

Philosophy Department Offers 2 New Upper Division Courses

Two new courses will be made available by Willamette's Philosophy Department for the coming semester: Philosophy (or History) 306, a Philosophy of History, and senior seminar in philosophy and psychology. The latter will explore the implications of recent psychological literature for philosophy and theology.

Drs. Charles Zeigler, Charles Derthick and Milton Hunnex will join in an attempt to bring psychology, philosophy and religion into communication with each other. Some of the works of Freud, Jung, Fromm, May, Tillich and others will be critically examined.

The Philosophy of History course will be taught by Dr. Hunnex and will carry either history or philosophy credit. A wide range of literature in historiography and the interpretation of history will be examined on an informal seminar basis. A particular effort will be made to utilize the best available sources in the scholarly journals and to examine the controversial issues confronting the contemporary historian or social scientist.

The student should have some background in history and/or philosophy as a prerequisite. Both courses will carry three units of credit, which will be available in philosophy or psychology.

UN Alternate UNESCO Speaker Next Thursday

UNESCO will meet next Thursday, January 22, in Doney Hall recreation room from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Terry Jew, UNESCO president, has announced.

Ex-governor Charles A. Sprague, alternate delegate to the United Nations, will speak on "How They Work in the U. N."

Another feature of the meeting will be a report from the Willamette delegation to the Model Security Council meeting at Clark College last weekend. Representing the campus UNESCO at the college conference were Terry Jew, Louis Hisel, Marcia Erwin, and Kathy Causbie, who were seated in the Council as delegates from Nationalist China.

Miss America To Appear On Campus Feb. 4

Tentative plans for the appearance of Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America, on February 4, were set earlier this week by the executive council of the student body.

During her Wednesday appearance at Willamette a reception will be held for the Mississippi Miss either in the Fine Arts auditorium or the Baxter hall lounge at 8 p.m. Miss America will head the receiving line.

Miss America will have dinner at the Chi Omega house earlier Wednesday evening.

Invitations to attend the reception will be sent to both Salem high schools, to Linfield and Pacific universities and the Portland schools, as well as to Oregon State College and Oregon College of Education.

Larry Willingham, student body president, will report to the planning committee after he discusses these plans with Jerry Frank, sponsor of Miss America while she is in Salem.

Former WU Dean Inaugurated Governor

By STEW BUTLER
"The inaugural of Mark Hatfield was just like a church service of continual standing and sitting" was a comment overheard by this reporter made by Rev. George H. Swift, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church after the inauguration, Monday.

THIS WAS essentially true, as hundreds of spectators and legislators rose many times for the introduction of the state's dignitaries, members of the governor's family, the national anthem and the Oregon state song.

Hatfield, a former student and dean at Willamette was sworn into office by Chief Justice William McAllister, a Willamette alum and a member of the Board of Trustees.

A RECEPTION was held in the governor's suite for the new First Family and members of his staff following the ceremony. Hatfield

Leadership Falls On Four New Prexies

The results from the elections held Monday and Tuesday of this week are now released and the cloak of responsibility has fallen on a new set of officers for each class.

THE OFFICERS for the freshman class are: president, Bill Adams; vice president, Phil Thom; secretary, Laurel Ratcliff; treasurer, Diana Dawson; sergeant-at-arms, Kevin Nagel.

LEADERS OF the junior class for the Spring semester are: president, Keith Pailthorp; vice president, Rosemary Stephenson; secretary, Nettie Hansen; treasurer, Joe Karmos; song leader, Sonya Peterson.

Watching over the seniors will be: president, George Nye; vice president, Conrad Moore; secretary, Linda Berry; treasurer, Frank Caruso; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Jo Smullin and Don Williams.

THE NEWLY elected presidents of each class expressed confidence in his class and gratitude for the honor of serving as chief executive.

Bill Adams, Freshman president said, "I appreciate the support of the class that has been with me through the elections. All of the officers and I will do our very best, not only in planning for Freshman Glee, but in other functions through out the year."

KEITH PAILTHORP, Junior president said, "I am very pleased to have won the election, and will do my best. I feel confident that with the whole class working together, '60 will win Glee!"

Bob Hisel, on behalf of George Nye who was unable to be reached said, "The Sigma Chi house and I wish George the best of luck in his office as senior class president."

Only one class had more than 50% of its members turning out to vote. This was the freshman class with 62%. The sophomores, juniors, and seniors made a less impressive showing tallying a 46%, a 43%, and a 41% vote, respectively.

Veterans Name Dr. Rademaker Freedom Winner for Project M

Dr. John A. Rademaker, department head of anthropology and sociology, has been chosen to receive the Freedom Award of the Oregon American Veterans Committee. Recognized for the work he has done with migratory labor, Rademaker received the award yesterday at a luncheon in Portland attended by Willamette students who helped on the project.

In the fall of 1955 Rademaker and Dr. Vojtic Andic, former head of the economics department, scheduled a joint sociology and economics class which was to study the migratory farm workers in Oregon.

Called "Project M," the students and professors were supplied with funds for the project by the Oregon Council of Churches. Transportation funds were supplied by the Oregon Bureau of Labor.

"Project M" field work was finished last year after a trip to Nyssa, Vale and Ontario, but statistic data is still being compiled. Statistics of the project have been given to the Bureau of Labor, and the results in full form were presented to the Legislative Committee on Migratory Labor.

commented, "It was just like old homeweeke for I had an opportunity to speak with many friends, faculty members, and students from Willamette University." Thousands of people went through the reception line.

Following the reception, Hatfield and his staff including Willamette alums Warne Nunn and Travis Cross, administrative assistants, and Loren Hicks, legal advisor, had to move files and papers upstairs from the Secretary of State's office where he has served for the past two years.

THE OREGON legislature got down to business Tuesday following the traditional opening day session of selecting officers. If the session is like those held these last few years the session will continue into May.

Several Willamette classes will attend committee meetings and see both chambers in action next semester.

Many students undoubtedly will go over to watch the legislative branch of government at work.

Junior Captures Speaking Prize

Carole Cartwright, junior, won second place cash prize in the annual after-dinner speaking contest held at the University of Portland Tuesday.

Miss Cartwright, entering her first intercollegiate competition, won the honor with her speech titled "What's the Difference?"

The contest is an annual event sponsored by the Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon whose nine member colleges and universities are represented by student speakers in the various contests.

Dean Gregg, Wife, Anticipate Coming European Vacation

A dream come true might describe the European tour to be taken by Dean Robert Gregg and his wife beginning in February. Dean Gregg has been granted a leave of absence for the second semester.

When discussing his upcoming journey to Europe, Dean Gregg remarked that his purpose was "to travel and gain new perspective for my history courses."

The Greggs will sail from New York City February 13 on one of the American Export line cargo ships. These 10,000 ton vessels carry 90 passengers. The Greggs will leave the ship at Barcelona, Spain.

They will spend three weeks in visiting the Alhambra, Madrid and the cathedrals at Seville. Next they will see southern France, including the shrine at Lourdes and the walled city of Caracassone.

Nice and Monaco will be next on the agenda, then Italy. In Italy the Greggs will visit Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples and Pompeii. A week will be spent in Greece with Athens and Delphi as the main points of interest.

From Greece they will travel to the Holy Land and Egypt. In Egypt they will see Cairo, the Valley of the Kings, Luxor and Thebes. Lebanon, Syria and Jerusalem will also be visited.

The Greggs will then go to Istanbul, fly to Vienna, spending several days there, travel by plane to Copenhagen, and then fly home, arriving the latter part of May.

Dean Gregg's usual second semester classes will not be offered, but he will resume his regular classroom duties next fall.

Recent Survey Ranks WU High

Willamette is one of the top two private colleges in the Pacific Northwest in the production of graduates who gain doctorates. In the recent National Research Council of the National Academy of Science survey Willamette was listed as having 96 graduates earn the advanced degree in the period from 1936 to 1956.

The survey also showed that Willamette rated among the top four private institutions on the Pacific Coast.

The breakdown according to fields of study lists 30 in physical sciences; four in natural sciences; 23 in social sciences; 14 in arts and humanities; and 25 in education.

CHAPEL SWITCHED

Because of lack of space in the First Methodist Church, chapels will be switched to the Fine Arts building, George Rogers, chapel manager, announced this week.

The change, which will be permanent, will begin with the first chapel of next semester.

Rally! Really?

While fans were treated to some top flight basketball over the weekend, there were some unpleasant aspects to the fine showing made by our team. These were due in great part to actions of a few Willamette "fans."

Student support at the Whitman game was practically non-existent. Friday night, the attendance for the first Willamette-College of Idaho game was somewhat better. Saturday night a near capacity crowd was on hand.

Saturday night's increased attendance was due in part to a display of verbal and physical fireworks on the part of Bob Moreno, the hard-playing, sharp shooting, College of Idaho forward.

Late in the first game with the Coyotes, Willamette had come from behind at half time to take the lead. Both teams were playing hard and the scrambles beneath the baskets were a bit on the rough side. At one point, the 'Cats' Jim Litchfield came off the boards with a rebound that was clearly in his possession. As Litchfield came down, Moreno tripped and fell to the floor. As he was going down, Moreno made a grab for Litchfield's leg and he was whistled for a foul. When he had regained his feet, Moreno aimed a well directed kick at the back of Litchfield's pants, and as the Jason forward turned to see what was going on, Moreno swung a looping right hook at him.

All this action precipitated Moreno's ejection from the game and a two shot technical foul against C of I. Before the scramble was over, players and coaches from both teams had swarmed onto the floor, to stop the fracas.

Even more unfortunate than Moreno's flare of temper, was the behavior of the Willamette cheering section during and after the incident. The performance of a few of the students with respect to the visiting team and its athletes bordered on the rude.

Saturday night many fans, student and local people alike, turned out to see the action. To the credit of both teams and the coaches, there was no repetition of the previous night's performance. On the part of the Willamette students, there was a great improvement. Moreno was obviously doing his best to prove his sportsmanship as well as his ability. He did both very well. Although the Jason fans "rode" Moreno throughout the game, it was nothing more than verbal harrassment and perhaps nothing more than he deserved after his performance of the previous evening.

College of Idaho coach, Babe Brown, warned Moreno before the game, "Son, you'll really get killed by that crowd out there—and you deserve it. You'll just have to be big enough to take it."

We cannot help but feel that the Willamette Rally Squad could have done much to restrain or control a great deal of the uncalled-for and unnecessary harrassment that issued from the Willamette fans during the Friday night contest.

The Bearcats are certainly entitled to all the support that we, as Willamette students, can give them. Our attendance at the game is little enough to offer the men who are playing the game, but more than that, they have every right to expect their supporters to conduct themselves in a sportsman-like fashion. —J.C.

Hixon Watercolors Recall Cheshire Cat

By JUNE SMITH

An adventure in dynamic color is on display for public enjoyment in the Art Department gallery. The painter is William Hixon, professor at the University of Washington.

He entered the armed services upon graduation from the University of Oregon in 1947, and on the GI bill studied in France.

Mr. Hixon's paintings, which offer a refreshing approach to the world, demand mental freedom as a prerequisite to their appreciation where things leave off—ideas begin in the form of space, color and movement.

Lewis Carroll could have been referring to William Hixon's work when he wrote the following passage for Alice in Wonderland.

"Did you say 'pig' or 'fig'?" said the Cat.

"I said 'pig,'" replied Alice, "and I wish you wouldn't keep appearing and vanishing so suddenly: you make one giddy."

"All right," said the Cat; and this time it vanished quite slowly, beginning with the end of the tail, and ending with the grin, which remained some time after the rest had gone.

"Well! I've often seen a cat without a grin," thought Alice, "but a grin without a cat! It's the most curious thing I ever saw in all my life!"

Sleepless Girls Ride Bus In Search of Selfhood

Back from a trip half way across the United States after having attended a seven-day conference in Illinois, are Carol Mason and Joan Griffis, official delegates of the Campus Y to the national YWCA conference in Urbana, Illinois.

Finding sleep a precious commodity, Carol and Joan travelled East with all the other delegates from the Pacific Northwest on a chartered bus. Someone took along a guitar and fife, and instead of sleeping the delegates sang.

On the way back, there were students sleeping in the aisles and luggage carriers just so they would have a flat place to stretch out. The trip took about 56 hours going and about 62 hours on the way back. To add to the confusion, it was 5 below zero one night.

The focus of the conference was the search for authentic selfhood, both personal and organizational.

A big problem was the question, "How to keep the Y essentially a Christian organization with Christian leaders, and still inclusive enough to take in those individuals who are still searching for their spiritual values?"

One of the most important aspects of the conference, say Carol and Joan, was getting to meet people from all over the country and sharing ideas with these people. One interesting meeting was an all-night discussion of inter-racial relations.

Carol observed, "From a session like that, you understand how inter-racial relations are considered all over the country. Instead of just discussing the problem intellectually you can feel it as some people from different parts of the country feel it."

Bahai World Faith Concepts Reveal Ultimate World's End

By KARON EAGON

"America's spiritual destiny is to lead the world to peace," according to Mrs. Hazel Mori, last week's Chapel speaker and official spokesman for the Bahai World Faith.

Reflecting her religion, Bahai, Mrs. Mori stated in a Collegian interview that the duty of the Bahai Faith is primarily to work toward forming a world organization where men and nations will be able to bring their grievances.

"This organization will not be governed by laws, but by the justice of men and decisions would be based, not on political gain, but solely on love of God," she added.

She explained that the Bahai religion is a revealed religion. Bahais make the claim that Bahaullah, the founder of the faith, whose name means "Splendor of God," fulfills the prophecy of return prevalent in most religions, and that Bahaullah ushers in the kingdom of God on earth.

The ultimate goal of the Bahai faith is one spiritual family in the world. This does not mean sameness, however.

In a family an individual's rights are respected, but there is unity and strength within the group. The same principle applies to the Bahais design for spiritual unity: the individual's worship rights will be respected but there will be no strife and competition among them.

The Bahai religion was begun in 1863 when Bahaullah began to make public announcements concerning his new religion. Later, his son dedicated Willmet, Illinois, as the site for the House of Worship, where a beautiful temple now stands.

"Understanding of God grows little by little and periodically God reveals a little more of His truth to the world through a human being. This is how we account for religions and prophets previous to Bahaullah," Mrs. Mori said.

It is the Bahais understanding that approximately every 1000 years a new measure of truth is revealed by God through men: Moses, Christ, and Bahaullah, for example. Thus, all previous religions were true at the time they were revealed by God.

However, Bahais feel that as men progress their religion must also progress. God, then, revealed more of His truth to Bahaullah so that modern times could be guided by a modern religion.

One more interesting fact concerning the faith of Bahaullah: Bahais believe that the end of the world is not destruction, but the time when all of God's truth is revealed and the end of the condition which makes men turn from God.

Dear Ed:

Are We To Be Bahais?

Dear Editor:

I would like to raise some critical questions concerning the recent chapel service in which we had a preacher representing the Bahai faith.

This, it must we noted, was a worship service and attendance was required of all the non-excused members of the student body. This required attendance implies that the university wants its members to join as a group in common worship. Now quite a number of these persons are professed Christians. It would seem that last Thursday the administration was in the embarrassing position of forcing its members to worship in a manner in which they do not believe.

Worshipping is very much different than studying or listening to a lecture, for in worship we are supposed to be dedicating our will to our faith and to our God. I was disgusted at being required to attend what I consider a pagan worship service. Although the "worship" part of the service was in the Christian tradition, it was not being used in what amounted to a Bahai service.

The question is not if certain students are right in their criticism of another religion, but rather whether the administration has the right to require attendance to such a service. I would not question its right to require the students to attend a lecture on such a subject. A lecture is primarily the presentation of one person's ideas or beliefs to a group. Worship starts with the presupposition that those attending share a common faith, and the service leads them in a worship commensurate with that belief.

It is for this reason that the service is being criticized and not because in it the congregation was exposed to another faith. I for one felt that attending the Bahai worship service (not lecture) was very much out of keeping with my own religious commitment. If students are to be given a truly liberal education, the university must respect the individual's beliefs and decisions, whether it may privately consider those beliefs to be true or false, complete or not.

A liberal education is based on this respect for the individual. Does forcing students to attend a "pot luck" worship service show a respect for individual beliefs.

If it does not, then it would seem that there is an implicit denial of the possibility that students can come to their own decisions. If so, is this denial in keeping with a belief in the value of a liberal education?

Jerry Arnold.

Cavern, Bookstore Gain

No danger of red ink in the ledger this semester! Both the Cat Cavern and the Bookstore show a substantial increase over last year's sales at this time. The Cat Cavern, functioning under higher operating expenses, shows an approximate 10 per cent increase in sales.

The Bookstore, with a 5 per cent gain, hopes to give the student body much more efficient service now that they have a large amount of additional space. Students will directly benefit from this expansion, for book lines will move more quickly and items to be sold may be seen more easily due to the new display area.

Student Reading Skills Filmed

Eye movements of about 1100 Salem high school and Willamette students will be photographed in February in a program to evaluate their fundamental reading skills.

THE FILMED reading tests will be part of a national standardization project to establish grade level norms of reading speed. Dr. Walter S. Blake, academic counselor and reading instructor, will supervise the project in Salem. Working closely with him will be Dr. George B. Martin, assistant superintendent of schools in Salem, and Dr. Charles Derthick, professor of psychology.

Conducting the nation-wide survey to establish eye-movement reading norms are the Educational Development Laboratories of Huntington, New York, developers of the Reading Eye Camera. Fifty-eight colleges and universities in all parts of the nation are taking part in the survey.

OTHER institutions in the area participating in the program are Portland State College, University of Oregon and Oregon College of Education at Monmouth. Representatives of all participating institutions met at a controlled reading institute all day Tuesday at Portland State.

Research specialists in the Educational Development Laboratories believe that a reader's eye movements are closely linked to his reading ability. Photographed with the special camera, eye movements serve to tell the story of a reader's "functional, perceptual and organizational" development, the researchers say.

BY ESTABLISHING eye movement norms, students of the reading problem hope to aid readers from the first grade through the adult level to reach their fuller reading potential.

In Salem the program will be conducted by Dr. Blake's basic reading skills class in cooperation with the Salem public schools. About 100 Willamette students and nearly 1,000 Salem students on all grade levels will be tested. The results will be submitted to the Educational Development Laboratories for use in setting up the national norms.

The program is sponsored by the Portland Council of Churches.

Discussion Groups Find Cavern Good Place for Holding Meetings

During the recent Christian Resource Week program, Dr. John Robb, guest speaker, mentioned that there would be informal discussion groups held in some place called the "Cat Cavern."

THIS STATEMENT was uttered with some disbelief that any place with such a notorious name could be the setting for an intellectual discussion; however, this is precisely one of the aims of those who are working on the Cat Cavern Board.

The Cavern has become more

College Board Tests Made Official at WU

Willamette is now officially a member of the College Entrance Examination Board organization. This was announced Friday by Charles Paeth, director of admissions, after his visit with Leslie Mc-Mitchell, board representative, last week.

This means that Willamette is now accredited by the board organization. Prospective members of the incoming freshman class are required to take the College Board examination and all of the school's literature states that the exam is necessary for entrance.

Paeth stressed that although it is not too difficult to become a member of the association, not every school is found creditable. Each school which petitions for membership is carefully checked by the Board when it meets in the fall.

Leslie Mc-Mitchell's trip to the campus after the Christmas recess was not to examine the school. He was simply here in his capacity as assistant to the president of the College Board committee and as a visiting representative.

and more in the past few years the meeting place for students and faculty, providing a casual atmosphere where they may get together to chat over coffee or to hold a small class. In recent times, seminar or discussion groups have been meeting there.

AS THE "STUDENT union" of Willamette, with so much activity centered in one place, the Cavern needed a student group to oversee such problems as display attractions, and opening and closing hours.

The Cat Cavern Board has been in existence for several years but has only functioned actively this year. The committee of six, composed of LeRoy Cornie, chairman; Mrs. Swenson, consultant; Jo Gannon, Dave Marsters, and Pete Weisel, meets twice monthly to discuss any problems which arise concerning the Cavern.

Canterbury Club Calls

The University's Canterbury club would like to extend an invitation to all students to come to the January 21 meeting at noon in the basement of Lausanne Hall.

The club is having as its speaker Dean K. Brooks, superintendent of the Oregon State Hospital. Mr. Brooks will lead a discussion on Alcohol and its problems. All who wish to attend are cordially invited.

presentation of a student body card, purchase tickets for the single performance at the window for $1. Regular priced seats for a concert are $2.50 and $3.50.

Students are urged by Mrs. Stewart Lansefield, Salem ticket chairman, to attend. There will probably be at least 50 or 60 seats available, she said. Tickets for the two remaining concerts may still be purchased at Stevens and Son Jewelers.

On the program are a classical symphony by Prokofieff, "Piano Concerto No. 2" by Beethoven, "Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini" by Rachmaninoff, two pieces from "Iberia," "Fete Dieu Seville" and "Triana" by Albeniz.

Students To Be Ambassadors

Students yearning to become ambassadors of good will can find that opportunity in the Letters Abroad, Inc., which has formed a chain of friendship and understanding throughout the world by letters.

Anyone over 15 years of age may take advantage of the association and gain a pen-pal by writing a letter, telling about himself, his occupation, age and interests. The association will then match cards with a young person of similar interests from a foreign country. Overseas correspondents are requested to write in English.

Letters should be sent to the central office located at 45 East 65th Street, New York 21, New York.

'57 Grad Gains Sigma Chi Post

So goes the saying, "Once a fraternity man, always a fraternity man." This is especially true in the case of Bob Joseph, 1957 Willamette graduate. A member of the Sigma Chi chapter on the campus, Joseph has been named assistant executive secretary for the national organization.

Leaving his Salem home on New Year's day, he arrived at the national headquarters in Evanston, Illinois, where he will be spending half of his time. During his two-year appointment, he will visit each of the 130 Sigma Chi chapters in the country.

Joseph has completed one term of graduate personnel study at the University of Oregon. After fulfilling his present capacity, he plans to continue his graduate schooling and later enter personnel work.

Noted Highlander Schedules Show

Champion Scottish Highland dancer Bobby Watson will be visiting Salem through the assistance of Dr. Gale Currey of the physical education department. He will be appearing January 29 at the YMCA, where he will present a demonstration and instruction.

During August Dr. Currey met Watson while she was a student at St. Andrews university in Scotland. She explained that she had him as a teacher and enjoyed his numerous exhibitions of dancing and bagpipe playing.

Upon learning of his tour in the United States, Dr. Currey contacted his manager and arranged for him to make his only stop in Oregon at Salem for one night.

Tickets for admission will be 75 cents a person or $1.50 per couple. "Everyone should be ready to learn Scottish dances," urges Dr. Currey. However, there will be seats in the balcony for more sedate spectators.

'Cats, L-C In Twin Bill

Two perfect conference records will go on the block when the Bearcats face Lewis & Clark on Palatine Hill tonight. These two remaining unbeaten teams in Northwest Conference play should provide a real pair of thrillers to tonight's contest and the rematch tomorrow night on the Willamette floor.

Coach John Lewis's Bearcats have won six in a row following an early slump during their pre-season schedule. Lewis has admitted real pleasure with the improvement shown in the last few games. The defensive effort has gained special praise.

Whitman helped develop the importance of the L&C-Bearcat series when they tripped Linfield on the Wildcat floor Saturday night. The tall Missionary squad is consistently tough on their home court but was hardly expected to drop Roy Helser's crew Saturday night.

All prospects point to another down-to-the-wire race for the conference title.

Lewis & Clark features both height and speed. Roger Fleck has shown considerable improvement at his center slot this year. Tip-Off Tourney fans who witnessed the opening contest between L & C and Linfield will long remember Fleck's game-winning tip-in as the buzzer sounded to end the second overtime period.

At guards, the Pioneers team Ron Langlos and Royce McDaniel. Both are fast and shoot well. McDaniel sustained another ankle injury in Saturday's game with Pacific but may be ready for the Willamette series this weekend.

Coach Lewis will probably start the same five that led off in last week's successful competition. Leading scorer Larry Lynn will be at one of the forwards with scrappy Lee Weaver at the other. Sophomore Buzz Wilfert will start at center with Tom Weston and Ed Grossenbacher filling the guard positions. Willamette's two back-court men have improved with each game. Both Weston and Grossenbacher have lots of speed and are continual ball-hawking threats.

Coach Eldon Fix picked his Pioneers as the team to beat in Northwest Conference action this year. His veteran squad jumped off to a good start by winning the Tip-Off Tourney. On paper, the Pioneers rate a slight edge over the Bearcats, primarily on their 76-69 win over Willamette in the final game in that initial meeting. However, Salem fans look to the improved style of the Bearcat squad to turn the tide in these two important contests. Another point in Willamette's favor came when Seattle-Pacific, following a clear-cut defeat by Willamette, dropped the Pioneers on Palatine Hill.

Pi Phis Top Chi O's In Mural Cage Tilt

The Chi Omegas, winners in the intramural volleyball championship played last month, lost their first intramural basketball game to the Pi Phis. Top Pi Phi scorer was freshman Cookie Manwaring.

In the Lausanne-Doney game, Lausanne was declared winner by default. In Wednesday action, the Delta Gammas played the Alpha Phis and Lausanne played the Pi Phis.

Murals Hot; Seven Teams Unbeaten

By DAVE KITCHENER

A well balanced Phi Delt quintet remained unbeaten after edging a scrappy Baxter five, 23-18, last Tuesday.

The Phis led most of they, although they had to stave off a last ditch Baxter comeback.

Brad Lucas and Larry Miller led the Phis with six points apiece, and Percy Jefferson did outstanding rebounding work in leading the Baxters with ten tallies.

In another thriller, a late Sig Alph surge barely fell short as the Law School posted a 26-24 victory over the Men of Minerva in a fast paced game.

In last Saturday's play, the Betas, Sigs, and Rinky Dinks remained undefeated.

The Sigs had a hard time remaining unbeaten as they came from behind to edge the Law School, 33-30. The Laws held a 15-12 lead at the half, and did not wilt until the last quarter.

The Betas used their greater height to outrebound and outscore the Baxters, 32-17 and the powerful Rinky Dinks rolled over the Phi Delts, 35-15.

Bearcats Shut Out Coyotes, Get Three Straight in NWC

By STEVE TAYLOR

The weekend was good to the Bearcat basketball squad, to coin an understatement. Having opened NWC competition with an 85-43 win over Whitman College on Thursday, the 'Cats made it two in a row Friday night, posting a 70-57 victory over College of Idaho. Saturday night saw a repeat performance against the Idaho team, with the Bearcats coming out on top of a 65-41 score.

The highlighter of the Idaho games was the Coyotes' 6 ft. 1 in. ex-army product, freshman forward Bob Moreno. Moreno started the 'Cats to chasing their tails Friday night, and never seemed to let up.

A real crowd pleaser, Moreno kept the fans on the edges of their seats through both games with passes that looked like shots, shots that looked like passes, and a general display of ball control that kept the players on both teams on the go.

Bob Moreno Leads Losers

In the Friday night College of Idaho contest, the Coyotes started off with a four-point lead behind the sharpshooting of Moreno and 6 ft. 8 in. center Julian Laca. Larry Lynn got the 'Cats to move then, and baskets by Lynn, Lee Weaver, and a free throw by Buzz Wilfert put the Willamette team into a 5-4 lead.

Behind Moreno's fancy ball-handling and the surprisingly agile Laca, the Coyotes stayed from three to ten points ahead throughout the first half, finishing the first twenty minutes with a 36-33 lead, Willamette getting that close only by virtue of some hard fought rebounding and scoring by freshman Jim Litchfield.

As the buzzer ended the first half, Moreno was driving in towards the Willamette basket once more, having already sunk 13 points in an eight-minute period.

The second half stayed fairly close, with Wilfert, Tom Weston, and Eddie Grossenbacher pouring on coal to get the Bearcats into the lead on a 41-40 score.

After Litchfield and Grossenbacher made foul shots for a technical and personal infractions, the Coyotes played mediocre ball, their sparkplug forward, Moreno, standing angrily in front of the bench. In spite of fine efforts to rush the ball and get it out of the hands of the Bearcat offensive group by Coyote replacement Ken Brocke, the loss of Moreno was too much for the Idaho squad, and the Bearcats coasted to the 70-57 victory.

High point man for the game was Moreno with 21, with Larry Lynn pulling in the second spot with his 16-point effort. Grossenbacher sank 13 points; Tom Weston, who had another fine evening on offense and defense, tallied 12; and Buzz Wilfert grossed 11.

Speed, Control Drop Whitman In Opener

Willamette's hoopsters opened Northwest Conference competition last Thursday night in a smashing display of speed and ball control, smothering the Whitman Missionaries, 85-43.

Larry Lynn jumped the 'Cats to an early 4-0 lead on one field goal and two free throws in the first minute and a half of the contest. Whitman then scored from 20 feet out, to make the score 4-2, the closest they came during the rest of the game.

During the first half, Lynn and Buzz Wilfert each scored 10 points, while Tom Weston garnered 11. Lynn twice scooped the ball from a Whitman rebounder who thought he was defending it from Lee Weaver, the forward on his other side, and sank the basket before the Missionary realized he'd been fleeced.

Tom Weston started the ball swishing in the second half, and after a few trades on scores, the Bearcats rolled up another 8 straight points, to go into a 60-28 lead, with 13 minutes left to play.

Marlin Marsh entered the game, took the ball, and hit for a point a minute for ten minutes, with Dave Brock getting in 8 points worth on some snappy faking and driving.

Lewis' Quint Cops 3rd Win

In Saturday's game, C of I had a tighter defense in close than on Friday, but Tom Weston started things rolling for the 'Cats with a pair of long one-handers.

"Steady Eddie" Grossenbacher hit on a set shot, and Lee Weaver jumped one in from the corner, to give Willamette an 8-0 lead.

At that point, Bob Moreno was fouled for the first of eight times, and put the Coyotes on the scoreboard with his free throw. The Coyotes' 6 ft. 8 in. center, Julian Laca, added a field goal, and the score read 8-3.

Moreno was well in evidence throughout the game again Saturday night, as the stands bore witness. For the first time this year, the bleachers both above and below were nearly filled with spectators, most of them there to see the College of Idaho ace.

He played an excellent game, although he shot less than on the preceding night, getting two field goals and five for eight on free throws. Moreno's real forte was in rebounding, where he outjumped far taller men consistently, coming down with 14 of C of I's 56 RB's.

WU led the scoring at the half by a 32-20 bulge, allowing only 6 field goals to the C of I aggregation. To prove that this sort of defending wasn't a fluke, the 'Cats came back after the half to give up only 6 more, and to score almost the same number themselves as they had during the first period.

Buzz Wilfert had one of his better evenings, totaling 13 points for high scorer of the evening, while Grossenbacher and Weston each tallied 11 points, Larry Lynn and Jim Litchfield garnering 10 points.

FANCY MEETING YOU HERE

Yelps and screams echoed from the Lausanne Hall bathrooms last week. Cause of the terrifying experiences: a life size model of Tennessee Ernie Ford standing on the john which some one had borrowed from a California record store. He has since been moved to a less conspicuous spot in the shower room.

OOOOOOOPS!

When Grant Marsh arrived at a California University late one night during the recent vacation, he immediately sought out a fraternity house where he had been promised lodging. Fraternity row was very dark, and the nameplates on the doors hard to read. He found his host's house, but it was quiet. Not wishing to disturb the sleepers within, he tried all the doors, but no luck. Finally he climbed in an open window and fell asleep on a couch inside. Awakening during the night, he flicked on the light to get his bearings, and instead got the shock of his life. The lumps in the mattress were stuffed animals, and there were ruffles around the mirror. Wide awake and astonished he suddenly realized that he'd gotten into a sorority house by mistake, and made a lightening flash exit, undetected. He found his lodgings nearby and the members of the sorority were none the wiser.

WU Diamond Run Continues

Diamonds are in the public eye again with the romantic announcements of January engagements. The Alpha Chis were greeted with a poem and a box of candy which revealed the marital plans of Karen Enberg and Vic Backlund. Miss Enberg, a physical education major and a senior scholar in the department, is from Portland.

BACKLUND is a 1958 Willamette graduate in history. A member of Phi Delta Theta, he is doing graduate work at Willamette this year and is an assistant coach in football and basketball.

A fall wedding is planned by the couple.

THE SURPRISE engagement plans of Sandi Seely and Pete McDowell has been announced. Formerly a Chi Omega at Willamette, Miss Seely will enter the University of California next semester for her sophomore year in elementary education. Her home is in Menlo Park.

McDowell, from Haines, Alaska, is a member of Sigma Chi and a sophomore majoring in pre-engineering.

Willamette's contest is under the sponsorship of the Collegian and the direction of Judy Olsen, society editor.

IF THE WU entrant is selected as one of the ten national winners, Willamette will receive publicity in the national magazine, and the girl will have a trip to New York City, a five day visit with Glamour magazine and a chance to give her ideas of a college girl's dream wardrobe.

Every candidate must submit her name with an accompanying statement explaining her qualifications in connection with the following points: good figure and posture; clean, shining, well-kept hair; carefully used make-up; impeccable grooming; imagination in managing a clothes budget; a good all-over wardrobe plan; appropriately dressed according to campus custom; appropriately dressed off campus; individuality in color; accessories and looks; and a real understanding of her fashion type.

Deadline for entries is Thursday, January 22, at 4 p.m. The completed entries are to be turned into the student body office by this date.

Wanted!

Not only stacks of books face Willamette's houseboys in this dark month of January, but stacks of dirty dishes as well. Typical of the kitchen crews in Bearcat sororities are Bob Penater, Louie Hisel and Butch Parks pictured above in the DG kitchen. The hazards of these stalwart waiters' lives do not end here. Since their skill at household tasks does not go long unnoticed, they are in peril of romantic snares set by practical coeds, who see in them many ideal characteristics for a future mate. Few escape!

New President John Dorsch To Lead Men of Minerva

Oregon Gamma chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon elected new officers Monday. They were installed after the election Monday night.

THE NEW president is John Dorsch. Second in command is Matt Miller. Ross Stephen will serve as treasurer. Using writing talents will be John Laughlin as recording secretary and Eldon Olson as corresponding secretary. Ellison Chandler is the newly selected warden, and Jerry Darby has been elected chaplain.

Retiring officers were headed by Willard Bunney, president. John Dorsch was vice president, and keeper of the treasury was Earl Anderson. Recording and corresponding secretaries were John Wood and Bing Johnson, respectively. Gary McBride served as Norm Davis.

The new president and his executive council face the task of appointing the other officers including house manager, intramural manager, student council representative and pledge board. The new officers are planning the March 19 banquet which will celebrate the founding of SAE on the Willamette campus.

Dr. Willis Gates to Direct 35 in Faculty Recital Series

By HOWARD NELSON

The Willamette Chamber Orchestra, directed by Willis Gates, will present the third recital Wednesday in the College of Music Faculty and Organization Series. The concert will be performed in the Waller hall auditorium beginning at 8:15 p.m.

GIVEN WITH the cooperation of the Salem Musicians' Union and the Music Performance Trust Funds of the Recording Industries, the performance will feature 35 orchestral players, including students, faculty and townspeople. No admission will be charged for the concert.

First number on the program, "Concerto in D Major" by C. P. E. Bach-Steinberg, was originally written for a group of violas. It was transcribed for small orchestra by Maxmilian Steinberg, a prominent Russian composer, in 1909. He completely recast the piece for modern instrumentation. It is in traditional three movement concerto form and contains solo passages for various instruments.

CARL PHILLIP Emanuel Bach (1714-88) was the third and probably the most famous son of J. S. Bach. He was one of the foremost composers of Germany in his day and also had an international reputation.

Several excerpts from Handel's "Messiah," the soprano aria "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion" to be sung by Joan Barber, and the duo "He Shall Feed His Flock," to be sung by Nancy Weeks, contralto, and Joan Barber, soprano, are also included on the program. Both of the soloists are Music Education majors in the College of Music.

MOZART SYMPHONY No. 38, the "Prague" symphony, is one of a large group of Mozart's works that are not often heard. Nevertheless, it is a true masterpiece and is equalled or surpassed among his 50-some symphonies only by the three great symphonies he composed in 1788, according to Gates.

This work was written in 1786, presumably as part of the preparation for a forthcoming trip to Prague. It is often called the "symphony without a minuet." This is an accurate description but not in the sense that the symphony is incomplete. Mozart purposely cast it in a 3-movement plan and its proportions are comparable to his other large symphonies. This he attained through expansion of the slow movement, a favorite of all time, Gates commented.

Choir to Give Three Concerts On Weekend Tour of Cities

Some 58 members of the Willamette a cappella choir will present three Oregon concerts this weekend. Leaving tomorrow noon by bus and car, the choir will perform in Tillamook, Oregon City and Portland.

All concerts will be presented in Methodist churches, Don Gleckler, choir director, announced. Saturday night will be spent in the residences of church members of the Tillamook church.

Mrs. Clorinda Topping, associate professor of voice, will accompany the group and will do a group of solos during the concerts.

After returning, the choir will learn more literature before their annual tour which will be from March 27 to April 6. Most of the new music will consist of Lenten music. The tour starts on the first day of Lent. The tour will consist of visits in Seattle, Vancouver, British Columbia and at Victoria and Nanaimo on Vancouver Island, Gleckler commented.

Pre-tour concerts are mainly undertaken for choir and university contacts and for choir member experience.

Taylor Heads OFCL Book

Dick Clark, president of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders, and student body president at Southern Oregon College, told the Collegian this week that plans were under way to compile a directory of campus leaders in the colleges and universities of Oregon.

The directory will contain the names and addresses of student leaders from all of the 26 institutions of higher learning in the state. Presently scheduled for release sometime in early March or April, the book is to be edited by Steve Taylor, Willamette delegate to the OFCL, and OFCL Bulletin editor.

Clark said that copies of the book are to be distributed to all of the colleges, in an effort to serve members of the OFCL as well as to aid and promote traffic and cooperation among all of the Oregon schools.

According to Clark, plans are already under way to obtain the necessary information and Jim Shull, a Salem artist, is designing a cover for the publication.

Leveton, Steward Gain House Prexy

Baxter hall has elected Dave Steward as president and Pete Leveton has been elected president of Phi Delta Theta in house elections this week.

Other officers of Baxter are Larry Hobson, vice president and social chairman; Lyle Tucker, secretary; Pete Briggs, treasurer; Claude Garvin, student council representative; Tom Johnson, house manager; Bill Frick, chaplain; Steve Carmichael, intramural manager, and Bert Knupp, reporter.

Phi Delta Theta officers are Dick Streeper, reporter; John Sweeney, secretary; Ed Knappe, historian; Mike Graydon, warden; Andy Kuehn, Disciplinary Board Chairman; Steve Berglund, social chairman; Bill Richter, librarian; Greg Milnes, chaplain; Truman Baird, assistant treasurer, and Orrin Ormbee, rush chairman.

Petitions Made To SB Offices

Applications are now being accepted in the student body office for the second semester office staff. Typing and mimeographing experience is important, with average hours ranging from six to twelve hours per week, according to the class schedules of the staff. Application forms may be picked up in the student body office.

Petitions are also being accepted by the ASWU executive council for the position of Office Manager. This is a one year position, from February to February, with a ten hour per week minimum requirement in the office. No standard form is necessary for the written petition, other than stating personal qualifications for the position, reasons for wanting to petition and possible future plans or improvements for the office. Further information may be obtained by contacting the office.

Both applications and petitions are due in the student body office by Monday noon, January 26, 1959.

Bookstore Gains Additional Space

The long-needed enlargement of the WU bookstore has finally come. One can hear exclamations of joy resounding from the Waller basement as students visualize shorter, faster moving book-lines at registration.

Busily workmen enlarged the store while bookstore employees ordered books by the score in preparation for the second semester registration.

By blocking off the old hallway, many feet were added to the bookstore, to be used for display and speedier service. A door was made at the south end of the Collegian office, giving staff members better access to the student body office and the Cat Cavern.

However, in doing so the Collegian had to give up a portion of its south wall mural to which they looked for inspiration during frenzied rushes to meet deadlines.

The new arrangement still confuses many of the old habitués of Waller basement, who seem to wonder momentarily whether they are in the right building.

One-Act Plays 'In the Round' Billed for Next Friday Night

Three one-act plays will be presented in the round - that is, with the audience on all four sides, next Friday at 8:15. These completely student-manned productions are free for students with student body cards and will cost 75c without. Tickets may be picked up in Robert Putnam's office at any time.

Of major interest is the variety in types of plays presented. "Riders to the Sea," a tragedy, features Maurya, an aging woman whose life has been burdened by troubles and sorrow. This serious moving play is set in an Irish fishing village.

"To the Lovely Margaret" is a fairly straight play about a brainy but sensitive girl who longs for romance and social acceptance.

The third play, "Another Way Out," is a satire on two advocates of free love who live together in Greenwich Village. Much to their dismay, they find their friends flee when they learn the couple is unmarried. Another of their problems is the lady upstairs who continuously plays the "Wedding March" in hopes they will take the hint.

Blouin Takes Too Many

Ray Blouin, freshman, was arrested by city police late Wednesday night on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with six persons in the front seat. Three of the passengers were runaway girls from Washington who fled the car. Police were still searching for the three Thursday morning.

Blouin was driving a sports car coupe when arrested on Portland Road.
