14 Make College 'Who'

Upperclassmen Represent WU In National Collegiate Listing

The names of 14 Willamette upperclassmen who will be listed in this year's issue of "Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges" were released today from the office of Dean Daniel H. Schulze. Those included in the WU section of the annual publication are Darlene Dickson, Miriam Jensen, Mary Margaret Livesay, Keith and Kent Markee, Nadene Mathews, Harriet Monroe, Ruth Matthews, Dix Moser, Ted Ogdahl, Ralph Schlesinger, Dick Stacer, Dorothy Tate and Eleanor Todd.

Three students who were juniors on last year's list and will automatically be included since they are still in school are Beulah Briggs, Bob Hamilton and Winston Taylor.

Students selected will submit biographical material to be used in short personality sketches appearing in the publication. Willamette's quota of 14 was based upon last year's enrollment.

Selections for the publication are based upon qualities of character, leadership, extra-curricular activities, scholarship, authority relative to student government and potential future in business.

Nominations for the honors were submitted by a committee consisting of Dean Daniel Schulze, chairman, Dean Chester F. Luther and Walter Erickson, dean of freshmen.

Board Names Cavern Heads

Keith and Kent Markee, juniors from Canby, have been selected co-managers of the Bearcat Cavern, the board of control announced this week. They are replacing Marge Maulding who is now acting as secretary to Dean Luther.

"To give as much as possible for the money and yet make ends meet is the emphasis we want to give," state the Markees, "and also we want the students to feel that it is everyone's project."

Howard Blanding will audit the books and make the monthly reports.

Ray Fedje is in charge of a group of frosh who are getting hot water piped from Collins hall.

"Motive" Available At Campus Bookstore

Subscriptions to Motive, monthly collegiate publication written and edited by college students and adult leaders selected by them, are now on sale at 50 cents a year in the bookstore, Winston Taylor, Willamette representative on the student editorial board, announced this week.

Make-up Aptitude Test To Be Given Monday

Make-up aptitude tests will be given Monday at 11:25 in Eaton hall, Dean Walter Erickson announced yesterday. All freshmen who have not taken it should be prepared to take it at that time. A pencil is all the equipment necessary.

'Novelty' Set For Frosh Glee Theme

"Novelty" is the theme selected for the 1943 Freshman Glee. The announcement was made this week by the Glee committee.

Ray Short, Jean Jackson and Betty Sackett were appointed by Prexy Bob Hamilton as the general glee committee. This committee will also select the judges and work with the freshman glee manager, according to general manager, L. J. Sparks.

It has been several years since the novelty theme was used but several existing songs as the "Cannibal King" and "Indian Rhythm" have developed from such a theme.

Cadet Wicks Visits Campus

A visitor on the campus this week was Clarence Wicks, former Willamette student now a cadet with the army air corps. Wicks had been elected to the post of second vice-president ASWU for this year but entered the service in the early summer.

He had been stationed at Santa Anna, Calif., until he was recently transferred to the field at Madras, Ore. Entering the service in the glider pilot training division, Wicks was later assigned to the air corps.

Campus Metal Drive Slated for Next Week

ASWU Prexy Bob Hamilton last night announced that an intensified scrap metal drive on the campus will begin sometime next week. Details of plans and names of students heading the program were not yet available when The Collegian went to press.

'Story' Ticket Sale Begins

Tickets for the Homecoming play, "Philadelphia Story" will be on sale today, it was announced this week. They may be secured from any member of the Little Theatre. Bob Ratcliffe is in charge of ticket sales.

Ralph Schlesinger is manager of the entire production, while Leroy Long has charge of the stage, and Edna Mae Hopper is in charge of properties. The posters that will soon be on display were made by David Foster.

Blue Key Initiates 13

Thirteen newly elected members of Blue Key, national honorary fraternity, were formally initiated at a banquet held Tuesday noon at the Golden Pheasant. The history of the organization was briefly traced by Bob Hamilton and the significance of the symbols on the key was explained by President Dick Stacer. Dean Daniel H. Schulze administered the oath.

Initiates include eight seniors, Bill Herrick, Harold Adams, Winston Taylor, Wally Olson, Peter Faminow, John Martin, Merle Palmer and Hume Downs; five juniors, Keith and Kent Markee, Ben Schaad, Ted Ogdahl and Dix Moser. Other members completing the traditional membership of 15 are Bob Hamilton and Dick Stacer. Dean Schulze is adviser for the organization.

Fusser's Guide Goes to Press

With the 1942-43 Fusser's Guide scheduled to go to press Monday, today is the last opportunity for filing changes in address, according to Miriam Jensen, editor. Cards on which name, home address, Salem address, telephone number and class should be placed by those who have not filled out a census card or who have since changed addresses, may be found in the Bearcat Cavern.

The guide contains a social calendar; the name, addresses, classes and phone numbers of Willamette university students; the names, addresses and phone numbers of the faculty, and the phone numbers of the university offices.

Dave Foster, special student in art, is in charge of the art work which is still being held secret.

Though plans have been made to send the guide to press Monday the definite date of distribution has not been confirmed, according to Miss Jensen.

Don Burton Submits Winning Entry; Thompson to Be Here Homecoming

Don Burton's entry, "Excuse It, Puget," was chosen yesterday as the slogan for the 1942 Homecoming celebration October 30-31. "Excuse It, Puget" will serve as the theme for Homecoming and for the living organizations' sign contest. It will appear on the programs being sent to 2000 parents and friends of the University.

Rivalry will be rife when Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, former Dean of Freshmen and vice-president of WU, now president of CPS, returns to the campus for Homecoming and the annual game between Willamette and CPS.

Smith Speaks In Portland

Dr. G. Herbert Smith returned to the campus late Tuesday after a two-day stay in Portland to fill speaking engagements.

On Monday morning he addressed the Ministerial Association at the First Methodist church. Portland's Chamber of Commerce heard him at noon and he was the guest speaker of the Kiwanis Club at Gresham Monday night. Dr. Smith spoke to the Methodist Deaconess Association of Portland Tuesday evening before returning to Salem.

Skinny Budget-- Thin Collegian

Thin this week, isn't it? The Collegian, we mean. This issue of the Collegian represents our no - retrenchment - even-though - we - do - have - a reduced - budget program. These four page editions will be few and far between, we promise (and we hope.) The situation is explained in an editorial on page 2.

Honorable mention went to "Knock 'L' Out of the Loggers," submitted by Leonard Smith, a freshman. More than 50 entries were dropped in the box at the Bearcat Cavern. Judging was based on originality and adaptability to the game with College of Puget Sound.

Other entries receiving consideration by the judges were "Wax the Jacks," "Put the Press on CPS," "Toppie Thompson's Tots," "Crank Frank," and "Pound Puget Sound." Judges were Dean of Freshmen Walt Erickson and the Homecoming committee members, Keith and Kent Markee, Sybil Spears, Eleanor Purcell, John Macy and Ward Miles.

Burton, a member of Kappa Gamma Rho, will receive two 75 dinners at the Bluebird and two tickets to the Grand theatre.

Further interest in Homecoming and rivalry between Willamette and CPS was assured yesterday when word was received from Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, president of CPS, saying that he would be on the Willamette campus for the Homecoming celebration. Thompson was formerly dean of freshmen at Willamette, and last year served as vice president of the university. He and President G. Herbert Smith will be honored guests and featured speakers at the dinner on the night of October 31.

Budgets Pass Exec. Council

Approval of the forensics, drama, social and general budgets and of the first semester social calendar was given by the ASWU executive council at a regular meeting held Tuesday night at the Golden Pheasant.

The decrease in enrollment has resulted in a general lowering of budget allotments although allocation of funds within the total budget sums has not been greatly altered. Major change is the reduction in the allotment for awards in the general budget. The publications budgets are awaiting approval by the publications board before their presentation to the council.

Events as scheduled on the first semester social calendar call for one major social event for each organization. "Major event" has been defined as one appearing on the calendar with other functions allowed with the approval of Dean Dahl's office. Complete social calendar will be published in next week's Collegian.

Have you had your Wallulah pictures taken yet, sophs? Tomorrow is the deadline for sophomore class pictures. The junior class is scheduled to start having pictures taken Monday at Kennell-Ellis studios in the fourth floor of the Oregon building corner of State and High.

Condition of Savage Reported 'Improved'

Reports received yesterday, indicated that Mr. N. S. Savage, business secretary of the university who has been ill in the Deaconess hospital since Saturday, is showing marked improvement.

Collegian Features and Editorials

War Program . . .

The Collegian issue which you are now reading represents one of the first evidences of a war-curtailed program of student activity at Willamette. A decrease in enrollment has naturally brought about a decrease in ASWU funds, and student activities, including publications, must necessarily put themselves on an emergency basis. This point was clearly emphasized at a budget hearing of the executive council this week.

In cutting down to four pages for this issue The Collegian has as its theme, purpose rather than retrenchment. A temporary slow-up now will make less probable the complete suspension of publication later such as has threatened in crisis of previous years. We do by no means intend to make a reduced paper the rule rather than the exception.

The Collegian will try to maintain a full production schedule of thirty regular issues during the year. Most issues will contain our usual eight pages, and tentative plans call for two or three extra-large special editions during the year, but it must be realized that an occasional reduction in the number of pages may be necessary to enable us to produce a paper each week in spite of a slashed budget.

Our advertisers are supporting us and will continue to do so to the degree that our student body supports them. By cooperation with the advertisers you may do much to help your publication through a critical year.

However, no matter what the number of issues or the number of pages per issue may be, The Collegian will continue, as in the past, to collect, segregate and condense news so as to as nearly as possible give an honest and complete representation of life on the Willamette campus.

Staglines . . .

We are inclined to agree to some extent with a local newspaper column which declared this week that Friday night there fell by the wayside another traditional opinion: that no-date dances can't be any fun. The rally dance last Friday night seemed to furnish enjoyment for a great many of those present.

That is, those that danced had fun. But what's in a dance if you don't dance?

Staglines aren't to be looked at as just so many spectators.

No-date dances are designed to let more students participate in an activity to which all contribute. But there were more, of both sexes, who watched and waited than there were dancers.

Said one pretty gal, "Frankly, no, I'm not having a good time. I came to dance, but this isn't leap year."

That leaves it up to the men—or doesn't "wolf" apply any more?—W. T.

Dear PRIVATE JOHNNY

Darling:

By the time you get this I'll be quite normal again but just now I'm very nasty. It's rush week and I'm so tired of criticizing people, especially my sisters in other sororities. Dr. Lovell in chapel Tuesday said nations are people bound together by a common area of origin and common dislike for their neighbors and I think the latter is what holds together one sorority against another in times like this week. I for one, will be glad when it's over and we can smile sincerely at an APA.

Speaking of definitions, Dr. Sherman slipped into one the other day that appealed to me, although I doubt if he wouldn't endorse it actually. He said, "A philosopher is simply one who is not satisfied simply." Pretty good, yes?

As a former member of the glorious class of '43 you may be interested to know that they have begun Freshman Glee practice. The other night, Monday, I guess, and again Tuesday, there they were, both of them, in Waller, marching and singing. What threw me was that it was last year's song they were singing until I went to chapel Wednesday and then I knew. It was the first of the student sings to be held at 11:20 on Wednesdays from now on, I guess. This time, each class sang its glee song and the freshmen rendered—and I do mean apart—certain school songs, especially "The Old Historic Temple." It's fun though and I think Smith has an idea there; he won't need a special invitation to chapel in the form of a threat for non-attendance if we students enjoy them that much always.

I met a little boy on my way to school this morning. A very little boy, understand. As I passed him he turned and grinned and said "Do you go to college?" "Yes." He said, "So does my sister." "Oh that's nice. You're about ready yourself, aren't you? What grade are you?" "I'm in the fourth." Pause. "But today I have a cold."

You know, the Collegian staff has finally solved a mystery, or "what became of the lost copy?" In the hole in which they slave (believe me they have chains on the typewriters; of course they say they're to hold the machines down but I think it's the staff), there is an elaborate bulwark of partitions reminiscent of former grandeur and some black letters and an arrow indicating, "Copy Box." To the initiated this is an obsolete arrangement and current copy is deposited in the box on the editor's desk. But recently, not recent enough however, because the stuff was a week or so old, they found a wad of stories in the ancient receptacle. Some timid freshman, no doubt, had dropped them and run.

Down in the same region there's another phenomenon, Prexy Ham Bones, I mean, Bones Hamilton's apartment. Really, it's too cozy. We think he should have open house and serve tea, or something.

Now don't get mad. I had a letter from Bob Blanding who's in Midshipman's school at Northwestern. He told how his muchly appreciated Collegians travel the rounds. You see, Bruce Van Wyngarden and Bob Price are there, too.

Well, I could hint some more about weddings and things—did you know that June Dimond just up and eloped with Tink this weekend? Or that Bettliellen Payne is wearing Danny's ring on that important finger? Or that Jean Moore Williams is back on the campus looking happy enough to burst? But I won't mention them, else you'd think I was hinting. Hoping you are the same,

WILLA

Love

Our New Faculties . . .

Three of Willamette's newest faculty members, Miss Frances Doughty, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, and Mrs. Emily Stone, are among the busiest women on the campus. Fortunately, none is so busy that she hasn't time to speak a good word for WU.

Miss Doughty spends her free time cleaning her lecture room in Collins hall. A mathematics and accounting instructor, she received her AB and MA from Stanford during the time when Dean Chester F. Luther was earning his doctorate at that school. Before coming to Willamette this year, Miss Doughty spent six years teaching math and accounting to students in Clark junior college. She was dean of women and bursar during part of that time. Here is one teacher who enjoys her work, for Miss Doughty proudly proclaims that her students actually come to class to learn something!

Our new registrar, Mrs. Emily Stone, is a graduate of UCLA and has also gained quite an extensive musical education. During her college days she played a flute in the Sacramento Symphony. Her instructor was Julius Furmann, first flutist in the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. In addition to playing the flute and performing the duties of the registrar, Mrs. Stone cares for her most prized possession, a 19 months-old daughter named Donna Carolyn.

Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, who holds a degree in library science, is the assistant librarian who succeeded Mrs. Dorothy Shinn last summer. Miss Kennedy, a native of Minnesota, completed her college work at the University of Denver this year. Last May when she first came to Oregon, Miss Kennedy was very impressed by the beautiful flowers of the state. Ever since she has enjoyed her days in the Beaver State's oldest school.

The Collegian Ain't What She Used to Be!

"Willamette Administers An Awful Drubbing to Vancouver"—that, believe it or not, kiddies, was a double headline on a Willamette Collegian thirty years ago. On the same page is a smaller head, "Montana Game Certain." Cocky, weren't they?

But by further investigation we see some proof of anticipated prowess, for the score with Vancouver Barracks, the pride of Uncle Sam, was 71 to 0, which as an associate remarked, is a heck of a beating not to mention an awful drubbing.

The official campus organ of thirty years ago was a five column paper about the same size and shape as today's version. The paper which it was printed on, however, was of the "slick" variety and the make-up and head styles were in the fashion of the times—tombstone is the word, we believe. The news covered the same activities as today with variations, as for instance all fraternal society news came from the Philadonian and Philadorian groups, technically literary societies and the forerunners of the present sororities and frats.

But it is the dissimilarity that interest and amuse, as the different standard of conduct expected of college students as revealed in editorials or letters to the editor. Would you feel properly chastized by the following editorial, entitled, "A Hint," appearing in the Collegian for February 19, 1913.

"If some girls really know the effect of their giddy familiarity and if some fellows were a little more thoughtful and honorable, there would be a change in the public actions of some people about the University. The matter is mentioned with hesitancy, but in the hope that a hint will bring a few people to their senses."

Or would you, like us, be in doubt as to who some people were, what some people were doing and how did they find out?

Then there's the Annual Booze, that is, Anti-booze banquet, announced for Friday at 7 p.m. at the city WCTU. Everyone invited. Or again, with a headline, "Holy Smoke!" the YMCA Smoker is referred to. Another head appeals to would-be band members, "Tooters Organized to Toot." Or this one as a sign of the times, "Suffragette Club Organized at Lausanne."

Tucked away at the bottom of columns, for the editors were apparently faced with the same problem of more space than copy, are such little gems as these: "The Associated Student Body of the University of Washington has a debt of $8000 on hand." "Charles Ohling was under the weather last week and went to his home in Albany for two or three days."

But we're not being critical, and certainly not in the face of appealing notices like the following. We find thirty years have not changed our common problem in producing a newspaper.

"Persons having contributions for The Collegian are respectfully requested to write illegibly with a very hard pencil. Otherwise, the editor and the linotype operator might find out what you are trying to tell."

Betrothal Announced At Dance

Highlights of the student body dance Friday evening was the surprise announcement of the engagement of Miss Ruth Burgoyne to Mr. Pat White. Robert Hamilton, student body president, told the news to the large group of students at the dance.

Miss Burgoyne, a junior, is vice-president of Alpha Phi Alpha. She is prominent in musical activities on the campus and a member of the capella choir. She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Burgoyne of Hood River.

A hayride leads the list of class activities so far and the sophomores are giving it exclusively among themselves tonight. At 7 o'clock they are planning to start out in trucks that have hay strung around and they are going to end up at Hazelgreen where they will dance in the hall. Refreshments will also be served there.

Beth Nordean is general chairman of the affair and Betty Jeanne Smith and Bill Hanauska are assisting her.

Injuries Plague Bearcats Through Breather Period

Though they don't have a game scheduled for nearly two weeks the Bearcat gridders have been going through a hectic week of blocking and tackling practice on Sweetland field. Yesterday they turned their practice time into an intra-squad scrimmage.

Efforts to promote a game with one of the local army camp has been in vain, as it seems the army is too busy to take on any football games. Hopes are still up that a game may be scheduled for next week, however.

Those freshmen who have shown promise during the last two weeks are Schmidt, Erolini and Donovan in the line, while Douglas, Hardy, Herr and Straesser have shown improvement in their backfield positions.

Accidents are also with the 'Cats this week. Diener, Herr and Straesser have been out for a few days and won't be back until sometime next week. Straesser is still in the hospital because of an injury he "acquired" during last week's game. He is reported as resting well and should be back at practice in 10 days. Captain Teddy Ogdahl has been suffering with a foot injury for the last two days, so he is out of the grid picture for awhile.

WU Drubs Linfield

Two Gridders Leave Sunday

Further crippling Willamette's wartime football team is the announcement that Marshall Barbour and Ralph Rude, because of their Army Reserve Air Corps standing, have been ordered to leave Sunday for Kelley Field, Texas, to begin their flight training.

Both lads are veteran 'Cat gridders and will be missed greatly in the lineup of future games. Barbour is a two year letterman and played end, while Rude is a one year letterman who also plays end.

WAA

Good going girls—These girls are the new members of WAA through their work in soccer: Mary Alice Bartholomew, Betsy May Brunsen and Catherine Rohrs.

Attention girls—Freshmen to seniors: Basketball begins Monday at 4 o'clock. Mary Bennett urges all to turn out Monday for relaxation and acquaintance with the game. Upper classmen be sure to report to the gym for intramural sports.

Wildcats Eke Out First Tally in Eight Years; Ogdahl Sparks Team

Sparked by Teddy Ogdahl, Willamette captain and full-back, the Bearcats scored a 33 to 7 verdict over the fighting Linfield college eleven Friday on Sweetland field.

This marked the first time in eight years that the Linfield eleven has scored a point against the Willamette team. The scoring opportunity came in the last quarter when the Linfield sparkplug, Bill Stewart, fired the ball to Warren Bohn to the Willamette 30-yard line and a first down. Three more tries by Stewart gained nine yards, but a penalty against Willamette for offside gave Linfield a first down on the Willamette 16-yard line.

HAB'S GAB

By Bill Habernicht

Turning back to the Portland U-Willamette game, we find that the only thing left to do before filing it away for another year is to send the traditional Portland U-Willamette football plaque to the rose city. We of Willamette won't forget it, however, and will be ready to bring it back home in '43.

Ex-gridder Goes Down Fighting

Jack Ferguson, a onetime Bearcat halfback, was killed in action over England, while serving in the Canadian Air Force, we were informed this week. We found that Jack didn't let his athletic ability stand idle while he was out of Willamette. He travelled from Salem to Calgary after he left Willamette and there he put his ability to work for the Calgary Braves. He was also active in Archie McKinnons track and field team in Victoria during his stay in Canada.

At this time Coach Spec Keene sent his entire first team into the game to stop the Linfield threat, but Fullback Jack Parker shot an aerial to Stewart for six and then Stewart ploughed to Linfield's third straight first down on the three-yard stripe on a cut-back through the right side of the Bearcat line. The Bearcats held for three downs, but with only a foot to go Parker plunged at center and went over. Stewart place-kicked the seventh point.

'Cats Started Early

Willamette started off early in the first quarter after Linfield kicked off and with Ogdahl doing most of the ball toting, which included jaunts of 23 and 25 yards at a crack, the Bearcats were soon knocking on the touchdown door. After a clipping penalty which set Keene's men back to the 20, Cecil Connors' pass was intercepted by Chuck Gilmer to end that threat.

Stewart then booted to the Willamette 21-yard line, where passes from Connors to Barbour and gains by Ogdahl put the Bearcats first and goal on the Linfield five. Chuck Furno then took the ball on a man-in-motion reverse to the left and went over the goal for the first Willamette tally. Willamette made it 12 to 0 shortly into the second period on a sustained drive from her own 20. Six minutes later Ken Jacobsen's sneak play made it 18-0 and Willamette broke Ogdahl loose around his own left end for the point just before the end of the half.

Connors-Ogdahl

Connors passing and Ogdahl's smashing, one play a lateral from Connors to Ogdahl good for 22 yards, set up Willamette's fourth touchdown five minutes into the third quarter. Six consecutive smashes by Ogdahl from the 17 sent him over and made it 26-0. Jacobsen place-kicked perfectly with Furno holding.
