

Trustees OK Bid, Immediate Building

Sweetland Site To Be Broken On Alumni Day

Viesko and Post, Salem contractors, were awarded contracts last Friday to build the auditorium-fine arts building, women's dormitory, and health center. Work will begin immediately, with ground breaking ceremonies planned in conjunction with Alumni Day festivities next Saturday.

Million Dollar Bid

The local contractors presented the low bid at $1,050,500. The total amount for this over-all project, with alternates plus equipment and architect's fee, will reach $1,150,000.

The reaching of the first major goal of $325,000 in the challenge fund drive entitled the university to claim equal matching money and allowed the go-ahead in building. An additional $175,000 which will release other matching money is necessary to pay for the complete project for which contracts have been let.

Infirmiry Re-located

Due to the release of classroom space pressure which will accompany the building of the fine-arts building, and the future building of a chapel building and a student union, plans for building the classroom building on the southeast corner of Sweetland field have been abandoned. Instead the new infirmiry will be located there.

President G. Herbert Smith reported that it is possible that the old infirmiry will be remodeled for use as an annex to Baxter hall beginning in the school year 1955-56.

Construction of the women's dormitory will take place directly behind Lausanne hall as previously planned. The auditorium-fine arts building will be erected where the old band building was.

The buildings are scheduled to be completed August 1, 1955.

Part Time Jobs . . .

Dean of Men Mark Hatfield announced this week that men planning to attend summer school and who are interested in doing part time work in Salem should contact his office immediately. Hatfield said that at the present time he knows of several job opportunities for students who will be attending Willamette's summer session.

Curriculum Changes to Affect Language, Math and History

Several new curriculum changes involving the language, math, and social science requirements will take place next fall as a result of faculty vote which was taken a year ago, according to Registrar Harold Jory.

The oft-discussed foreign language requirement will be cut down from ten to six semester hours during the first year with the exception of one lab hour during the week allowed for certain students at the discretion of the instructor.

An "appreciation of the arts" course has been tacked onto the qualifications for graduation. All students must have a minimum of four semester hours selected from appropriate courses in art, literature and music.

In the math department, students are expected to have completed algebra and geometry either in high school or at Willamette before graduation.

Appointments Made By Rally King, Queen

Ted Primrose and Marilyn Waterman, recently elected yell king and queen for next year, announced the selection of Roberta Sjoding, Marilyn Parker, Pat Beckwith, Skeet Shepherd and Jim Jones as assistants to round out next year's rally squad.

The selection was made by the newly elected yell leaders and this year's rally squad.

Choice Deferred For Homecoming

Freshmen Benny Lee and Lewis Beatty and sophomore Dave Finlay were named to major managerial positions for fall semester by student council Wednesday.

Orientation, Chest Weekend

Lee will serve as Orientation manager for freshmen and new students. Lewis Beatty will oversee the Campus Chest drive, and David Finlay will assume responsibilities for Parents Weekend. Homecoming manager will be chosen by council next week.

A welcoming committee to meet incoming students at bus and train depots, improvement of the activities carnival, and early promotion of school spirit were suggested in Lee's Orientation petition. Also petitioning were Pat Farley, Bill Wheat, Jim Scott and Kent Hotelling.

Beatty's petition stressed greater publicity and promotion for increasing Campus chest contributions. Bill Nelson was the other petitioner for the position.

Organizational Change

Organization of Parents Weekend, as outlined in Finlay's petition, will be cut to six committees, rather than the 11 of last year. Finlay was opposed by Don Faucett, Ernie Snarr and Tom Steeves.

Choice of Homecoming manager was deferred until next week because council time was limited Wednesday. Petitioning for the position are John Bone, Dan Dearborn, Duane Alvord, Dick Morre and Jerry Rohlfness.

Wednesday's meeting was the first for the new student body officers with '54-55 president Ruben Menashe presiding. The meeting was opened by outgoing president Jim Hitchman. After relinquishing the gavel to Menashe, Hitchman was presented a gift from the council for his work during the year.

"Our Little Margie"

Margie Leonard left her job as editor of the Collegian this week and went galavanting off to the beach with her senior class.

But, of course, not before she made proper arrangements to see that someone else accepted her responsibility and not before she saw to it that preliminary work was progressing satisfactorily. In fact, Margie spent just about as much time arranging for others to take over her job as she would have had she done the job by herself. But, that's Margie.

Margie may not have been selected "Pacemaker" by the Associated Collegiate Press, but she is recognized by her staff to be the most efficient editor the Collegian has seen for some time. Miss Leonard assumed the role of editor in the messy basement office of the Collegian, formerly known as the "bore's nest," in December and has since transformed the wee morning Collegian bed-time hours into respectable early evening curfews. Old-timers who have come back to visit the Collegian office this year have been amazed to hear and see that desks and tables existed under the piles of papers which used to stand in the corners of the office.

Margie's keen sense of loyalty to her duty is almost unbelievable. She has had a trying year, with the loss of Stan Nelson's services to the Army, and with Chuck Ruud, next year's editor, attending school in Washington, D.C. Marge didn't want the job of editor. In fact, she had refused it once. But, when Stan Nelson was called to arms and no experienced help was at hand she came to the rescue.

For someone to accept the job under the pressure that Margie Leonard did and still be so loyally dedicated to it as she is an encouraging thing in this new age of ours which has been accused of being an age of work-shirkers.

And don't sell Margie short as a journalist! She has an excellent "nose for news" and a mature sense of values which are primary requisites for a journalist.

It may be raining on all the rest of the seniors at the coast today, but the sun is shining on "our little Margie," because Margie is much too efficient to have planned an outing to the coast in the rain! —D.A.

And Bernie Morris, Too

It isn't often that the Collegian runs separate editorials for each graduating staff member, but it isn't often that we have more than one who deserves an editorial. It would, however, be a great injustice to a wonderful job if we didn't give proper recognition to Bernie Morris.

Bernie Morris transferred here from Pacific University this year and has done an excellent fill-in job as news editor and jack-of-all-trades on the Collegian staff.

Bernie was awarded a well-deserved senior certificate in convocation Tuesday. If all-time Collegian service certificates were awarded Bernie would have walked away with one of those, too! —D.A.

Case of the Missing Yell Leader

We're not trying to reflect upon the ability of next year's rally squad, but we do wonder just what good the tryouts held during convocation last week did. One of the two contestants elected by the student body wasn't even present for the tryouts. Maybe that was an advantage!

Of course the most probable answer is that the person in question would have won the election either way. It's our guess, though, that a majority of those voting didn't even notice her absence. At a school as small as Willamette, trying to demonstrate ability and influence voters isn't something that can be accomplished in five minutes. —D.A.

Over the Transom

Departing Editor Trades Post, Commends Staff

By Margie Leonard

Turnabout is fair play—and so this week the Transom's my department and the editorial duties are being assumed by one Duane Alvord. Part of the reason is the senior beach trip; part of it is the fact that the new staff is expected to publish the last two papers of the year. That's tradition.

The facts of the matter are that the new staff is pretty much made up of the old staff and the new editor is miles away in Washington, D.C. But Duane has taken over in the best traditions of the press—must-progress, and the present edition is proof of his excellent ability.

Credit to Collegian Crew

And while on the subject—a pre-meditated one, to be sure—there are a good many other people on the Collegian staff, who deserve due credit. All of them, in fact.

Bernie Morris has proven himself indispensable. He's taken over in every department but society—from sports columns to editorials. His special features have been the best; he's a page make-up expert; and he's been an all-around top flight news editor.

Everybody reads the sports page, and Erwin Weber has been in no small way responsible. Critical services rating the Collegian have had nothing but good things to say about the sports department, and such comments have been well deserved.

Pertinent and Positive

The society page has been in the capable hands of Babs Jackson and Julie Mellor, who have both made the "Social Scoop" very pertinent copy.

Babs has been another positive influence on the staff, never despairing under any of the awful circumstances of deadlines or headlines.

Jane Notson was promoted from Wallulah editor to Collegian feature page editor this year—and has made just as effective and excellent use of her artistic talents. She's got a special knack for putting a page together and getting the features to fill it.

Copy editor Carla McKeen has given precious "spare" minutes in a busy schedule to prevent glaring errors on our pages and to contribute her headline writing talents. Her recent assistant, George Bleile, has been Mr. Dependable himself.

Star Reporter First Class

Tom Murdock deserves a medal as star reporter first class. He's one reporter who gets more than he goes after and who joins the Tuesday night Collegian merry-go-round til the last cut line is written.

And mention must go to ad manager Vern Zeusk who did not ever fail us and to circulation managers Dave Amsberry and Art Christiansen who really kept the Collegian in excellent circulation.

There are many more, staff reporters and news alert departments, who deserve all kinds of credit for adding a great deal. But there are two in particular, Dr. Ringnald and Kitz, who must have special mention.

Dr. Ringnald, or "Prof" really lets the Collegian practice a full-fledged freedom, contributing excellent advice when it is sought—pointing out how we can make our own choices and profit from experience as well. We'd look far to find a better advisor.

Kitz Makes It Fit

The man we call "Kitz" is another advisor of a sort, for he puts the Collegian together on Thursday mornings—and no matter what the inaccuracies in makeup may be, he hasn't failed to make the paper fit together yet.

Staff members Bernie Morris, Jane Notson and Erwin Weber won't be back again next year. The rest of the staff will carry on "in the best traditions" next year. But whether or not every editor says the same thing, there's been no finer staff anywhere to work with. The Tuesday night crew has been a real production crew with a great sense of humor. And for that I say thanks and it's really been fun.

And don't think the production of the Collegian is all work. It has its rewards.

Those of you who imagine the advertising department of a newspaper as the least romantic of all the types of newspaper work offered might benefit from the experience of Jerry Rolfness, Collegian advertising assistant.

Rolfness was assigned the job of securing an ad from the Capitol theatre at noon and didn't return to the office until after four. It seems Jerry not only gets the movie ad, but reviews the movie as well... and for free, too!

Spring Brings Robin To Higher Education

By Carole Pfaff

Faces turned upward from a swishing sound that came from somewhere to the side. There was a flurry of feathers, they flew over the room and settled on the table. A snicker could be heard in a quiet room. Studying ceased, all eyes content on the object of attention.

A cheep was uttered; it was forlorn and flustered. A bang could be heard on the window, also a pecking sound. Then a backing up and another crash. A few moments of silence filled the room. What next? There was another stirring of the air and a wild dash for another corner of the room, fortunately this window was open—the robin flew out into the sunny day which had been so rudely interrupted for him by an accidental encounter with the library. It wasn't intentional, honest!

How to Get a Suntan—Cheap!

The red blush is back on campus—or will be when the seniors come back from the beach this weekend. Casualties from the seaside sun with an "untouchable" look and "I'll slug you if you slap my back" gleam in their eyes.

Getting a tan is fast becoming serious business and harder work than digging ditches. Sun addicts usually have a sure fire system which is guaranteed to give them a golden brown, no fiery red, and no comfort.

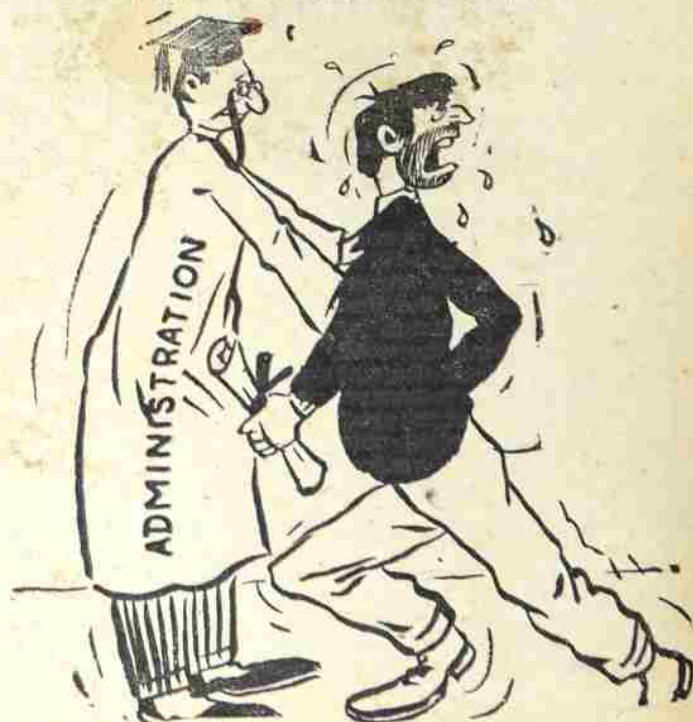

Procedure usually begins with a blanket—irrespective of special local rules on the subject. Blanket is placed where the sun can beat directly down upon the hopeful victim. Quite necessarily a body of water is nearby. Experts say water speeds the tanning process and should be applied regularly.

The question of whether to use lotion or to brave it alone is an individual one. Critics of the lotion movement point out that baby oil or cream only invites bugs, makes you stick to the blanket, and generally makes the hours of toil worthless. Proponents are convinced that a cream will stop the sun's injurious rays and aid tanning.

After once getting settled on the blanket, the worshipper assumes a somnolent position, eyes closed, arms away from the body so no shade can reach them, and prepares to look daggers at anyone casting a shadow, even for an instant.

For best results, fall asleep.

ROTC Presentations Made; Squadron 'A' Gets Pennant

Outstanding members of the AFROTC were presented awards at the President's review on Tuesday. Present for the occasion were state and city officials, ROTC and university leaders, students and the public.

Squadron A was the recipient of the Governor's pennant, composed of both the state and university colors. Named to receive the outstanding achievement medal was Cadet colonel Larry Pritchett, who was selected as the outstanding advanced cadet in the AFROTC program.

New Awards Made

Bob McConville, David Au and Herb Brower were chosen to receive three new awards. McConville was the first to receive the Consolidated Aircraft Company award for the third year cadet who has shown outstanding achievement, knowledge and interest in flying.

An aircraft model of the Republic F84-E plane, made by the Republic Aviation Corporation, was given to David Au. This award, presented for the first time, is to be given to the first year cadet who has displayed the greatest achievement, knowledge and interest in flying.

Herb Brower was selected as the initial winner of the Salem Rotary international award. He was selected as the most outstanding member of the AFROTC chorus, and the choice was based upon leadership, inspiration of the choral group and academic achievement. Brower organized and is the director of the chorus, which recently made a television appearance in Medford.

Drill Team Honor

Other awards went to Neil Daugherty, who received a gold plaque as the drill team member who contributed the most for the advancement of the AFROTC drill squad. Named as the outstanding air science basic student was Bob Zoelch. Terry Wheeler was named the outstanding rifle team member, and Herb Brower received another award from the Elks club for being the band member who had contributed the most in leadership and advancement to the Willamette band.

In the review party with Pres. G. H. Smith were Edwin Armstrong, representing Gov. Paul Patterson; Mayor Alfred Loucks; Col. Ashley Greene, commander of the Oregon wing of the Air Force Association; John Woods, commander of Capital Post 9, American Legion; John Graham, exalted ruler of the Salem Elks; Nelson Hickok, Salem Veterans of Foreign Wars; Reynolds Allen, president of the Salem Rotary club; Dr. Robert Fenix and Dean Mark Hatfield.

May Rotarian

Tom Schrock

Tom Schrock Cited For Weekend Work

Tom Schrock, a junior from Bend, was selected Rotarian for the month of May by the student council last week. Schrock was cited for his outstanding work as May Weekend manager.

The new member-at-large of the student council, Schrock has been active in campus affairs since his freshman year when he served as freshman class president. He was selected as Joe College the same year, and was a member of Sigma Alpha Chi in his sophomore year.

Cardinal Key tapped Schrock for a new member at the awards assembly on Tuesday. This year he has been a member of the choir. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi and rush chairman of his organization.

Wallulah Dedicates '54 Issue To President and Mrs. Smith

This year's Wallulah will be dedicated to Dr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith for the inspiration they have provided for Willamette students and faculty. A picture of the two and the dedication will appear in the 1954 book.

Dr. Smith has been the guiding factor in the Willamette challenge fund drive. He was selected as president of the university in 1942, and was one of the youngest presidents in Willamette's history. A graduate of DePauw university, he made an unusual record in educational circles after his graduation in 1926.

Willamette expansion is no new story for Dr. Smith. Since he has been on campus, McCulloch stadium, Baxter hall, and the art and band buildings have been added. He was influ-

A Cappella Choir Elects Kvale New President

New officers for Willamette's a cappella choir have been named for the coming year, with sophomore Dave Kvale to serve as president.

D'Anne Manor was elected vice president, Rosemary Weaver will be secretary and Jerry Friesen, treasurer. Publicity director will be Paul Ackerman.

Professors Express Opinions Regarding Cheating Problems

By Francis Miller

Willamette professors feel that there generally isn't cheating in their classes. That was the consensus in the comments of four teachers who this week added their opinions to the many already offered on the feasibility of invoking an honor system here.

Honor Question Posed

The question "Would you like to see the honor system replace the present system used at Willamette? And, do you think the honor system would work if tried?" was asked. Also, in view of the recent revelation of cheating in the ROTC department the faculty was asked, "Do you think there is much cheating at Willamette?"

Dr. George Martin, professor of education, thinks that in general an honor system would be good on any campus. In his opinion, whether or not it would work would depend on the student body members. According to Dr. Martin, about six years ago plans for an honor system were approved by the Willamette faculty, but when it was put to a vote of the student body members the majority of them didn't want it.

Notes No Cheating

When asked about cheating in his classes, Dr. Martin said that he has not been told there is cheating and does not believe that there is much.

Mrs. Lucile Bartel, instructor in English, says that Willamette should either have a complete honor system or a stricter proctor system. She believes that both systems are efficient if the students really want them to work.

Mrs. Bartel has noticed some cheating in her classes. She thinks that the most cheating on examinations is done by underclassmen who are under great pressure to get good grades when they first come to Willamette.

Questions Honor Code

Professor James Fonseca, who teaches German and Spanish, is one person who doesn't think the honor system would work. He thinks that there would be more cheating than under our present system. "It's the professor's job to do what he can to prevent it," said Fonseca.

He stated that his opinions about the honor system are not too definite, though, since he has never had a chance to see it in operation. Mr. Fonseca thinks that there is relatively little cheating at Willamette.

"Prof. George Edwards, instructor in English, thinks that the honor system is a good one and that it could be made to work if the students really wanted it to. He believes that there is cheating on examinations and on theme writing and that some students cheat frequently.

Golfers, Netters Win; Tracksters Third

'Cats Repeat In 2 Sports

"And again we won" could very well be the theme used here to acknowledge the Willamette university golf and tennis teams as they successfully defended their respective Northwest conference titles last Friday afternoon in Portland.

With a team total of 619, the Bearcat four-man golf crew were well ahead of second-place Whitman's 627. In third spot was Pacific with 649 and Lewis and Clark followed with 699 and Linfield with 706.

Leading the Bearcat divot men was veteran Kent Myers who was the conference medalist with a snappy 76-71-147. Next in line was Willamette's Ron Hoxie with a 73-78-151, and Whitman's Chuck Mertschings was third with a 79-74-153.

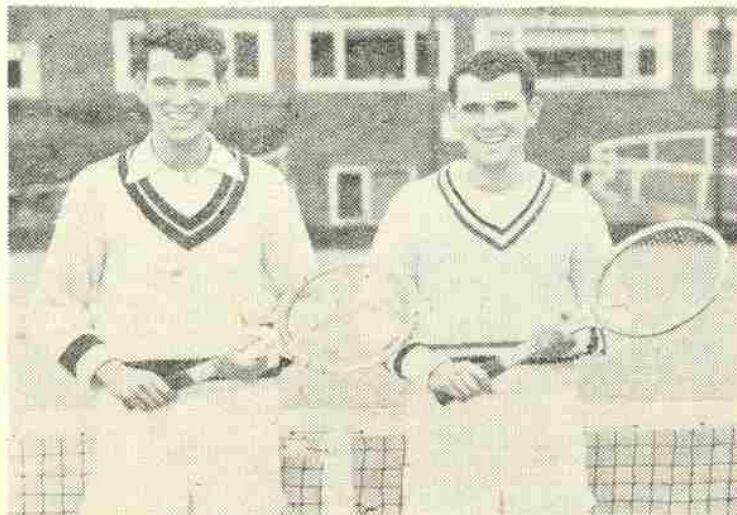

The other Bearcat members of the four-man squad were Dan Callaghan and Tom Loree. Callaghan carded an 84-76-160 with Loree in the fourth position with an 80-81-161.

For Coach Les Sparks' tennis netters, it was number two in a row plus the added insurance of a surprising win in the singles by Bud Mull.

The Willamette netters, who had been picked to repeat the title crown, did just that as the doubles-favored Butler Brothers, Rich and Ron, came through in fine shape with a victory over Lewis and Clark's Gary White and Jim Petersen 6-0, 6-3 in the finals. But before the final match, the Butlers had a startling fright as Whitman's Howie Wallenberg and Jim Young won the first set 6-2, then losing out 6-1, 6-4 to put the Willamette brothers act in the doubles final.

In singles action, Mull reached the finals with wins over defending champ Doug Day of Lewis and Clark 8-6, 6-3 and Don Berg of Pacific 6-0, 6-1. College of Idaho's Dick Hahn, the rated favorite, topped to Mull in the title match 9-7, 6-4.

Butlers Take Doubles Title Again

Ron and Rich Butler, shown above, defended their conference doubles title successfully last Friday at Lewis and Clark. It was the second straight title for the Willamette sophomores.

Sigs, Law School Meet in Intramural Softball Post-Season Playoff Finale

Intramural softball came to a close this week with last night's championship game between the Sig "B" team and the Law school. The results were not available at Collegian press time.

The Sigs were undefeated in the four-team double elimination tournament which started last Monday. The Law School kept their hopes alive by defeating the Sig "A" league team 3-2 Wednesday. The Sig A's dropped the Phi Delt out of the tournament Tuesday.

In the opening round Monday the Law school defeated the Sig "A" team and the Sig B's trounced the Phi Delt 15-2. The Sigs dropped the Phi Delt by scoring six times in the fourth inning and four more times in the fifth after the losers had scored twice in the third frame, making it 3-2 in favor of the Sigs.

Tuesday the two finalists of yesterday met in the semi-finals and the Sig B's won 7-4. The Sigs scored single runs in the first three innings. The Lawyers scored twice in the second and third innings to jump to a 4-3 lead. In the fifth and final inning the Sigs scored four times to advance to the finals undefeated.

In Wednesday's game the Law school edged the Sig "A" team 3-2 in a pitcher's duel. The winners scored once in the first inning, but the Sigs came back to tie it up with a run in the third inning. The Lawyers scored twice in the fourth to take a lead that gave them the game and a spot in the softball finals.

Women's Tennis Team Finishes Season's Play

Willamette's women tennis team ended their 1954 season last Wednesday afternoon by dropping a close 4-3 decision to the Oregon State squad on the home courts.

It was the second loss in seven starts for the Willamette women netters. Both losses were at the hands of Oregon State and were non-league affairs. The women won all five of their matches in their division of the Willamette Valley Nine.

In Wednesday's match, both teams won two singles. For the Willamette wins it was Mary Polales and Judy Mortz. Mary Ann Schoessler and Peggy Buckley, number one and two on the squad, lost their singles matches.

In the doubles Yvonne Bowles and Barbara Sjoding took the only Willamette win. In the two Oregon State triumphs, the winners defeated Willamette's four singles players. Schoessler and Buckley formed the first duo and Polales and Mortz the other doubles for Willamette.

Van Horn Breaks 100

Bill Van Horn, Willamette senior trackman, broke the school 100-yard dash mark of 10 seconds flat with a 9.9 mark last Saturday morning in the preliminary heats of the conference track meet.

Bearcats Finish Behind Pioneers and Missionaries

By Bob Johnston
Collegian Sports Writer

It was all Lewis and Clark with just too much of Caley "Comet" Cook and a matter of 12½ points between victory and defeat as the Willamette university track team was nosed out by the speedy Pioneers in the 1954 Northwest track championship last Saturday in Portland.

This year, first place wins were not as needy in deciding victory as were fourth and fifth spots—enough to give the Pioneers a team total of 63½ points followed by second-place Whitman at 59 points and Willamette with 51 markers.

Five conference marks fell on the speedy track at Palatine hill last Saturday, one of them a giant leap by Cook in the broad jump at 23' 4½" just ½" from the old conference mark.

A new mile relay mark was set by Whitman's Dave Wheeler, Sid Tate, Gary Fowler and Bill Mays at 3:25.2. It was 1.1 seconds faster than the previous held mark set in 1940 by another Whitman team.

Bill Klise of the Missionaries, set a new conference record in the pole vaulting department with a new high of 12' 11¾" which topped the old mark set in 1949 at 12' 8¾".

For the Bearcats, two records were set, one by Jim Hitchman and the other by hurdler Dean Benson. Hitchman bettered his own conference mark by heaving the big iron ball 46' 5".

Benson, who has spent most of the track season off the track because of illness, ran over the 120 high hurdles in 15 seconds flat, good enough for a conference tie.

A repeater again in his favorite spot was javelin tosser Stan Neperud as he outlasted his opponents to win the spear event at 196' 3¾".

Big point man for Coach Ted Ogdahl's cinderclads besides the first placers was Layton Gilson, who dropped from his number one spot in the discus last year to third position this year and picked up a fourth in the shot put.

The summary:

Lewismen Whip Portland State

Coach John Lewis' Bearcat nine stepped out of league competition long enough last Thursday to drop Portland State 14-2 at McCulloch stadium.

The Bearcats collected 14 hits and won the game in the first inning, scoring four times on five hits and a hit batsman. Willamette scored seven times in the fifth on six hits, two errors and a wild pitch. The other three runs came in the seventh on two walks and Dave Gray's double, the only extra base hit for Willamette.

Dan Feller started for Willamette and was touched for both Portland State runs before giving way to Gino Pieretti in the sixth. Pieretti went the last four innings and struck out eight Portland State batters.

The visitors scored in the fourth on two errors, a walk and Ray Olson's single. The other run came in the fifth on Dale Stewart's home run. Stewart led the Portland State hitting with a two for three performance.

Last Wednesday night at McMinnville to round the 1954 campaign.

The conference champs won the opener 3-1 behind the two-hit pitching of Del Coursey. The Bearcats, runner-up in the baseball race, took a 3-4 win in the second game although outlived 9-7.

Coach John Lewis' Bearcats were aided by homers by Dave Gray and Mickey Coen in the second game. Gray started on the mound for Willamette and was relieved by Coen in the fifth who got credit for the win.

Willamette was aided by seven Linfield errors in the second contest. Harvey Neffendorf's triple was the other big blow for the Bearcats in the nightcap.

The opening game was just too much Coursey. The Wildcat ace fanned 12 and walked three in the seven inning contest. The lone Willamette run off him was unearned and came in the fifth inning via a pair of errors and Bill Nelson's single.

Andy George of Willamette gave up only six hits, but two came in the second together with a costly error and resulted in two Linfield runs. Three singles brought the other Wildcat tally in the third.

Pershing Rifles Elect New Team Officers

Willamette's new named ROTC drill team, the Pershing Rifles, ended the year with the election of Neil Daugherty as their new commander.

Daugherty, who received the award for the most outstanding drill team member for this year, replaced Bill Van Horn who held the command position the past three years.

The team also elected Bill Sundstrom for flight leader of the first-year men and Jerry McNerney for flight leader of the Pershing Rifle group. Daugherty will command the Pershing Rifle team in exhibition drills while McNerney will lead the group in regular Tuesday-Thursday drills.

In the other elections the team selected Erwin Weber for secretary and publicity officer and Tom Steeves for treasurer.

Betas Maintain 'Mural Point Lead; Sigs Second; Tennis, Badminton Left

The Betas maintain their lead for the intramural sports plaque as softball came to a finish this week.

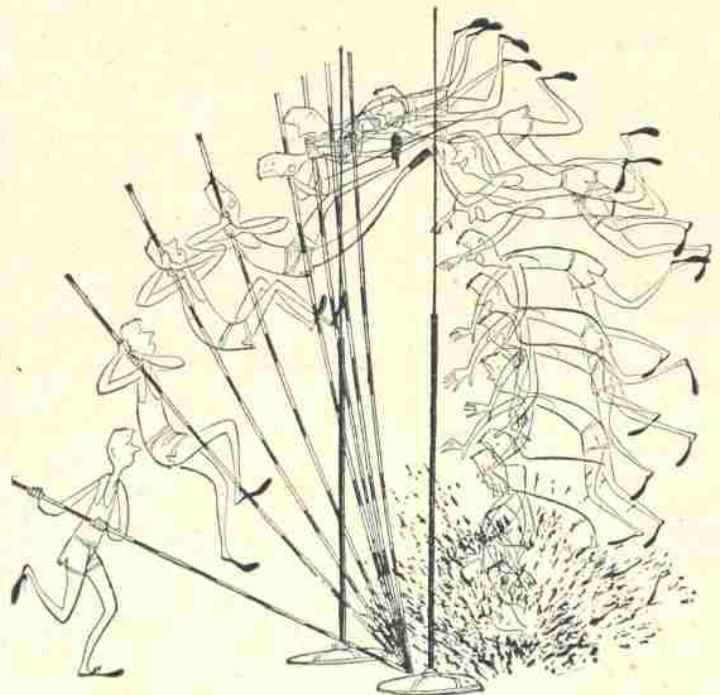

The leaders have a 152½ point total and the Sigs are in the runner-up spot with a minimum of 144 points. The Sigs can pick up three more points by winning the softball championship. The playoff game between the Sigs and the Law school was played last night, but the results were not available at Collegian press time.

Only badminton and tennis remain to be counted in the point totals for the intramural sports plaque. The Sigs hold a slim chance if they can pass the Betas in these two remaining sports.

The SAE's are in third spot with a 142-point total. The SAE's have been mathematically ruled out of the race as they trail the leaders in badminton and tennis.

SAE's	142

Amy Girod Named May Coed

Amy Girod was selected as coed for the month of May, by the vote of the Associated Women Students board this week. Miss Girod was selected because of her fine leadership and interest in campus affairs.

A gold trophy will be awarded to the May coed by AWS president Judy Finch this afternoon. Miss Girod was selected by the AWS executive cabinet, with the approval of the Dean of Women.

Besides being a music major, and spending much of her time in that field, Miss Girod is also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Beta Alpha Gamma, was accompanist for Glee for two years, and is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Future plans for the May coed will center around her August wedding to Dick Mase.

Frosh Views Senior Beach Trip

By Flossy Hodge

Thursday afternoon, right after chapel, the excited seniors tore home, changed to old clothes, collected their bathing suits, piled into cars and were off in a cloud of dust for the annual senior class beach trip.

Amid all the confusion, no one noticed that an uninvited freshman had joined the group to view the goings-on.

The 75 seniors, assorted guests and I piled into various cars and made our way down the highway to Munsell's Resort, at Oceanlake.

Activities Seen

Wading in the surf, hiking on the beach, eating, playing bridge and talking occupied most of the seniors' time, and as the weekend passed they agreed that the $4.00 charge was well worth it and that Bob Howe had done a wonderful job as general chairman.

It seemed unusual to see members of the senior class in swimming, after their class had survived four Freshman Glee contests without a trip to the mill stream. In the evening they sat around a big bonfire singing and re-singing their old Glee songs.

One of the foremost topics of discussion among the seniors was the dire fate sure to befall Willamette university without the members of the Class of '54 there to inspire and lead.

By Saturday most of the seniors will be pretty sunburned and pretty tired, but I don't blame them for that because they are getting pretty elderly and don't have the spirit and energy that freshmen have.

Juniors Join Group

The junior class, under the leadership of Chuck Seagraves, will arrive at noon on Saturday to serve lunch to the seniors.

Some seniors will leave for Salem on Saturday night, and some will straggle home on Sunday, but everyone will arrive for baccalaureate services at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Amen Corner

Westminster Fellowship will meet Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Dr. Paul Poling, who will be the discussion leader for the evening. His topic will be "Foreign Policy and Christian Youth."

The Willamette university debate team will be featured at the Sunday evening meeting of Wesley Fellowship, at 6 o'clock, following supper and recreation.

Bob McDowell was elected president of Canterbury Club for the coming year. Other officers will be elected at the first meeting in the fall. Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, they will have an informal meeting to terminate the activities of the year.

The Social Scoop

By JULIE MELLOR
Editor

Now that finals are just around the corner, one would think that all Willamette students would be busy studying and cramming for tests. One would think that, but, fortunately, that's not the case. On these warm, summer-like days, Willamette students can be found anywhere but with a book—on the sun decks, walking in the park, off for the beach, etc. Which just goes to show you that Willamette students don't have to cram for finals; they study all year long, I hope!

Cap and Gown Elects

Officers for next year's Cap and Gown were selected at the initiation luncheon Tuesday afternoon. Judi Wood was chosen president; Liz Loving, vice-president; Judy Fullager, recording secretary; Marie DeHarpport, corresponding secretary; Rosie Weaver, treasurer; Julie Mellor, historian; Barbara Jackson, project chairman; and Gussie Krause, budget chairman.

SAE's to Convene

By direction of the national headquarters of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in Evanston, Illinois, the 1954 province convention will be held in Portland at the home of Harry N. Hanson, province president, who visited on the Willamette campus a short time ago. Attending from the Oregon Gamma chapter will be Loyal Howard, Dick Adams and Bill Lasswell. Representatives will attend from the three Oregon chapters, and the College of Puget Sound.

Conventions Call Members

Speaking of conventions, six Willamette students will be travelling over the country this summer to represent their respective sororities.

Liz Loving and Dot Anderson will travel to the biennial Chi Omega July convention in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Heading east will be Gail Updike and Sophie Polales, official delegates to the Delta Gamma convention in Sun Valley, Idaho, in June.

Barbara Jackson and D'Anne Manor will travel south to sunny Miami Beach, Florida, to view the proceedings at the Pi Beta Phi convention, to be held from July 6 through 11.

Besides the official delegates, many other chapter members are expected to travel as unofficial guests, to see how their sorority operates on a national scale.

A New Hue

With the new change in officers for the student body, they must have decided to change all precedent. The agendas for this week were sent to the representatives—on shocking yellow paper! Maybe they decided to make sure everyone knew there was a change of officers.

Honorary Chooses Members

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary, has selected for membership upperclassmen with a 3-point grade point average and the requirement of hours in a field of social science. New members are Daline Montag, Margie Leonard, Julie Mellor and Nancy Doughton.

BAG's Select Temporary Head

Joyce Ambler was named temporary chairman for Beta Alpha Gamma, until elections in the fall.

Beach Scene Tells Engagement

A beach scene, with messages in bottles, and the names of Jane Notson and Cliff Gregg, announced the couple's engagement to members of the Pi Beta Phi house late Wednesday evening, after a fire drill.

Miss Notson is a senior art history major, and is senior scholar in that department. Active on campus, she has been a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Beta Alpha Gamma, Cap and Gown, and was vice-president of her sorority. Taking an interest in publications, she was editor of the Wallulah last year, and is now serving as feature editor of the Collegian.

Gregg, who is now serving with the army, graduated in economics in 1953, and was a member of Beta Theta Pi, as well as past editor of the Wallulah.

The couple plan to be married in Portland on August 29, after which they will be living in Columbus, Ohio, where Gregg is stationed.

Whitman Selected For Library Board

Ainsley A. Whitman, University librarian, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Pacific Northwest Library association. The library professional organization includes representatives from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia.

Whitman, as president of the Oregon Library association, presided at the recent convention of the association held in Corvallis.

He has also been nominated to a position on the Council of the American Library association, which is the governing body for the nation-wide library organization of approximately twenty-one thousand members.

Money for the awards is provided from a $100,000 trust fund created in 1952 by the late benefactor and industrialist, Max D. Tucker, for study at Willamette, Oregon State college, University of Oregon and Lewis and Clark college.

High school candidates must rank in the upper 10 per cent of their graduation class and college applicants in the upper 20 per cent of their class. Qualities of leadership, character and financial need are also considered.

Max D. Tucker was former president of the Cascades Plywood corporation, Lebanon. Besides granting large bequests to Willamette, Lewis and Clark and Maxon Oral school, he was instrumental in bringing in over a million dollars for development of college property.

Planning to enter religious education at Willamette, Miss Chilcote is a member of Girls' League, school paper staff, choir and honor society at Lebanon high.

3 French Graduates Plan to Study, Teach

Three countries—France, Switzerland and the United States—are represented in the plans of the three seniors graduating in French this spring, according to Dr. Marion Morange, professor of French.

Sallie Cheavens, who received a teaching appointment from the French government, will be assistante d'Anglais in the Lycee at Grungamp in Brittany. She will travel to France this fall.

Following a visit to France this summer, Sally Bridgeman will enroll for graduate study at the University of Geneva in Switzerland.

Pat Jones has accepted a fellowship to Duke university. She also received offers from the Universities of Illinois, California and Oregon.

Last Presentation of Unesco Film Tonight

"Meet John Doe," the final Unesco sponsored movie this year, will be presented for the last time in Waller hall tonight at 7:30. Admission will be 50 cents.

The cast of this $2,000,000 production includes Gary Cooper in the title role with Barbara Stanwyck, Walter Brennan, Edward Arnold, and Jimmy Gleason assuming the other leads.

The film deals with Long John Willoughby, a down-and-out bush league pitcher with a "glass" arm. He becomes the messiah of the American masses by preaching the message of love thy neighbor.

"Meet John Doe" was chosen among the year's ten best pictures in its production year.

Unesco's movie budget has run at a deficit due to the small attendance so far this year. However, Willis Ludlow, president, has promised continuation of the presentations for their cultural value and as a service to the campus.

Graduates Selected For Teaching Posts

Willamette seniors will be traveling all over the west to assume teaching positions in elementary and secondary schools next year.

Ron Bartlett will be teaching in Madras, Oregon, while Johanna Beckman will go to Harrisburg. The bay area will find teachers Jane Gray and Mary Campbell, who have jobs in an elementary school in Hayward, Calif.

Sandy, Oregon will be the new home of Carol Emerson, and Alice Girod will instruct students in art at St. Helens. Harley Hoppey will be a teacher in Parrish junior high school in Salem, and Dick Mase will travel to Wy-East high school for his job.

Another California teacher will be Lynn Meiseger, who will be in Bakersfield in one of the elementary schools. Joan Currie will be in Detroit, Oregon next year, and Pat Murray will stay in Salem to teach in an elementary school.
