Dedication

In the history of the State of Oregon, there has seldom been a man whose stature could surpass that of Charles E. McCulloch—lawyer, scholar, philanthropist, musician, civic worker, and athlete.

McCulloch, the son of a Methodist minister, was born in Illinois in 1882. He received his undergraduate work at Ohio Wesleyan and his LL.D. at Illinois Wesleyan, then passed the bar in 1907. The following year, he was prompted to go west, and he began his practice of law in Portland.

In 1945, McCulloch started what was to be a 12-year term as President of the Willamette University Board of Trustees. During this era of service, which was climaxed in 1957, when Willamette presented him with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities, McCulloch became a great motivating force in the strengthening and growth of our university. He was the donor of numerous gifts and services to Willamette, the most notable of which was the school's modern athletic plant at Bush Park, which was built in 1950 and designated McCulloch Stadium. His life, laden with the services of many years, came to a close on January 17, 1961.

Thus, it is only appropriate that

We, the Class of 1964, Gratefully Dedicate This Fifty-third Annual Freshman Glee to the Memory of Charles Eddy McCulloch

who adopted Willamette as a second "Alma Mater."

To the Spires of Willamette

F

Chorus:

To her spires we're looking upward,
Higher, now, to see our goals,
And before us lie the pathways,
Dear old school, that you unfold.

N

J

Verses:

In the green Willamette valley,
Lies the school that led the west,
From the tree topped hills and mountains,
She was carved to serve the best.

O

R

With open hearts and searching minds,
We enter in these halls,
So firmly laid by frontier hands,
Whose dream included all.

S

O

So on to other spires now,
The well-worn step remains,
And mem'ries dear are echoed,
To ringing glee refrains.

The Spirit of Willamette

Through the gathering hush of evening chimes
A solitary bell;
In memory we linger in
The beauty of its spell.
Its echo tells of cherished hours,
Of fellowship with friends;
A loyalty within us forms
A truth which never ends.

We share Willamette's name
In pride her wisdom claim;
With deepening trust our lives unfold
The legend of her fame.

Years disappear but still we hear
The softly sounding chime;
The spirit of Willamette
Calls us forward into time.
With dauntless courage we will face
The challenge of our youth;
Through knowledge's foundation lives
Our heritage of truth.

Symphony of Trust

O

Recalling the memories of cherished youth,
My footsteps echo long.

P

A faith renewed, a love once known,
Restores to my soul its song.

H

A slumbering warmth stirs in the chords,
Of a symphony of trust.

O

Each note forging former memories to me,
Each staff my honor just.

M

I hear the chords of caroling chimes,
Blending harmonies of old.

O

As the millstream meanders, so I wend my way,
Midst the land that my fathers hold.

R

Retracing the footsteps of years gone by,
I find in knowledge shared.

E

A unity known to those who sing,
Of this: Our anthem fair.
Of this: Our anthem fair.

To Willamette

Dawn breaks with its brilliant light on Willamette,
Changing darkness into light and softening silver,
slowly blending into gold.

There stands our school so splendid and so bold.
Day comes and the sunlight shines on Willamette.

As we strive to meet the day so proudly do we view,
The majesty of this land upon which stands our Alma Mater grand.

Then the evening brings the sunset.
Rays of red and gold reach out—
Evening—Chimes ring.

Day ends and the sunlight fades from the valley.
And to her our Alma Mater we raise our voices loud and clear.
