

GUY RATHBUN IS ELECTED COACH FOR NEXT YEAR

Willamette Position is Taken in Preference to Attractive Offers from Large Schools

RECORD IS REMARKABLE

Mrs. Rathbun Will Take Charge of Girls' Physical Training in New Gymnasium

Guy L. Rathbun, who for the last three years served on the coaching staff of Oregon Agricultural college, was selected at a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees as physical director and athletic coach at Willamette University to fill the vacancy left by the recent resignation of Coach Bohler. Mr. Rathbun was selected from a field of some 40 applicants, and he, too, it is understood, accepts the position at Willamette over two standing offers from eastern universities. He is a coach of wide experience, excellent record, and good reputation.

"I like the independence of the small school," Rathbun is quoted as saying. "The spirit is right for good results." Mr. Rathbun will bring his wife, who has been employed for the girls' physical education work, and come to Willamette with the purpose of staying here permanently, although in so doing he is leaving a large school and declining two eastern coaching positions.

One offer would take him back to his alma mater at the University of Indiana; the other to a position under the famous Yost at the University of Michigan, who said on his recent trip to the coast that Coach Rathbun was one of the best football mentors in the country.

Mr. Rathbun's experience as a coach and physical director is wide and varied, extending over a period of 16 years' service at Beloit college, University of Indiana, University of Nebraska, and Oregon Agricultural college. At Beloit he twice coached his football team to the state championship honors, and in 1918 produced a track squad which won the secondary college intercollegiate meet at Chicago. At Indiana and at Nebraska, Rathbun was assistant to Stiehm. He coached track, baseball, freshman basketball and assisted in football. In 1920 he was induced by Coach Rutherford of Oregon Agricultural college to join him there, where for three years he has coached variously track, baseball, swimming, wrestling and football.

Stars in Wrestling

Rathbun's most notable achievements have been in wrestling. Coming from the east with a worthy record, at Oregon Agricultural college he is credited with having won three Pacific coast intercollegiate wrestling championships, during which time he has developed a national champion and never lost a meet. He has 30 or more athletic championships in his record.

The work at the agricultural school, however, has been somewhat disappointing to Rathbun, who has been subordinate to Coach Rutherford. The position at Willamette offers him the opportunity to prove his athletic abilities from assistance of head coaches, and so is very appealing to him. He has an abundance of enthusiasm for the future of athletics here and is confident that he can produce strong teams. That, certainly, is what Willamette desires.

Wesleyans Elect Officers at Last Meeting of Year

Plans for the next year, and the election of officers occupied the Wesleyans for the first part of their last meeting. The following officers were elected: president, Joe Nee; vice president, Percy Hammond; secretary-treasurer, Blanche Billmeyer; reporter, Ruth Wechter; the officer of advisor-critic was left vacant to be filled next fall by election.

The society intends to broaden its field of usefulness in every way possible this coming year and enable more to share in its benefits than this year. The programs have been planned to give each time something of genuine good to this particular group.

Merle Bonney's talk on the profession of a minister, was no exception. He gave reasons why the ministerial profession was not appealing, and then showed the opportunities before a minister to master his profession one to rank with the highest among business men in a business world.

O. I. C. TENNIS MEET IS FRIDAY

Independent Colleges to Vie on Asylum Courts

MEN AND WOMEN PLAY

Men's Trio, E. Burris and M. Rosten Represent W. U.

The Oregon independent college tennis championship is to be at stake next Friday and Saturday when teams from Philomath, Albany, Linfield, Pacific, Willamette and possibly Reed will vie on the asylum courts. Men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, women's doubles, and mixed doubles will be played.

The dope points to Willamette as the probable winner. The Bearcats have won meets with Oregon and Pacific earlier in the year but they lost to the strong Aggie team. Reed lost to both Oregon and O. A. C. P. U. which was swamped by Willamette, defeated Linfield previously, and Albany is credited with a win over Philomath. There you have it in a nutshell.

Ed Huston bids fair to take the men's singles with Ted Emmel probably trailing close behind. It's a cinch that these two men will clean up in doubles. Elva Burris and Marie Rosten will handle the women's end of the deal with Huston and Miss Burris entered in the mixed doubles. Mickey should give everyone a good run for his money.

Play will begin promptly at 2 p. m. on Friday if the weather permits.

Graduating Recital by Skeen and Waltz Given Tuesday, Pleases Crowd

Miss Harding last night presented Roy Skeen and Loyd Waltz, advanced students in the department of public speaking, in joint recital. Mr. Skeen very successfully represented the situation, "If I Were King." Mr. Waltz presented "The Travelling Man." Mildred Strevey was the assisting soloist, and the stringed trio, consisting of Delbert Moore, Avery Hicks and Byron Arnold, gave selections.

This recital was Mr. Skeen's final public appearance as a member of the dramatic department, as he graduates with the class of 1923.

Joe Nee is Choice of Executive Committee for Yell Conductor

Joe Nee, known for his powerful voice and Scotch songs, was selected by the executive committee Thursday to succeed Lee Chapin as yell leader for the coming year.

Joe has a knack of leadership and of making friends. He has shown considerable ability in various minor positions, has been out for football, basketball, and baseball, and seemed a logical choice for the coming year.

STANFORD ADDS MATTHEWS TO SUMMER STAFF

Offer to Math Professor Occasions Changes in Summer Courses at Willamette

HEWITT TO COME HERE

Former Physics Head Will Offer Full Course in Physics at Willamette Session

A change in the summer school plans has been made necessary by Prof. Matthews' acceptance of an invitation to teach algebra and trigonometry in the summer school at Stanford University. Willamette is proud to be able to send as representatives such men as Prof. Matthews to teach in sister colleges during the summer. Prof. Matthews will probably be considered as associate professor of mathematics at Stanford, teaching from June 20 to August 29. This invitation was extended to Prof. Matthews from the head of the mathematics department who graduated from Willamette in 1893. After leaving Willamette he studied mathematics in Paris, and finally at Stanford, where he received his doctor's degree. Since then he has taught at Stanford.

Prof. Herschel Hewitt of Linfield will take Prof. Matthews' place in the Willamette summer school. However, in addition to algebra and trigonometry he will offer a course in physics throughout the twelve week's session. This course is an addition to those listed in the summer school catalog. Prof. Hewitt was head of the physics department in Willamette until 1921.

SOD IS TURNED FOR NEW GYM

Dr. Doney Officiates; Bishop Sheppard Makes Principal Talk on Athletic Ideals

With a satisfactory contract sufficiently certain, the first actual work on the new gymnasium was begun yesterday afternoon when the formal ground-breaking took place. A crowd of students, alumni, faculty, and townspeople, the ceremony was held on the site of the new building.

Dr. Doney presided during the exercises. After Bishop W. O. Sheppard had delivered the invocation, he called upon C. E. Bishop as a representative of the citizens of Salem to say a few words. St. Akin, a member of the Willamette alumni, told of their repeated efforts to obtain a new gymnasium for the school and of their part in making the forward movement a success. In behalf of the students, Fred Patton stated that they were overjoyed with the prospects of the future.

Mr. A. A. Lee, secretary of the board of trustees, spoke next. Bishop Sheppard drew the main address of the occasion. He traced physical development from the early Greeks and Romans with their high standards, the middle ages when athletic games and sports were frowned upon, down to the present when their importance is realized more than ever before. "A sound mind in a sound body is absolutely necessary for an efficient man or woman," Bishop Sheppard dwelt upon the fact that play was essential. He expressed his hopes for a bright and happy future both in intercollegiate athletics and in gymnasium training for the students.

Dr. Doney, Dean Aiden, Vera Bain, and Grace Brainard turned the first spadeful of earth for the new edifice. Members of the faculty and the W. club followed after which the whole student body participated.

KANSAS MAY USE TEST FOR COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Kansas University is contemplating putting up a tent for its commencement exercises, as the gym will no longer accommodate the crowds. There are 622 graduates and each of them has two guests, in addition to faculty, alumni and other students.

Proud Display of Hats Made by Milliners in Science Hall Yesterday

Hats of all shapes, colors, and sizes, the proudest of the millinery class, were on display Tuesday afternoon in Science hall. Silk worms are also on exhibit.

Members of the millinery class have been working hard to prepare the exhibit and the result fully justified their best efforts. The hats are very cleverly made and would do credit to a professional milliner. They are of the very latest fashion and will be worn by their creators this summer. The hats worn by the May Queen and her attendants were made by this class.

The silk worms which are on display are very interesting. They are, at this time, in all stages of development from the cocoon to the spinning moth. The eggs, from which the worms originated, came in a letter to Mrs. Luther Cook from China, and were turned over to the science department. They appear to thrive in their new environment very successfully.

MT. ANGEL AND CHEMAWA WIN

Poorly Supported Game Against Angels Disastrous

CHEMAWA HELD 4-3

Ishy Makes Stand as Pitcher in Game Against Indians

In two games during the past week the Bearcats have lost, overwhelmingly in a poorly supported game against Mt. Angel, here on Thursday, and by a narrow margin against Chemawa there on Monday. Evidently the Angels put in the interval between the game there and the one here Thursday, in figuring out what made Johnny Robbins go. For they nipped him for stolen hits, and then, just to prove it wasn't luck they proceeded to treat Robertson with scant courtesy. Their total was 20 hits, for 15 runs.

The Bearcats nipped Green for 6 hits, and helped by opportune errors made 5 runs—enough to win an ordinary ball game—but this wasn't. In the ninth with two out and two on, Ishy went in and retired the side. Throughout the slaughter Willamette made but four errors, Mt. Angel five. On the other hand 12 Bearcats swung at the breeze, while only two Angels failed to connect at all.

Chemawa Game Plain Unlucky

Harold Kent Ishy made his debut as a varsity pitcher in the last of the ninth against Mt. Angel. He was the most surprised man in the school when selected to fling against the Chemawa Braves Monday. But nobody ever got the best of Ishy for long, and he made a remarkable stab at winning his own game. For seven innings the Indians accumulated just three singles for a knothole while the Bearcats took advantage of everything except hits to accumulate three scores. The next inning saw two hits for one run. But everything looked nice and Chemawa came up in the ninth looking rather pale around the gills. The first man up singled but was caught at second, when the next batter hit to Ishy. Another single. Mootry dropped the ball letting Broadside in. De Poe was safe when Regels tried to catch Clapanhoe at the plate. Then Ishy got one too close to Phinney and another single brought in the winning run and the season ended as it began, with the Bearcats losing out at the last minute by hard luck and inability to land hard on the ball.

New Cabinets Filled by Chresto and Phil Men

Chrestophilians and Philodotians have recognized the approach of the end in the selection of a new cabinet to launch the fall semester. The new Chrestophilian officers are as follows: President, R. Notson; vice president, A. Logan; Car. sec., W. Southworth; treasurer, R. Briggs; critic, L. Chapin; Collegian reporter, J. Burleson; Car. sec., W. Vinson; Sgt.-at-arms, W. Day.

For the Philodotians, Paul Sherwood takes the chair, supported by vice president, Elliott Curry; sec. Joe Nee; asst. sec., Iri Halliday; treasurer, H. Bell; critic, L. Waltz; reporter, Alvin Bond; Sgt.-at-arms, E. Huston.

Elect Bar-W President

At the meeting held Tuesday, the Bar-W club elected Robert Notson as its president for the coming year.

FOUR DAYS OF COMMENCEMENT ARE ARRANGED

Congressman Hawley is Probable Speaker at Wednesday's Exercises

BACCALAUREATE JUNE 10

Many Alumni Members Are Expected to Take Active Part in "Last Sad Rites" of '23

The commencement exercises when the class of 1923 will bid farewell to its Alma Mater, will cover a period of four days, beginning with the baccalaureate sermon at First church on Sunday, June the tenth. Dr. Doney will conduct the ceremony and give his parting word to the out-going seniors. In the afternoon of Sunday the annual joint "Y" meeting will be held with Professor Matthews as leader.

Monday afternoon will find the alumni of Willamette University in a business meeting to be called at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel. Monday evening is the date set for the president's reception in Lausanne hall.

Student Lunch Tuesday

At noon Tuesday the trustees and friends of Willamette University will gather on the campus for a lunch served by the students. This informal occasion has always seemed to renew old and create new friendships among those interested in Willamette. After the lunch the four classes and probably the younger members of the alumni will strive to outdo each other in class day stunts. At 3:30 the senior class plans to formally present to Willamette University its gift of $1000 to the Endowment campaign. Immediately following this brief ceremony the senior play, "Things Unseen" will take place at 3:45 o'clock. Tuesday evening has been definitely set aside for the annual alumni banquet. Those in charge expect that between three and four hundred persons will be present to witness the formal welcoming of the graduating class to the Alumni association.

On Wednesday, the last day of the exercises, at 10 o'clock in the morning, the commencement exercises will be conducted in First church. It is the present expectation that Congressman Hawley, for many years associated with Willamette University, first as a student, then as a professor, and finally as president, will be in charge of this last rite of graduation.

The tentative program for graduation week, summed up, is as follows:

- Sunday, June 10, Morning—Baccalaureate sermon. Afternoon—Joint "Y" meeting.
- Monday, June 11, 2:30 p. m.—Alumni meeting. Evening—President's reception.
- Tuesday, June 12, Noon—Campus lunch. After lunch—Class day stunts. 3:30 p. m.—Presentation of senior gift.
- 3:45 p. m.—Senior play. Evening—Alumni banquet.
- Wednesday, June 13, 10 a. m.—Commencement exercises in First church.

Seniors Choose "Unseen Things" for Class Day Presentation in Chapel

"Mid" promises us that we shall see "Unseen Things" in Waller Hall on some day soon. "Unseen Things" is the play chosen for senior presentation on the afternoon of class day, which will come during commencement week. The play is a domestic farce in one act, taking about forty-five minutes to play. The characters are three in number, the parts having been assigned as follows:

- Hilda—Ruby Rosenkrantz
 - Wife—Deane Hatton
 - Husband—Elmer Strevey.
- The committee in charge is Mildred Strevey, Ruby Rosenkrantz and Roy Skeen. The cast reports itself as self-coaching.

Theta Alpha Phi Names Officers for New Year

Monday evening at a regular Theta Alpha Phi meeting the following officers were elected for the new semester: president, Pauline Ringstrom; vice president, Irene Walker; secretary, LeRoy Walker; treasurer, Carolyn Stober; publicity manager, Joe Nee.

Students to Join Parade

Willamette students will observe the spirit of Memorial day by marching in the civic parade this afternoon. Those who will march are asked to gather at Marion square at 1:30, to take their places in the line. Class formation will probably be kept.

Glee Song is Selected and Patton Installed at Last A. S. B. Meeting

A song of loyalty and devotion to Willamette University will be the prize product of next year's Freshman Glee, according to the report made by the Freshman Glee committee at the student body meeting last Friday. The other chief item of business was the installation of Fred Patton as next year's student president.

The Freshman Glee committee picked loyalty as the theme of next year's song because they felt that "I Love Willamette U" was becoming time out-worn and that a better song of a similar nature could be developed.

In presenting the gavel to Mr. Patton, Verne Bain, retiring president, reviewed the past success of the student body organization and expressed a hope for continued activity. Fred Patton accepted the gavel, and stated very briefly his intention to devote his untiring efforts to the advancement of student body work.

"JUNE 5, SURE" SAYS WALLULAH

Biggest Annual Yet Printed to Appear on Tuesday

CAMPUS SECTION LARGE

Special Features Must be "Deep Secret" 'Till Arrival

A thoroughly interesting Wallulah ready for distribution by June 5th is the promise of the 1924 management. Every effort has been made to rush the printing, and the book is now in the hands of the binders who are being correspondingly rushed to deliver the finished product on the appointed date. Overtime has been a regular habit around the Wallulah offices for weeks and the results will be recorded in the book which next Tuesday will be ready for inspection. The limited number published makes it advisable for orders to be placed immediately to avoid losing out in the last minute grand scramble for the few extra copies.

If any suggestion of the features of the book may be indicated by the secrecy which seals the mouths of the spin-like staff the Wallulah will be well worth the four-dollar purchase price for curiosity's sake alone.

"The Wallulah will be bigger and different—we do not claim better—than past publications. Its merits we would prefer that you should judge from the book itself rather than anything we might tell you." was the most light that Editor Notson and Manager Patton would shed on the situation.

These few facts, however, were gleaned from the conversation and may be confidentially published without libeling the 1924 book. It will be 271 pages in thickness—a signature of 16 pages, two insert pages, and four campus section pages more than last year's book. That a real effort has been made to produce a five book is indicated from the fact that $200 more was invested in engravings than last year. It will be bound again in a Molloy-made cover. As for the rest of it, that will remain a deep and dark secret till next Tuesday.

Manager Patton advises that all who have not purchased coupons for books place their orders immediately with Orlo Gillet, apies manager, to be insured of receiving a copy. Only a limited number of extra copies were printed and this number is being rapidly reduced by orders from Alumni which are being received daily. Those who wish their copies identified with a gold name plate should sign the list before Thursday evening students are reminded that their books will be invaluable to them in later life and to insure convenience of permanent identification the gold name plate is well worth the small charge.

Kimball Exercises to be Opened in Baccalaureate at Jason Lee on June 3

Commencement exercises at Kimball college of Theology will be opened next Sunday with baccalaureate address at Jason Lee church following Wednesday is Commencement with the address in the afternoon by Bishop Sheppard.

The alumni banquet will be held on Wednesday night, and all students of Willamette who are taking work in Kimball, are invited to attend. It is desirable that all who purpose to attend the banquet give their names to the Kimball office no later than today.

TRACK MEN WIN IN INDEPENDENT COLLEGE MEET

Lead of 10 1-3 Points Entitles Bearcats to Non-Conference Trophy

FIVE SCHOOLS ENTERED

Logan and Stolz Tie for Varsity High Point; Strevey Approaches Record in Broad Jump

With a lead of 10 and a third points over its nearest rival, Willamette's track squad was highly victorious in the non-conference track meet of independent colleges, held on the Linfield campus at McMinnville Saturday. The five entrants were: Linfield college, Pacific University, Columbia University, Albany college and Willamette. Willamette's points totaled 64½. The others scored: Pacific 54, Linfield 19½, Columbia 18½, Albany 7.

White of Pacific was high-point man, scoring 18½ points. Logan, winning first in the mile, high-jump and two-mile, tied second place and varsity high-point with Stolzhise, who took first in shot put and discus, second in javelin throw, and third in the broad jump. Elmer Strevey took first in the broad jump, coming within one inch of breaking the non-conference record. Owing to the fact that two events were being held at one time, Logan could not be entered in the half mile, but it turned out for the best that he chose the high-jump in its place.

Trophies Awarded

Three silver trophies were awarded to the victors of the meet. Willamette as champion received the artistic silver cup offered by Honeyman Hardware company of Portland. The relay cup offered by Spaulding company was awarded to Pacific's team. Willamette had no entries. White of Pacific won the cup offered by Politz Clothing company of Portland, as high point man.

The summary of the meet follows:

- 100-yard dash—Cox, Linfield, 1st; Johnson, Columbia, 2nd; White, Pacific, 3rd; Strevey, Willamette, 4th. Time, 10 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Harrison, Pacific, 1st; W. Vinson, Willamette, 2nd; McClellum, Columbia, 3rd; Erickson, Linfield, 4th. Time, 28.

Discus—Stolzhise, Willamette, 1st; Van Winkle, Albany, 2nd; Hoar, Linfield, 3rd; Schulmerick, Columbia, 4th. Distance, 110 feet 4 inches.

440-yard run—White, Pacific, 1st; Lucius, Columbia, 2nd; Wright, Willamette, 3rd; Satchwell, Willamette, 4th. Time, 54.

880-yard run—Wright of Willamette, 1st; Bennett of Pacific, tied for 2nd; Locke, Linfield, 3rd; Hayes, Willamette, 4th. Time, 2:07.

Broad jump—Strevey, Willamette, 1st; White, Pacific, 2nd; Stolzhise, Willamette, 3rd; Schulmerick, 4th. Distance, 19 feet 4½ inches.

Javelin—Emerson, Pacific, 1st; Stolzhise, Willamette, 2nd; Loreo, Linfield, 3rd; Watts, Willamette, 4th. Distance, 148 feet 1 inch.

Two-mile run—Logan of Willamette, 1st; Laird, Willamette, 2nd; Ryan, Columbia, 3rd; Black, Pacific, 4th. Time, 11:52.

Mile relay—Won by Pacific team other schools withdrew teams. Team consisted of Snyder, Balcom, Bennett and White. Time, 3:40.

Ends Track Season

The intercollegiate independent meet marks the close of the track season at Willamette. New material that has been developed this season, through the faithful and constant work of Coach Bohler, promises to place Willamette high on the list of entrants for track next year.

THE CLAIM OF MEMORIAL DAY

The world builds itself by looking forward; not back. But in the press of progress there is a tendency to become so feverishly absorbed in coveted achievements, that those who slip out of the race are unnoticed. May 30th has been set aside as one brief space when the American section of the world shall forget its striving, and pause to remember those who have slipped out of life, after giving their last efforts in the preservation and advancement of American ideals.

Since 1917, Memorial Day has been at once easier and more difficult of observance. A nation that might have forgotten her debt to men of '61 and '98, was brought vividly and cruelly back to an appreciation of her loss through wars, in those three years when young men, brothers and sons of the present generations, became another sacrifice to the stumblings in human progress.

Considering these things, America cannot but be serious. This Memorial day is a time for thoughtful remembrance of the dead; for the paying of formal tribute to their deeds that have kept her safe.

It is not now fitting that a forgetful nation should while its time in the pleasures of a holiday. The students of Willamette University owe to themselves and the memory of their dead, the dedication of this one day to a real Memorial service.

THE INNER SHADOW

Every man casts two shadows: one, the shadow that we see reflected on the sidewalk; the other, the shadow of the inner self that is reflected down through the ages in things accomplished. Years ago, one could have seen the shadow of Benjamin Franklin as he walked, penniless, through the streets of Philadelphia. Today, the shadow of his inner self can be seen radiating from the electric light. During the civil war, Abraham Lincoln's tall ungainly shadow could have been seen on the roads over which he travelled. Today, his inner shadow represents him as the saviour of a race. Willamette students, like everyone else, cast two shadows: one the shadow that is reflected by the sun on the campus, the other, the shadow that is to stand forth throughout coming years in achievement. What will that inner shadow be like?

—V. D. CARLSON.

ALLEVIATING CHAPEL CONFUSION

Last Thursday's chapel service was a climax. The committee on ways and means has held a consultation, and submits the following: "If from ten to twenty girls must of necessity leave chapel early for domestic duties in the various houses, why not have their seating arranged near the doors, and avoid that much of the confusion?"

THE OLD PROFESSOR

I am the old professor. My hair is greying and not as thick as it used to be. My pen does not glide as smoothly as it used to, and sometimes my students complain that they find it hard to read my marks on their papers. I love my work and sometimes I do funny things during a spell of absentmindedness. My students remember those things and laugh at me. I do not blame them; I once had professors teaching me, too.

I like students. I make them work for me. They think I do it to spite them. I do not. I do it for their own good. The more work I make them do—reading in library, writing papers, handling in problems—the more work it is for me. Students do not think of that. I know; I was a college student once upon a time.

Commencement has come again. Young men and young women whom I have taught are going out to take their place in the world and its affairs. That part will be a great one. It cannot be otherwise. I look down through the years and the commencements of the past and think of the thousands of young people whose minds I have had a hand in training, whose ideals I had helped to shape and I am proud of my work. Years after they are graduated my students come back to me and tell me that they realize what I have done for them. It warms my heart to have them do it; it is my reward.

I may not have accumulated much money, but I am rich in memories and the knowledge of a life which is bearing fruit in the works of others.

I am the old professor. —Daily Kansan.

Miss Mildred Maple sang at the Congregational church for a reception of the new pastor last Wednesday night.

The May Festival, presenting the oratorio, "The Seasons," by Hayden last Saturday night was a great success. Miss Ruth Bedford, senior, was the pianist with the chorus and soloists.

Dent Mowry, prominent pianist of Portland, presented Martha Burghart in a little piano recital at the last meeting of the Woman's club.

AMONG OUR ALUMNI

Come Into Ad. Game, Invites Harold Drake, '22

"It sometimes seems strange that whenever I break the gentle breeze to any of my friends that I am engaged in advertising work, it always brings forth the same reply: "My, but that must be an interesting game."

Yes, advertising is an interesting "game," but after all, any "game" is interesting if you throw your whole heart and soul into the work and make it a part of you—and that is what you have to do in advertising.

I am connected with one of the largest advertising agencies in the Northwest. We have clients who sell their products all over the United States. Our part in their merchandising plan is the planning, preparing and placing of the advertising which our experience and study tells us will prove the most effective for them. Thus, we may advertise in magazines, or newspapers, or billboards, or direct mail, or any of the hundreds of other forms of modern advertising mediums.

Now that does not mean that advertising has been reduced to a science, governed by static rules; it is still, and may always be, an "art," with its "best" form purely a matter of personal opinion. In fact, advertising that experts have branded "no good" has in many cases produced the greatest results. But, in the majority of cases, the advertising man who has a broad background of advertising experience can determine which advertising is most likely to "pull." After that it is entirely up to Dame Fortune and the "good sense" of the buying public.

When I think of my surroundings here—I feel very much like the young college freshman whom the college president asks "What are you doing in college?" But it is helpful to all of us to be continually associated with men and women whom we well realize know more than we. It's part of an education.

They call me an "account executive," but in my case the title is more impressive than the job. An account executive represents the agency to the various clients. In other words, he meets with the executives of the client, plans with them the course their advertising should follow and supervises the preparation and production of that advertising. I do all this, with the assistance and advice of the president and manager of our agency. I also write considerable advertising "copy."

It doesn't seem possible that only a year ago I was on the campus at old Willamette. One year out of school has taught me a lot. I believe that the hardest job any young man (or woman, too, I suppose) has to tackle is the deciding of a life work. I often think that college trained men and women expect too much right at first. I know I did. But after all, the first few years out of college are just like so much more "school." College gives us a remarkable foundation for business; the actual training must come afterwards. So the college man's job is to select the field for which he is best fitted, work hard to apply college training to practical use—and I have no doubt but that he'll "get there." I'm pinning my own hopes on that at any rate.

May 19, 1916—Incidentally the academy clowns, otherwise the Stagite club, were seen tripping near the brunt of the mill stream Thursday. One of the third year members seemed slightly damper than the rest. Further investigation proved that Rodney Alden had just ascended from the deeps.

October, 1912—An editorial demands in hot language that there be plank walks on the athletic field, to the grandstand. "It is absolutely senseless that spectators should have to walk through 150 yards of sticky clay to see the games."

Let me say that the advertising field holds unlimited opportunities for both college men and women. We need people who have ideas, who can write, who can draw, who can think for themselves, who have executive ability, who have heaps and heaps of common sense. (I don't mean to slam myself.) If any of you feel attracted our way and want to cast your lot with us advertising folk—I'll surely be glad to offer every assistance in helping you get started."

Very sincerely,
HAROLD P. DRAKE.

Collegian Staff Takes Jaunt to Pringle Creek

Hear ye, while we talk about ourselves. For the first time in the history of the present generation, the Collegian held its annual picnic, last Thursday, beneath the oaks and firren shade of the groves about Pringle creek. The crew was divided professionally into type tappers and cash collectors, more commonly recognized as editorial and managerial staffs.

Amid the decaying stumps of a once proud forest the two factions engaged in a ball game that was a crime. It is unconceivable how any civilized group could launch such a slaughter as Tommy's gang inflicted upon the news snipers. In the melee, several tempers were temporarily misplaced, and the score stood something like 25-5. Hamburger sandwiches and their garnishments, however, put an end to the battle, and the editor comforted her charges in the words of Caesar, "The pen is mightier than the bat anyway."

After dinner a brief shower, flying dutchman, last couple out, and botanical and horticultural expeditions were engaged in.

All were safe under the protection of Miss Richards by 7:30, but how they got there is another tale.

Cliques Have Other Societies as Guests

Phils, Chreston, Adelantes and Palladians gathered in response to an invitation extended by the Cliques. For an hour the group listened to negro song and story.

"Don't You Cry Ma' Honey" by Smith was sung by Alice Haycock, Flora Fletcher and Ernestine Fleischor. Then Ernestine read Dunbar's "When de co'n pone's hot." Dorothy Ellis played a selection by a negro composer. Juanita Henry read from Booker T. Washington, "A Builder of Civilization." Beulah Fanning sang the "Coon Lullaby" and Carmelita Barquist told a story of negro life by Dunbar.

The Cliques enjoyed their visitors, and if reports hold true their visitors thoroughly enjoyed this "Study in Color."

The Philodorian were entertained by their friendly rivals the Websters last Wednesday evening. A very excellent program was given, the most popular number being an account of the experiences of Paul Bunyan. After the program the Phils adjourned to their own hall where they held an installation of officers. Following the installation everyone went to the Spa and partook of the treats furnished by the incoming officers.

Alpha Phi Alphas Are Delightful Hostesses

The Alpha Phi Alpha sorority was hostess to a group of friends last Saturday evening at the D. W. Eyre home at 199 Oak St. The guests were taken from Lausanne hall over to the house where they were entertained with games during the early part of the evening. Several musical numbers were interspersed between games which added a pleasing variety to the evening's entertainment. Later Alice Sykes played a piano solo, Dorothy Erskine a violin solo, and Alberta Koontz sang. Just before refreshments were served, Esther McCracken, costumed as the spirit of Alpha Phi Alpha, announced in a beautiful manner the Rye house as the new Alpha Phi Alpha home by singing "Home Sweet Home."

Phils Feature Friendship in Program

At the Philodorian society on Friday the Phils chose "Friendship" for the topic of the afternoon, and such a wealth of discussion, and such a wealth of that as that one word can arouse! The program opened with the song "Dear Old Phil" and each Phil put into the simple melody all the feeling and love which true friendship inspires. Next followed some poems on friendship, read by Lola Millard and then a solo, by Alice Wells, entitled "Friend of Mine." To give a bit of jest and humor to the program a lively stunt followed and if Dr. Doney or Dean Aiden could have been present they surely would have been very much shocked and surprised to see themselves as others see them. As a beautiful conclusion to the program, a review of the book "The Business of Being a Friend" was given by Pauline McChintock, Lucia Card and Ruth Smith.

Alumnae Program is Enjoyed by Adelantes

The present members of the Adelantes literary society were entertained by an enjoyable program given by the alumnae. The first number on the program was a reading by Mabel Boughey. The next number was a solo, "My Fiddle and I" artistically sung by Faye Bolen. Mary Eyre read a very clever paper, whose subject was "Take It From Me," telling of incidents of school life that happened in the "old days." "Them Days is Gone Forever" was very well given by Faye Bolen. Mary Eyre read a very old members a business meeting was held after which the society adjourned.

Beta Chis Entertain at Illahee Club

After Old Jude Pivius had very ungraciously spoiled all chances for a lawn fete, the Beta Chi formal party took wheels unto itself as it were and left the country. Amid a Japanese atmosphere the guests found themselves in the land of cherry blossoms, new Illahee country club. Japanese lanterns, both in natural size as lights and in miniature as programs, gelsha girls here and there, and other oriental touches lent themselves to the decorative scheme. Many novel and interesting games were played interspersed here and there with unique stunts. Angel food and a wee Frujjjama of ice cream topped with fresh strawberries and with a small Jap parasol stuck saucily in the side, was served. Then after singing a few W. U. songs the party again betook itself to Salem.

At a recent business meeting of the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority the following girls were elected as officers for next year: president, Irene Walker; vice president, Blanche Jones; secretary treasurer, Maurita Miller and manager, Esther Moyer.

Alpha Psi Deltas Give Party on Saturday Evening

The members of the "Omega" chapter of the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity were hosts at a very unusual Rook party at the fraternity house last Saturday evening. The games of Rook were the only parts of the evening's entertainment that were not unusual.

Decorations consisted of purple and gold lilies on the mantel. Refreshments consisted of punch, brick ice cream and angel food cake leud with the fraternity colors, purple and gold. Eats had purposely been prepared for 32 so the 16 people present were not disappointed.

The chaperons were Professor R. M. Gatke and Miss Estelle Satchwell. The guests were Misses Fay Sparks, Mildred Hoover, Margaret Booth, Helen Gatke, Ruth Wechter, Carmen Harwood, and Leah Ross, while the hosts were Leonard Satchwell, George Atkinson, Leon Jennison, Elton Von Eichen, Edward Warren, Jack Barleson and Merwin Wilkinson.

Sophomores Entertain Freshmen in Painters' Woods

The sophomores class laying aside all past rivalry, yes—even all past prejudice on Saturday evening, proved themselves past masters in the art of entertaining when they acted as hosts to the freshman class at a huge picnic in Painter's Woods. After lively picnic games and strenuous ball contests the crowd gathered 'round the campfire and simply devoured loads of wieners and buns, potato salad, beans, ice cream and cookies. After joking and singing for awhile the merry party broke up and the two classes in their new bond of friendship journeyed Salem-ward.

Delta Phi Has Garden Motif

The Delta Phi house was converted into a veritable garden of lanterns and streamers, roses, forget-me-nots sweet peas and snapdragons in pastel shades on Saturday evening when the sorority was hostess to some of its friends. Amid the gay festooning many lively games were played and many forfeits paid. After all the couples had completed the making of illustrated "life-histories," for each other refreshments of strawberry sundae and pastry kisses were served. During this time a clever program was given. Ruth Hill dressed in real "Frenchy" fashion gave her reading entitled "The Little French Doll," while in elaborate Persian costume, Sadie Pratt and Mildred Strevey as "Sheik and Sheikess" sang two original numbers. Zeida Mulkey danced a lovely butterfly dance in dainty butterfly costume. After a jolly time of conversation and fun the guests departed.

Junior-Senior Banquet on Friday Evening

The class of '24 royally entertained the class of '23 at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet at Lausanne hall on Friday evening at 7 o'clock. After a delightful four-course dinner was served by freshmen costumed as "French maids" and butlers, Dr. C. M. Panunzio rose and with keen wit and quick humor acted as toast master calling forth the following responses: "Welcome".....Oury Hisey "Our Helms".....Luther Cook "Our Earthly Goods".....Rodney Alden "Our Endowment".....Fred Patton "Our Mantel".....Grace Brainerd "Our Heritage".....Edna Jennison "Signed and Sealed".....Dr. Carl G. Doney

Between the courses a delightful program was presented, consisting of dances by Phyllis Palmer, Jeanette Sykes, Zeida Mulkey and a solo by Kathleen La Raut.

Around the banquet table at the Grayhelle, the men's glee club elected their officers for next year, and brought this year's business to a successful termination. Ed Warren was host, and after a very delightful dinner, he bashfully arose and announced that he had parked his trouch, or plighted his troth, at least he said, he is engaged to Miss Helen Gatke. Thunderous applause greeted this announcement.

Announcement Party Given for Helen Gatke

Of extreme pleasure to all the campus folks comes the announcement of the engagement of Helen Gatke to Edward Warren. The announcement was made at a dinner party given by Miss Teresa Fowle at her home at 298 North Capitol for a few of Helen's closest friends. The table was decorated in pink, with an exquisite centerpiece of carnations and tall pink tapers in crystal candlesticks. Each place was marked with a small pink corsage in which were concealed double hearts with snaps of Helen and Ed.

The guests of the evening were Mrs. Gatke, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Fowle, Miss Hop Lee, Dorothy Palmer, Helen Hoover, Elizabeth McClure, Zeida Mulkey, Vera McKoehlan, Alice Wells and Louise Rumohr.

The host of friends extend to both of the happy pair wishes for much fortune and joy.

Pandora's Box Divulges Secrets to Chrestos

Pandora's Box disclosed not ill, but some delightful numbers for the Friday afternoon meeting of the Chrestomathean Literary society, Beryl Brown and Marjorie Brown brought out of the mysterious box a very clever dialogue. Vera Parkhill brought out her saxophone and played a solo. Faith Friday achieved an interesting reading and Laura Pemberton closed the program with a musical recitation.

Mrs. Ebsen is Hostess at Dinner Party

Thursday evening Mrs. Ebsen entertained the Delta Phi girls at a delightful dinner party at her home. The table was decorated with pink roses and delicate pink tapers. The place cards were dainty with gold Delta Phi symbols. The following menu was served: Strawberries on the stem Creamed chicken in patte shells Peas Mashed potatoes Pickles Rolls Olives Home-made ice cream and cake Coffee Fruit Salad Mints

The members of the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity were the delighted guests at an old fashioned Southern chicken dinner which was served in the fraternity house on last Wednesday evening. The reason became evident when Ed Warren rose to his feet and slowly confessed that he had popped the question and was accepted. "It's just great, fellows, I hope you all get that way some day." Curtain.

Mrs. H. J. Roan of Boise, Idaho, and Miss Mildred Wells of Portland were the guests of Mary and Alice Wells at Lausanne for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hoffman and Fred Halverson of Forest Grove motored to Salem on Sunday.

Miss Fern Gleiser, ex '23, who has been teaching at Odell, Oregon, has been a guest at the Delta Phi house since Monday.

COACH AND PAT AT CONFERENCE

N. W. Conference Track and S. B. Presidents' Convention Held at W.S.C. and U. of I.

Coach Ray Bohler and Fred Patton left yesterday for Washington State College. Coach Bohler plans to be present at the Northwest Conference track meet, and Mr. Patton will attend the Pacific Coast Conference of Student Body Presidents.

Many problems will be discussed concerning intercollegiate activities, and programs and plans for the separate student bodies will be advanced at the meeting of Student body presidents. Mr. Patton will go to the University of Idaho, where the first days session will be held, and then journey to W. S. C., where he will represent Willamette to the Pacific Coast Glee Club Conference. Outlines and plans will be discussed for a huge Northwest Glee, in which all glee clubs in the conference will take part.

Centenarian Addresses Trojans

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, May 28.—Mr. Cornelius Cole, formerly United States Senator for California, a graduate of Wesleyan College of '47, a pioneer '49er, and the oldest living member of the Phi Beta Kappa, was the speaker and guest of honor of Delta Phi Epsilon, at a dinner last Friday evening.

Senator Cole is a centenarian, and will reach his one hundred and first birthday in September next. Despite his advanced age, he is still remarkably active in body and mind, even to the extent of appearing before the Los Angeles bar as an attorney recently.

Senator Cole spoke on the necessity of urging better relations between the nations of the earth, that better understandings, politically and commercially, be brought about. He gave no clue to the so-called secret of long life, save a remark that a man should have some enthusiastic interest in life.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 28.—Australia will be the battleground for the Stanford boxing team in the summer of 1924, when Coach Barry Maloney will take a squad of 14 glove artists for a series of engagements in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, and Queensland.

The students of Wisconsin University are in a revolt to gain additional freedom each night. The women of the university are organized in their fight and have adopted as their battle cry, "down with the chaperones," and "let your conscience be your guide."

Foreign Students About Campus Organize Into Cosmopolitan Club

Wednesday afternoon a new organization to be hereafter known as the Cosmopolitan was ushered into existence on the campus. The group was brought together through an appeal made by one of the foreign students who voiced the need for cooperative sympathy and mutual help between the racial groups in the school.

When the appeal reached George M. Day, Foreign Student Secretary, Y. M. C. A., he immediately set on foot a plan to fill the need.

The proposal received the unanimous sanction of those present at Wednesday's meeting. Believing that American students are obligated to those who have come here for advanced American education, the club avowed its purpose, first, to furnish aid to foreign students to find work and to solve their peculiar problems; second, to interpret their life and encounter a spirit of reciprocal understanding between the citizens of this country and their home countries.

When opportunity affords these students will be sent to discuss the problems of their people.

At present there are 10 Filipinos, 1 Englishman, 1 Japanese, 1 Russian and 5 Americans in the club. The membership is as follows: Sofia Zarsadas, Sinteroso Padilla, Felix Ramos, Frederico Plurad, Simeon Flores, Antonio Rowan, Benito Mayo, Leopoldo Mayo, Tranquiline Sarmiento, Antonia Delfinado, Nori Yamashita, Boris Sammer, Paul Buckley, Hugh Bell, George Olyver, Percy Hammond, Albert Geyer, and the faculty advisor Constantine Panunzio.

The officers for the ensuing year are, president, Albert Geyer; vice president, Sinteroso Padilla; secretary-treasurer, Nori Yamashita.

Princeton Man Own Taskmaster; Upperclassmen Attend Classes, Solicit Knowledge, at Pleasure

U. of O., May 8.—How would you like to be your own taskmaster in education? No seven-forty-fives, no compulsory classes, no condition of servitude to the tune and time of a class bell, no dreary drowsy hours in a stuffy room during the warm days of spring; none of these during the last two years of college.

Is it possible? Yes. Where? In the United States; more specifically in Princeton. Princeton has adopted in part the plan of "self-education." In Europe anything else but that would be considered an innovation. Right there lies the outstanding difference between the educational systems of two continents.

In brief, this is the system. Emphasis will be laid on the importance of concentration in the field of study and in the development of a policy of classroom work and set exercise. However, the student is expected to consult periodically with his preceptor. At the end of his junior year a student must take a comprehensive examination in the field of his major subject, and at the end of his senior year a similar comprehensive examination, covering, however, the subject of both the junior and senior years will be required for a degree.

In commenting on the new plan President Hibben of Princeton issued the following statement:

"In this way it is hoped that our undergraduates not only will store their minds with new knowledge of their own seeking, but also, because of the independent character of their work, they will acquire a fruitful method of investigation. We hope that they will feel the inspiration of a great subject and that their efforts will be aided by the law of the reciprocal relation between initial interest and knowledge which operates in every intellectual endeavor, namely, that with initial interest there comes knowledge, and that with increase of knowledge there comes increase of interest.

"In the work of the world after graduation, in every profession a man is thrown upon his own mental resources. He will stand or fall according to his ability to think independently and constructively in reference to the problems which daily present themselves to him for solution. We wish our young men to go out into the world of their own labors and of their testing, with some knowledge of the secret of independent intellectual reasoning. We wish them to be able to form independent judgments and express their convictions and to defend them. Therefore, we are endeavoring to put in their hands a new instrument of power, as well as to reveal to them the sources of intellectual pleasure which will be a solace to them in the days to come of fatigue, of anxiety, and of trouble."

WHITMAN COLLEGE, May 28.—(P. L. N. S.)—Nearly 250 Whitman students will participate in the pageant, "How the West Was Won," which will be presented at Walla Walla, June 6-7.

First Student: "Wonder why my napkin is so damp?"
Second student: "Probably because there's so much due on your board."

Student self-government at the University of Texas is celebrating its 21st anniversary. This institution was the first in the country to adopt the honor system.

Mrs. Eskimo: "Where have you been for the last six months?"
Mr. Eskimo: "I sat up all night with a sick friend."

Fat: (In the White House)—
"Two four minute eggs, and make them fast. I've got a class in half a second."

The tuition fee at Princeton next year will be $350. Higher expenses due to an enlarged teaching staff and increased salaries are the reasons given for the raise.

Book—Say, can you tell me where Music hall is?
Soph—Why, er, yes, you know where the tennis court is. Well, it ain't anywhere near there.

"Can we play keeping store in here, mama?"
"Certainly, dear, but you must be very quiet!"

"All right, then, we will play we don't advertise."

Cannibal Prince (rushing in):
"Am I too late for supper?"
Cannibal King: "Yes—everybody's eaten."

Unsolicited letter to the Red Rock Corn Syrup company:
Buckhannon, W. Va.

Dear Sirs:—
Though I have taken six cans of your syrup, my feet are now no better than when I started.

Respectfully,
DENNIS TENNEY.

Miss Distract—"This salad seems very stringy."
Her Friend—"I don't wonder. You are eating it through your veil."

MEMORIAL CHOIR SERVICE GIVEN

First M. E. Choir Does Splendid Work in Sunday Evening Concert

One of the best choir concerts ever heard in Salem was given last Sunday evening by the First Methodist church choir, Professor E. W. Hobson directing. The opening chorus, "Hark the Vesper Hymn" one of Shelby's most beautiful compositions was splendidly sung. The trio showed good interpretation. Miss La Raut sang the incidental solo in the next anthem in her usually pleasing manner. The duet, "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Mathews, a modern writer revealed a pleasing blend in the voices of Mildred Maple and Josephine Bross. Miss Jean Hobson played her solos with surprisingly good interpretation. She has inherited some of her father's musical talent. Professor Holton is always at his best when presenting one of his native southern pieces and "I'm a Wanderer" could not have been produced by any other director with such fine expression. Mr. Benkinsope's voice is admirably suited to the type of solo that he sang. Professor Hobson achieved a musical triumph in the rendition of the Recessional. Mathews, the English composer, has given a marvelous musical setting to the well known poem by Kipling. Professor Roberts gave a very commendable interpretation of the difficult accompaniment to the selection. The incidental solos by Miss Maple and Mr. Johnson were sung in fine style. The program was as follows:

"Hark the Vesper Hymn".....Shelley
The Choir.
Trio: Adagio Cantabile, "Sonata Pathetique".....
Violinist, Delbert Moore, pianist Miss Louise Pindley; Organist, Prof. T. S. Roberts.
"Awake Zion, Put on Thy Strength".....Matthews
Choir and Miss Kathleen LaRaut
Scripture reading and prayer—
Offertory, duet, "The Lord is My Shepherd".....Matthews
Josephine Bross and Mildred Maple

Piano solos—
(a) A. D. MDCXX, from Sea Pieces.....McDowell
(b) Puritan Days.....McDowell
(c) "In Deep Woods".....McDowell
Miss Jean Hobson
"I'm a Wanderer".....Stebbens
Slave songs, dedicated to memory of Abraham Lincoln
The Choir.
"When the Last Sea is Sailed".....Forayth
Percival Michael Benkinsope
Recessional, "Lest We Forget".....
.....A. Matthews
Incidental solos by Miss Maple and Rodney Johnson

Motor Car is Mark of Stanford Upperclassmen

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 28.—Agitation covering a period of four years has resulted in the framing of an amendment to the Constitution of the associated students which provides that only men who have spent more than six quarters in the university may own or operate motor cars on the campus. As all freshmen will room in Eucina Hall next year, enforcement will be simple. The administration, the athletic interests, and many campus organizations have declared themselves opposed to the automobile as destructive of Stanford spirit if allowed to be used promiscuously by undergraduates.

PHYSICAL DEFECTIVES MANY AMONG COLLEGE FRESHMEN

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, May 28.—Of the 425 freshmen enrolled in gymnasium work at U. S. C., H. R. Lee, director of Physical Education, found only seven possessing such physical perfection as to pass without some disease or fault being attached to them.

DON'T FORGET

As the School Year draws to a close, and the time approaches for friends and schoolmates to separate, the thought comes that perhaps there may be "someone" whom you should like to favor or remember with a token or gift of some kind.

MAY WE SUGGEST

That the little plate or "negative" from which your Wallulah picture is made, has been carefully registered and filed away for safe keeping—and that additional Portraits from these may be obtained at any time and in any quantities. Nothing you can give will be more acceptable than a good, well-made Portrait of yourself.
