Over 300 Freshmen To Register Tomorrow

Willamette Collegian

1842—Willamette University in its Second Century—1949
"In Age There Is Wisdom"

Vol. LXII Salem, Oregon, September 15, 1950 No. 1

Newly appointed acting Dean of Students Mark O. Hatfield will take over the position vacated by Dr. R. A. Withey last spring. A political science professor in addition to his new duties, he will vie for state representative in the November elections.

Mark Hatfield Is Appointed To Dean of Students' Post

New students and old were greeted by a new and active acting dean of students, Mark Hatfield, who succeeds Dr. Raymond A. Whithey, dean since 1948. Dean Hatfield has been in charge of orientation week for the freshmen, and has helped to plan an active program for students and advisors this year.

Hatfield, who graduated from Willamette in 1947, continued his graduate work for a master's degree at Stanford university.

Dean Hatfield is a Republican candidate for state representative from Marion county, to Oregon's biennial legislature. If elected in November, he will continue to teach classes, while Dean Gregg and Dean Ewalt assist with administrative duties. A course in legislation will be offered second semester which will consist of a study of the state legislature. Dean Hatfield is teaching ten hours of political science this semester, all 8 and 9 o'clock classes.

Men to Occupy Bishop House

On-campus housing conditions took a turn for the better with this week's announced conversion of Bishop house into a men's dorm but the placing of freshmen and new students is still causing headaches among university officials.

Mark Hatfield, acting Dean of Students, outlined the following procedure to help eliminate confusion expected when Baxter hall men begin to return today and tomorrow: As of 8:30 p.m. today the four fraternities have 20 openings. Upon receipt of the Dean's list of approved pledges, houses will then take from Baxter enough men to fill up each house, leaving all extra pledges to room in Baxter. All men residing in Baxter or the wings must have made formal application to the university for housing.

This plan, Hatfield believes, will cut confusion and provide housing for "99 percent" of all male applicants. Information concerning off-campus rooms can be obtained from the Dean's office.

With the use of Bishop, former women's residence, another 20 rooms were made available to accomodate the increase in Willamette's male population. The hall will house both upper and lower classmen. Residence fee is $40 less per semester than Baxter.

Slogans Asked For Homecoming

Slogans for Homecoming are due not later than noon, September 27, and are to be turned in to the secretary in the student body office, according to a decision reached by the faculty and general committees for Homecoming at a meeting Tuesday.

With McCulloch stadium opening and Willamette's game with the University of Hawaii, the committee is asking for a theme centering around the good will between Oregon, Hawaii and the Pacific Northwest. Slogans will be chosen on adaptability to signs and a seriousness of theme.

Every student at Willamette is invited to enter the slogan contest, and a $10 prize is offered for the winning theme.

Salem merchants are offering several of their display windows in order to arouse city and state interest in the game with Hawaii. The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce are donating displays which will be arranged in the windows by Willamette art and merchandising classes.

30 Entering Freshmen Win Scholarships Totaling $5,800

Twenty-nine incoming freshmen and one foreign student will study at Willamette this year under full or part tuition scholarships awarded yearly by the university, various churches and civic clubs, and totaling more than $5,800, according to Edwin H. Armstrong, associate director of finances.

Jan Hajda, an exiled Czechoslovakian, will attend Willamette under a full tuition scholarship presented by five Portland churches. The award was made last year to Leopold and Zdenka Posposil of Czechoslovakia.

Honor scholarships averaging $150 were awarded to Johanna Beckham and Yvonne Joy Grinnes, Portland; and Janeth Rae Elliott, Roseburg. A full tuition award went to Don Clark, Ryderwood, Washington, while Marie Ruth Basl, Stayton, and Elizabeth Ann Gibbens, Salem, received four-year full tuition scholarships from Rotary International.

Other scholarships awarded were: William Oliver Jessup, $200; Marguerite Joyce Frost, $200; Jane Gray, $200; Mary Jane Elizabeth Stewart, $150; Gerald Arthur Rolfsness, $200; Marie Lou Politte, $200; Carolyn Crane, $200, all of Portland.

Mervin Brokke, $160; Nancy Doughton, $200; Richard Scott, $160, of Salem, and Robert Dee Petzoldt, $200, of Klamath Falls. Delores Ellen Miller, $180, Lebanon; Linda Louise Gragg, $100, Monroe; Norma Lorraine Erickson, $200, Gresham; Robert Lee Hoeppner, $180, Hood River, Donna Jean Cheldelin, $200, Nyssa.

Lola Margaret Brooke, $200, Otnario; Betty Louise Royer, $100, Pilot Rock; Robert Chase Goff, $200, Corvallis; Gerald Doan, $200, and Gerald Cooper, $200, both of Corcoran, California.

Robert Arthur Anderson, $200, Yakima, Washington, and Joan Elizabeth Currie, $200, Bridger, Montana.

'50 'Lawyers' All Pass Bar

All Willamette university College of Law graduates in the class of June, 1950 have passed state bar examinations, according to word released today by Law School Dean Seward P. Reese. Nineteen passed the Oregon State examinations and six Washington State examinations. The 19 will be admitted to the bar in ceremonies at the State Supreme Court chambers at 11 a.m. Monday.

With the passing of the 19 men in this state and the six men in Washington, Reese added, it is believed a record has been set, in that 39.28 per cent of the men who entered the Willamette Law school in 1947 had successfully survived three years of academic examinations and then passed the bar on the first attempt.

Successful Willamette applicants are James F. Bodie, Merlin Estep, Richard W. Pickell, Roger Todd, William D. Carlson, John Copenhaven, Peter Gunnar, Gerald Robson, Thomas Churchill, Jr., William Croghan, Harold Eichsteadt, Joseph Meier and Ralph Taylor, all of the Salem area.

Portland men include: Thomas W. Hansen, Harry Kraus, Samuel Stewart and George Tomlinson.

Craig C. Cyner, Bend; Rex Hardy, Salt Lake City, Utah; Berkeley Lent and Roy L. Ross, San Francisco; Glen Sorensen, Lyle, Washington, and Donald Weil, Chicago.

A Cappella Tryouts Set

Tryouts will be held today at 10:00 a.m. in room 101 of the College of Music for all new students interested in joining the A Cappella choir, according to Melvin H. Geist, Dean of the Music School.

New 'Big Brother' Orientation Plan Greets Freshmen

In an effort to start precedence for a big brother program a 30-man committee is introducing a new phase of orientation this year.

According to Jack Gunn, who has organized the group, the committee met freshmen men as they arrived at the train depot and aided them in moving into Baxter hall, later going with them to dinner in small groups.

Big sister programs are well established on the campus and are under the direction of the YWCA which corresponds with the incoming women and also helps them to become settled on campus.

Other new features have been added to the orientation which make activities available to all freshmen students whether they are going through rush or not. An exchange dinner in which half of the women from Lausanne will trade places with half the men of Baxter for dinner, is scheduled for tonight and is also an addition to the past orientation programs.

Socially, freshman students will have opportunities to become acquainted at a number of functions which began Thursday night when the UMCA and YWCA sponsor a picnic and square dance on Sweetland field. Friday night ASWU will sponsor a get-acquainted party, to which all new students are invited, and Saturday, September 23, is the ASWU all-college get-acquainted party in the gymnasium.

Old Students Register Next

Over 300 new students, from seventeen states, seven countries, and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, have gone through Orientation week in the last four days, and will register tomorrow as students of Willamette university.

Two hundred and seventy-three students took the English Placement test Wednesday morning, and there will probably be another test for those who missed the first.

Orientation started with the general assembly of all new students Tuesday morning in Waller hall, where they were officially welcomed by President G. Herbert Smith. Tests and introductions to members of the administration followed, then open houses, sorority and fraternity rushing began. Tomorrow will see the end of rushing and freshman registration.

The number of returning students is uncertain, according to Harold B. Jory, registrar. Because of the men who have left for the service, the count of returning students cannot be determined until after registration next week. Men who were in the upper half of their classes may complete one full year, while those who were in the lower half may not be able to return.

Three Profs Win Degrees

Three Willamette university faculty members, Miss Marian Morange, Miss Alida Gale Currey and Edward Kollman, have been awarded doctorates during the last four months for work in their fields.

Writing her thesis, "Eugene Dabit, Life and Works," in French, Dr. Morange obtained a D.M.L. from Middlebury college, Middlebury, Vermont. She has been a member of the faculty since 1931 when she received her M.A. from here having also been granted an A.B. from Willamette. She has done graduate work at the University of California and in 1946-47 she studied in the Sorbonne in Paris.

Dr. Currey, whose thesis was "Life and Educational Services of Dr. Thomas Andrew Storey," received an Ed. D. from Stanford university where Dr. Storey was director of the school of health and physical education for a number of years. Dr. Currey obtained her B.S. from New York State college for teachers and her M.A. from New York university. She has done graduate work at Mills college in sports and dance, at Cornell and in 1936-37 she studied and worked in physical education abroad.

First to obtain his doctorate was Dr. Kollman who was granted the degree in philosophy from Harvard university late last spring. His 467-page thesis was "Studies in the Theories of Imagination" which took three years to complete.

Court-Shy Holmer Battles for Bill Amendment

"I just can't keep out of courts," was the joking remark of A. Freeman Holmer, professor of political science and recently elected chairman of the Young Republican federation of Oregon, after his second courtroom bout made in an effort to keep the initiative reapportionment amendment on the ballot.

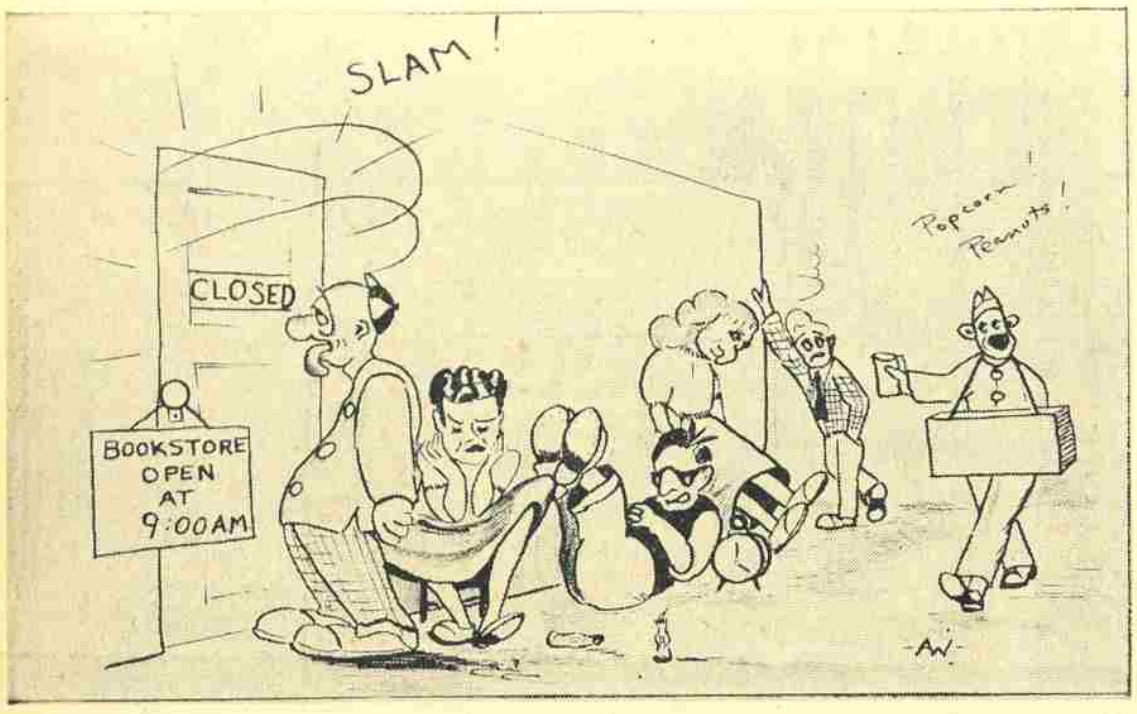
The first court battle, which was in regard to the ballot title, was decided in favor of the committee for reapportionment. State Representative Alex G. Barry then made a second attempt to keep the amendment off the ballot. This complaint was dismissed by the circuit court because it lacked sufficient facts, and the case is now being appealed before the State Supreme Court.

The amendment which is backed by the Republican party, the Young Republican federation of Oregon, the League of Oregon Counties, and several farm groups including the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, would raise the number of senators from 30 to 36 and insure each county at least one representative. The bill proposes that the 36 Oregon counties each be assured one representative and that the 24 other house seats be filled according to the population of the counties. Senators would be elected according to population with the exception that there could be no more than three from a county. The increase in the number of senators would facilitate quicker investigation by the members and thus would no longer hold up the legislative session as it has done in the past.

Mr. Holmer was also recently elected chairman of the Young Republican Federation of Oregon. He was nominated by Mark Hatfield at their meeting in Baker during the Labor Day weekend.

Willamette delegates to the convention were Walt Foster, Bill Pilling and Paul Russell.

The Lineup Blues



Return to War?

The class of 1954 began with the expected rush of activity, including registration, examinations, and rushing. Even with the threat of war, campus life seemed almost normal with the exception of several men already drafted, including the publications manager and second vice-president of the student body.

Will this be the last normal class? Or will the next few years witness a return of navy uniforms to Willamette and a preponderance of women students? It is useless to try to guess the outcome of the conflict in Korea. It is also usseless to worry about the possibility of a third world war as many columnists and commentators have been doing.

Life as usual at Willamette is the wisest and psychologically soundest policy. Too many people have forgotten that a situation can also change for the better.

The Mark of Distinction

Appointment of Willamette's popular "Mark" to the position of acting Dean of Students came this summer as a pleasant surprise. As a professor of political science, as a ski enthusiast, as a topnotch candidate for the Oregon state legislature, and as an all-round fine fellow, Mark Hatfield stands high on the campus.

Students have come to realize that he is a man who can say both "yes" and "no" to questions, answering to his own judgment alone. The Dean of Students has traditionally held a precarious position as a buffer between administration and student body. Therefore, congratulations are to be extended to Pres. G. Herbert Smith for his excellent choice and to Mark himself for the well-deserved honor.

Good luck is an unnecessary wish to Mark's case, for he can handle the job with or without it. Nevertheless, the Collegian extends its wishes for good luck and a long career at Willamette, Mark.

Pres. Smith Bids Welcome To Willamette's Class of '54

From all indications the new class of 1954, together with the transfer students who have elected to continue their work at Willamette, are in every way worthy of the high trust which has been placed in them in adding them to the student body of our University.

With world conditions such as they are today, college attendance on the part of men students particularly, becomes on unusual privilege. Our country needs the kind of leadership that can be developed on the college campus. While the policy is now somewhat general, there is no doubt that some provision will be made to continue the best qualified students in the college course, so that we will not be guilty of the mistake made during World War II which has been described as "Eating our own seed corn by taking practically all able-bodied men out of college."

Students, on any college campus this fall, should realize the responsibility they have, not only to their Alma Mater, but to their country and the world to make the best possible use of their time and their talents. We welcome you to the opportunities for rich development at Willamette. It will be a pleasure to work with the student body this year to realize our high trust.

G. Herbert Smith
Sincerely,
President

Waller Gets New Furniture, Paint

Waller hall, exterior and interior, was changed this summer as painters jammed windows all over the building.

A new white coat of paint was the adornment on all frame trim on the campus' oldest building, and all through the basement, a distinct odor of paint could be noted by incoming freshmen. In the bookstore, a new look or green replaced the old on counters, and in the Cat Cavern, the lounge was rejuvenated in Jason Lee fashion with new furniture.

The lock on the Whip Whitman axe was polished and oiled in preparation for the football season. The Collegian was also on the list for redecoration, and staff members were still applying an ominous coat of battleship gray to desks as the paper went to press.

Frosh Dance in 'Ivy' Theme At Lausanne Open House

Ivy provided the decoration and a color scheme of green for the Lausanne open house Wednesday, September 13. The informal event was held in the evening between the hours of 8:30 and 10 o'clock in honor of all new students in the Lausanne lounge and dining room.

Co-chairmen Wilma Aller and Harriet Aller planned the program in the lounge which was followed by dancing in the dining room. Participating in the program were freshman Bob Anderson playing a piano solo, Phil Shaw with a reading on "Atomic Punctuation" and Harriet Aller whistling, "At Dawning." After group singing the program disbanded for dancing and refreshments.

Working on the decoration committee were Mary Howe, Wilma Aller, and Margaret Conklin. Thelma Bennett served refreshments of pineapple punch.

The housemothers of the three freshman dormitories acted as sponsors.

The open house was sponsored by upper classmen of Lausanne hall, in honor of new students. Carolyn Biederman is president of Lausanne hall for this year.

Sororities and Fraternities to Issue Final Formal Bids as Rush Week Ends

Sorority Rush Continues

Divided into four groups, all new women on the campus were taken to the four sorority houses yesterday for an open house sponsored by the Panhellenic association as part of the freshman orientation program.

Formal rushing then began Wednesday afternoon when rushees were entertained at the "Chi-O-Tel," "D G Big Top," Pi Beta Phi "Pow Wow" and toured "Candyland" at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Entering through the door of a large circus tent at the Delta Gamma house, guests were greeted by clowns and trained animals, and were later served ice cream and pink lemonade by a "Good Humor Man." After registering at the Chi-O-Tel, guests were presented with miniature keys and then conducted through the Chi Omega house. A gumdrop tree and candy factory provided the setting for "Candyland" at Alpha Chi Omega. Pi Beta Phis greeted their guests as Indians for a "Pow-Wow" in a setting of tepees, and Indian games and songs provided entertainment.

Angel pie and devils food cake were served at Alpha Chi Omega to "Saints and Sinners" on Thursday. "Chi-O-T Ranch," complete with saddles, chuck wagons and a campfire, was scheduled at Chi Omega, while guests at Pi Beta Phi received a preview of coming football games at "Football Frolic." "Dreams" at Delta Gamma featured cocoa and cakes served in a sleepytime setting by pajama-clad members.

This afternoon and evening magnolias and southern belles will be featured at Chi Omega when a large sized scrapbook will be used to present entertainment featuring the history of the sorority. A comic style show will be presented at "Varga Girl Calendar" by Delta Gamma, while fortune telling, stolen treasure and a pirate ship will provide the setting for "Treasure Island" at Alpha Chi Omega. "Remember" will be the theme of the firesides at Pi Beta Phi, and the Pi Phi arrow will be used in the decorations.

For the preference luncheon and banquet on Saturday, Alpha Chi Omega has planned a "Bali Hai" theme with tropical flowers and songs from "South Pacific." Chi Omega will serve a ham dinner for their banquet and all members will be dressed in white formals for the traditional "White Symphony" and wishing well ceremony. "The Girl with the Arrow" will be honored at Pi Beta Phi while guests at Delta Gamma will enter a "Heavenly Harbor" decorated with flowers and featuring the sorority's colors, bronze, pink and blue.

Formal bids will be signed following the banquets, at which time the new pledges will return to the house of their choice for an informal fireside.

Planning rush parties for the four sororities are Rush Chairmen LuDene Hargrave, Pi Beta Phi; Jackie Chute, Alpha Chi Omega; Pat Stanton, Delta Gamma, and Jo Colony, Chi Omega, who is Panhellenic chairman of the group. Panhellenic headquarters temporarily are in Eaton hall, room two, during this rush period.

Fraternities Pledge Tonight

After 8:30 tonight a large percentage of the group of over 100 men who accepted fraternity dates during rush week will be wearing the pledge pins of their chosen fraternity. Parties for rush week which began with a one hour open house period at each fraternity Tuesday, September 12, were scheduled by the inter-fraternity council under the chairmanship of Bob Shangle.

The fraternities entertained at three 2½ hour dates on Wednesday beginning at 11:30 a.m., 5:00 p.m., and 8 o'clock.

Men attending dates at Beta Theta Pi on Wednesday were entertained with movies, readings and quartet selections. Ralph Bollinger is rush chairman planning the events.

Sigma Chi under the chairmanship of Howard Mader invited rushees to a Monte Carlo party. Indoor sports in the basement recreation room were also featured.

Lunch and dinner dates were followed by general entertainment, and the 8 o'clock date was spent informally at the Phi Delta Theta chapter house. George Collins made arrangements for his fraternity's dates.

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained rushees at lunch, dinner and with movies and informal talk at their Wednesday dates. Bill Hess is rush chairman.

Thursday from 11:30 to 2 o'clock p.m. members of Sigma Chi entertained at a picnic held at the home of Bud Lafky. Rushees were invited to a chicken dinner at the Oak Barbecue by Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the dinner date at 5 o'clock. Phi Delta Theta entrtaind at an informal party with th theme "Phi Frolicks" at their 8 o'clock date. At noon today rushing ends when the final group of rushees will attend lunch at the Beta Theta Pi chapter house.

Headquarters for fraternity rushing will be in the office of the Dean of Students, with Dean Mark Hatfield acting as adviser.

Reporters Wanted

"Gotta streak of genius in ya? If youhave the COLLEGIAN, campus weekly, has reserved a spot for you on its staff." Editor Bill MacDougall issued a plaintive call for all aspiring writers—news, sports, feature, and "what have you" —copy readers, and general handy men to register for a one hour journalism course offered freshmen. Part-time noncredit help will also be welcomed. "Come down to the Collegian office—opposite the Bookstore—or contact me for details," MacDougall added.

YWCA Cabinet Holds Reception

A reception was held in Lausanne hall Tuesday evening by the officers and cabinet members of YWCA to honor all new women students.

Receiving the guests were Miss Joyce Lamoreaux, advisor; Joanne Oliver, president; Barbara Baker, secretary; Marjorie Aldinger, treasurer, and Carolann Snarr, Shirley Griffin, Shirley Helweg, Margaret McDermott, Sue Shipley, Nancy Marks, Shirley Clifford and Florence Goodridge.

Carolyn Biederman, president of Lausanne Hall, poured, and Ruth Patterson assisted with serving. Visiting and songs were enjoyed during the evening.

Turnover in WU Personnel Causes "Minor" Alteration of Curriculum

By Don Scarborough

The addition of more than a dozen new faculty members, either as replacements or new fixtures to the university teaching force will bring about nothing more than a few "minor" changes in classes offered during last spring's pre-registration period, according to Mark Hatfield, acting Dean of Students.

The dean's statement allayed fears of some returning students who believed that pre-registration bother would have to be repeated due to radical changes in curriculum.

New director of information, replacing Travis Cross, is Miss Nancy Stuart, Willamette graduate, one time editor of the Collegian, who has recently been connected with radio station KEX.

New Piano Teacher

Mr. Stanley Butler, graduate of Michigan State and Harvard university, will be professor of music and piano. He was an instructor and assistant professor of music at Western Reserve university from 1942-49.

Mr. George J. Edwards, of Harvard, the University of Minnesota and New York university, will be an instructor in English. A product of the University of Oregon with practical experience in the University of Mexico and the University of Chile is Mr. Clarence A. Kraft, new instructor in Spanish.

Dr. John Arthur Myers, Jr., most recently of State University of Iowa, will be associate professor of psychology. New instructor in mathematics is Robert F. Reid, recent graduate and instructor in mathematics at Southern Methodist university.

Speech Job Filled

Dr. Howard W. Runkel, a product of the University of Wisconsin, Bucknell and Stanford will fill the position of associate professor of speech. Runkel gained considerable experience in speech and forensics programs while an instructor in speech in the army and at Duke university.

Willard S. Smith, coming from Princeton, will be assistant professor of economics. Smith is a graduate of the University of Washington and Princeton.

Lee S. Vokes, graduate of Ithaca college and the University of Washington where he was also freshman line coach, will be line coach and instructor in physical education.

New Librarian Here

New librarian will be Ainsley A. Whitman, recently a librarian at the University of Georgia and a graduate of San Jose State college, Louisiana State university and Stanford.

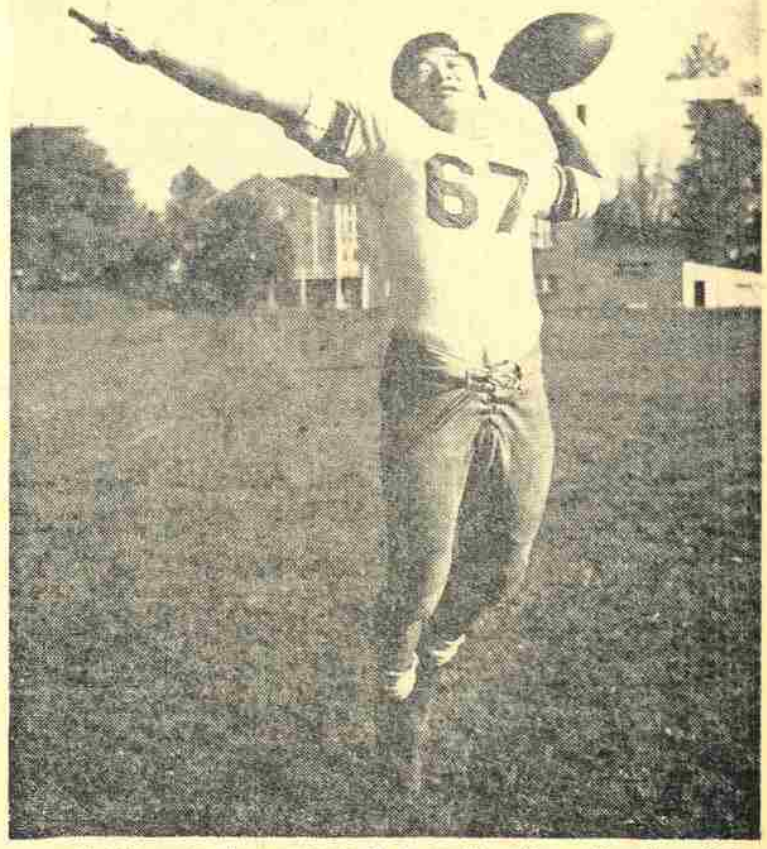
Jean Williams, a graduate of Willamette and an instructor here for several years, will return as instructor in physical education for women.

Replacing Dr. Norman Huffman, who went to Italy for New Testament research under a $5000 Fullbright scholarship, is Dr. Arthur H. Maynard of Cornell, Boston university and the University of Southern California. He was associate in charge of youth work at Tremont Street Methodist church, Boston, with other charges in Iowa, Wisconsin and California prior to his appointment as acting assistant professor of religion.

Edwin G. Armstrong, graduate of the University of Chicago, will be associate director of financial development.

Alice Rose Jones, graduate of Willamette, will teach part time in the school of music.

New faculty members greeted freshmen in their offices this week, when they were appointed to counseling positions with the members of the Class of '54.



Al Minn, sturdy quarterback from Hawaii, readies himself for a fourth and final year to Willamette grid teams. Minn will combine his talents with another fourth year Hawaiian, Bill Ewaliko, in providing the needed experience in the Bearcat's backfield this year.

Forty-One June Graduates Become Northwest Teachers

Forty-one members of Willamette university's 1950 graduating class have been placed in teaching positions throughout Oregon and Washington according to Dr. George B. Martin, head of the education department. Two graduates, D. Garold Lawrence and Henry Cooper, were selected as goodwill teachers to France for the school year 1950-51. Lawrence, who received his B.A. degree in French, will be an assistant instructor of English at the Lycee Michel Montaigne in Bordeaux. Cooper, senior scholar in French, will teach English at the Lycee de Garcons in Cherbourg. In addition both will take courses in French universities.

Other new appointments of Salem students: Grace Ashford, McMinnville, music instructor; Lawrence W. Barham, Aumsville eighth grade; William Beck, Tillamook, social studies, English in the junior high school; James Branson, Ft. Vannoy, seventh and eighth grade principal; Al Fedje, Newberg, math and coaching; George Gottfried, Weston, social studies; Bernice Isham, Taft, music; and Stanley Jobe, Burns, Spanish and English.

Herb Johnsrud, Tillamook, social studies; Guy Lutz, Myrtle Creek, library, business; Harry Mason, Myrtle Point, social studies, coach in junior high; Beth McMullen, Gates, social studies; David Melson, Coquille, band and social studies; Guy Moore, Knappa, Idaho, science; Fabian Nelson, Coquille, physical ed and coaching; Douglas Olds, Jefferson, superintendent of schools; Leslie Parrott, Nampa, dean of students at Nazarene college; Marion Persinger, Toledo, assistant principal; Robert Tiernan, Port Orford, social studies, physical ed, baseball and football; Beverly Wadsworth, Oakland, math and physical ed; Doris Walser, Portland, elementary music; Wallace Whitted, Centralia, Wash., physical ed and curriculum subjects; Dorothy Wood, Gates, English, spelling, and drama.

UNESCO Brings Foreign Student To WU Campus

Rene Charasse, a smiling and smooth-mannered student from France, became the first UNESCO-sponsored arrival from a foreign country on the campus this week.

An upper division economics major who dabbles in journalism on the side, Charasse moved into Baxter hall just this week after a speedy journey from his native France.

The UNESCO group, which was initiated to campus life last year, is the active promoter at Willamette of a plan to bring more foreign students to Salem, preferably from countries where languages taught here are spoken.

Supported by the Campus Y, church and living groups, and individuals, UNESCO plans next year to sponsor two or more students, with the aid of the University which may provide for tuition costs. Don Carpenter, spokesman for the organization, said that UNESCO hopes to promote an "international frame of mind" at Willamette, with an exchange of ideas from everywhere.

More 'New Look'

Campus Buildings Revamped As Interior Changes Occur

Still recognizable but not unchanged is the appearance of the Willamette campus this fall despite a $20,000 emergency operation performed on Lausanne hall, women's dormitory. State fire regulations, according to Robert Fenix, busines manager, forced the summer - long overhauling.

Fire towers, lined with three-inch gypsum and closed with steel and wire glass doors, were constructed around three stairways. The other staircases were closed. These towers, Fenix said, will provide a fire-proof passage from the third to the ground floor.

The towers protect the north-end stairs, the newly constructed south-end stairs, and the second and third floors of the central stairway. A fire escape on the first floor landing connects the fire tower to the outside. Panic doors were installed where needed.

A new parking strip was laid in front of the hall, Fenix added.

The rest of the campus finished the summer almost unchanged. Waller hall received a new coat of paint, a listening room was constructed in the music school, and a fire - proof dark room was built on first floor Waller.

Workmen spent a month touching up chipped plaster and building shelves in Baxter hall while roofing repairs are still being made on Collins and the library. Six trees were removed—four from the Chresto area and two on Baxter hall ground—to mark the only change in campus scenery.

First Chapel Set for Thursday; Tuesday Programs Feature Variety

Chapel programs for the year will begin Thursday at First Methodist church, to be followed on successive Tuesdays by lecturers, vocal groups and concerts.

Chapel Manager Harley Hoppe announced Wednesday that Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, who is called by a trade publication as the "greatest commentator on economics today," and Howard Pierce Davis, noted political commentator, will be among speakers in 1950-51.

The possibility of a visit by Burl Ives, famous American folk ballad singer, will be discussed next week by the student council, along with musicians such as Jose Iturbi's equally talented sister and Metropolitan opera star.

Since lecture and concert series do not begin until October 1, local musical groups as well as speakers will be featured until the nationally known artists are available later in the year.

All Games Set for McCulloch; Formal Dedication October 14

Old Sweetland field and its rickety wooden stands will become a thing of the past when the Willamette university Bearcats kickoff against Central Washington College of Education September 23 at McCulloch Stadium on the Bush's Pasture athletic plant.

The stadium will not be completed for the opening game, but will seat about 3700 spectators for the inaugural tilt. When it is completed, McCulloch Stadium plans call for a seating capacity of 7000 fans.

Dedication Oct. 14

Formal dedication of the new stadium will be held October 14 when Willamette will meet the University of Hawaii for the first time since 1941. That year the Bearcats traveled to Hawaii and were stranded on the islands because of the initial onslaught of World War II.

Present for the dedication which will also be the 1950 homecoming game, will be Oregon's Governor McKay, C. E. McCulloch (for whom the stadium has been named), civic leaders of Hawaii, dignitaries of Salem and Oregon, members of the 1941 football team and their coach "Spec" Keene.

Eight Tennis Courts Due

Completion of the new $200,000 stadium will mark another milestone toward the completion of the Bush's Pasture athletic plant, one of the finest in the Pacific Northwest. Already completed on the 10 acre plant is a cement curbed track, a turfed baseball diamond and a fine turfed football field with drainage facilities. Future construction plans call for eight new tennis courts.

When completed, McCulloch stadium will have tiled shower rooms, drying rooms, convenient restrooms for spectators and living quarters for a caretaker. On top of that will be a 165 foot clay and sawdust straightaway under the stands. This will be used for track workouts in bad weather, early season baseball battery practice and two-man football scrimmage.

The gridiron turf will be in fine shape as it is now in its third season of growth. Other than occasional football workouts, the field has not been disturbed.

Night Tilt Set For Saturday

Coach Chester Stackhouse will put his 1950 Bearcat football hopefuls through a full scrimmage tomorrow night at McCulloch stadium in readiness for the opening game with Central Washington here Saturday, September 23.

Of this year's prospects, which number about 60, nearly half of them are newcomers. The roster also includes 13 lettermen. The large number of freshmen turning out points to a younger team than last year. On the whole, the 1950 Bearcats will be lighter and faster than the '49 crew.

Newcomers Look Good

Newcomers that are showing well in early practices are Dorrance Noteboom, Bud Conard and Ted Jacobs, all linemen from Tillamook. Other linemen making a good showing are Jim Hitchman, Balboa Island, Calif., Dick Petzoldt, Klamath Falls, and Jack Eads, who hails from Kennewick, Wash.

In the backfield three first year men are making strong bids for starting berths. Two of them, Charlie Koani, Hawaii, and Art Kofer of Mohawk, are 200-pounders. The third is Rick Bingham, a 185-pound quarterback from Myrtle Point.

Minn, Ewaliko Back

Old standbys in the line that are going to be hard to move out are Captain Chuck Bowe, Art Beddoe, Don Hosford, Joe Bonawitz, Bob DeBord, Burnell Ambrose and Charlie Nee.

In the backfield are two tough Hawaiians serving their last year: Al Minn and speedy Bill Ewaliko. Also looking good are Jim Noa, Bob Taylor and Paul Jewell. The fast and tough Jewell has been tabbed by the coaches as the player who has shown the greatest improvement. He is a sophomore up from JV ball last year.

New Coach Duo Added to Faculty

The Willamette university coaching staff for the coming 1950 grid season will consist of four men. Head Coach Chester Stackhouse is going into his second year as head football mentor. Johnny Lewis, able basketball coach will again coach the backfield.

Taking over the JV coaching duties will be Bob White, popular graduate student who has performed for Bearcat teams in the past. Rounding out the list is congenial Sam Vokes, line coach who was coaching at the University of Washington last year.
