New Prexy Formulates Plans, Arranges for Concert Series

By Don Scarborough

The working out of concrete details to cement a political platform into a solid, workable program of school betterment is the job facing Stan Aschenbrenner, philosophy major from Grants Pass, who was lifted into the ASWU president's chair this week by a run-off election which brought to the polls 675 voters, according to Art Dimond, election manager.

Runner-up Jack Gunn will be member-at-large on the student council. This is the first year since 1942-43 in which an independent student has been student body president, a search of Collegian files revealed.

Aschenbrenner was unable at this time to make comment upon definite plans for next year but said he is putting Harley Hoppe to work now making tentative arrangements for a national concert series next year. A Dad's day program has already been set by the student council.

Jack Brown defeated Bill Bissell to become first vice-president in charge of social events. His plans included a well-organized freshman orientation program and the proper introduction of all new students to the social aspects of Willamette life. A plan for individual social calendars is also an important part of his program, he added.

Jackie Chute won over Jean Gilmer for the position of secretary. Representatives chosen were senior, Burnell Ambrose; junior, Lou Prediletto; and sophomore, Alan MacGregor. All will be invested May 23 during the award chapel assembly.

After announcement of his victory Wednesday night, Aschenbrenner was lifted upon the shoulders of happy political supporters and transported to the Mill stream where he received a rude initiation into his new office.

Faculty Accepts Modification Of Revised Attendance Plan

At a special faculty meeting late last week, a modification of the University policy on attendance was taken up for discussion, revision, and acceptance. Dr. Chester A. Luther, chairman of the educational policy committee, presented a three point plan for attendance requirements.

Faculty members revised and passed two points of the plan, including the joint committee plan composed of faculty and students to present new ideas and study the attendance question further. The plan as accepted is as follows:

1. Attendance requirements.
 - a. The policy of Willamette university, as accepted by faculty vote, is one which expects all students to attend classes regularly.
 - b. Attendance in lower division courses is required and accurate daily attendance reports to the dean are expected of the faculty.

- c. Attendance in upper division courses is expected. Individual faculty members may establish attendance regulations to meet the needs of each course and such regulations will be announced at the beginning of each semester.

2. A joint committee of students who will be selected by the student council, and of faculty, will meet in the fall of 1950 for further consideration of this matter.

The student-faculty committee will work on points of issue concerning absences and excuses. This point was dropped from the former plan presented to the faculty, as it was felt that it was a problem concerning both students and faculty.

Eighteen Groups Plan Booths For ASWU Carnival May 27

Approximately 18 organizations on the campus are planning booths under the big top for the first ASWU Carnival which will open May 27 in the gymnasium.

Replacing the former all-school picnic, the Carnival will become an annual custom in late spring-time. Proceeds from the booths and sales this year will be given to the University for use in lighting the new McCulloch stadium and field.

tations this week in the form of posters on downtown buildings and spot announcements on the two local radio stations.

Jack Wilson, chairman of the affair, said that present plans call for all booths to be inside the gym, though there is a possibility that some will be outside. The theme for the carnival will be "Big Top."

A sound truck will tour Salem next week advertising the occasion. Prizes will vary from miniature plaster "hula" girls to toy snakes, Wilson reported.

Although all living organizations as well as honoraries had not yet submitted completed plans for booths, Wilson was confident that this will be done far in advance of the Carnival.

Board Names Publication Manager, Editors

Posts Go To Pritchett, MacDougall, Stearns

New publication heads for the coming year are Bill MacDougall, Collegian editor; Doug Stearns, Wallulah editor; Pat Zahare, Fusser's Guide editor; Prudence Craig, Rook Bible editor, and Don Pritchett, publications manager, the publications board decided this week and the student council confirmed the appointments.

The new editors were chosen from a group of 10 applicants while the publications manager was the sole petitioner for the job.

MacDougall Collegian Editor
MacDougall, social - science - journalism major, has served as campus editor and as news editor of the Collegian for the past year. Staff appointments are being made now, MacDougall reports, and will be announced next week. The new staff will be responsible for putting out the last edition of the Collegian June 2.

The new Wallulah editor, Stearns, incorporated plans in his petition to cut the size of the yearbook next year to fit the publications budget and do away with the extra one dollar assessment per student each year. Yearbook Theme Chosen

He said the theme of the 1950-51 yearbook would center around sports for with the building of the new stadium a great deal of emphasis would be placed on sports next year. Staff appointments are being tentatively made at this time and plans for next year's Wallulah are getting underway, Stearns reports.

Pritchett, new publications manager, has served as Collegian advertising manager for the past year. His duties as publications manager will include selecting advertising managers for the various publications, supervising circulation and mailing of the Collegian, coordinating the budget of the publications with the allotment from the student body, billing advertisers and acting as chairman of the publications board.

Fusser's Guide Editor

Miss Zahare, new Fusser's Guide editor, was assistant editor of the Guide this year and her hope for next year's directory is to get it out as early as possible after the opening of the school year.

The Rook Bible, according to Miss Craig, new editor of the freshman information booklet, will be as simplified as possible to cut expenses but will include all the essential information that freshmen and new students should have.

Cohn Will Be General Mgr.

Maurice Cohn has been selected by the student council to succeed Dr. Daniel H. Schulze as ASWU general manager.

He was a graduate of Linfield college in 1948, majoring in business administration. For the past two years he has been the chief accountant for Willamette, and has been teaching advertising.

He will perform these duties in addition to his managerial duties and will remain in his present office off the switchboard room.

An Independent Elected ASWU Head

For the first time in eight years an independent has been elected ASWU president! In 1942 Bob "Bones" Hamilton, an independent was student body president. Since that time the post has been held by fraternity men.

From time to time the Collegian has commented editorially on the apparent political machine tactics that have taken place at Willamette. Certain groups have had a tendency to join forces in supporting a candidate and such tactics are not conducive to individual judgment on the part of students.

Regardless of whether candidates are "Greeks" or independents, students should consider ability rather than social affiliation when casting their vote.

Too often there are comments like "He will play up the fraternities if he is elected" or "We don't want an independent in there."

The president of the ASWU represents the entire body of students and he should not favor any group. The various class representatives look out for the interests of their classes, but it is the job of the president to consider the problems of the students as a group.

After Clarence Wicks, a fraternity member, had been elected student body president in 1946 the Collegian published an editorial written by Kay Karnopp. The last paragraph of that editorial reads:

"This time there were those who thought. In the future will there still be thinkers? Or will we, like the childish Portland students striking for 'sports 'n' things,' continue to cast ballots for 'Kappas 'n' things?' If we do, student government will inevitably become a narrow monopoly in the hands of a crafty few."

Attendance Problem Solved

The Faculty Policy Committee has culminated months of sweat and study to come up with an attendance plan which they admit is far from perfect. We can now modestly put forth the supreme idea for the correction of all attendance problems.

Willamette may adopt our plan without cost; however, we have a small royalty cost for the use of the idea by other colleges.

A recent comparative study of Willamette's g.p.a. average shows that it is considerably higher than at most schools. What is the reason?

The answer is obvious. Competitive spirit. Publicity and scholarship cups. What is the first thing a fraternity or sorority tells about itself? Of course. They tell about how valuable they are at maintaining the scholastic standard.

We propose a Fearless Fosdick cup for high attendance. The cup would go each year to the social organization whose members had the fewest cuts.

Can you picture hopeful freshmen trudging diligently off to class, and upper classmen driving their pledges in shackles to 8 o'clock lectures. Even campus big shots would have to go to class!

Want a Job? . . . You Too Can Sell Picnic Grilles

By Ann Stackhouse

Many Willamette students are totally oblivious to the fact that they may find the answer to their career worries in Registrar Jory's office.

Not only does this office offer teacher placement service, it also affords opportunities for work in a variety of other fields. Aside from this office, the student may find a career for himself in the armed forces, or, if he is the outdoor type, he may enjoy the salesman's job offered by a national picnic grill company. (More about the picnic grills later).

Two of the businesses now offering jobs to seniors are Montgomery Ward and the First National Bank. The former has many jobs open to graduating seniors in the retail trade field with excellent opportunities for advancement.

For those aspiring towards the banking profession, the First National Bank extends this program. Qualifying seniors are chosen to engage in a special training course in banking. During this year's period, the student is paid $215 a month (if single), to $225 a month (if married.) At the end of six months, a $15 raise is granted with another $15 at the end of the year. First National stresses the fact that fully one-third of their head officers will need replacements in the next ten years from retirement alone. This looks like it might be worth looking into.

The teacher placement service offered by Mr. Jory's office is another worthy plan. All graduating seniors in education register with the office and are given forms with which they approach respected people for references. These references are then filed with the placement office which issues credentials to the applying student. The schools who have vacancies for teachers contact the Willamette office and have prospective teachers referred to them for interviews.

The plan has succeeded very well in the last few years with 28 out of 45 seniors receiving job assignments last year. This year already, there have been 19 assignments made and more are expected. School districts who will have Willamette graduates on their faculties next year are Sutherlin, Oakland, Portland, Coquille, Gates, Newberg, Coos Bay, Waldport, Toledo and Moro.

The placement office says the demand for girls' physical education instructors is exceptionally large. The same goes for home economics teachers. This might be a hint for undergraduates who are undecided on their major.

Now, for the picnic grill salesmen. This company is looking for "eager young college men who have a flair for selling." Those who qualify and are interested are advised to send $7.95 for their own sample picnic grill. The plan is to sell this and ten more. If this is accomplished, the original $7.95 is refunded plus all commissions on picnic grills. The more picnic grills sold the bigger the commission. If some Willamette whiz can sell over a 1000 such grills, he gets a $500 United States saving bond to boot. Not only this, the company has year around selling jobs for those who can qualify. For further information, call New York City, Murray Hill 7-6865 or see the bulletin board in Eaton.

Several personal interviews took place this week for career-minded students. Tuesday, representatives from the U. S. Naval Aviation Cadet schools met with interested men in the 'Cat Cavern. Wednesday, a representative of Mutual Life Insurance of New York was on hand in Eaton hall.

All in all, there seem to be plenty of job opportunities for those who wish to investigate.

R. A. Ulrich

Subtle Poetry or Double Talk?

Robert Ulrich, a Willamette freshman from Iowa, wrote a poem on birds after six weeks of study of modern poetry in an English composition class. His last fling at poetry in high school was all about winter, and it made sense. He realized after a taste of the moderns, Ezra Pound, T. S. Eliot, and James Joyce and his school, that the poem was not subtle enough.

The present poem is very subtle. If the reader wishes to consult a dictionary, he will find all the words there. Mr. Ulrich wants it noted that he follows the Joycean practice of referring to several languages. So does the dictionary.

"This Rifle Won't Hold Forever"

GI to college student: "How 'bout you and your sandbags takin' over, friend."

Question: What Are You Going to Do About It?

"I would use it (the atom bomb) again if I have to."

These words were part of a speech given by Harry S. Truman on his non-political tour of the nation.

President Truman justifies his decision to use the bomb at Nagasaki and Hiroshima, saying that the lives of thousands of American and Japanese soldiers were thereby saved.

The wisdom of that decision has become a topic of national concern. In Look Magazine, Admiral Zacharius said there was no necessity to use the bomb on the Japanese cities. The war could have been terminated quickly without the atomic slaughter and without a costly invasion of the Japanese home island.

Today the 75,000-odd people who died at Hiroshima are only historical fact. Evaluation of the decision to use the bomb rests with the historians.

"I would use it (the atom bomb) again if I have to."

These words are more important than Nagasaki and Hiroshima. They are also vital to the future.

What does the president mean by "if I have to."

Will he drop the bomb if it is a matter of preserving peace? Will he drop the bomb only if "civilization is threatened?" Does he mean that he will only drop the bomb if one is dropped on us first?

The President didn't say.

Willamette students go to classes and are instilled with Christian principles and social ethics. At the coffee shop you can hear students discussing the moral justification of contemporary issues. Between sips of coffee, they ardently defend the ethical concepts they learned in class. Listening to them, you conclude that if Willamette is any criterion, the world would be a good place to live in, after all.

It is noteworthy that Harry Truman uses the first person singular in referring to the atom bomb. How does this reconcile with concepts of Jeffersonian democracy?

Students majoring in political science, sociology, religion, philosophy and science, might well concern themselves with how they are to bring their ethical concepts to bear on contemporary affairs. Otherwise the historians will surely have some gloomy archives to compile 40 years hence.

The question is: what can we do about it?

BEEFS and BOUQUETS

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the members of Beta Alpha Gamma and Sigma Alpha Chi and their presidents Claribelle Easton and Bill MacDougall for their cooperation in assisting with elections during the past year.

Particularly to be commended is Jackie Johnson whose willingness to devote time and energy to student government affairs has been an inspiration to many with whom she has worked.

Sincerely,
Art Dimond,
ASWU Second Vice-president

Benefactor Gives Rare Volume Of Shakespeare Plays to Library

By Bill MacDougall

The date 1632 is rarely found on a book, especially in the Willamette library. An original edition of Shakespeare's plays, printed in that year, a scant sixteen years after his death, is even more rare.

Tuesday afternoon, however, the Collegian received a report from the president's office that a news story on Shakespeare was in the offing. Hurrying to Eaton, the reporter thought it extremely strange that the world-famous but very dead bard should be a news story for the Willamette Collegian.

Book Custom Printed

An hour later, as the reporter was leafing through the time-worn pages of an original Thomas Cotes edition, custom printed for London booksellers of the early seventeenth century, the importance of this gift to the University's library became clear.

Although the first printing of a complete collection of Shakespeare's plays had been made in 1623, this volume was one of the very few and very expensive editions of two men who had acted under the direction of Shakespeare himself in premiere performances of such plays as "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and "Two Gentlemen of Verona."

Print Handset

Four hundred and nineteen pages of hand-set print, with elaborate illustrations at the top of many of the pages, also hand cut in solid steel plates for printed reproduction, were opening, along with tributes written to Shakespeare by such men as Ben Jonson, who had also established literary fame in the England of over three centuries ago.

Beautifully preserved in a hand-made leather case, the Shakespeare volume is the gift of Charles E. McCulloch, Portland attorney and a long-time benefactor of literary causes at Willamette.

Notes Included

Containing the old English f-like "s," plus directions and scene numbers in Latin, the book is on heavy paper divided into four columns per page. The two actors who assembled the plays after they had been published haphazardly in separate bulletins had made an attempt in the volume to keep the plays unpurged by the changes which some writers had made in the dramas after Shakespeare's death.

Among various explanations appearing in the book, supervised by the pair named John Heminge and Henry Condell, are notations which indicate that Shakespeare himself appeared in some of his plays, and that the original spelling of one famous composition is "A Midsommer Nights Dreame."

Other Books Given

The Shakespeare volume is not the first valuable book presented by McCulloch, president of the Willamette board of trustees, and will supplement the valuable "Johnson Dictionary of the English Language" and the first edition "Life of Samuel Johnson" which he previously donated to the Willamette collection.

WU Graduate Gets Economic Research Aid

Award of a two-year fellowship for advanced study in economics to Stanley D. Ryals, Willamette graduate, has been announced by the American Institute for Economic Research.

After graduating from Willamette with the class of 1949, Ryals attended the University of Utah and Biarritz American university. At Willamette he was active in student affairs, holding class offices, and having membership in student council, the choir and Beta Theta Pi.

The Institute's fellowship program offers intensive training in research to selected students of exceptional ability who can be expected to contribute to the advance of scientific knowledge in economics and related fields.

In addition to tuition for the two-year period, the Institute's fellowship award includes a stipend adequate to cover the Fellows' living expenses. Funds for the program are contributed by the Institute's several hundred annual sustaining members throughout the country.

Five Art Classes To Display Work

A student art show, representing work from five courses taught by Instructor Carl Hall, opens today in the art building. The display will last until the end of the semester, Hall said.

Art work from art structure, beginning and advanced painting, graphic arts and commercial art courses will be represented in the show.

Sample window displays, silk screening, wood cuts and engravings, textile block printing and examples of the original blocks are only a few of the types of art to be shown.

Senior Ron Nichols' paintings, which have been on display for the past two weeks, will be replaced by the new show.

Salem Alumni Elect Officers For '50-'51 at Spring Meeting

Otto J. Wilson was elected at the spring meeting of the Salem alumni meeting in Lausanne hall, May 10, to head that group for the coming year. Wilson graduated from Willamette in 1947 and is now a prominent Salem business man.

Mrs. Otto Skopil, Jr., graduate of 1939, is the new vice-president and Mrs. George Rhoten, graduate of 1925, is the new secretary-treasurer.

Ervin Potter, past president of the Salem alumni, presided at the dinner meeting where approximately 60 alumni were present.

Pres. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, and Coach and Mrs. Chester Stackhouse were special guests of the alumni group. Both men addressed the group.

Travis Cross, director of information, spoke of the McCulloch Stadium to the alumni and the plans were presented for their observation.

Members of Willamette's alumni who are candidates for the Oregon State Legislature were introduced and gave short talks. They were Steve Anderson, Mark Hatfield, Ivan Martin, Harry Lamport, Kenneth Thompson and John Steelhammer.

Fees Paid Before Tests

The business office has announced that all money owed to the school must be paid by the students before they will be allowed to take their final examinations.

WU Legislature Candidates To Run for Offices Today

Both GOP elephant and Democratic donkey supporters on the campus will have an opportunity to support candidates from both the student body and faculty today when primaries open in Salem.

Expecting heaviest opposition at WU from beach trips this weekend, Mark Hatfield, political science professor, said that his campaign was nearly over after weeks of speeches, trips, and advertising promotion.

A candidate for the position of representative from Marion county on the Republican ticket, Hatfield will serve in the 1951 Oregon state legislature if elected. Travis Cross, Willamette director of information, is Hatfield's campaign manager.

Among student candidates for the state offices from Marion county are Dick Ryman, a sophomore in political science, and Art Davis, Law school student. Ryman is contending for a seat in the state senate as a Republican from Marion county, while Art Davis will run in the primaries as a candidate for Democratic representative from Salem's home county.

Indications of campus support for Hatfield were evident in some quarters, and his own fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, presented three musical programs in his benefit on a local radio station, in addition to music by Hatfield himself.

Ex-WU Actor Sails To Enact 'Roberts' Role

Leonard Steinbock, 1946 graduate of Willamette, sailed Wednesday from New York for London, where he will play Dolan, a principal role in "Mr. Roberts" when it opens in July.

Steinbock, known on the stage as Leonard Stone, is going now to aid in casting and starting rehearsals. Tyrone Power and Jackie Cooper, other Americans in the cast, will follow later. "Mr. Roberts" has had a long run on Broadway with Henry Fonda in the starring role.

A cum laude graduate, the young actor did much of his dramatic work at WU under the coaching of Mrs. Margaret Ringnalda. "The Guardsman" was his senior project, and he also took part in "High Tor", "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Philadelphia Story."

He has been in New York for the past year studying and writing for television. He has received an advance on a series of scripts for Bela Lugosi, and plans to continue his writing during "Mr. Roberts."

After leaving school, Steinbock studied with Maria Ouspenskaya in Hollywood and attended the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London. He has toured England and was the featured player with a variety act in Germany.

Methodist Bishop Donates Paintings

Willamette has received two famous paintings as a gift from Bishop and Mrs. G. Bromley Oxnam, according to an announcement from President G. Herbert Smith's office.

Oxnam, Methodist bishop for the New York area, has previously given two valuable paintings to the university.

The 19th century paintings, which are at present in Smith's office, are entitled "At the Door of the Sheepfold" by Charles Emile Jacque, and "In the Forest" by Diaz de la Pena.

"Willamette is fortunate to be presented with these great works of art," Smith said.

Drama Group Forms Here

"More interest in campus dramatics" was the purpose announced Tuesday of the newly-formed Willamette Players, who will be the nucleus group for all local radio and dramatic productions.

Temporary chairman Phil Hammond will begin committee work on nomination of permanent officers for next year. Fifty cent dues and a constitution were agreed upon by the dramatics students in their first meeting held this week.

Hammond emphasized that any Willamette student is eligible for membership, so long as he has an interest in the field. All members will be required to help in all productions, and in this manner, the Players will replace the Willamette Workshop which will merge with the new group.

Hammond asked any interested student to see him or Prof. Ruane Hill, advisor to the organization, concerning membership.

Willamette Band To Play Concert Sunday at 3 P.M.

The Willamette university band will present its formal spring concert at the Parrish Junior high school auditorium, Sunday, May 21, at 3 p. m.

Maurice W. Brennen, director of the band, has made his own arrangements of three numbers which will be included in the program. The three numbers are "Prelude to First Act" by Wagner, "La Fille aux Cheveux de lin" by Debussy, and "Berceuse and Finale" by Stravinsky.

Included in the program will be the "Roman Carnival Overture" by Berlioz, "Fugue IV" by Bach, "London Suite" by Coates and the "Outdoor Overture" by Copland. Don McMaster will be featured as the clarinet soloist in the "Piece en forme de Habanera" by Ravel.

This is the band's only home concert, outside of chapel concerts, this year. The band has never given a concert on Sunday afternoon before, but they are hoping for a large attendance.

Missionaries Cop Net Crown By Winning Singles, Doubles

Whitman's Missionaries walked off with both the singles and the doubles crowns in the Northwest conference tennis tournament held here at Willamette last Saturday.

Tim Penrose, Whitman's singles ace who won the singles crown last year, repeated the feat by downing Richard Yurk of Pacific, 6-0, 6-2, in the final. Bill McKay and Adrian Cibilick took the doubles by defeating Lewis and Clark's Lew Wahl and Fred Weymuller, 7-5, 6-2.

Willamette's entries in the tourney, Cece Conners in the singles and Ray McCoy and Buzz Chambers in the doubles, bowed out in opening rounds. Conners, runner-up to Penrose last year, was eliminated by Yurk of Pacific in three sets. Weymuller and Wahl of Lewis and Clark defeated McCoy and Chambers.

Last Wednesday the Bearcats wound up their season with a 4 to 5 loss to the Pacific university netmen. The Frosh tennis squad dropped a 6-3 match to OCE last Friday. The Frosh have two more matches left, however, both in Salem. May 24 they meet Dallas high and May 27 they are to play North Bend high school.

Results:
Singles: Penrose, Whitman, defeated Loren Cowgill, Lewis and Clark, 6-2, 6-1; Yurk, Pacific, defeated Conners, Willamette, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1; Cowgill, Lewis and Clark, defeated Gassaway, Linfield, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5; Penrose, Whitman, defeated Yurk, Pacific, 6-0, 6-2.

Doubles: McKay and Cibilick, Whitman, defeated Lapp and Stephens, Linfield, 6-1, 6-0; Weymuller and Wahl, Lewis and Clark, defeated McCoy and Chambers, Willamette, 6-1, 6-0; Little and Euscher, Pacific, defeated Stephens and Lapp, Linfield, 7-5, 9-11; McKay and Cibilick, Whitman, defeated Wahl and Weymuller, 7-5, 6-2.

Gridders Workout

This coming Monday spring football is slated to begin, with practice sessions called for 6:30 to 8:30 each weekday evening and scrimmage scheduled for Saturday afternoons. Coach Chester Stackhouse plans to hold practice for two weeks, and all who expect to turn out for football in the fall must turn out in order to receive invitations for the fall practice.

With only two weeks in which to work out, all men will be expected to do their best, according to Stackhouse, who added that this year will see a "New Deal" in that every candidate must hustle or be asked to turn in their uniform.

Sigs Lead A and B Leagues; Playoffs Due to Start Monday

Sigma Chi lead both the A and B intramural softball leagues as regular action was completed Wednesday. In the final games Wednesday noon, the Phi Delt's defeated the SAE's 3-0 in an A league tilt and the Sigs topped the Betas 11-3 in a B league contest.

With warm weather setting in, a full schedule of intramurals was played last week. A double elimination play-off consisting of the four top A and B teams will begin Monday, May 22. A tie in the A league between the Law School and the Phi's for fourth place was played Thursday.

The Sigs kept their B slate clean by whipping the Betas 11-3, and brought their A win-loss record to 5-1 by drubbing Baxter 7-1, edging the Phi Delt's 8-6 and pounding the Sweat Sox 32-6. Babe Maudlin, handling the mound duties for the Sigs, held the Phis to six hits and limited the Baxterites to three hits. In the Sig's B win, Doug McCloud picked up his fourth win when he pitched two-hit ball to the Betas and winning 11-3. The Sigs collected 14 hits off Harley Hoppe to win easily.

In the past week Willamette split with Linfield in Conference play, losing 6-4, and winning 16-12. The team also divided in non-conference action, falling Portland U, 4-3, while getting beaten by Vanport 11-5.

JV's Tip Ducks Win 6, Lose 0

Willamette's Junior Varsity baseball squad put the finishing touches on a perfect season by nipping the University of Oregon frosh, 1 to 0, at Eugene Monday.

The Jayvees ended the season with a record of six wins and no losses. They defeated Chemawa Indian school, Grants Pass High twice, George Fox college, Salem High, and finally the Ducklings.

Two lefties, Bert Lund and Bob White, hung up five of the six victories, the other going to Bruce Boatman, an infielder. Lund won three and White, two. Jim Gay and Joe Harvey handled the catching chores for the Jayvee Bearcats. Coach for the team was "Shoes" Olson.

Willamette scored the game's only run against the Oregon Frosh in the second inning. John Skimas' single, an error and two walks proved the margin of victory for the Bearcats. Willamette collected three hits and the Ducklings, two. Lund was credited with the win.

Bearcat's Win 18-8

Scoring almost at will against four Lewis and Clark pitchers, the Willamette Bearcats defeated the Pioneers 18-8 in the final conference game yesterday. The win gave the Lewismen at least a tie for the conference championship, and if Pacific defeated Linfield last night, the Bearcats are the undisputed champs.

Lou Scrivens went the route on the mound, while Chuck Bowe, Dave Perlman, and Roy Harrington collected home runs.

sixth frame at the first Linfield game. Lou Scrivens had allowed no hit or runs in five perfect innings, fanning eight including three in the second. But Dewey Halsey, Linfield first baseman and the lead-off man in the bottom of the sixth, got a single and was driven in by Don Blakeslee's triple. Marty Bergan, pinch-hitting for Jerry McNeil, sent a single out to left field, scoring Blakeslee and closing the gap to 4-2.

Scrivens lost most of his good control in the seventh to let four runs come in on a walk, two hit batters and two bingles. This gave the Wildcats their sixth circuit win plus two losses and put them on top.

Willamette collected a run in the initial inning from two solid hits and a walk. Roy Harrington tallied again in the fifth when Johnny Nauman issued a walk to put him on first. Girod sacrificed to advance him to second and he reached third on Matile's groundout, crossing the plate on the catcher's mistake.

In the sixth John Markoskie and Dick Brouwer added a pair of runs on a hit, two walks and sacrifice hits by Chuck Bowe and Irv Roth.

The Vanport flood didn't see any more helpless victims than were the Bearcats on Monday as Arba Ager's Vikings from "the school that would not die" piled up eleven runs to five for Willamette to win this year's series two out of three.

Vanport nicked starter Lefty Nordhill for a double, a single, four walks and five runs in the first while in the bottom half George Matile hammered a home run over the left fielder's head to make it 5-1. In the next time up the Vikings hit twice, sacrificed once, received a walk, and were assisted by three errors, running the count to 9-1. Willamette started the comeback trail in the sixth with one run and three in the seventh off Gordy Lenz' four - bagger with two aboard but the two Vik runs in the eighth blocked the path effectively.

By licking Linfield 16 to 12 in a crucial slugfest, Willamette earned a one-third claim on the first place stake with Linfield and Lewis & Clark on the other corners of the triangle.

Willamette lead off in a big way, scoring two in the bottom of the first. Linfield tied with a couple in the top of the second inning. The Salem 'Cats knocked in a singleton in the latter half to go ahead 3-2, and three more in the third made it 6-2. Roy Helser's outfit had another run in the third.

In the sixth Linfield went to work on Larry Stocks with a purpose. Their efforts being rewarded with four tallies.

With the lead reversed the Lewismen, who wanted to win this one in the worst way, rapped out three in the sixth to take out ahead again. To nail it down they collected seven tallies in their lucky seventh to Linfield's one. This 16-8 mark remained until the ninth when the battered boys from McMinnville garnered four, three on a homer with two men on base.

The game set a home run mark of six, divided evenly with Matile, Brouwer and Markoskie bagging 'em for Willamette and Bob Rosenfield, Dewey Halsey and Don Blakeslee for the Wildcats. Pitchers for Linfield were Marty Bergan, Carl Wickham and Blakeslee, the reliever in the seventh. Wickham took the loss while Howie Olson was the winning hurler. Harrington banged four of the 13 'Cat hits.

Out On A Limb

By David Card

For the outstanding performance turned in by any Willamette athlete this year, we'll take Bill Wittenberg's performance in the Northwest conference golf meet. All Bill did was shoot an eight under par 64 on the second 18 to tie the course record. In all actuality this constitutes a new course record as the previous 64 was not under tournament conditions, and was played before the tees had been moved as far back as they are now. The remarkable thing about Bill's performance is the fact that he three-putted the 18th to go one over par on that hole. You can imagine how torrid he must have been up to that hole. All he did on the first 18 was a mere par 72, giving him a 36 hole total of 136.

Johnson Gets "Ace"

While we're on the subject of golf, we might mention Bearcat golf coach Jim Johnson and his recent claim to fame. It seems that Jim shot a hole in one while on a practice round, but there is a catch to it. Johnson sliced his first ball into the rough, so teed off again for the hole in one which is legally a hole in two. At any rate, it's a one in a lifetime occurrence.

Three Hit Over .300

With a team batting average of only .235, the Willamette Bearcats have finally boosted three men into the .300 circle. George Matile, with a .367 mark is still leading the parade, with Gordy Lenz in second with .321 and Roy Harrington third with .305. Matile has really been clouting the ball, and boasts a .582 slugging average. (Total bases divided by at bats.) Matile has pounded out four doubles, two triples, and three home runs. The mark of a good hitter is one who will hit the ball where it is pitched, rather than always hitting to one spot, and Matile certainly gives evidence of being a solid sticker. Of the three home runs he has, one was over the left fielder's head, one over the fence in center field, and one over the right field wall. Gordy Lenz has suddenly developed into an excellent clean-up hitter and boasts an even .500 slugging mark besides leading the team in RBIs with 16. Lenz, too, has three home runs. "Pop" Harrington boosted his average from .264 to .305 in the 16-12 Linfield farce, blasting out four hits in six times at bat.

Here and There . . .

An interesting fact to note is that the Willamette Bearcats have played 21 games this year, with only five in Bush's Pasture. In those five, however, they have hit ten of their 11 home runs. Only Gordy Lenz has been able to connect away from home. . . . Track Coach Chester Stackhouse isn't looking for a first in the Northwest conference track meet this weekend, as the Lewis and Clark Pioneers look too strong to beat, but "Stack" does have hopes of a second for the Bearcats if they can all turn in top performances. The major share of the load will hang on Ted Mertz, Willamette's leading point-getter in every meet so far this year.

Divoters Keep NW Loop Title

Paced by Freshman Bill Wittenberg, Willamette university won the Northwest conference golf championship last Friday with a score of 622 for the four man, 36 hole medal competition. Following Willamette, who won it last year, were Lewis and Clark, 651; Pacific, 653; Linfield, 661; College of Idaho, 664, and Whitman, 681.

Wittenberg, who has been medalist almost every match for Jim Johnson's crew this year, shot a score of 72-64—136. The 64 on the final 18 holes tied the Salem Golf club course record. The next man to him, Bill Plue of Lewis and Clark, shot a 147 for the 36 holes. Scores:

Willamette: Wittenberg 136, McMasters 159, Dow 163, Pointer 164. Total: 622.

Lewis and Clark: Plue 147, Sammons 167, Little 168, Godl 169. Total: 651.

Pacific: Frederick 151, Bondlid 166, Rasmussen 167, Bell 169. Total: 653.

Linfield: Hippi 154, Torgeson 162, Raubs 169, Zola 176. Total: 661.

College of Idaho: Batt 152, B. Imonaka 159, H. Imonaka 175, Kenney, 178. Total: 664.

Whitman: Haggerty 165, Morrow 167, Wolf 171, Morrison 178. Total: 681.

Track . . . Notes.

By Frank Winship

Willamette's thinclads will vie in the Northwest conference track and field meet this Saturday to be held at Whitman college in Walla Walla, Washington. According to the dope sheet Willamette is tagged for a fourth place, behind Lewis and Clark, Linfield and Whitman. But with two weeks practice in good weather under their belts they can be expected to be at their best which may surprise the most pessimistic.

During these last two weeks, in which but four men on the squad saw competition, the rest of the squad saw intensive workouts which should show their full effect this Saturday. The surprise of the week came Tuesday afternoon, when Wally Boe turned in a 3 minute 26 second three quarters of a mile. By carrying this out to the full mile distance you arrive at a 4 min. 40 sec. mile, which is far better than any Willamette miler has approached this season.

The track squad will leave at 12 Friday morning, and will be accompanied by managers Howard Payne and Bob Graham. The

- squad and events entered:
- 100 yard dash: Ted Mertz, Vern Shangle.
 - 220 yard dash: Ted Mertz, Vern Shangle.
 - 440 yard dash: Al Fedje, Lou Prediletto, Millard Bates, Cliff Murdock.
 - 880 yard run: Wally Boe, Bob Miller.
 - Mile run: Scott Thompson, Rod Beals, Wally Boe, Wes Stauffer.
 - 2 mile run: same as mile.
 - High hurdles: Ted Mertz, Norm Dversdahl, Wally Boe.
 - Low hurdles: Ted Mertz, Norm Dversdahl.
 - High jump: Wally Boe, Ted Mertz, Babe Maudlin, Norm Dversdahl.
 - Broad jump: Vern Shangle, Babe Maudlin, Ted Mertz.
 - Pole vault: Mark Cotton, Jimmy Noa.
 - Javelin: Bob Hall, Norm Dversdahl.
 - Discus: George Porter, Buck Kilenger.
 - Shot put: no entry.

Three WU Debaters Compete For Doney Public Speaking Prize

By Lowena Horsley

The Doney award for excellence of thought, composition and delivery, will be given to a Willamette debator at Awards chapel next Tuesday. Members of inter-collegiate forensics at Willamette, Frank Lockman, senior, Jean Kyle, freshman, and Harley Hoppe, sophomore, took part.

The debate held yesterday in the Willamette gymnasium was judged by Dr. Charles Howard, former superintendent of public instruction from Monmouth, Edwin W. Butler, assistant professor at law in Willamette.

Lost Book Auction

Lost and found books in the University bookstore will be auctioned at the end of this semester if not located by their owners, according to Mrs. Enid Rondeau, temporary bookstore manager.

Graduating seniors and law students are to get their caps and gowns, June 1, at the bookstore. All seniors participating in the Senior farewell assembly should get their caps and gowns May 31, says Mrs. Rondeau.

Alumni Magazine To Be Published

Geri Bowles, editor of the alumni magazine, announced this week that the eight-page publication will come off the press in approximately a week.

The alumni publication, the Willamette Alumnus, will contain 90 notes on alums from Willamette university and will be mailed to the past students and friends of the University.

At present a successor to Miss Bowles has not been appointed. Anyone interested in this position should contact Travis Cross, director of information, in his office in the gymnasium at the earliest possible date.

Caps, Gowns Ready

Seniors are requested by senior president, Ed Cairo, to pick up their caps and gowns Wednesday, May 31, in the bookstore that they can wear them at the senior assembly the following day.

Frank Lockman's debate on "A vested interest in catastrophe," was concerned with the effect our newspaper headlines have upon the average person. Lockman said "The average person is in no position to know what is going on. Opinions are formed by what he reads and that is all a one-sided opinion. The newspaper like the human being needs to grow into maturity."

Jean Kyle gave her debate on "Man's respect for the power of fire." She told of man's discovery of fire and its effect on his life ever since. She said, "Fire in its place is an asset but out of place it is a menace. Many deaths are caused from man's carelessness in the use of fire." On the question of the hydrogen bomb she asks "Will man who is so careless with a small match flame be able to control the ultimate of flame, the earthly sun, the hydrogen bomb?"

"Eternal Armistice" was the subject of Harley Hoppe's discussion, and dealt with the question of Christianity's ability to keep earth at peace. Christianity has many potentialities but on the surface it seems to have been a failure, he said. But as Hoppe says "Christianity is not at fault, but it is the Christian people who are at fault. They have failed to study peace and have not learned the meaning of sacrifice. They spend millions of dollars for war and only pennies for peace." He feels that "Lasting peace will come when people look to their own sins and shortcomings rather than to those of their neighbors."
