

Willamette Covers Hill's $50,000

Trustees Lay Plans for the Future

THREE YEARS' WORK CROWNED BY SUCCESS

Campaign to be Continued for $100,000 for Building and Endowment

$250,000 new endowment is now in the banks in the name of Willamette University. The trustees of Willamette in their meeting at the Taylor Street M. E. Church yesterday considered the report of President Homan, examined the securities and bank reports of the endowment balance and have officially ordered President Homan to write to Hon. James J. Hill that Willamette is able to comply with the terms that he stipulated for his gift of fifty thousand dollars. The announcement that the conditions for securing Senator Booth's $100,000 were practically complete was made, so that this will be forthcoming soon.

Immediate plans were laid, however, for securing $100,000 more to be used for further endowment to meet a deficit in current expense incurred while the endowment campaign was pushed, and for a building fund, to add to Senator Booth's $50,000 for building.

Dr. Homan was instructed to hire a special man to collect the outstanding subscriptions for endowment. Willamette has in her possession over what she had a year ago, $250,000 in absolute securities or gold coin of the United States, besides the notes of many prominent Methodists for sums ranging from a few dollars to several thousand dollars. These notes will be collected by the special man as soon as possible and the additional $100,000 will go to help place the "Greater Willamette" campus on a "better looking basis."

Willamette has in her long life seen many money campaigns conducted for her benefit and to keep her from bankruptcy, but this past struggle for $550,000 has been to place her among the schools in the country as a well-endowed institution having the prestige among the other educational centers that she could not have without a permanent backing.

Four years ago the trustees secured the services of President Fletcher Homan, who immediately started to raise the endowment and also to put the University upon a permanent scholastic basis. After spending two years in work and preparing for the big campaign he felt the need of an assistant in his big work, so the trustees elected Rev. Edw. H. Todd as vice-president. He is lecturer for Willamette and co-worker in the endowment campaign.

The work of the two men has been highly efficient in other fields where they have had financial and educational connections with schools. Dr. Homan raised an endowment of $125,000 for Simpson College of Indianola, Iowa, his Alma Mater. Dr. Todd was vitally connected with the University of Puget Sound of Tacoma, Washington, for six years. He raised the finances for that institution and lectured throughout Washington. Their reports to the trustees yesterday afternoon were highly gratifying. After three years of hard, consistent work, they were able to present to the trustees in a concrete way an endowment of over $300,000 and the notes of responsible individuals for many thousands more.

PERMANENT PLANS FOR CAMPUS LAID

Other Important Matters Decided at Trustees Meeting Yesterday

The semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Willamette University, which was held in Portland yesterday, coming as it did at the culmination of the great endowment campaign and at a time when Willamette must lay a broad foundation for the future, was by far the most important of recent years. Any one of several actions taken would have marked it as noteworthy, and the fact that all came at once makes it distinctly out of the ordinary.

The big subject for consideration was the policy for the future development of the University, both as to campus, buildings and curriculum. The need for a campus plan and a standard of style for future structures has long been felt, but till yesterday had received no definite action by the trustees. By their action, an architect is to be employed at once who will investigate the present buildings to determine which may be profitably retained and which must leave the campus. He will also draw up plans for a building standard, which shall be adhered to throughout all the development of the University. In making this permanent plan, the immediate building needs will not be neglected, but they will be worked out to fit in with the general plan. At the same time, a landscape artist will plot the campus and insure its beautification along artistic lines. It is the desire and purpose of President Homan and the trustees that the Willamette University campus shall be the beauty spot of Salem and noted throughout the state and Methodism as having one of the most attractive plants to be found.

The immediate need of a new girls' dormitory, which has for some time been recognized, came in for discussion. Nothing definite was done, but the University authorities will endeavor to find some person who is willing to finance the erection of such a building. It is not probable that the building will be on the campus by next fall unless some one who will give it is found very quickly, but there is every reason to believe that the following year will see the Willamette girls installed in a new home.

With regard to the development of the University along scholastic lines, the trustees are determined that the College of Liberal Arts, the heart of the University, shall rank second to none. Not content with the fact that it is now a standard college, they propose to make it equal to the best in every way, and plans to that effect will be put into execution at once. The matter of the affiliated schools was also taken up, but The Collegian is unable to state just what was said or done about them. A committee was appointed which will investigate the standards, maintenance, and kindred matters, and will report to the Board at a future meeting with recommendations as to the action of that body.

Recognizing the crying need of the library for up-to-date reference books for the aid of student research work, an appropriation of $300 was made for the purchase of the books most

FRED B. SMITH SPEAKS AT TUESDAY'S CHAPEL

Discussion on Education and Its Relation to Life Is Evangelistic.

INTERNATIONAL Y. M. QUARTET SINGS

Smith, With Raymond Robins and the Quartet, on Trip Around World on Men and Religion Movement.

The presence of Fred B. Smith and the International Association Quartet marked Tuesday's chapel service as extraordinary. After a hearty ovation from the student body, the quartet sang "Remember Now Thy Creator," and "God Is Love," and the excellence of these numbers was appreciated by all.

Mr. Smith's address was strong and inspiring. From a breezy introduction, in which was very evident his keen wit and humor, he passed to an impressive and interesting discussion of education and its relation to life. His definition is: "Education is learning to solve some problem," or to quote F. Hopkinson Smith, "Education is being onto one's job." This should be the aim of education.

He said in brief: "Be a real student; get the best out of everything in college and be active in college affairs. Oftentimes the lonely 'character' of the University who has to struggle with his studies, and is out of place in society, is the one who is having time to think great thoughts. 'Get a solid Christian character as the basis of your life. In all the flow of civilization the men and women who have raised the standard of character have been swayed by the emo-

BASKET BALL WORK IS TAKEN UP IN EARNEST

A Few Good Men Appear, But Material in General Mediocre—Center Position a Problem.

Basketball practice was resumed last Monday by a squad of about twenty, made up of sharks and otherwise, the latter being in the majority, and a snappy practice it was. Of the old men, only Homan and Hepp were out, but in spite of that a large quantity of class was shown and the prospects for a good season are not at all gloomy. The practice itself came as a surprise for it was not known but a few hours before that the floor had recovered sufficiently from the generous coat of oil administered by Pfaff while the rest of the school were enjoying the holidays. To this fact was due the small turnout and a bunch of at least thirty is expected to warm the floor hereafter.

Guard material is fairly plentiful, and at present Young, the Mickey brothers, and Reynolds are showing up well. Forwards are somewhat scarcer and Shisler and Tallman are about the size of the new ones. However, it is a promising bunch and they are all willing workers and a fighting squad is assured. The three veterans are all forwards, but one of them may be shifted to the center position.

The schedule is rather in the dark at present, but four games are practically assured, two each with Oregon and O. A. C. Several others will doubtless be played with Chemawa, Multnomah and such teams as wander out this way in search of worlds to conquer.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL ELECTS GRIDIRON-TRACK MANAGERS

Paget for 1913 Gridiron Season, Blackwell for Track, Are Chosen—Other Matters Are Discussed.

The Athletic Council held its first meeting of the year at Lausanne Hall Jan. 13. At that time, Merwyn Paget was elected manager of football for the season of 1913. Harley Blackwell was tendered the track managership to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ray Smith. H. B. Jory will retain the assistant managership.

A lengthy discussion took place concerning Willamette's entrance to the Conference. The general sentiment prevailed that something should be done as soon as financial conditions will permit. This matter will be more fully discussed at a meeting to be held within the next month.

The members present were: Miss Jessie Young, who presided; Dr. G. C. Bellinger, Burgess Ford of Estacada, Dr. Sweetland and Eric Bolt.

LEGISLATIVE HOUSES ORGANIZED

Malarkey and McArthur, Both of Multnomah, Preside Over Senate and House, Respectively.

At 10:05 o'clock Monday morning, both houses of the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon opened its twenty-seventh biennial session.

The temporary organizations were soon effected in both houses, P. O. Bonebrake of Benton being Speaker pro tem and W. W. Calkins of Lane temporary President of the Senate. Hon. C. N. McArthur of Multnomah was unanimously chosen Speaker of the House just before noon and accepted the responsibility of the office with a very able speech. The House then adjourned until afternoon, when Governor West's message was read and the regular permanent organization effected.

Hon. Dan J. Malarkey of Multnomah was elected permanent President of the Senate by a vote of twenty-seven to three, after Sen. S. W. Joseph of Multnomah had arraigned him upon every conceivable charge, ending with the nomination of Sen. Butler of The Dalles for President. Standing room was at a premium and a noticeable thrill went over the crowd when Sen. Joseph began his fiery speech, and the keenest interest was evinced by all during the time he held the floor. But in spite of the enthusiasm and fire of his opponents, the only votes registered against Malarkey were those of Joseph and Kel-laher—and his own. After the new President of the Senate had taken the oath of office, administered by the Chief Justice of Oregon, and had made a few remarks expressing his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him, the Senate adjourned.

McArthur is taking the speakership for the second time, having held it at the session four years ago.

Y. W. C. A. SECRETARY ADDRESSES LADIES THIS WEEK

The Y. W. C. A. meeting of this week is to be addressed by Miss Wheelton, secretary of the Portland association, on the subject, "The Social and Economic Value of the City Y. W. C. A." Miss Wheelton was formerly a student and teacher in this city and has a wide circle of friends here. She is a delightful speaker, and it is hoped that the girls of the university will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing her.

At the close of the meeting there will be a public business session, followed by a social tea.

Misses McMahon and Bradley are both able to be around again after the second attack of the dreaded grip.

CAMPUS POLITICIANS TO SHOW LEGISLATORS JUST HOW TO DO IT

Philodorians and Websterians Organize for Realistic Mock Session.

PROF. PATTERSON ELECTED GOVERNOR

Senate Composed of Eleven Men From Each Society Rest in House— Leaders Refuse Interviews.

Be it known that the state of Willamette has convened its third legislature for the enactment of laws and measures that will try to govern this great and venerable commonwealth. On last Wednesday evening the two august bodies of men, ensemble, met in the first session and adopted rules and some regulations that will control the Mock Legislature for the coming six weeks.

Governor-elect Gaylord Patterson, who was elected at the joint session Wednesday, will sign or reject all measures that the newly created legislature will see fit to pass their two houses and will be given the privilege of making a speech upon his inauguration.

This year, the two societies are organized upon a different basis than before. Formerly, they as organizations represented the two divisions of the Legislature, but this year, in accord with the advanced thinking of the day, have elected eleven senators from each society and the remainder will convene as the lower house. Each body will elect its presiding officer. The rules of the State Legislature will govern as far as is possible.

Politics have become rampant since the meeting last week. Would-be leaders are forming their parties; Platforms are as thick as centipedes'

PROF. WALSH PUTS FINAL TOUCHES ON GERMAN PLAY

"Minna von Barnhelm" to be Staged at the Grand, Jan 24th—Cast Is Experienced.

Under the able direction of Prof. Walsh, the members of the "Minna von Barnhelm" cast have rounded into splendid form and are now receiving the finishing of the Herr Professor. The play, which is being presented by Teutonia, the University German society, is billed for Friday evening, Jan. 24, at the Grand opera house.

This is not the first production the club has staged, but it is the most ambitious and promise to be the biggest thing of its kind ever presented at the University.

The cast is large and the individuals comprising it are nearly all old hands at the business. The director, Prof. Walsh, needs no praise, as his work in the past, here and at other institutions, has proved him an excellent play-producer. The players are all students of German—the language in which the play will be presented.

The production was written by Lessing, the most beloved of German dramatists. The plot is unique and the settings promise to be something new and attractive.

All costuming is being done by Portland and New York firms and much money is being expended to make the affair a success.

Tickets will be on sale next week and will be in the hands of the members of the Teutonia Club.

TO WILLAMETTE' REVERED BENEFACTORS.

All honor to Robert A. Booth and James J. Hill, Willamette's honored benefactors! When the shadows rested heavily on this University, these men came forward with offers which gave untold impetus to the movement which has resulted in placing Willamette on a sound and permanent financial footing.

All honor to President Homan and Vice-President Todd, who have labored unceasingly to put this University where they knew it ought to be! They, too, coming in the time of shadow, have found the silver lining of the cloud.

All honor to the hundreds of persons, devoted faculty members, loyal students, anxious friends, who by contributions, words, or by whatever means, have made possible the greatest forward step in the history of Willamette University!

All have worked for one cause. We hope all have been actuated by the same great ideals which moved the leaders in the campaign. Such men as these, consecrating their wealth and their lives for the cause of Christian education, may well serve as worthy objects of imitation by Willamette students when they have passed from these scenes to the more active life of men.

The support of such men insures to Willamette a widened sphere of influence. The past has been glorious. We must not forget that this is "Old Willamette." The future is bright, and we will all work together for the "New Willamette."

CAMPUS POLITICS.

The "caucus" made its appearance on the campus, or near it, yesterday. Party lines are drawing down around the young politicians tightly. This paper must, in protection to itself and its policy of an open hand to everybody, declare itself for clean politics and an independent policy. We have a reporter covering the sessions, and the untarnished facts will be published. The ranting of the mob and the slick schemer will receive a cold reception in our office. We are independent.

GOV. HOCH TO LECTURE.

The fourth number on the Star Lyceum Course will be given next Thursday evening in the Christian Church auditorium. Ex-Governor E. W. Hoch of Kansas is to lecture. The Governor has the reputation of having been one of Kansas' most progressive and conscientious chief executives. His messages are full of instruction and inspiration, dealing with social, civic and political questions.

While Rikicadza Okomato, a Japanese student, was working the laboratory yesterday afternoon, the contents of a crucible he was heating exploded, injuring his left eye. It is thought the injury will not be serious.

Mr. and Mrs. "Billy" Booth of Portland were in Salem last Saturday visiting friends.

Miss Edna Seymour did not return to school after the Christmas vacation. Miss Jessie Young entertained Sunday at a dinner party consisting of Misses Pennington, Bartholomew and Young, and Messrs. Oakes, Young and Weider.

Miss Georgia Starr, student at Willamette in 1910, was the guest of Miss Gertrude Reeves Sunday afternoon.

WILLAMETTE HAS LARGEST Y. M. C. A. DELEGATION

Power of the Great Speakers, Smith and Robins, Controls Audiences.

A delegation of twenty-two men returned last Monday from what they announce to be the best convention ever held in Oregon. This was the Fifteenth Annual Convention of the Oregon-Idaho Y. M. C. A. held at Pacific University, Forest Grove, on Jan. 10, 11 and 12.

Willamette had the banner delegation, having twenty-two delegates. These men are returning with an infinitely wider view of things, and an inspiration for the work of the Y. M. C. A. and imbued with the idea of greater service.

Fred B. Smith, well known as International Secretary and foremost speaker of the Y. M. C. A., and Raymond Robins, prominent social service worker, were the leading speakers. They are now on a trip around the world, accompanied by the International Association Quartet, which also figured in every session.

The convention opened with last year's chairman, Pres. Homan, in the chair. A scholarly and powerful address was delivered by Dr. Boyd, of Portland, on "The Bible in Its Relation to Education." This was an excellent foundation for the rest of the convention.

At the business meeting, the new officers of the convention were elected, the chair being filled by J. P. Congdon, a wide-awake man from Idaho.

The Bible readings throughout the three days were given by Prof. Coleman, of Reed College, Portland. These were an attractive and highly beneficial item in the convention.

Raymond Robins' first address was given Saturday morning. The words of such a man who is devoting a fruitful life and a fortune dug from Alaskan mines to the social and economic problems of the day, were given the utmost attention. This first address was on "The Efficient Christian and the Social Message." It was inspiring in every way.

A survey of the field was given, Mr. Congdon speaking for Idaho, and Hon. R. A. Booth representing Oregon.

The sectional conferences of Saturday afternoon were intensely practical. The meeting for students was addressed by Mr. Smith, Mr. Robins, and Assistant-Secretary Brown, and consisted of a discussion of workable plans for student associations.

At 6 o'clock Saturday came the long-awaited banquet. A tip-top dinner was served by the ladies of the town, and as the "absorbing" power of the guests diminished, their spirits arose and expended their superfluous ardor in cheers, songs and toasts. As usual, this banquet was the jolly time of the convention and excellent toasts were given and the quartet sang several selections.

In the evening, Raymond Robins again addressed a house packed to the doors, his subject being "The Men and Religion Movement."

The Sunday afternoon meeting for men was the most impressive and the most powerful of all. Fred B. Smith spoke on "America's Greatest Sin," and the church full of men were swayed by the mighty message, and at the end of the service thirty-five men took a stand for Christ. This was not the end of its effect. Every man was "waken up" and strengthened with a determination of greater service.

The evening service had all that charm which usually is present at the end of a great convention. The address was delivered by Fred B. Smith in a grand and broad survey. "A World-wide Vision of the Christian Faith." This was especially an appeal for greater interest in foreign mission work.

And then the "endless chain" of the farewell meeting and the closing hymn ended the convention.

The reports of the year show a great work done, and a constant growth in all fields, and the outlook is everywhere encouraging.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION ADVOCATED IN MONTANA

Plan Proposed to Unite Present Normal, School of Mines, Aggie College and the University.

There is a plan on in the state of Montana for the "creation of a Greater University" to be brought about by the consolidation of the present isolated institutions of higher learning—the University, the Agricultural College, the Normal School, and the School of Mines—at some city which is desirably located.

On Dec. 23, between 40 and 50 of the prominent citizens from all parts of the state met at Helena and organized the Association for the Creation of a Greater University of Montana. The purpose of this association is given in full as follows:

"1. To consolidate the four higher educational institutions of the state in order to prevent the educational and financial waste brought about by the maintenance of separate and isolated institutions.

"2. To establish, instead of the four institutions, a greater University of Montana to be situated in or near some city suitable by reason of its railroad connections, climate and water and health conditions to be a great seat of learning.

"3. To work for the creation of a splendid system of polytechnic high schools which are at the present time so much needed; this to be brought about by means of (a) the utilization of all the present plants that would otherwise be abandoned, (b) the utilization of the military post at Fort Assiniboine if the government turns it over to the state, and (c) the establishment of similar schools in other sections of the state as they may from time to time be needed.

"4. To impress on the attention of philanthropic persons, especially men of great means, the desirability of aiding the development of the University of Montana, through the provision of buildings and endowments.

"5. To arouse public sentiment in favor of education and to arouse the enthusiasm of the people to the unsurpassed educational possibilities of the great commonwealth of Montana."

Among the organizations back of the move are the State Board of Education, which unanimously adopted resolutions recommending that the legislature consolidate the institutions and pledging the members of the above association to do all within their power to bring about the result that is sought; the faculty of the present university, which is in hearty sympathy with the plan; the university student body, and the alumni, both of which associations unanimously adopted resolutions favoring the consolidation, and many other organizations which are loud in voicing their sentiments for a "Greater University of Montana."

Adelphians Meet in Y. W. Room.

The Adelphians had a very interesting program last Friday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rest room. Roll call was answered by New Year resolutions. Next, Miss Wisman gave a reading on resolutions. Miss Mae Ashly gave a very instructive paper on "How to Deliver a Debate." Miss McCaddam read a good paper on the advance of aviation. Miss McKinney gave an original story, and Miss Ambrose and Miss McCully sang a duet. Parliamentary practice was lead by Miss Todd.

Quartet Gets Together.

A pleasant reunion was that of the old Willamette quartet of the last four years, when all happened to be in Salem last Sunday. Of the members, "Jimmie" Oakes, "Billy" Booth, Ross McIntire and "Slim" Anderson, all but Anderson completed their college careers last spring. They got together to "tune up" and sang at the morning service of the M. E. Church.

Ladies Raise $300 for Endowment.

The Women's Willamette League of this city held a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Weller. The women have already raised three hundred dollars for the endowment fund, and are working hopefully with plans for the future, which are not as yet to be made public.

WALLULAHS GO FAST IN BIG CHAPEL MEETING

NEW FEATURES WILL ADD TO THE ATTRACTIVENESS.

Staff Work Hard—Students Must Have Subscriptions in Before Book Goes to Press.

The Wallulah of the class of '14 made its first appeal to the gathered highbrows at last Monday's chapel. They say that it will be the best yet. Every page will be new, thrilling, incomprehensible, superb, immaculate, astonishing, concrete—in short, the best advertising for Willamette that has been put out for some time.

The students were given their first idea of the edition and its novel features by a short talk by Errol Gilkey, editor of the book, and Ralph Homan, business manager.

The cut and dried jokes will be nil if the announced plans of Editor Gilkey are successful. He has placed a valuation on the student who has the keenest sense of humor. The one who can hand in the best collection of jokes with local setting—strong accent on the local—will be given an annual free, gratis. Some other features that will be made are a short history of early Willamette; a story that has not been published in local papers; a history that will team with the early days when Willamette was in the jungle and the only trails offered access to its doors for the pioneers who thirsted for knowledge. The individual pictures of the classes will be appreciated by the older students who have passed through the sieges of former years to "get took" en masse. Each classman will have his picture taken individually. The alumni directory will meet a long felt want. It is a new addition to the annual.

The subscription list for the issue was begun at the Monday morning meeting. Nearly a hundred students made their first payment of a dollar, and many others handed in their names for a reservation of an annual. Ralph Homan, business manager, said, "There will not be more Wallulaha issued than there are orders. The orders must be in my hands before the book goes to press, which will be sometime near the first of April." A lively campaign has been carried on in the alumni circles, and will be further advanced by other methods not used so far.

Students who have not paid their dollar for a book may see one of the canvassers and get a receipt upon the payment. The receipt that is issued together with another dollar and a half will secure a book. This advance payment has been necessary by the experience of past years. Many students would feel generous with themselves when the orders were taken, but would refuse to take the book when it was printed. They had forgotten that they had ordered.

Those in the Liberal Arts who will receive your money are: Errol Gilkey, Ralph Homan and Harley Blackwell; Laws, "Shorty" Tallman; Medics, Anderson. Every department will have space in the book.

TEAMS TOO AMBITIOUS

Sophomores, Freshmen and Preps Lose to Y. M. C. A., Silverton and Independence.

The Freshman, Sophomore and Prep basketball teams all got too ambitious last week and accordingly returned from games at Silverton, the Y. M. C. A., and Independence, respectively, somewhat the worse for wear and decidedly untalkative as to their scores.

Thursday the Sophomores played the city Y. M. C. A. team. This game resulted in a score of 39 to 14 in favor of the Y. M. C. A.

The Freshmen met defeat at the hands of the Silverton Commercial Club. Score 58-7. Independence, coached by Ross McIntire, won handily from the preps, 46-18.

A new graduate manager has been elected to take charge of all the student body affairs at the University of Washington. Ralph Horr, '11, was chosen manager, receiving nine out of eleven votes cast. He will receive a salary of $1600 a year.

Leslie Burdett has had to leave school, on account of the illness of his father at Canby, Oregon.

JACOBS-BOND PROGRAM CAPTURES SALEM AUDIENCE

Program Was Composed of Popular Old Home Songs and Melodies Which She Wrote.

A large and responsive audience, including many Willamette students, greeted Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond at the entertainment given by her at the Grand opera house last Friday night.

Whatever doubts or misgivings there may have been in the minds of those who had not previously heard her were dispelled after hearing the entertainment. Mrs. Bond is not a singer—that is, not a trained singer in the modern sense of the word—but her songs and recitations are of the kind which always touch a sympathetic ear, and make one more fully appreciative of the value of true home life and its environment. Her Salem audience was certainly no exception to the rule, as every one who heard her will fully attest.

LAST TWO Y. W. PROGRAMS PLEASE LARGE ATTENDANCE

The last Y. W. C. A. meeting of 1912 and the first of 1913 have been especially notable. The Christmas musical program rendered on December 19 drew a large audience, despite the pressing duties of the week before vacation. Readings by Miss Blanche Liston and Miss Ethel Thomas, a vocal solo by Prof. Walsh, and a beautiful Christmas message from Dr. Avison, were among the most appreciated of the numbers.

The meeting of last week, though of an entirely different nature, was probably, to those present, of equal value with the last meeting in December. Miss Krenning was the speaker of the afternoon and under the topic, "Remember and Forget," gave the girls a host of inspiring thoughts for the new year.

FRED SMITH SPEAKS AT CHAPEL

tion of God. This is the great basic source of real life.

"Together with all that you bring out of college be sure you bring out religion. Then see to it that year after year you are redeeming your time for God."

He dealt frankly and pointedly with the elements in the lives of college men which will either make or destroy them. He said that there were men before him who were doomed to the most dismal failure, who might at well quit school at once and save time. They are not the timid men nor the men for whom the studies come hard, but the college sports, continually flippant and swaggering, and the men whose morals are breaking down.

At the close of his address, Mr. Smith during a period of prayer called for the raised hands of those who desired prayers that they might lead a true Christian life, and a number responded.

Mr. Smith, in company with Mr. Raymond Robins, social service exponent, and the quartet, consisting of Messrs. Peck, Keeler, Metcalf and Gilbert, all active Y. M. C. A. men, is just starting on a seven months' trip around the world in the interest of the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Mr. Robins was unable to be with the others at Willamette on account of the strain of the work.

From here the delegation went south, appearing in Albany in the afternoon and at the University of Oregon at Eugene in the evening. From there they go to San Francisco, sailing Friday for China.

The Criterion literary society held its first regular business meeting after vacation last Wednesday. One of the most entertaining features of the program was an extemporaneous debate, in which Mr. Haite and M. F. Bagley eloquently proved that "Rubbers are more useful than umbrellas."

After the program came the installation of officers. The following are the officers for the ensuing term: president, Dutro; vice-pres., Haite; treasurer, Cordier; recording secretary, J. Bagley; corresponding secretary, P. Stoute; censor, Bartlett; sergeant at arms, Harper.

feet, and parties—well, any lady wanting to get them at a bargain at the close of the first onslaught of legislation will find a full assortment of the finest drawn lines of Progressives, Standpatters, Socialists, Democrats, etc. ad infinitum. Practically every man has a party to himself and the Naughty Boys are trying to get a corner on good votes and control the elections.

When interviewed last night, Tammany Hall did not control the meeting. Said that he had no hope and that he was going to quit trying. Well, that must be some bluff. The Bull Moose, when asked if he could carry the Legislature for suffrage, was very morbid and retired to his back office. The G. O. P. had his trunk packed for a journey. The life of the special Collegian political reporter is a hard one. But he expects to get a statement soon from somebody, even if it is from (no names mentioned).

Governor Patterson will make no statement as to what the recommendations he will propose in his message to the Legislature, but they are expected to be very progressive in their way and to deal very little with parties and their platforms. The Governor was very sorry that the luminaries in the offing will not allow him to give his public inaugural ball. He predicted a great perturbation to come some time early in the month of February, and that with all respect to the desires of his constituents, he feels it incumbent upon himself to forego the pleasures suggested by a formal reception.

As suggested before, the Collegian reporter has had some trouble to get people to talking. They all want to whisper. But it was learned at a late hour that the caucus had determined to have the senators meet in the Philodorian Hall and the House in the Websterian across the way. The powers that be will allow the public to come and view their plights of oratory. But the gracious souls of the great senators from Eola and Squeedunk counties will not have the services of the most honored members of the academy literary society. They objected to being the pages and errand boys for any one who was in the ring. "Grafters," as they were called by the "younger America." Fight? They will die before they will be anybody's slaves!

The senators-elect are, from the Websterian literary society: Gilbert, Minton, Manning, Proebstal, Schrieber, Odgers, Richter, Doane, Pfaff, Sterns and Luce. From the Philodorian society: Raines, C. Hall, Bain, Moore, Vandevent, Ransom, McMillan, Lund, Price, Bullock, Gleiser.

Pres. Homan Speaks in Silverton.

President Fletcher Homan delivered an address at the Methodist Church at Silverton last Wednesday night on "The Joys of Boys." Dr. Homan has delivered this lecture a number of times before various organizations throughout the state, and his services are always in demand.

Joe Stearns, Law '12, was a campus visitor yesterday morning. He edited The Collegian last year. Mr. Stearns is practicing law in Portland this winter and came to Salem the first of the week as a candidate for reading clerk of the House.

James Oakes, Liberal Arts '12, hit the campus again the latter part of last week. Mr. Oakes is always a welcome visitor. The piano at chapel received its usual attentions from Mr. Oakes that he gave it last year. He extracted the music from it for chapel Monday morning.

RECEPTION GIVEN FOR MRS. MERTON DE LONG

The many friends of Merton De Long were given the opportunity of meeting his charming young wife, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. De Long, entertained Saturday evening with a reception in honor of the newly married couple. Many Willamette people were present, among them several of the most popular of the recent alumni, who were in town for the week end.

SHOWERS GIVEN FOR MISS ALTA ALTMAN, BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Alta Altman, who is to be married to Mr. Edgar Martin this evening, has recently been the recipient of two very pleasant showers. The first was one given not long ago by Miss Gertrude Eakin, and the second was a kitchen shower at which Miss Beulah Clarke, Miss Theo Bennett and Mrs. G. C. Bellinger were hostesses on last Saturday afternoon.

needed now, with steady additions probable in the future.

The final important matter to be decided was the provision for hiring an expert accountant to organize the business and accounting system of the University on a new and more efficient basis.

President Homan's semi-annual report directed the attention of the Board of Trustees along the lines mentioned and they have in general followed the plan of action mapped out by him.

The atmosphere of the meeting was permeated by the feeling that, with firm financial backing, Willamette's course was to expand in a material way and to intensify scholastically.
