WHO CREATES LIBRARY DIS-ORDER?

VOL. XXXVIII—No. 11

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, SALEM, OREGON, DECEMBER 15, 1926

PRICE FIVE CENTS

LIBRARY DIS-ORDER CURBED BY SENIORS

Upper Class Adopts Plan of Committee of Seven Members to Report Offenders.

FACULTY APPROVES PLAN

Students Guilty of Misconduct in Study Halls to be Tried by Honor Code Committee

Adopting a plan recommended by the university affairs committee, the senior class last Friday appointed a committee of seven members of the class to check up on library offenders, in a final effort to sponsor satisfactory student control of the library.

The seven seniors selected were Ruby Delk, Edna Ledbetter, Viola Carrier, John Russell, James McClintock, Francis Ellis, and Daryl Chapin.

The duty of the members of this committee is not necessary to censure students in the library for offenses, but to collect names of offenders and turn them in to the Honor Code Committee, which is to act as a judicial body and provide punishment for the guilty persons. Recommendations have been made to the Honor Code Committee that students coming to the library for other purposes than study be expelled from the study halls for a certain period.

Power Too Diffused

The senior class expressed a desire to have these committees cooperate with Dr. Franklin, since he is working towards the same end—that of better library conditions.

The general opinion is that there has been too great a diffusion of power and that only a centralization of responsibility in the hands of a few would eliminate undesirable factors and establish satisfactory student control.

Under the direction of the Senior Class, library conditions started off well, but soon drifted until they were unsatisfactory from the standpoint of both faculty and students. This arose from a reluctance on the part of the seniors to censure fellow students, and from the fact that some seniors themselves were offenders.

This library control is a small experiment particularly adapted for trying out ability of students to govern themselves and if they are to prove themselves worthy of any further responsibility, it is necessary to make this experiment successful.

To do this, they have to combat only a small part of the students, for it is generally conceded that only a few are offenders. But it is also true that if there were strong public opinion against this misconduct, these few offenders would cease their unconsiderate action.

This proposed plan of concentration of responsibility is believed by the faculty to be the best ever tried. However, it is generally conceded that any self-government depends more on public opinion than any enforcement organization.

KEENE IS HONORED AT ALUMNI DINNER

Portland, Ore., Dec. 14, 1926.—(Special)—Success of the Willamette university football team for the past season was praised by alumni at a dinner of the Portland Willamette club last night. Roy W. (Spec) Keene, who is serving his first year as athletic coach, was honor guest.

The work of Keene was lauded particularly by Rein Jackson, coach of the strong West Linn high school team, and Clarence Gillette, athletic coach at Roosevelt high. Mr. Keene responded briefly. With 23 out of 25 letters back next year, he said he was aiming for a still higher place in northwest conference football percentages next year.

Kimball Students Attend Portland Men's Council

The entire faculty and student body of Kimball attended the Methodist Men's Council which was held in Portland, Thursday and Friday. Men of national repute gave addresses; among them were Bishops Shepard, Smith and Blake, Ralph Connor of Canada and Col. Raymond Robbins of Chicago.

Forceful addresses were given on vital questions of the day such as prohibition and religious conditions in Europe.

EXHIBITION POSTPONED

On account of conflicting dates, the tumbling and drill exhibition, which was to have been held the 20th of this month under auspices of the physical education department, has been postponed indefinitely. Probably, it will be given next semester, says assistant coach Sparks.

Jay Butler, '26, is a medical student in Portland, Oregon.

Faint Hearts Not Evidenced in Lausanne Rush

Last Sunday; Fraternities and Hall Exchange

"Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady," and with that noble sentiment in mind 40 young and dashing knights girded themselves right valiantly in gay attire and set forth to storm the Castle Lausanne.

From all countries came these intrepid youths. Through the forest wastes traveled the flower of Kappa Gamma Rho. Over stony wastes trekked the lion-hearted of Alpha Psi Delta. Across foaming torrents and trackless deserts journeyed the best of Sigma Tau and Epsilon Delta Mu—all with the common purpose of rescuing damsels from ennui and boredom for one brief Sunday afternoon.

The company of knights halted before the unresisting portal. Who would lead the charge? None but the brave enter here.

Then with traditional courage and precedent urging them forward the dashing of Sigma Tau pushed on with the light of conquest glowing in their eyes. Impelled by the conduct the others followed.

The din was enough to daunt the strongest heart. Wails of "Where is my man?" "I've lost my partner," "Is he the red-haired one?" echoed through the corridors.

A trembling fear seized even the strongest men. What was her name? But in the end both sides triumphed. Every lassie had a laddie, and every laddie had a lassie. No man's land was a fable, so long live the fair and the brave.

In this manner did Lausanne hall and the fraternities exchange dinner dates last Sunday.

COUNTRY TEACHERS ARE ILLY PREPARED

Forty Oregon Country School Teachers Have Only 8th Grade Training, Says Gentle

"Forty teachers in Oregon have only an eighth grade education," said Director Gentle, of the Education Department at Monmouth Normal School, in an address before the students last Thursday. "For a generation the children of the rural districts have been taught by teachers with very little preparation. Today, the principals of the city schools, with the best of salaries to offer, come to pick their teachers in March. In August the rural districts, offering poor salaries, pick their teachers. As a consequence the rural communities have young, inexperienced and ill-prepared instructors."

This condition, Mr. Gentle believes, has caused an ever-widening breach between urban and suburban life. The students in the country (Continued on page 4)

ALPHA PSI'S GET SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Local Fraternity Receives Albert Cup for Highest Scholastic Standing Last Semester

The Fraternity Scholarship Cup, awarded each semester by J. A. Albert, local banker, to the fraternity which had the highest scholastic standing the preceding semester was presented to the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity at the chapel service last Friday.

The standings of the fraternities were as follows: Alpha Psi Delta, 86.45; Epsilon Delta Mu, 84.73; Sigma Tau, 84.05; Kappa Gamma Rho, 83.83.

There was a larger difference between the fraternities holding first and second place this time than there has been at any time before.

This cup, which may be kept by the fraternity holding it for six successive semesters, has been awarded only three times. The first time the Alpha Psi Deltas won it with the Epsilon Delta Mu holding second place. The second time, which was last spring, the Epsilon Delta Mu held first place with the Alpha Psi Deltas ranking second.

BARNYARD GOLF PLAYED AT C. P. S.

College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wn., Dec. 15, 1926.—Horses, horses, horses—no, we mean horseshoes, horseshoes, horseshoes, are heard all day. Clang and ring of horseshoes continues, rain or shine. Judging by its popularity, horseshoe pitching should be a major sport. Even the heavy rains no whit discourage the devotees of this outdoor pastime. When one location becomes completely submerged, the stakes are moved to slightly drier ground—that is, slightly less wet.

ESTHER McCracken MARRIES EDWARD E. DIXON IN BOSTON

Esther McCracken, a graduate of Willamette University with the class of '23, was married November 25 at Moore, Pa., to Edward E. Dixon, Jr., of Boston, according to word just received here. They will make their home at Boston, where Mr. Dixon is a student at the Boston University School of Theology.

The two first met in Tien Tsin, China, where both were missionaries. They plan to go back to China after Mr. Dixon completes his work at Boston university. Miss McCracken while on the campus was a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority.

Athletic Awards ***** An Editorial

The opinion seems to have arisen among many of those concerned that justice is not being done in the granting of athletic awards for this year's participation in football. Because of considerable rather heated discussion on the subject, and an apparent misconception as to who has the power to grant awards, and upon what basis awards are to be given, it is expedient that a few words be said to clarify the issues involved.

The constitution of the student body declares that awards shall be given to men who have played five complete quarters of conference football, provided they remain in school throughout the semester, and provided they participate in the activity for a full season of the sport. The last two provisions may be set aside in case of unavoidable incapacitation. There is a further provision that no student shall receive an award of a (Continued on page 2)

Library Now Uses Book Card System

During the past few months the university library books have been provided with book cards and pockets, and with the completion this work, the checking system has been changed, so that it now resembles that which is in use at the city library. Slips are still to be made out for periodicals and pamphlets.

Margaret Johnson, a graduate of '26, who worked in the library during her under graduate days, is now giving full time assistance in the library and will have charge of this new system.

CLASSICAL CLUB ENJOYS LUNCH AND ROMAN PROGRAM

The Willamette Classical Club held its monthly meeting at noon Friday in the Philodossian hall. The vice-president, Rosa Rico, presided over the meeting. Lunch was served and the following program was given:

Piano solo.....Malcolm Medler
Roman Saturnalia and Christmas Customs.....Margaret Hogg
Roman Temples.....Theresa Schotthoefler
Violin solo.....Claudine Gerth
Baucis and Philemon (a myth).....Frances Fellows
Song—Adeste Fideles.....
Song in Latin by the entire club

Following the program a short business meeting was held. Eddie Housey was elected chairman of the program committee for the Club Chapel program, which will be given in January.

CHINESE MOTIF USED

University of Oregon—Francis Hourhill, editor of the Oregonian, college annual at the university, has announced that a Chinese motif will be carried out in the 1927 publication. Page builders, coloring, introductory pages and the section heads are to be taken from sketches of Chinese life. The book will be dedicated to Dr. P. L. Campbell, deceased president of the university, and will feature the semi-centennial which has been celebrated there recently. An added feature of the book will be an index to every picture which appears in the different sections.

STUDENTS ARE EARNEST

University of Iowa—in a recent questionnaire filled out by Iowa men only three failed to give a logical purpose for their attendance at the university. Conclusions from this test have been hailed as a striking blow to the old theory that the majority of college students fail to realize why they are in school.

VARSITY BASKETEERS NOW PRACTICE DAILY

First Conference Game To Be Played Against Linfield at McMinnville Jan. 7.

FIRST STRING IS CHOSEN

Games With University of Oregon Are Added To Schedule Which Is Nearly Completed

The varsity basketballers have settled down to intensive preparation for the first Northwest Conference game at McMinnville with the Linfield College quintet, January 7. Although Coach Keene has not yet announced the names of those who will comprise the varsity squad for the year, there are two teams which show possibilities of becoming smooth machines. The so-called first string, whose membership is still subject to change, is composed of Litchfield and Flesher, forwards, "Hank" Hart, all-Northwest center and high point man of the Conference last year, and Houck and Ashby, guards. The two latter are first year men who have showed up very well in practice so far.

Asbury, Salem H. was placed on the all-state mythical quintet at guard two years ago, and Houck played several years at guard on the Peoria, Ill., high school team, so that these two are far from being inexperienced hoopers.

Litchfield and Flesher, both played with last year's varsity and show promise of becoming a pair of the flashiest forwards in the Northwest Conference.

A tentative second team line-up is: Minto and Tweedie, forwards; Riddell, center; and Ledbetter and Winslow, guards. From this group Keene will probably select his substitutes, although he may take the entire varsity squad on his trips.

Two games with University of Oregon have been added to the basketball schedule. The first game will be played at Eugene January 15th, and the second at Salem, February 28th.

MATTHEWS LECTURES

December 4, Professor James C. Matthews gave an address at Milwaukie, Oregon. He spoke under the auspices of the Union of Clubs of Clackamas county, on the subject: "Dependability."

FACULTY ADDS DR. C. R. HOWD

New Instructor to Replace Laughlin in Economics During Latter's Illness

Dr. C. R. Howd has been temporarily added to the Willamette university faculty as instructor of Economics during Dr. Laughlin's absence on account of illness.

Dr. Howd is a graduate of Linfield College in McMinnville. He obtained his Ph. D. at the University of California and has had teaching experience in Texas.

UKRANIAN CHORUS GIVES EXCELLENT PROGRAMME HERE

By MARY LOUISE AIKEN

Undoubtedly the Ukrainian chorus directed by Alexander Kosetzky which was presented at the Elsinore Thursday is the best of its kind that has ever been heard in Salem. Their performance here fully upheld their reputation gained in other towns.

Each of the 24 members wore the national costume, thus giving the stage a foreign atmosphere. The symphonic effects were marvelous, and at times the voices sounded like a pipe organ. The bass section was outstanding, and distinguished itself in many of the numbers. All of the parts were well organized, evenly matched, and responded instantly to the director's touch. All but one of the songs on the program were sung in the native tongue. Yet when these picturesque Ukrainians sang "On the Bonny Banks of Loch Lomond," their English was faultless.

Those numbers which were arranged by Kosetzky himself were spirited and cleverly executed. It was during these renditions that Kosetzky was at his best. These clever numbers were most appreciated by the audience.

The violinist, Mr. Polikoff, held his listeners in the grip of his music throughout his work. He showed himself to be a master of technique and especially adept in double stopping. The concert was the first of a series sponsored by the Salem arts league in cooperation with the Willamette University Beethoven society.

College Togs, Sports Wear, Evening Apparel and Afternoon Clothing In Style Review

Although it was a small audience that reviewed the Style Show, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. in the Willamette auditorium last Friday evening, it was a very appreciative one.

The well planned program for the evening was given in an excellent manner. Sports and Collegiate togs were portrayed in the first two acts and furnished a happy, carefree atmosphere. The costumes were unusually gay and attractive. Street wear was introduced by a short panorama of a street and its passers-by.

Color and design in the afternoon frocks were the factors that appealed particularly to the spectators. The models were displayed as callers at an informal tea. The last scene exhibited evening clothes of beautiful material and extremely pleasing style. Handsome fur coats were a part of the girls' apparel. Even the perfect servant was presented who helped create the formal air.

During the intermission the audience was entertained by Virginia Edwards and Francis McGilvra in a humorous dialogue number, Dorothy Williams' perfectly trained electric dolls, selections by the Roguish Umps and Bernice Mulvey in a graceful, old fashioned dance.

The affair was ably managed by Jean White. The direction committee consisted of: Baulah Launer, Esther King, Eleanor Merewether, Letha Miller, Sadie Jo Read, Margaret Raught and Irene Clark.

Dr. S. B. Laughlin, head of the economic department, is reported to be rapidly improving from his illness.

WHAT IS BRIGHT? * * * * * WHAT IS YELLOW? * * * * * IT'S THE TROUSERS!

"True, it was raining but surely that wouldn't have such a dire effect upon the sense of vision. An Oregonian who has been a witness of old Jupp's display of grief over the lax practice of the last twenty years surely ought to be able to see and hear during more of these demonstrations. But something was wrong. Why the yellow—yes, bright yellow—creature strolling aimlessly about the campus?"

The victim of this melody called "Illusions" recalled the party of the night before with regret. Could it be that it had effected his eyesight—yes, his very equilibrium?

Closer came the vision of yellow trousers; wilder and wilder grew the victim until he finally summed up enough courage to ask his companion if he too saw anything strange. Then the trousers came so near that their reality could not be doubted; a deep voice asked something about glue practice.

WILLAMETTE WOMEN SCHEDULE WITH OAC

Varsity Debate Teams of the Two Institutions To Hold Dual Debate Feb. 27

The first debate for the women's varsity team this season will be a dual with the Oregon Agricultural College, February 27, 1927. The question used will be the Pacific Coast League subject: "Resolved, That a National Board of Censorship Be Established By Congress to Control the Release of All Moving Pictures."

Although the women's schedule is as yet incomplete, it will probably include debates with Washington State College, the University of Utah, and the University of Wyoming.

Squad work is progressing under negative and affirmative chairmen who have charge of collecting material. Practice debates will be scheduled between squad members so that each one will have ample opportunity to show her ability.

WALKING CONTEST IS NEXT FRIDAY

Inter-class Rivalry Chairman Announces Third Event in Competition; Juniors Lead

With two of the events on the Inter-Class Rivalry schedule, the relay and the basketball series, now run off, the Juniors lead the field with 10 points resulting from two first places; the Sophomores and the Freshman are tied for second place with four points each; and the Seniors reside in the cellar with a zero score. Competition is keen, and these events have proved very interesting and exciting.

The next event will be the walking contest, which will be held Friday afternoon, starting from some point on the campus at 4 o'clock. Five entries will be permitted from each class, and the scoring will be the same as for a cross-country run.

The course has not yet been determined, but will follow some little-used road, and will be about five miles in length. It is expected that some "dark horses" will come to light in this race, and the outcome will be in doubt until the contest is finished.

O. A. C. Co-Eds Now Play Exciting Basketball Golf

Oregon Agricultural College.—(P. L. P.)—Basketball golf is being played by co-ed athletes. A poster indicating the 11 floor positions from which shots are to be taken for the basket, and having places for names and scores of those who try, is placed near the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium. The development of accurate basket shooting is the purpose of this individual competition.

UNIVERSITY SHOWS GROWTH

Here is a comparison of the Willamette of 10 years ago and as it is today:

	1916	1926
Total enrollment	294	689
Productive exp.	$388,500	$902,000
Annual budget	39,100	100,300
Value buildings	184,000	382,500
Faculty payroll	28,400	82,915
Indebtedness	25,500	None

BETHOVEN PRESIDENT MUST RESIGN, SAYS DOC

Mildred Tomlinson has been forced to resign her position as president of the Willamette Beethoven's because of physician's orders. The executive duties have been exceptionally heavy this year owing to the Salem Concert Series which the society is sponsoring. Margaret Lewis, vice-president, is performing the duties of Miss Tomlinson until the club elects another president.

WILLAMETTE INVITES BASKETBALL SERIES

President Doney Extends Formal Bid to High School Association For Classic.

PAST SHOWS SUCCESSFUL

Salem High Has Won Three Out of Seven Official Tournaments Staged Here

The invitation to the state athletic association to hold the annual high school basketball championship tournament at Willamette again this season was formally directed by Dr. Carl Gregg Doney recently to G. A. Briscoe, president of that organization. The invitation will be acted upon at meetings of the association in Portland during the Christmas holidays.

While the tournament is a recognized university tradition, it is customary to issue the invitation to the group which is formally acted upon by the proper authorities. The championship play will be held sometime in March.

The first high school basketball tournament was held in the Willamette university gymnasium in 1917. It was instituted and sponsored principally by Coach R. L. Mathews, and its success and the success of subsequent tournaments held at Willamette are ascribed primarily to his efforts.

Roseburg First Winner

The first tournament was not a state wide affair and included only seven teams from the Willamette valley and southern Oregon. Invitations were sent to practically all the schools in the western part of the state, irrespective of previous records, but of these only seven of the larger schools accepted. Roseburg high school won the tournament and consequently the cup presented by Willamette to be held until the tournament of the next year, or to be held permanently by the school winning for two successive years. Because of the success of this tournament it was deemed advisable to make it an annual affair.

In 1918 and 1919 Salem high won the valley championship and thereby the right to permanent possession of the cup.

Not until 1920 was the first all-state tournament staged. The 12 leading teams from all over the state competed, with the result that in the final game Salem high wrested the laurels from Lincoln high of Portland.

Salem Wins Last Year

Ten schools were represented at last year's tournament. They were: Baker, Astoria, Salem, The Dalles, McLoughlin, Marshfield, Grant, Hillsboro, Medford, and Eugene. Salem won from Eugene in the final clash.

Salem high school has won three of the 7 official all-state districted tournaments. Ashland, Medford, Franklin high, of Portland, University high of Eugene, have won one each.

There is some discussion throughout the state this year of holding two tournaments, one for the A class, and another for the B class, so as to give the smaller high schools a chance which, it is said, they do not have at present in competition with the larger schools. This plan will be discussed at the meetings during the Christmas holidays.

Bids have been received on the construction of a balcony on the north and south sides of the gymnasium to accommodate added crowds.

The new seating space available then will care for about 500 additional spectators. The Board of Trustees will pass on the improvement at its next meeting.

DR. GATKE PRESENTS PAPER AT OREGON WRITER'S CLUB

Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gatke attended the monthly meeting of the Oregon Writer's League in Portland, Friday, Dec. 3. Vice-president Viola Price Franklin presided over the gathering which was a banquet in the Chamber of Commerce building. The principal paper of the evening was presented by Dr. Gatke on the subject, "Literary Possibilities of Oregon History."

In a very interesting manner he explained the abundance of material for biographies, short stories and even novels pertaining to Oregon life. Mr. W. Lancaster, the engineer and genius of the Columbia Highway, spoke briefly on his recently published book on that subject.

GRADUATES ORGANIZE

Almost a hundred Willamette university graduates have formed an alumni association in Seattle. Edwin Norene, agency organizer for the New York Life Insurance company in the Seattle district, is the president.

THE FUTURE LINCOLN

"If Oregon is to produce a Shakespeare or a Milton, he will come from among the men whose imagination has been fired under the oaks at Pacific University.

"If Oregon is to produce a Lincoln, he will come from among those self-sacrificing boys who have toiled to earn their way through Pacific.

"Pacific today is farther along the road of achievement of its graduates than Harvard was at the same age, and I wonder what Pacific will have done 100 years from now. She is being recognized as the mother of the masters of men."

—R. J. KIRKWOOD, Pacific University Trustee.

This dogmatic assertion made a few days ago comes as a sharp blow to the people interested in Willamette University and other institutions in the state who are desirous of giving to the world a product shaped to become as illustrious as the immortals cited. And great discouragement falls to the "self-sacrificing" students in attendance at Pacific's university contemporaries who fondly hope to attain distinction in some line of endeavor.

For, certainly, Mr. Kirkwood is practically saying that a course at Pacific University is essential to the hewing of a worthy niche in the affairs of the world. If this is true, and we are assured it must be, next year will find hundreds, yea, thousands, of students thumping at the doors of the school "under the oaks" which has such a potent influence in shaping careers of men. The institution which "gives and always has given the best education in this part of the country" no doubt will expand with its increased opportunity. Countless dollars from people interested in producing "Lincolns," will be poured into the endowment treasury. Students will leave the halls of other colleges to seek the training guaranteed to make them eminent.

In spite of the distress brought on by the news, we are glad to have been put in the right on the matter. We haven't turned out a "Shakespeare" at Willamette for some time now, and we were gratefully harboring the hope that "Lincolns" and "Shakespears" were born, not made. We know now that Dr. Sisson of Reed must have been wrong when he said Lincoln would have been ruined if a modern college had gotten hold of him. Lincoln, of course, would have been a still mightier man had he received a little training at Pacific.

The other universities will have to struggle along, we suppose, turning out mediocre men, all the while wondering what secret potion the sister school has in its curriculum which germinates the "Shakespeare" and the "Lincoln."

Happy thought! Could it be that the Pacific trustee was subtly intimating that the state of Oregon would never produce men as great as these? We are willing to grasp at any straw now. If this is the case, the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce may have to put him on trial.

Or, perhaps, Mr. Kirkwood, inflamed with ardor in the share entrusted to him of stirring up people to contribute in the worthy cause of the Pacific University endowment, was a bit extravagant in his expression. He may have couched his ideas in terms which were a bit profuse.

If this is true, it is a great relief to us. For if a Lincoln is to be produced in Oregon, we want to have an even break in the process.

AN ADVENTURE IN UNDERSTANDING

Any organization or group which has for its purpose and work the facilitation of intercourse between naturally competing groups and the clearing of misunderstandings which arise from such competition deserves the whole-hearted support of everyone.

The inter-fraternity council composed of the presidents, vice-presidents, and managers of the fraternities along with three faculty members is an organization with such a purpose. Although the council is informal in its methods of procedure and without any power of enforcing its decisions, it has already warranted its existence because of the better understanding which has resulted therefrom from its work as a forum for the exchange of opinion.

In order that the members of the different houses may become better acquainted, there is now in progress an exchange of dinner dates on every Wednesday evening between the respective fraternities.

Further enumeration of the purposes and achievements of this council are unnecessary to show that it is fulfilling a useful purpose in a manner such as to merit the approval and support of the students of the university.

The library dis-order demon rears its head again and before it can be subdued must be shackled with an iron chain.

Certain trouble-makers continue to evade responsibility for proper conduct in the study room and, by their obnoxious behavior, are making it an undesirable place for those who sincerely wish to improve their time in study. Warnings given by senior class members have not availed in correcting the situation, and the continuance of student control once more is in a precarious state.

In order more efficiently to improve the condition and call to time persistent offenders, the seniors have centered responsibility in a small committee vested with power of turning in names of those guilty of misbehavior to the honor code group for punishment. The seniors as a class are not to shift responsibility, but will continue as a group to back up work of the committee.

This is an undesirable move, but under the circumstances altogether a necessary one. Some means must be had of getting at the students who interfere with the proper atmosphere of study. This seems to be the only practicable one.

Collegian would impress upon members of both committees and of the senior class their great responsibility in furthering library conduct improvement, and would urge them never to relax vigilance in ferreting out those who merit punishment. Every student who realizes the need for strict library decorum will give the committees unqualified support.

Congratulations to the Frosh on their issue of last week. It was a well made up paper, and many of the articles were excellently written.

ATHLETIC AWARDS

weather or a letter until he has attained sophomore standing, but awards earned previous to that time shall be given upon the attainment of the specified standing.

Without doubt, the term "conference football" is correctly interpreted to encompass the games with Oregon and Washington. These colleges were members of the conference to which Willamette university belonged at the time of the adoption of that portion of the constitution, and clearly should be ranked with teams of the north-west conference schools.

Aside from the above consideration, the constitution is clear in its provisions, and it should be plainly understood that the constitution of the student body is the only authority by which the awards committee, the director of athletics, or the student administration can act.

Awards should be considered as the gift of the associated students, purchased out of funds collected in student body fees, and can be given only in accordance with the will of the student body as expressed in its constitutional provisions.

It should be remarked that the requirements of the student body for the earning of awards, and the constitutional prohibition upon the free and unlimited distribution of them are in all essential particulars like those of other colleges, and are not unreasonable.

It is alleged that other institutions disregard their rules upon recommendation of the coach. It is further contended that the same has been done here in the past. Be that as it may, it does not justify, nor is there any justification whatever for violating the obvious meaning and intent of the law.

The constitution may, of course, be amended whenever the student body desires. For this reason, it must be assumed to be expressive of the associated student will, and as such must be the ultimate authority in the administration of student body affairs.

Football, it must be realized, is but one of a dozen or more extra-curricular activities carried on by the student body. Those participating in and in control of this sport should not expect undue emphasis upon it, or any concessions which would not be proportionate to that granted to all other activities carried on by the students.

The student body is not lacking in gratitude and esteem to those who have represented Willamette in the football season just closed. Commendable work

Reflections and Refractions

Well, dear old and so on. We have returned to our desk after a two week's vacation. It was fitted in so that we were getting a little stale, as we thought we would not a while.

This is a good time to cash in on the humor business, however. What with all the Christmas jokes, we feel a little encouraged this time.

Willamette Law students are now getting in shape for their legal battles of the future by holding court sessions every week. Last week they tried the case of a Willamette student who went in debt $70.00 to a local tailor. Since we know that in the first place no Willamette boy is wearing a $70 suit, we feel that our young barristers are getting the proper start. With this in mind we are expecting the next case to be a breach of promise suit with Nick Bean and Rose Wetherell as principals.

DID YOU NOTICE THE PICTURE OF NICK AND HANK IN THE OREGONIAN YESTERDAY? BOTH OF THEM LOOKED AS THOUGH THEY HAD BREAKFASTED ON A NICE DISH OF JUICY NAILS.

But I'll tell you what's the matter with football. There are not enough football men coming to college. What is to become of our great old game if men persist in coming to college to study? We scarcely realize has been done and both the participants and the university have risen high in public esteem. But, the expression of appreciation must not be permitted to overstep the bounds of propriety and student body law.

The weasel thieves in silver suit
The rabbit runs in gray.
And Pan takes up his frosty flute
To pipe the cold away.
The flocks are folded, boughs are bare,
The salmon takes the sea;
And O my fair, would I somewhere
Might house my heart with thee.

INTER-FRATERNITY OPEN HOUSE HELD SATURDAY EVENING

One of the most anticipated and enjoyable affairs of the semester was the inter-fraternity Open House last Saturday evening. Guests visited the houses beginning with Sigma Tau which was from 7:30 until 8:30, then Epsilon Delta Mu from 8 until 9, Kappa Gamma Rho from 8:30 until 9:30 and Alpha Psi Delta from 9 until 10.

At the Sigma Tau fraternity, guests were received at the door by Earl Henry and introduced to the receiving line by the vice-president, Lucien Cobb. In the receiving line were Keith Rhodes, president; Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Dean and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gatzke, John Givens, Roderick Blatchford, Malcolm Medler, Theodore Mitzner, James McClintock and Royal Mumford.

Guests were conducted throughout the house and then to the dining room where Mary Lou Alken, Elma White, Jean White and Grace White served fruit cocktail and ladyfingers. During the hour Paul Trueblood played piano solos and William Tweedy played violin selections.

Wilburn Swafford and Richard Praetorius greeted callers at Epsilon Delta Mu. Kenneth La Viollette introduced them to the receiving line which was composed of Walter Hiff, president; Prof. and Mrs. Morton E. Peck, Prof. and Mrs. R. Dawin Burroughs, Henry Oberon, Prof. and Mrs. Earnest L. Richards and Louis Oberon. Music was furnished by Madge Reid at the grand piano. Serving in the dining room were Dorothy Jackson, Letha Miller, Clara Hersher and Fern Warner.

Visitors were welcomed to Kappa Gamma Rho by Frank Lombard and were introduced by Corneilus Bateson to Victor Carlson, president; Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Dr. John D. McCormick, Prof. and Mrs. Gustav Ebsen, John Russel and Glenn Stoneman. Kenneth McCormick played piano selections throughout the evening. In the dining room Margaret Woodard and Dorothy Williams poured while Esther King, Louise Findley, Margaret Arnold, and Mildred Gilbert assisted.

At Alpha Psi Delta fraternity, friends were met at the door by William McAllister, Willis Hathaway, vice-president, introduced the callers to the receiving line, in which were: Clare Geddes, president; Prof. and Mrs. Florian Von Eschen, Prof. and Mrs. Roy C. Harding and Harold Eakin. The guests were shown the house and served in the dining room by Eleanor Mereweather, Margaret Lewis, Lois Morris, Evelyn Hartung, Helen Baird poured during the evening. Favors were distributed by Genevieve Junk. Orchestra music added to the delight of the occasion.

MARIAN THOMAS ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT TO L. DETLING

Miss Marian Thomas was hostess at a prettily appointed formal four course luncheon 10 o'clock Saturday at the home of her father, C. J. Thomas, 597 E. 62nd St., North, Portland. The table was lovely with an oblong basket filled with pink roses and white carnations, chrysanthemums, and baby's breath and with four glowing pink tapers. The announcement of Miss Thomas' engagement to Lefroy Detling was made known by hand-painted place-cards on which were the pictures of the betrothed. "O Promise Me" was sung by Miss Cynthia Pier. Covers were laid for twelve.

Miss Thomas, who attended Willamette last year was a member of Adelante literary society and of the class of 1929. Prof. Lefroy Detling, who is on leave of absence this year attending the University of Paris, is professor of French at Willamette university.

Saturday night during dinner the engagement was announced at Lausanne Hall with a basket of pink roses.

Attending the affair from Lausanne Hall were Cynthia Pier and Alice Lane. Lillie Shold who attended W. U. last year was also a guest at the luncheon.

Q Time that spending very fast doth run.
And seems to swiftly flee as breaks each day.
That never doth the will of man obey.
But hastens toll with every set of sun.
'Tis thou who ends our years of childish fun.
Who bids us learn and hasten on our way.
Till all too soon we enter life's great fray.
And e'er we know, our days in earth are done.
What do we with the precious time He gave?
That we might teach all men with joy to sing,
E'er sleeping in the silent grave they lie.
Or stooping, lift a wand'rer from the wane.
And point him unto Jesus Christ the King.
That after death he live, no more to die.

—PAUL STAYTON.

We will never rest until we see a fraternity open house that is a real open house. There is too much deception about the whole business. Here are some of the things that the visitors missed on their tour of the houses Saturday evening:

THE CLOTHES CLOSETS OFF EACH OF THE ROOMS WHERE MOST OF THE ORDINARY EQUIPMENT WAS PILED SEVERAL FEET DEEP.

THE SHOWER BATH FROM WHICH ON ORDINARY OCCASIONS THE TONES OF THE HOUSE'S HIDDEN TALENT FLOAT OUT THROUGH THE BUILDING. THE YOUNG MAN IN 'DISHABILLE' WHO STANDS AT THE PHONE AND KIDS ALONG THE GIRLS.

Do come and see us some time when we are at home. But for gosh sakes knock!

William, will you bring my snowshoes.
