaining of the first half no further points were scored.

In the second half Salem kept the ball in the vicinity of the scrub's goal, reaching the 25-yard line. They could make no material gains, however, and kept losing the ball on downs. At last Willamette rallied, and by some creditable offensive playing carried the pig skin over into the Junior's territory. Just then the whistle was blown, and the game completed, no score resulting in the second half. Three or four minutes longer would doubtless have added another touch down for Willamette.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Saturday's football results:
Yale 17; West Point 5.
Harvard 29; Brown 0.
Cornell 41; Western Reserve 0,
Columbia 18; Pennsylvania 6.
Michigan 47; Drake 0.
Minnesota 46; Beloit 0.
Princeton 17; Dartmouth 0.
Wisconsin 57; Lenox 6.
Northwestern 35; Cincinnati 0.

Chicago 18; Illinois 6.
Stanford 0; Nevada 0.
M. A. A. U. 16; Whitman 0.

The University of California outclassed Chemawa Saturday, winning by a score of 40 to 0.

Albany College met with a surprise Saturday at Eugene being easily defeated by the U. of O.; score 22 to 0.

Wisconsin desires a game with California at Berkeley during the holidays.

The Multnomah eleven starts on its southern trip this week, playing in California three big games with Reliance, Stanford and Berkeley.

Chemawa's second team went down in defeat before the seconds of Corvallis by a score of 39 to 0.

So far this season Michigan's goal line has been uncrossed, while they have 349 points to their credit, or almost 2 points for every minute of play.

A grand stand has been erected on the new athletic field at Eugene, with a seating capacity of 800 people.

The date for the Stanford-Washington game has been canceled by the former team.

Yale is apparently to be the football victor of the East this year.

This season's great surprise in the Middle West has been the strength of the Northwestern.

Saturday will be a day of Western football history. Chicago and Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, the big four, will meet, and when the sun sets on the 31 of October two great colleges will be out of the championship race. Present indications would show that the pennant will lie between Michigan and Wisconsin.

A NEAT COMPLIMENT.

The following is an article from Leslie's Weekly of Oct. 8, 1903. Leslie's Weekly is a magazine of very high standing and one of the best published in the United States:

"One of the most attractive college publications we have ever seen is the first volume of 'Wallulah,' published by the associated students of Willamette University, at Salem, Ore. This institution, which is a co-educational one under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is presided over by the Rev. Dr. John H. Coleman, and has more than four hundred and fifty students in its various departments. Under President Coleman's administration the university is flourishing finely, and promises to rank among the most noted seats of learning on the Pacific coast. The book before us imparts much information concerning the university, the student organizations, etc., and is beautifully and profusely illustrated. It also contains a variety of literary articles that are of very good quality, and highly creditable to the students who wrote them.

Greek has been dropped from the entrance requirements at Yale.

Entered at the postoffice at Salem as second class matter.

With the advent of the inter-collegiate athletics in enough different forms to occupy the attention of the student, athletically inclined, during the whole school year, and with the increasing number of social functions and student enterprises, our literary societies have been neglected by the majority. However, be it said to the credit of the faithful few, the work has continued with an upward tendency which is at last beginning to tell. If we wish to know what is the work that has been accomplished in this line, let us talk to a few of the graduates of twenty years ago. The tale they will tell us of debates, real Douglas-Lincoln battles, will stir our forensic spirit from its peaceful torpidity. We will be ashamed of our enterprises, our social life, our athletic ambitions, until we have developed to their full capacity our powers of reasoning against reason, matching wit against wit.

What is there which calls into play at one time more powers of the mind than debate? The reading, the acquiring a knowledge of the subject in question, the preparation of the argument the framing of the expression of the ideas, the training the voice and body to respond, the presentation, the excitement of the rebuttal, the victory!

Do some of us say our Latin, our analytical geometry are not practical? What could be more practical than the training of the acuteness of the reason?

Do some of us tend to the narrowness of our text-books or our student life? Here then is an opportunity to broaden. An opportunity to extend our knowledge beyond our little sphere and to expand our highest faculties.

Do some of us say debating is dry? We are too lazy to dig deep enough to experience the pleasures of working out the principles of a question. We are too lazy to listen with that attention which follows the reasoning point by point, with a just sense of appreciation.

Let us think this over, let us find out if perchance we are missing something. And when we decide that society work is a necessary part of our education, let us set a part one evening of each week to be known as society night, and let us see to it that we let nothing else occur on that night which would take us away from society.

THE AFTERMATH OF THE GAME.

The hero!
 They bore him
 In silence away.
 Sympathizing,
 Adoring,
 The lookers-on tearful,
 Followed, now prayerful,
 The form born away.

His had the duty been,
 On him had the burden lain,
 Striving with might and main
 To spur on his own.

There in the line he stood,
 Firm as a fir in wood
 Blocking the play,
 Assailed by the foe,
 With a rush of swift men
 In a mass,
 He swept them back—
 But alas!
 When they gathered them off,
 He lay, outstretched, alone
 Nor quiver of muscle, nor audible groan
 For him no more struggle
 For him now the end.

What is the matter with the "Scrubbe?"

Willamette's goal has not yet been crossed.

The attendance at the football game Saturday was very small.

The football boys say that the clock at the hall is altogether too fast.

What is the matter with our football team? They are all right.

Rooters are wanted every evening in the grand stand. Wake up and come out.

We understand that U. of O. people have the score for next Saturday's game figured out to be 40 to 0 in favor of the state Varsity. Maybe it will be, but we doubt it.

Miss McDonald, Dean of the Ladies' Hall, went to Portland Thursday afternoon and returned Saturday morning. Prof. Reynolds took her place while she was absent.

Miss Edna Parrish, a member of '03 class of the College of Oratory who is professor of Oratory in Dallas College showed her loyalty to the old school by attending the football game Saturday.

Miss Phelps who spoke to us last week was listened to with interest. Her story of the germanium loosing its color was well told.

Manager Skidmore has arranged for a second team game to be played with the Mt. Angel College team on the latter's grounds, Nov. 7. This will be a hard game for the "Scrubs," as Mt. Angel has a husky team this year, and will no doubt put up a good game.

GERMAN RECEPTION.

Die Dritt-Jahr Klasse wird informell unterhalten werden, am naechsten Samstag Abend, an der Ecke der Se'zenten und Ferry Strasse—Das Committee

The above Einladungskarte was the missive which brought the third year German class together on last Saturday evening at the home of Miss Lila Swafford.

There had been prepared a German program, consisting of Gespraech, Errattungsspiele and andere Spiele and Singen. This was carried out in an interesting way enjoyed by all. Delicious refreshments of Kuchen Apfelschnee and Nuesse were served.

It is understood that this pleasant evening was but the first of a series to be given under the management of "Das Committee".

- Sec., R. F. Morris.
- Treas., G. O. Oliver.
- Historian, Gussie Randall.
- Serg.-at-arms—Sylva Jones
- Class Reporter—W. C. Win-slow.

Although our members are fewer this year than last, we will endeavor to be found when we are needed, and to do the things we find to do. It is with pleasure that we welcome Mr. Markel, our new English instructor in our midst. We believe that he will make a jolly good Sophomore.

The girls who are interested in basketball have organized a squad and are now practicing faithfully under the coaching of Prof. McCall. We think we shall have reason to be proud of our girls again this year.

Efforts are being made to charter a car for an excursion to Eugene next Saturday. Any one wishing to go should give their name to Mr. Skidmore today. Every student should go who can possibly afford to do so.

Seventy-three of the ninety-one of the girls in school belong to the Young Women's Christian Association. The Association was increased to that number last Friday, when nineteen new members were voted at the business meeting. At another meeting before that one eighteen girls became members, and now with these others, thirty-seven altogether have been added to the Association. This is splendid, and the girls are justly proud of it.

A beautiful initiation and consecration service was held Sunday afternoon, the former led by Ruth Field and the latter by Lila Swafford. About fifty girls were present.

A meeting will be held this week to choose the delegates for the state convention, to be held at Albany, Nov. 5-8.

Societies.

PHILODOSIAN.

On Friday evening at the usual hour the Philodorian were called to order by Pres. R. C. Glover, and delivered a most excellent, entertaining and intellectual feast. After rendering the usual program, which was composed of a variety of subjects well calculated to please a connoisseur in any department of mental or moral research. Dean Hawley was asked to deliver a few remarks, which he did in his accustomed invigorating manner.

Going back to the time when he was a student at "Old Willamette, and a "proud" member of her literary society, he recounted in a most graphic and felicitous manner the many historical incidents of which our present Philodosian and Philodorian societies are the outgrowth. Especially did the speaker dwell on the need of a good debating society. He showed the necessity of a complete mastery of the question under discussion to an intelligent and profitable argument, and pointed out the fact that "to produce conviction" should be the target toward which every shaft of the debate is directed. At the conclusion of his remarks the society tendered the Dean an unanimous vote of thanks. The program for the evening was as follows:

Music—Quartet, E. K. Miller, Ray Chapler, W. C. Winslow and W. C. Judd.

Composition, Ralph Matthews, Lecture, E. K. Miller, Recitation, Ray Andrews, Essay, O. R. Spires.

Philodosian Society still growing. Elfa Wann and Callie Minton were initiated at the last meeting, and several names were laid on the table. A special feature of the program was an interesting and instructive talk given by Miss Phelps on debating and general society work. Others who took part were:

Geographical sketch on the Philippines, Clara Holmstrom.
 Recitation, Ruby Coryell.
 Discussion, "Last of the Barons," Mabel Glover.
 German Recitation, Lila Swafford.
 Discussion, Jane Eyre.

AT OTHER COLLEGES.

The University of Washington is for the first time in its history to have a choral union.

California and Oregon have both instituted inter-class oratorical contests.

The Freshman class at Berkeley this year numbers 350 students.

The Stanford Glee Club is to make a northern trip again this year. Their appearance is expected in Salem during the Christmas vacation.

The registration at the University of Chicago shows almost 700 students less than last year at this time.

The erection of a new library costing, when completed, half a million dollars, is to be commenced in January at Stanford. The total capacity will be one million volumes.

FRESHMEN ORGANIZE.

Wednesday afternoon the Freshmen class met and formed a permanent class organization for the balance of the current school year. Great enthusiasm was in evidence, and from the titles of various committees that were appointed there will be something doing in the way of lively times this year. The following officers were chosen:

President, Ray Andrews.
 Vice-President, Mabel Robertson.
 Secretary, Wallace C. Riddell.
 Treasurer, Inez Wheeler.
