Dean, Women To Mull Rules

Dean Regina Ewalt, back from a Chico Dean of Women's conference, will confer with the AWS council for the next few weeks in a review of women's rules.

The planned meetings were announced Wednesday by student body president Rollin Cocking after his conference with Mrs. Ewalt concerning campus reactions to women conduct suggestions made before Easter recess. Cocking met with Mrs. Ewalt and President Smith Wednesday, presented student feelings and heard the stand of the administration.

His report is found on page two.

Council Votes Play Charge

A 25 cent charge for student tickets to the play "Good News" was approved and petitions for convocation manager asked by the student council.

Cocking said that petitions for convocation manager will be due at the student body office by 4 p. m. Wednesday. A new manager will be chosen by the council in their meeting the same day.

The council also approved of a 25 cent fee to be assessed each student and guest ticket for the May Weekend play, "Good News."

In asking for the fee, George Evans explained that it is a necessary assessment if the drama department is to put on another "first rate staging job and still keep out of the red."

In other business, the council also passed on major changes to the ASWU constitution. The changes were proposed by a constitutional revisions committee headed by Bob Batchelder. Student body voting on the revisions will take place during regular elections in May.

T'nT at Ten

Tuesday Convocation

Will feature the Willamette band in concert under the direction of Professor Maurice W. Brennen.

and Thursday Chapel

Will have as speaker a service chaplain who has recently returned from Korean duty. Chapel will be in the Presbyterian church.

Coed to Attend Indeps Meet

Jackie Meadows will represent the campus Independent Student association at the convention of the national organization at Purdue university that starts Wednesday. She will leave for the East with representatives from Washington State and Oregon State Sunday.

Miss Meadows will be the first such delegate from the local association since it was affiliated nationally one month ago.

She will participate in discussion groups and hear speakers discuss ways by which the NISA can help local organizations carry out their individual programs.

The two other delegates from the Western region include Evelyn Greiner of Oregon State and Dale Booth, regional president from Washington State.

Play Site Changed To Parrish Stage

"Good News," the well-known musical comedy scheduled for May Weekend, will be produced on the Parrish Junior high school stage the nights of April 30 and May 1 rather than in Waller hall.

The extravaganza directed by Prof. Dean Graunke, will include a cast of 19 principals supported by a vocal chorus, dancing, line and a full orchestra.

Sec. McKay To Address Commencement

Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, former governor of Oregon, will be commencement speaker at Willamette university's May 31st graduation ceremonies, it was announced this week by Pres. G. Herbert Smith.

Commencement exercises will be held at McCulloch stadium at 3 p. m. This will be the first time in 11 years that Willamette graduation ceremonies have been held in May.

Herman Clark, professor emeritus, will deliver the baccalaureate service on the previous Sunday, May 24th.

While in Oregon, McKay will also visit the dedication ceremonies at Detroit dam and act as grand marshal of the Portland Rose Festival, both events in June.

Prison Association Secretary, Linfield Grad Named to Positions in WU Sociology Dept.

Named this week to teaching positions in the sociology department were Mrs. Claire Argow and Arthur E. Gravatt.

Mrs. Argow, who is executive secretary of the Oregon Prison Association, began this week teaching the course in crimin-

Magnolia Will Replace Ivy

Willamette's 1953 May queen will be chosen Thursday following an elimination election at Tuesday convocation. The 10 a. m. vote will narrow the field from eleven to three.

Run-offs are scheduled for all day Wednesday and until noon Thursday with the queen to be announced in next week's Collegian. The two runner-up candidates will serve as princesses on the court.

Candidates are Harriet Aller, Dona Mears, Barbara Baker, Marie Corner, Jane Foosee, Janice Gladden, Jane Pinkerton, Beverly Rands, Mary Ellen Snyder, Jean Stewart Brown, and Marlene Vincent.

Magnolias To Be Planted.

This year's May Queen will officially plant the first tree of what is hoped to become a Magnolia grove on the campus as part of the May Weekend celebration.

The Magnolia planting will take the place of the traditional ivy-planting by the freshman class president. Manager Jim Bergmann says the seedling will be planted north of Sweetland and later transplanted to the area of the proposed building project.

Feed Tickets Free

Tickets for the Sweetland field barbecue will be free to students who paid board and room on campus. Sororities and town students will be charged 65 cents for their meals at the barbecue. Rush chairmen are requested to go to Miss Lorena Jack's office before May 1 to pick up guest tickets. Their houses will be billed later.

Manager Bergmann said all campus living organizations approved 1:30 late permissions for campus women after the Queen's ball. They also favored leaving the houses open until one-half hour before closing time. The matter will now be referred to Dean Regina Ewalt for definite action.

ology and penology following the resignation of former warden Virgil O'Malley from his teaching duties.

Gravatt will start in September when he will assume the duties of chairman of the department during the absence of Dr.

Senior Responds to Comps and Orals By Taking Wrong Car, Going to Jail

Tuesday night Senior Carl Simpson innocently started out a comp-cramming evening by borrowing the car of fraternity brother Chuck Seagraves and ended it by having them both "invited" into the police station.

It seems that the car Simpson borrowed did not belong to Seagraves and when Simpson drove it away from the curb in front of the library, the irate owner, Willamette student Bill Sperber, reported it stolen.

The plot thickened when the party of the first part (Simpson, that is) returned the key to the party of the second part (Seagraves, that is) who remembered that he had not given a key to Simpson.

As the two went out to find the car's owner in order to make amends they were spotted by a vigilant Salem policeman who was on the watch for the reportedly stolen car. Later the whole story was straightened out down at the Salem police station.

Religion's Part In Education To Be Stressed

Educators concerned with the extent of religion in college curriculums will assemble today and tomorrow on the campus for the sixth annual Northwest Conference on Religion in Higher Education, according to Prof. Richard C. Wedel who is replacing Palestine-bound Dr. Norman Huffman as host chairman.

The educators, opening all Saturday general meetings to instructors of all college departments, are stressing "religion in the context in which it normally lives on campuses." On this note, they have invited professors to the general meetings at 10 a. m., and 1:30 on Saturday in Collins 124. Meetings at 4 p. m. and 8 in the evening in Collins 124 on Friday are also open. Students as well as instructors are invited to attend the four general meetings.

Faith and Learning

The main speaker of the two-day affair is Dr. Alexander Miller of Stanford university. Dr. Miller will speak at all general sessions including the panel discussion scheduled for tonight at 8 in Collins dealing with "The Community of Faith and the Community of Learning."

Dr. Miller has served the Presbyterian churches in New Zealand and East London, England, and has travelled in North America extensively for the World's Student Christian Federation in 1945. His books include "Biblical Politics," "Christian Faith and My Job," and "The Christians Significance of Karl Marx." The last work was translated into German, Dutch and Danish.

Responsibility of Administration

At the banquet for delegates Friday evening Dr. G. Herbert Smith will speak concerning the responsibility of the administration in relation to campus religion.

Also on tonight's panel with Dr. Miller will be Dr. Hideo Hashimoto of Lewis and Clark, Dr. Paul Means and Dr. Arthur Fredericks.

The closing worship service at 3:30 Saturday afternoon will be led by Dr. Brooks Moore of the First Methodist in Salem. Prof. Wedel especially calls attention to the desire of the educators in getting attendance at the meeting from professors outside philosophy and religion departments.

John A. Rademaker. He has finished course work and research for his degree of doctor of philosophy in sociology at Cornell University.

A Northwesterner, Gravatt attended the College of Puget Sound and the University of Washington before transferring to Linfield college where he secured his bachelor of arts degree in sociology in 1949. The University of Oregon granted him the master of arts degree in 1951.

"We have planned carefully to make sure that an adequate number and variety of courses will continue to be offered each year to satisfy the needs of the students who wish to secure an education in sociology and a beginning in anthropology at Willamette," said Rademaker.

Gravatt will continue as a full-time member of the staff following Dr. Rademaker's return.

Views Given on Place of Rules and of Women

By Jim Scott

Background

The Emancipation Proclamation freed the slaves; the 19th amendment liberated the women; but nothing has ever freed the men of our nation from certain stigmas and prejudices. This unfortunate condition becomes most lucid when one comes to the full realization that though the world is ruled by men, the men are governed by women. Because of this dominant, though subtle, influence as the age of chivalry faded and died, the male of the species was allotted the sliding status of being less moral and more animal than his female counterpart.

Today's Problem

Somehow, it has come to my ever-alert attention that the climactical conditions known as spring elsewhere, has necessitated the enforcement of old, and the addition of new, restrictions upon the ladies of Willamette land. As is my custom, I would fain to express an opinion on these rulings. How they apply in instance is of no concern of mine; but how they apply in essence is a matter that may affect all of posterity.

Essentially, as the background for today's article has astutely hinted, there is the subtle suggestion that the sincerity and integrity of some of the boys of Willamette's family is a bit questionable. I care not what the rules suppose; it is what they pre-suppose that makes one feel that now is the time for the seeds of moral equality for men to be sown. The oaks of tomorrow are the acorns of yesterday; it is time that the twig be straightened. The following applies to most though not all men. I do not advocate "blanket exemption."

First of all the men should not be admonished to act like gentlemen; they should be gentlemen without having to act. To illustrate this ideal. Before one preambles over to the tennis court he should think of the "Bill of Tights" and see that he is properly attired. When holding hands with a young lady it should be understood that the entwining of two fingers is friendship; the intertwining of four fingers is courtship and the entwining of six fingers is virtual engagement. I have exaggerated slightly only that the poignant point might be fully appreciated — these are perilous times; instead of being emancipated we could become emaciated.

In brief, the keynote of our decorum is discretion, not of the sullen, resentful type, but rather a natural discretion that is light, gay, warm and cheerful. In fact, the theme song might well be, "On the Sunny Side of Discreet." It will be a long, difficult struggle — we have waited far too long. If we are to gain our right to feast upon the fatted calf of moral equality, we must first enter the arena of reality and dispense with the bull of misguided tradition.

Letter to the Editor:

(Editor's Note: The writer of this letter entered the Air Force in September after attending Willamette for two years.)

Parks AFB, Calif.
April 9, 1953

To the Editor:

Presently I am very amused at the mild furor the student body appears to have goaded itself into over the recent edict from Dean Ewalt's office. I am not amused at the "blanket" edict itself, which as far as Dean Ewalt is concerned was probably quite sincere and possibly not uncalled for, nor at the rumblings from the rank and file of the classes. Rather, I am amused at the relative triviality of the whole situation when it is compared with some of the, shall we say, more pressing matters which face, or should face, college students of today.

I have the April 3 editorial "We Can Take Care of Ourselves" before me now. I take exception to it because I am not so far removed from Willamette that I do not continue to be interested in what goes on there. This is especially true since I plan to return some day to finish my degree. I do not need to be reminded that I am not cognizant of all the facts regarding this rather puerile incident. But I am interested and there are a few questions in my mind which I would like to throw out to you and your readers.

1. Which do you think will get more publicity, the proposed building project at Willamette or the current hassle over who is going to lie on whose blanket and when, outside the bounds of matrimony? Which will be more favorable in the final analysis?

2. Are morals really so bad at Willamette that Dean Ewalt's edict was required? If so, what's the fuss about? If not, what's the fuss about? Further, can you truthfully say that your "good judgment and respectability have been questioned" as a student body when, as I remember, it has been the policy of the administration to deal with questions of morals in a much quieter and more efficient manner than a blanket edict?

3. Whose responsibility is the "maturity" of which you speak? Do persons mature in the campus environment because of this environment or in spite of it? Or is it not possible that maturity, like water, seek its own level and will not be contained, enhanced or hindered by anything as illusive (so far as maturity is concerned) as a "college education"?

4. If it is the responsibility of your university to graduate you as "mature" citizens why do you revolt against rules which were probably intended for your benefit and protection. If your maturity is "your" problem why do you object to rules which if you are mature, or are approaching maturity, need not concern you?

Finally: Willamette university, like Congress, must occasionally go "on record." The reasons for this are not beyond the realm of understanding for anyone who was smart enough to get into Willamette in the first place. If the Willamette student body, even sporadically, gets the "call" to go on record why must this be negative and in reaction to the administration? Why not be positive and assertive and aggressive? And why not be positive, assertive and aggressive about things which are, finally, much more important to you and to the world than morals at Willamette, especially when, as you seem to imply, the problem does not exist at all?

In retrospect,
A/3c Darrel deChaby

The Student Body Roundtable

A short time ago our usually sedate campus was decorated with various large pieces of fabric commonly called blankets. The reason for these displays was not spring cleaning, but a student demonstration against "rules" laid down by Dean Ewalt. As a result of this great student sentiment I, fool that I am, promised to do something about it and then make a report to you, the student body. Mission accomplished: here's the report as the result of a conference between myself, Dean Ewalt, and President Smith.

The main points of student agitation, I feel, were the blanket rule, the skirt-over-shorts rule, and finally a general feeling that this school has too darn many rules.

Of course, most keenly felt was the request concerning the use of blankets. Dean Ewalt had received complaints of students lounging on blankets in Wilson park, also the fact that some boys showed the tendency to join the women at the south end of Lausanne while the women were sun bathing. So this explains the blanket suggestion, or at least why it came to be. This policy, as with the other statements by Dean Ewalt, were only suggestions on her part—suggestions for conduct by Willamette students. I agree with her on these points. It is regrettable that the suggestion included beaches, certainly that inclusion diverted most of us from the real reason for her suggestions as to what would be best for Willamette.

Second point of conflict was the "skirts-over-shorts" suggestions. As was not mentioned in the Collegian article this applied only when going from sororities to Willamette's tennis courts. It does not include Lausanne. The reason behind the suggestion is that the administration was opposed to Willamette women's going through Salem's business district in shorts. Not too stern a rule in my opinion and I think a vast majority of the women will back me up.

To find an answer to the third point of student argument is a little more difficult. After talking with President Smith and Dean Ewalt for an hour and forty-five minutes I can understand the position they are in and the actions they feel they should take. If each and every one of you could have been at this conversation you would realize above anything else that they are trying to do what's best for Willamette and that covers many things.

Dean Ewalt realizes that her suggestions were misinterpreted and not clearly understood by the students and that the wording of these suggestions could be improved. She feels, however, that these suggestions were basically well founded, and I agree.

Dean Ewalt will be conferring with the AWS council for the remainder of the year on the revision of the women's rules. Willamette's women will have ample opportunity to plead their case for changes of rules. Good luck, ladies!

I hope I've done my job. I presented the case of the students as strongly as I could and feel that no other conclusion could have resulted from our meeting. If you think I'm on the wrong track, come and see me and I'll do my utmost to further explain a somewhat jumbled situation.

Sincerely,
ROLLIN COCKING.

ART WORK DISPLAYED

By Loyal Howard
Collegian Reporter

Combining two fine exhibits into one is the latest accomplishment of Willamette's art department. The combined efforts of Demitrios Jamieson and Mrs. Pearl B. Heath form the current exhibit now being featured in Willamette's art gallery.

Jamieson received degrees from the University of St. Louis and the University of Illinois. He is currently instructing at Oregon State college.

While a student Jamieson's works were of a realistic quality equaled only by the photographer's camera. He worked masterfully in pencil. Now his entire approach has changed in an effort "to create a balance between subject matter meaning and the abstract factors which make up a painting."

He now works with striking colors in oils. "Achieving depth without visual perspective, but with the use of color," is one of the main problems of the artist.

Jamieson has shown in San Francisco, Denver, New York and Portland. He recently received an invitation to show an exchange exhibit at the Corcoran Gallery of Washington, D.C.

A purchase prize for his water colors was won by the artist at the City Art Museum in St. Louis, a first prize from the Denver Art Museum and another purchase prize from the Portland Art Museum.

A hand wrought silver display by Mrs. Heath is the second part of the combined exhibit. Mrs. Heath received her BA at San Jose State college and her MA at the University of Oregon. She has worked two years towards her PhD at Oregon State.

Her background work consists of courses at the Louvre in Paris, France, the Shaeffer School in San Francisco and has also worked with metalsmiths of Seattle, San Francisco, Portland and Zurich, Switzerland.

Last summer Mrs. Heath studied under Herr Hans Pflueghard in Zurich.

She has traveled extensively around the world, Greece, Madagascar, Egypt, Australia, South America and England.

Trying to Stay Alive

Our Dean of Students and State Representative Mark Hatfield has done other notable things in the legislature this year, but none more important to us than his attempt to do something about the safety hazard at 12th and State streets. Hatfield has introduced a bill that would mean that some sort of barrier would be placed at the intersection to help avoid train-auto collisions.

The Collegian has been studying the problem for several months. But it appeared to be a hopeless case. There was not much anyone could do unless he had the money to build underpasses, or overpasses, or to detour the tracks.

Maybe the dean's bill will do some good. To do something about 12th and State is to do something for one's own safety.

No Sense of Humor

The Collegian probably stands alone among local college papers in its refusal to print those so-called cartoons, "Little Man on Campus," by Bibler. College publications are jumping on the band wagon in an effort to please their readers with Bibler's type of humor. But we don't think our readers would classify his effort with any of the two dozen or more types of humor. LMOC is more pathetic than funny. Until Bibler comes forth with students who look and act like students (we can be both natural and humorous) you are not likely to see his works on this page.

State Answer to Discrimination

Dean of Students Mark Hatfield, a Marion county legislative representative, was one of the most avid supporters of Oregon's new civil rights law which passed the house this week.

As chairman of the House State and Federal Affairs committee, Hatfield was responsible for the introduction of the committee majority report which favored the much-discussed anti-discriminatory measure. The bill passed the house by a vote of 29 to 11 and since it already has Senate approval it will now be presented to the governor for his signature which is expected to be forth-coming.

The original sponsors of the bill were Senators Phil Hitchcock and Paul Geddes.

Much credit for the success of the measure was accorded Willamette's professor-lawmaker. One observer commented that Hatfield handled expertly what was a very "delicate situation."

The bill means that public business establishments cannot refuse service to any person because of race, creed or color. If discriminatory action is taken by such businessman, the person involved has the right to bring a lawsuit against him for $500.

Hatfield has recently introduced a bill in the house calling for a barrier of some sort at the railroad crossing at the intersection of 12th and Streets by the Law school. Accidents have occurred at the crossing in the past because of train-automobile collisions.

Psi Chi Plans Open Session

An open meeting of Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, will be held Thursday in Christy cottage at 7 p. m. and will feature a mental hygiene film, "The Angry Boy."

A round-table discussion is planned following the film with speakers representing the mental hygiene field, according to Doren Ranton, president.

WU Alums Break Into News

Four former Willamette students put in a plug for a varied liberal arts education during the past week as they made headlines in careers ranging from modeling in New York to heading a labor union.

Addyse Lane, a drama-education graduate in 1949, who broke into the modeling field in New York following her schooling, is making a tour this spring to model samples of a New York dress manufacturer. At Willamette she left behind a trail of offices including student body secretary, freshman class vice-president and Cap and Gown president. She received an honor scholarship her freshman year and also won the Annie Barrett scholarship award.

Field Event Man

A winning discus thrower and a physics and math student back in the days of 1932, James Frantz was nominated last week by Harry Bridges as chief candidate for head of the Longshoreman's Union in the case that Bridges should go to jail. Standing 6-1 and tipping the scales at 200 pounds, Frantz was also a quarter-miler. He left Willamette after two and one-half years and later attended the University of Oregon. He has held nearly all offices in the Portland longshore local and is a staunch supporter of Bridges.

Another Willamette alum who has literally found his niche in the public eye is Ray Drakeley, manager of Freshman Glee in 1938, who is now a regular singer on the televised "Show of Shows." While on campus, Drakeley was a four-point voice student and also a member of the now defunct Little Theatre guild.

He left Salem in 1939 to top off his music studies at the University of Chicago. Now he sings with a male quartet and a chorus and has also been cast in supporting roles with Imogene Coca and Sid Caesar on

Portland Paper Chooses WU Coed

Dona Mears will appear as Willamette's entry in the "Beauty on the Campus" article in next Sunday's Oregonian. The newspaper pictures a coed from each of the local colleges every year.

Dona was chosen two months ago on the basis of beauty, activities, and scholarship. Two pictures will be printed. One is an action shot in the information office where she works part-time. The other is a pose in the archway of the east porch of Eaton with the capitol in the background.

Dona was selected to represent Willamette as the "Beauty on Campus," and her picture will appear this week in the Oregonian's Sunday supplement.

the 6 p.m. Saturday KPTV show.

Played in London

He has appeared in the show "Gypsy Lady" in the United States and stayed with it when it was retitled and played in London as "Romany Love." He and his wife, singer Helen Wyszatt, toured for a year with the musical "Kiss Me Kate."

World War II veteran Robert Taylor had his Willamette studies interrupted by that conflict but returned to graduate in 1945. Lately, as a medical service officer serving in Korea, he was awarded a commendation ribbon with metal pendant for billeting a combat medical company in a battle area under "adverse conditions." A reservist, he is with the 40th infantry. After he left Willamette, he transferred to the University of Oregon Medical school.

New Selective Service Rules Brewing, Says Draft Board

"Something is in the wind concerning draft deferments for college men," the draft board told the Collegian Wednesday.

New regulations, a spokesman said, are expected to come from selective service headquarters in Washington, D. C. that may change the present deferment plan for collegiates.

Following instructions from headquarters, the local SS board No. 10 ordered about 70 college men to Portland Tuesday for preinduction physicals. A dozen Willamette men were included in this total.

Safe For Awhile

The board said that no one would be taken from college and no classifications would be changed during the present academic year. But Portland recruiting officers warned examinees that getting college 2-S deferments next year would be as hard to get as "blood from a turnip."

Officers said that the pool of 19-year-olds was nearly exhausted and that colleges would soon be the only source of man power left.

The Marion county draft board said it had no other information.

See Dean's Office

Dean Mark Hatfield told men who had taken their physicals to contact their draft boards to see if a formal request for extension of 2-S deferment would be necessary. Men are also advised to request the Dean's office to forward the proper forms and information to the board.

"Be certain," Hatfield said,

WU Professors Deliver Talks

Two Willamette political science professors, Dr. Robert M. Gatke and Professor A. Freeman Holmer, recently delivered papers at two separate pre-vacation political science meetings.

Dr. Gatke traveled to the Pacific Northwest Political Science association's annual meeting at the University of Washington where he delivered his paper on "Conservatism in Nationalism."

Prof. Holmer delivered his paper, "A Pattern for Resource Management," to the Western Political Science association, which met at the University of Southern California.

Glee Records Almost Done

Exact date of the arrival of Freshman Glee records is unknown, according to man-in-charge Dick Mercer, though the waxing job is to be completed this Monday, he said.

The records are being made in both 78 and 45 speeds. Albums of the 78 speed will contain two records while the 45 speed will have all four songs on one record. In either case they will cost $1.75, Mercer said. Single 78 records will cost 85 cents.

Upon arrival the records may be obtained in the student body office.

Willamette Baseball, Track Squads Begin Conference Action Today

Bearcats Face Hosting Badgers; Tomorrow's Game Set for McCulloch

The Willamette baseball edition of the Bearcats opens its regular league play today at Forest Grove when the Salem nine will meet the Pacific Badgers.

The 'Cats will complete the opening season at McCulloch stadium tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. On Monday the Jasons meet the Portland university club in another early season kings-Xer. The Pacific series will see Andy George on the hill against the Pacifics on Friday and Mickey Coen on the McCulloch mound Saturday afternoon. It will be a touch series, according to Coach John Lewis, since the Badgers will have some very fine returning ball players.

Abby Ross will be hurling one of the games. Ross was the standout pitcher on last year's issue of the Pacific nine and is deemed one of the better pitchers in the conference. Also Frank Buckiewicz and Kay Fritzel, a pair of the greatest athletes in Pacific's history, are on this season's squad.

For the Bearcats Dave Perlman will be on first base, Bill Nelson and Elmer Haugen will make up the keystone, and Tex Kirkendall will be on third to complete the infield. Denny Elsasser, Chuck Lewis and Duane Shield will operate the outfield. Harvey Koepf and Les Akeo will do the chore behind the plate.

Cindermen Meet Linfield Here

The first conference test for Willamette's 1953 edition of the track and field team will be this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. on the McCulloch stadium oval, when the Bearcats of Ted Ogdahl face the Linfield Wildcats.

The outcome should help decide if Willamette's traditional control of the Northwest track crown will continue. Many experts are picking the team to lead the pack, though conceding Lewis and Clark an equal chance. Earlier in the week the Cardinal tuned up for the conference race by taking the measure of Portland U., 79-33.

Bill Van Horn, veteran sprinter, ran two of his best races of the young season in copping the 100 and 220 yard dashes, in the times of :10.1 and :23.3. Rollie Cocking was a close second in the 100, while Ed Griffith was runnerup in the 220.

Mike Hovis showed the form that made him 880 champion of the conference, as he toured the half mile in 2:04. He joined Jim Hitchman, Griffith and Bob Miller in taking the mile relay.

Distance man Don Empey got a third in the mile, but finished a strong second in the two mile run. A big surprise was that WU failed to sweep the hurdles. Portland's Hinkhouse won both the highs and the lows. Larry Standifer was second in the 120 highs and freshman ace Dean Benson misjudged a hurdle having to settle for second in the lows.

The Methodists proved equally invincible in the field events. Stan Neperud, who two weeks ago won the javelin in the Relays, posted his top mark of the season, 194 feet, 4½ inches.

Hitchman and Gilson, both standout shot putters, placed one-two in that event. Merlin Schultz and Bill Colvard tied for top spot in the high jump at five feet, nine inches. Gilson, the only WU entry in the discus, won with a throw of 129 feet, nine inches. Closing out Willamette's ribbon earners in the field, Wes Malcolm and Bob Swift shared in the pole vault at 10' 6".

Netters to Face Linfield As Opener Rained Out

Willamette's tennis squad will have their belated home and conference opener next Tuesday afternoon against Linfield.

The Bearcats were to have played Lewis and Clark yesterday on the home courts, but the match was postponed on account of rain. It will be made up later in the year.

Willamette opened its tennis season with a 9-0 win over OCE last Tuesday in Monmouth as the Bearcats took all six singles and the three doubles matches.

The following afternoon Coach Les Spark's netters traveled to Corvallis and suffered a 8-1 setback at the hands of the Oregon State varsity. John Ambler was the only Bearcat to win his match as he defeated Irv Hill of Oregon State.

'Murals Resume With Spring Sports; Tennis Remains; Softball, Minton Set

Intramural tennis opens tomorrow afternoon and will bring intramural sports' openers to a close for the week.

Softball started Tuesday and Wednesday while badminton play opened on Wednesday night.

In tennis play tomorrow the Betas will meet the Baxter team and the SAE's will play the Sig squad. All matches will have two singles and one doubles.

'Kits Nip Linfield 3-2 In Eleven Inning Tilt

The Willamette Jayvees who captured a 3-2 overtime victory over Linfield will play host to the Tillamook high school team tomorrow morning at ten o'clock on the McCulloch diamond.

In the Wednesday game Wes Malcolm was the winning pitcher after taking over from Gino Pieretti in the sixth. Diller started for Linfield and was relieved in the final inning by Koland, the losing pitcher.

Linfield scored single runs in the fifth and sixth frames and the Bearkittens tallied singletons in the seventh and eighth.

In the eleventh, Gary Holt opened with a base on balls, went to second on another walk by Koland and scored on Erle Klepp's hit.

In badminton play the Sigs shut out the Wits 3-0 as did the Phi Deltos to the Baxter team.

In softball the SAE "B" league team got off to a fast start as they dropped the Betas and the Wits in six o'clock encounters. The Betas fell 15-6 in a four-inning affair which was called on account of darkness. Wednesday the SAE's made quick work of the Wits in a 11-3 game which was called at the end of the third on the seven-run lead in three-innings rule.

Other "B" scores were the Wits 9-3 triumph over the Phi Deltos when Larry Martin of the Wits struck out 13 men for all but two outs, and the Sigs 9-8 win over Baxter.

The "A" league opened on Wednesday with a single game as the Betas downed the Wits 17-4. The game was called at the fourth inning so that the six o'clock games could be played.

Here They Come (All Forty-Four of Them)

Forty-four high school milers start around the first turn of the initial lap in the Willamette Relays held Saturday, April 4, at McCulloch stadium. The relays failed to hit the 2000 mark as cancellations limited the total to about 1500. The mile alone was supposed to have 94 entrants. (Capital Journal cut.)

Records Fall in Willamette Relays; 'Cats Win Three

Although the Willamette Relays failed to reach the 2000 mark, the huge cinder carnival was still a success as 13 records were topped and another was tied.

Some 1500 prep and college athletes were in the third annual Willamette Relays which was held Saturday, April 4, at McCulloch stadium.

Eight new marks were set in the prep division and another was equalled. A standout among the high schoolers was Fred Hall of Crook County Union high school who put two records on the boards and in each case he bettered ones he made last year.

Oregon Sets New Mark

Hall set a mark of 10.2 in his heat of the century, topping the 10.4 he ran last year. He also established a standard of 51.9 in the 440-yard dash, bettering his record of 52.6 in 1952.

University of Oregon established two of the five new collegiate marks. Oregon State, University of Washington and Lewis and Clark each racked up one.

In one of the big tourney's features, the invitational high hurdles, Don Chambers of Oregon State successfully defended his title as he ran the event in 15.5—four seconds off his last year's performance.

Oregon State was third and Tom Swalm of Oregon finished fourth.

'Cats Win Three Events

Oregon State also captured the other top feature of the afternoon as Mervin Brock sailed through the winner in the invitational 100-yard dash with a 9.9 performance. Brock barely edged Bob Hutchinson of University of Washington and Jerry Mock of Oregon.

Only three Willamette athletes came out of the relays with first-place honors. Dean Benson in the college high hurdles at a time of 16.0, Jim Hitchman in the shot put at a distance of 44 feet, ten inches and Stan Neperud with a javelin toss of 195 feet and ten inches were the Bearcat first-place finishers.

WU Nine Holds 4-1 Pre-Season Record

Coach John Lewis' baseballers wound up with a 4-1 record in pre-league action as they dropped Oregon College of Education 5-0 Wednesday at Monmouth.

After having their opener with the Oregon State Pen rained out, the Bearcats took two wins at the expense of Oregon State and one against OCE. Then came Oregon and a 6-3 loss. It broke a winning streak of ten games—seven from last season.

In the Oregon State series, Andy George got credit for both wins. In the first game held at Corvallis Thursday, April 2, the Bearcats led all the way to a 7-6 win on a 12-hit attack. George went the first five innings and Mickey Coen went the rest of the way.

The second game held during Easter vacation Willamette again won by one run—this time 5-4. George went all the way this time as the Bearcats came from a 3-1 deficit by scoring three times in the seventh inning. The Beavers had the tying run on in the ninth, but George got the last batter to pop weakly to the third baseman to end the game.

In the first game with OCE held on the home field Friday, April 3, Dave Gray and Vern Vannice teamed up to give Willamette a 7-5 victory. The Bearcats collected ten hits off OCE pitching.

The second game Benny Holt and Gray pitched shutout ball as Willamette won this time 5-0. Willamette was out hit 9-4, but six errors by OCE and the fact that they left 15 men stranded on base helped the Willamette cause.

In the Oregon game which was held in Eugene last Friday Mickey Coen suffered the loss and was relieved by Benny Holt.

Oregon outhit the Bearcats by only one blow, 8-7, but the 'Cat outfit committed eight errors which proved to be their downfall. Also the Bearcats could not get base hits when they needed them as 13 men were left stranded on base.

Willamette will play host to Oregon Tuesday, May 12, and finish out the season with another game with OCE. The curtain closer is scheduled for the day after the Oregon game.

Bearcats Open League Play; Linfield, Lewis and Clark First Links Targets

Linfield will be the next opponent for the Willamette golfers who opened their conference play yesterday afternoon on the Salem course.

The Linfield match will also be held on the Salem course and will be run off next Tuesday afternoon. Yesterday's match with Lewis and Clark was completed after the Collegian's press time so no final result was available.

The Bearcats who are defending champions in the Northwest conference link play dropped their first three matches of the season. Two were to Portland and one to Oregon State.

In the opener Kent Myers saved the team from being completely shut out as he took the one-half point in the 17½-½ Portland victory Monday, March 30, in Portland. In the return match the following Thursday the score was much closer at 10-8 with both Dick Renn and Ken Baines getting three points apiece and Bill Wittenberg and Dick Church splitting the remaining two points.

Willamette lost to Oregon State by the same 10-8 score last Tuesday in Corvallis as Myers was the only Bearcat to get three points. Church took one point while both Wittenberg and Dick Moore each had one-half points.

Waller Worship Place

Partial results of the labors of the Wesley worship workshop committee in improving the Little Chapel are shown in the simply-adorned but impressive altar. The committee hopes to interest more campus groups and individuals in the newly decorated chapel.

Sometimes-Lonesome Chapel Attracts Interest, Trimmings

Possibly one of Willamette's most infrequently-used rooms, the Little Chapel on Waller hall's fourth floor, has received some attention of late by an interested religious group and has been re-decorated for the use of individuals and groups of students.

The cathedral-like chapel, in its out-of-the-way place, either suffers from lack of religious compulsion on the part of students to trudge that far (one story above Waller 8 o'clocks) or else they didn't know there could be anything higher up in Willamette's oldest structure.

Eyeing the room with some pang of conscience and a sincere wish to aid the Christian cause, the worship workshop committee of Wesley fellowship went to work on it and fixed it up for group and individual religious meetings and worship.

The committee now takes care of the chapel and has invited students to take a little of their time out of each day for worship in the chapel.

History of the Little Chapel dates back to 1943 when the Inter-Faith council, then headed by Prof. Herman Clark, professor emeritus, started a fund-raising campaign to build a room for worship there.

Student religious organizations chipped in the money and it was built in 1944. A. A. Siewert, Sr., a Willamette alumnus who used to room in the Collegian office of Waller, built the room. A Salem contractor at that time, Siewert is now deceased.

Since the original building of the chapel, improvements have been made on the room. A pulpit, altar, pictures, cross and pipe organ have been added by religious groups. All those things are in the chapel now to add to its gothic design which makes it appear much like a miniature cathedral. The Wesley committee has put up a cross with names of a number of different religious denominations. The cross, made of different-colored cards sits above a table containing literature of many different worshipping bodies.

The chapel will be kept up in the future by the Wesley worship committee who have fond hopes that it will be much used by students on the campus.

Scouts to Attend RO Function

About 200 Cascade Explorer Scouts will visit the campus next Saturday to participate in a vocational program planned by the University and the local ROTC detachment.

Educational opportunities for civilian and Air Force careers will be viewed first-hand by the Scouts. The boys will have the choice of attending three classes from the nine to be offered: one from three Air Force subjects; one from vocational subjects offered by civilian faculty; or one of three offered by the Explorer Scout leaders.

So far approximately 180-200 area Explorer Scouts have signed up for the day. The scouts will be divided into flights of 18, each guided by three Willamette ROTC cadets.

One-half hour flights in a C-47 to be obtained from the Portland air force base are also planned in the day's program. Campus cadets will supervise the visitors for the flights.

"From this encampment it is expected the boys will gain an insight into the various programs offered at Willamette university and the Air Force ROTC, and will help them in selecting their educational careers," commented Capt. Theo. Velde, who is in charge of the ROTC's part of the project.

Forum Hears Law Dean

Seward P. Reese, dean of the Willamette school of law, told a Faculty forum audience Wednesday night that the United States should prepare for what he called "an inevitable disturbance in Russia and its satellites which could lead to a coup d'etat in these countries." The Forum, the fourth of a series of five, will be broadcast Saturday at 7 p. m. over KOCO.

"It is inevitable," Dean Reese said, "that a revolution will at some time occur in Russia or her satellites." The United States needs, he feels, extensive planning to meet such an opportunity. Especially important would be guiding these people immediately in the period of chaos that would immediately follow the revolution.

The revolution would come as a consequence to the Communist dictatorship.

The planning itself, he said, would be done by a select group of refugees from the Communists who are believers in democracy.

The planning would give the Russians an orderly start toward a democratic way of life. He said it would include plans for immediately converting agriculture and business to a free enterprise system. Text books would be prepared and ready for immediate use in the schools with refugee teachers ready to take over the teaching roles.

Such planning would not be controlling the countries, but would be helping them to govern themselves in a crucial period following a revolution, Dean Reese said.

The next faculty forum will be held May 20 when Dr. Lovell will speak on the parliamentary system of England.

Unesco Plans Study of Middle East Affairs at Weekend Meet

Informal and informative discussions on the philosophy, history, culture and current problems of the Middle East will be held during Unesco's Advance next weekend at Silver Creek Falls park, chairman Kent Holmes said this week.

Dr. Glenn A. Bakkum, Fulbright lecturer in sociology from American university in Cairo, Egypt, now at Oregon State college; Dr. Eric Weiss, refugee to Palestine and the United States, now with the Portland art museum; and Willamette professor, Dr. John Rademaker, will be among the discussion leaders.

Panel discussions will also be conducted by exchange students from the Middle East who are studying at Oregon State college.

Holmes stressed the informality of the weekend program. Any interested student may attend he said. Each participant must take his own bed roll or sleeping and pay $3 for food and facilities. Transportation will be provided.

Students may register for the Advance with Sharon Perry until Thursday noon.

Unesco to Elect

Unesco will meet Tuesday noon in Lausanne hall to elect new officers and to package books for Korea gathered in the recent drive, according to Barbara Manley, president.

WU Debaters Close Season

Tom Scheidel and Jim Wood, Willamette's senior debaters, bore school colors for the last time in their career at Willamette last weekend as they gained the semi-finals of the Tau Kappa Alpha forensics tournament at Missoula, Mont.

Previously in the year, Wood and Scheidel were invited to the National Invitational Debate tournament at West Point, New York, but declined to go for financial reasons.

The sophomore squad of Fenton Hughes and H. Paul Johnson also won a semi-final berth at the Montana State university meet. The four men all were finalists in their individual events also. Scheidel took the tournament's second place in extempore speaking; Johnson copped fourth and Hughes fifth in this event. Wood was rated fourth in oratory.

The four men competed with 200 speakers from 24 colleges and universities in eight Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states. Dr. Howard Runkel, director of forensics, also attended the tournament.

Meinke Wins Drama Award

Garold Meinke, senior drama and English major from Richmond, Calif., has been awarded a full scholarship in the Oregon Shakespearean Festival at Ashland this summer, according to Dean Graunke, Willamette's director of theater.

Meinke is the first Willamette drama student to receive a full scholarship. He has appeared in such Willamette productions as "The Happy Time," "The Glass Menagerie," "Twelfth Night," "Night Must Fall," "School for Scandal" and "The Imaginary Invalid," and has a role in the forthcoming musical comedy, "Good News."

In conjunction with his acting, he is president of the dramatic fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi, as well as radio and TV supervisor for University radio courses.

Meinke will work under Angus Bowmer from Oregon College of Education, director and producer of the annual and nationally known Shakespearean Festival.

Band to Present Concert Tuesday

Willamette university's band will be presented in concert at Tuesday's convocation with Herb Brower and Keith Mirick as the featured soloists.

The band will open with Ogden's "Grand Tetons," and move into "Virgin de la Macarena," a Mirick. Also included on the program will be "T. V. Suite," Anderson's "Serenata," and Bennett's "Western One Step." Persicetti's "Divertimento," a musical number in three parts—prologue, soliloquy, and burlesque—will also be presented.

Herb Brower, tenor, will solo in Youman's "Through the Years," and Adam's "Somewhere Along the Way."

More Firesides

Advisers who have not yet had their faculty fireside will hold them May 6 and each student should contact his adviser to set the exact time.

The idea of faculty firesides was conceived last semester by the activities board.

Collegian Editor Awarded $1200 Stanford Scholarship

Don Scarborough, Collegian editor and Willamette senior, has accepted a $1,200 Stanley Stemmer Beaubaire scholarship for graduate study in journalism at Stanford university next year.

Besides editing the Willamette Collegian, which recently received All-American rating, he is employed in the newsroom of The Statesman.

Scarborough is a member of Cardinal Key, senior men's service honorary, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He studied under the Washington Semester plan last spring and was named December Rotarian-of-the-month by student council.

Word of his award was received from Ernest R. Hilgard, dean of Stanford's graduate division, just before spring vacation.

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB?

If you can make the grade, the U. S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.
