

TOURNEY OPENS MARCH 20

United Press Wire Reports

Brings the Morning's News Directly to the Campus.

Early Sports, National, and Foreign News Brought to Willamette Students Through Thousands of Miles of Leased Wire and The Willamette Collegian: Best College Weekly in the Entire Northwest Conference.

FLOOD BREAKS THROUGH KENNETT, Mo., March 15—(UP)—Flood waters of the St. Francis river broke through the levee two miles north of here today, inundating thousands of acres of evacuated farm land. The swirling waters halted the efforts of nearly a thousand men, farmers and members of the Missouri national guard, to prevent the flood from tearing through the protecting wall. Nearly 3,000 families from the surrounding lowlands had evacuated to Kennett and other high points.

A. A. U. TOURNEY LOOMS DENVER, Colo., March 15—(UP)—With 45 teams, representing every section of the nation entered, pairings were to be drawn today or tomorrow for the National A. A. U. basketball tournament, which opens here Monday. Headlining the entry list were the outstanding independent quintets of the country, including Denver's own Safeway-Piggly Wiggly and Denver Athletic club, the Tulsa Diamond Oilers, last year's champions, the Kansas City Stage lines, the Hutchinson Renos, and Chuck Hyatt's Universal Pictures team, with Lee Gutiero at Center.

CARNERA TRIES COMEBACK NEW YORK, March 15—(UP)—Primo Carnera will enter the Madison Square Garden ring tonight primed to prove his right to further consideration for the heavyweight title he once held, and favored at 3 to 1 or longer odds to defeat Ray Impelietteri, the overgrown boy from Cold Springs, N. Y. It was an even money bet today that the inexperienced Imp would be knocked out within the 10 rounds, scheduled to determine the immediate future of the biggest men ever matched.

WEATHER HALTS FLIGHT OAKLAND, Cal., March 15—(UP)—Unfavorable weather today delayed the take-off of a mystery plane on a flight from Oakland to Honolulu in testing a robot pilot and a new radio compass. The flight will be made as soon as weather conditions improve on the 2400 mile "great circle" route between the mainland and the Hawaiian Islands.

EXTEND SEA STRIKE SAN FRANCISCO, March 15—(UP)—Pacific coast union sailors extended their strike movement today to the general cargo vessels of five eastern steamship lines which have refused to recognize the International Seamen's union. The walkout, union leaders insisted, was a development entirely separate from the strike of seamen aboard Pacific coast oil tankers, although the purposes of each walkout were the same—to force union recognition and obtain employment preference for union workers. While shipping circles appeared apprehensive of a spread of the dispute to other vessels, a spokesman for the sailors' union of the Pacific, west coast branch of the I. S. U., said that a general maritime strike was not contemplated.

DEBATE SQUAD ENTERS COAST TALK CLASSIC

Team Leaves Sunday for Whitman Where Will Stage Battle

LOSE O. S. C. ARGUMENT

John Rudin in Talk for Willamette in Forensic Orator's Bout

Willamette University suffered its first defeat of the debating season last night when Al Covill and Kenneth Woods, O. S. C. affirmative team, won a 3-0 decision from Randall Kester and Harold Pruitt, negative team, at Corvallis.

Randall Kester, Harold Pruitt, and George McLeod, with a backing of eight wins and one defeat in the Oregon debate series, will leave here Sunday morning for Walla Walla where they will represent Willamette at the Pacific Forensic League contest at Whitman college. Kester is the key man, and will debate both sides of the question, with Pruitt taking the affirmative, and McLeod the negative. John Rudin, who last year won the state after dinner speaking contest, and who placed second in (Continued on page 4)

OLIVER'S BOOK IS FAVORABLY TAKEN

Letters of Praise For Book Compiled By Prof. Received

Letters of praise for a freshman English textbook, "Readings for Ideas and Form," edited and compiled by Professor E. S. Oliver of Willamette, this week were being received at the university. The book, recently published by Doubleday and Doran, is designed as a book of readings to illustrate styles, kinds, and forms of writing for use as a text in college composition classes. "I consider it a truly excellent book," wrote one English professor. "I think you have gone far to appeal to the student with something he will be interested in." Another wrote, "I was indeed pleased to receive 'Readings for Ideas and Form,' which I found a very interesting collection."

Students Take Field In Work for Greater Willamette Programs

With the avowed intention of raising Willamette's registration to a peak of 650 students, a group of university representatives next week will begin the first chapter in what is to be an extensive tour of the northwestern part of the state's high schools. A sample program put on in chapel yesterday by the group which will make the first leg of the tour, going to Gervais, Woodburn, and Hubbard high schools, was an indication of what the publicity work will be like. Various entertainments will be worked up by speech classes, the music department, and other Willamette organizations to aid in the work of entertaining at high school assemblies and in bringing the name of Willamette before prospective students. Professor W. C. Jones, who with Doctor Baxter is working in the field, has spent the last week, as has the president, in touring the state and speaking to various

W. U. Orators Are to Speak In Line Meet

George McLeod and Constance Smart, prominent orators of the Willamette campus, will represent this university March 18 when they journey to Linfield college to participate in the annual Old Line Oratorical contest. McLeod will speak on "Imagination Rules the World," and Miss Smart will talk on "Whispering Campaign."

Colleges which will compete include Willamette, Linfield, Albany, Pacific, Oregon State, and probably University of Oregon. Prizes will be given for both men's and women's contest winners for first and second place. Twenty dollars will be given both firsts, and $10 will be given second places.

WELCH APPOINTED MAY DAY LEADER; TAKE COMIC PLAY

Will Give Luncheon For Visiting High School Students on Campus

Plans for the celebration of Willamette's May Day were being put into tangible shape this morning by J. D. Welch, who was appointed May Day manager at this week's meeting of the student executive committee. A new feature is to be made a part of the annual celebration, according to Welch. Between 250 and 500 high school students throughout the state will be invited to the campus, and will be entertained with a luncheon on the campus.

The usual features of May Day will be included in the program, with Willamette night at a downtown theatre, the junior play, and tennis and baseball games. It has been suggested that the junior play be put on in chapel, and that a matinee performance be given. It was pointed out that such procedure would bring in greater attendance and eliminate the rental paid for the high school auditorium, where the play has been given in the past.

Selection of the junior play was announced yesterday as "The Goose Hangs High," a popular three-act comedy. The cast is extensive, with 13 featured parts, including seven men and six women. If possible, tryouts will be held before spring vacation, and practices will be held immediately after the vacation period. Welch has asked that all students cooperate with him in committee work, and stated that selection of committees will be announced next week.

Ed. Note: Much comment has appeared in the newspapers concerning the recent debate-judging fiasco in which Gertrude Stein, erratic poetess, took such a prominent part. She refused to pick a winner between the University of Chicago and Willamette, saying that the debaters did not have an original idea. A staff writer gives her comment in the article below. We think it is appropriate. "Then fill the steins to dear old Maine." was good in its day, but take our advice and don't try singing it at Willamette. For a new stein song has come into being and its theme (if we understand Gertrude right, and we admit there's no reason why we should) is that originality has flown from the world. Flown, we suppose, just as her dirty bird, alas, that dirty third, alas, that makes a dirty word, alas, flies from our coop of reason. Well, we're sorry, Gertrude, about the boys. In fact, slack, well bring them back, slack, give them the sack, slack, and that's a fact, alack, Alack, Yet, squelched as we are by this literary matron, who looks like a patriarch (all right, we'll stop, at least, we're grateful for our lesson. This from us to you, Gertrude: Remember, you have to blow the foam off the top of the stein before you get anything worth tasting. (Continued on page 4)

POST SOARING CROSS NATION VIA THIN AIR

Daring Aviator Sends Winnie Mae Into Upper Reaches

(BULLETIN) UNION AIR TERMINAL, BURBANK, CAL., MARCH 15—(UP)—Wiley Post lifted his snub-nosed monoplane, the Winnie Mae, into the air at 6:16 A. M. PST. today in an attempt to span the continent in seven hours via the stratosphere.

Post's departure was a surprise. He previously had said he intended to make his second attempt Saturday to rocket the world-girdling plane across the country to New York. Shortly before dawn today, however, he appeared at the airport and began preparing for the flight.

The ship left the field gracefully and circled the airport. Post dropped the Winnie Mae's detachable land gear in the middle of the field and turned the ship's nose toward the east, climbing as he sped along.

He told associates he hoped to make a direct air line for Floyd Bennett field, New York. The flier has ideal weather for the flight, weather bureau officials said. Clear skies lay ahead of Post all the way and a 50-mile tail wind prevailing will help the Winnie Mae's progress, they said. (Continued on page 4)

HUNDRED JAPANESE ATTEND MEET HERE

Christian Conference Is Stirring; Dr. Baxter Addresses Group

Attended by some 100 young Japanese delegates from Washington and Oregon, the third Oregon sectional Young People's Christian conference was held in Salem on March 9 and 10, at the Jason Lee church. Hoshie Watanabe, general chairman, presided. A well-planned and worthwhile program was arranged by the program chairman, Selko Watanabe, for the two-day conference. Every (Continued on page 4)

Students Will Sing Love Songs Tuesday For Glee Club Fund

To raise funds for their tour planned to take place during spring vacation, the men's glee club of Willamette University will present the "Plumber's Opera" in Waller Hall next Tuesday evening, March 19, at 8 o'clock. In addition to the opera, the four classes will enter contestants in a "love song singing" program similar to the blues singing contest sponsored last year. A member of the faculty will also compete. The show promises to be a greater hit than the one given last year. In addition to the opera and song contest, a number of songs will be sung by the glee club, and individual stunts are being planned. Last year, Earle Potter won a close decision in the song contest for the sophomore class, and Professor Jones weakened his voice considerably in the process of dragging Cloe through the swamps. Tickets will be sold at the following prices: children, 10 cents; adults, 25 cents; students, two for a quarter. The trip planned by the glee club will be impossible unless students come to the opera in "great numbers," according to Professor Cameron Marshall, director of the music school. The itinerary planned would take the club throughout southern Washington and northern Oregon, with radio programs scheduled from Portland (Continued on page 4)

PEACE ORATOR TO LECTURE TONIGHT AT M. E. CHURCH

Is Traveling for Prevention Of War Society; Competent Speaker

Alden G. Alley, who spoke to Willamette students at chapel exercises this morning, will deliver an address on war prevention tonight at 7:45 at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Students and townspeople are urged to attend. Alley is traveling in the interests of the National Council for Prevention of War, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. Mr. Alley is a graduate of Harvard, and was formerly a professor of history. He was lieutenant in the United States infantry in France in 1918-19. Before this time he had traveled extensively in Europe, and has made thirteen trips abroad since 1920. He has attended ten sessions of the League of Nations assembly in Geneva. During twelve visits to Germany he has followed from the beginning the rise of Hitler and the past summer has observed on the spot the reactions of the German people to the Nazi regime. Last summer he spent several weeks in the Saar, his third visit there, and he is able to speak at first hand on the prevailing condition in that region.

Mr. Alley's fine intelligence and breadth of understanding make him unusually competent to interpret sanely and constructively the facts and problems with which his travels have familiarized him. His appearance at the college assembly here is the only engagement he can fill at the university proper. S. B. Laughlin has announced that the people of Salem are invited to visit the college at this time and hear the address of Mr. Alley.

AUTO OFFERED AS CONTEST'S AWARD

Willamette students under 22 years of age this week became eligible to enter a contest which has as first prize a 1935 Dodge touring sedan. The contest is sponsored by approximately 30 business houses in Salem and vicinity, and is being conducted on the "vote for purchase" basis. Salem Shopping News is carrying complete details of the contest which offers $1800 in prizes, including a Dodge car, complete living room set, refrigerator, and other valuable awards. The campaign is to last ten weeks, and closes Saturday night, May 18. Contest headquarters have been established at 191 South High street, where complete information may be obtained. An advertisement concerning the contest appears on page 2 of this issue.

LA GRANDE AND SALEM PAIRED TO OPEN BOUT

State Tournament Will See Good Teams In Heated Battles

CHAMP FIGHT SATURDAY

Molalla and Marshfield to Stage Second Game of Annual Classic

By Everett Gary The Oregon state high school basketball tournament, held yearly in the Willamette University gymnasium, begins next Wednesday afternoon when La Grande and Salem tear the top off the series of 26 games that will decide who shall reign the maple courts in prep circles for 1935. Sixteen teams will be on hand, ready to make a stab at winning the state crown. The state has been redistricted this year, the former 16 districts being consolidated into 12. The four extra billets on the bracket will be taken by four "B" teams. A "B" team must represent a student body of not more than 150 students, and the result is that the four little fellows are liable to end up in a fog when they attempt to match schools many times their size. The first round promises some contests of championship calibre, with Benson, Portland champs, and Ashland, crimson threat from southern Oregon, clashing at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. (Continued on page 4)

JUNIORS TO SING SONGS OVER KOAC

Thirty Members of Class to Make Trip to Corvallis For Program

The junior class, under the direction of Margaret Savage, David Johnson, and Helen Benner, will go to Corvallis the night of April 10 to appear in a radio program over station KOAC, and will feature their three winning, freshman glee songs. Transportation will be gleaned from the ranks of student automobiles, and students who can furnish transportation are urged to cooperate in any way possible. Approximately 30 juniors will make the trip. In addition to the program of glee songs being planned, several other musical features will serve to make up the program.

Newsy Notables Nuts, Declares Proofreader In Comical Interlude

Reporters are funny people. Advertising managers are a bit queer; and editors are downright peculiar. Take the Collegian staff, for instance. Or, we'll take them if you don't; nobody else wants 'em either. To start off, there's Tilly. A normal gal, most times, but did you ever see her on a Tuesday? Off to the chapel she runs, tries a dozen seats till one suits her, goes into a trance and tears her hair if you dare look at her. In sane? Oh, not seriously. She's just a reporter hunting for a word. When she gets it, she comes back to normal again, and everything's all right—till next Tuesday. Or Nellie. Have you ever watched her in the library? The minute she comes in, the Misses Peterson, Upston and Hang go out. What's the matter? No, Orwald, it isn't that the lady doesn't use Peppermint, or something. She's just a society editor and the assistants haven't heard about that date you had last Friday yet. Just wait till next week and you'll see yourself in print. Society's like that. Or the lordly Associate and Assistant. Reporters and celebrities alike run in terror when they see that Graham girl. She hides pencils in her hat, paper in the left shoe, and erasers—well, you guess. And Mr. Gary? He wears out a typewriter on every other paper, and his hair flying puts the electric fan to shame. Believe us, now, he's literary. Save the wildest till the last, that's our motto. In this case it's ye editor—the boss. He vibrates between a typewriter and the linotype machine, and two steps take him anywhere in a thirty-foot room. He editorializes about the evils of tobacco advertising while his Phillip Morris burns a hole in the desk; and he writes "Never fall in love," while he's calling up for a date tonight. He tells us (Continued on page 3)

Erin's Saint Is Theme Of Clever Party

The underclassmen of Alpha Phi Delta fraternity were hosts for a clever St. Patrick's dinner Sunday noon. The U shaped dining table was attractively arranged with green and white crepe paper and spring flowers. Individual green candy baskets marked the places for the guests. Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Jones were chaperones for the dinner.

Invited guests were the Misses Julia Johnson, June Lockridge, Frances Faber, Lillian Graham, Virginia Pugh, Anna Mae Unrath, Roberta McGilchrist, Marguerite Clarke, Helen Peterson, and Mary Meredith.

Flanary Betrothal Is Announced At Alpha Phi Dinner

The engagement of Miss Lucille Flanary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. P. Flanary of Portland, and Harold Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rose, of Portland, was announced at dinner last Friday evening in the Alpha Phi Alpha house. The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

The interesting news was disclosed by cards, hidden in a bowl of rosebuds, bearing the names of the betrothed couple.

The bride-elect is the assistant librarian in the Willamette university library. She was graduated from the university with the class of 1933 and is affiliated with Alpha Phi Alpha. Her fiancé, Harold Rose, was very active in campus affairs at Willamette. He graduated in 1933 and is affiliated with the Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

Those bidden to hear the interesting news were Mrs. Charles Brock, Misses Helen Peterson, Loraine Sheldon, Lunelle Chaplin, Ruth Johnson, and Margaret Howerton.

Church Groups Enjoy Parties Saturday Eve

Although the social schedule for last weekend was not very full due to the busy week just previous to it, the First Methodist and Presbyterian college groups each enjoyed a jolly and entertaining party at their respective churches, Saturday evening.

Miss Esther Gibbard was in charge of the party at the First Methodist church. The feature was that it was a "kid" party and each one "doffed" his college dignity and enjoyed once again the gay frivolity of childhood days. Clever games had been planned, which made the evening a pleasant one. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

St. Patrick left his influence on the party at the Presbyterian church for the idea was centered about this Irish gentleman. Greeting guests at the door were members of the different Irish families wearing green hats of diverse sizes and descriptions.

Many Irish games were played during the evening, quite arousing the "Irish" of all participants, and also the jolly good-humor so characteristic of the Irish people.

Wimpy refreshments were served after the program of entertainment was completed. Miss Carol Fleming and Miss Hortense Taylor were in charge of the gay affair.

Informal Party At House Is Enjoyed

Beta Chi members and pledges took advantage of the lull in the social schedule, following the very busy Freshmen Glee week, last Friday evening, and enjoyed an informal party at their house.

Following many jolly games and delicious refreshments, the girls climaxed the evening by serenading the campus houses. Miss Hortense Taylor was in charge of the party.

Margaret Faxon Given Formal Initiation

Delta Phi Sorority held formal initiation Sunday morning at an impressive candlelight service, for Miss Margaret Faxon. Following the initiation service, the members attended church in a group.

Sunday evening the chapter house was the scene of a dinner for members and their guests, honoring Miss Faxon. The table was lovely with a centerpiece of quince blossoms in a silver bowl. Rose tapers in silver candelabra were used.

Hostesses for the affair were the Misses Frances Stewart, Margaret Haag, Helen Carlson, Anna May Unrath, Margaret Faxon, Barbara Crookham, Mary Meredith, Janet Weil, Martha Warren, Winifred Gardner and the house-mother, Mrs. F. A. Weil.

Escorts were Don Egr, Bert Rusk, Bill McAdams, Harold Hoyt, Bill Schermerhorn, Chuck West, and Jim Burdette.

Dancing Party Furnishes Gay Evening Friday

Alpha Phi Alpha girls entertained at their house Friday night with an informal dancing party and buffet supper.

Those making up the party were the Misses Louise Tontz, Marguerite Rudd, Margaret Bieder, Winifred Putnam, Margaret Hoskins, Velma Wagner, Lura Adkinson, Lunelle Chaplin, Margaret Howerton, June Dahlgreen, Loraine Sheldon and Helen Peterson. Escorts included Everett Gary, Verne Rierison, Louis Turner, Kenneth Beauchamp, Don Marcy, Larry Rleser, Gardner Stout, Wayne Doughton, Lawrence Morley, Ely Swisher, John Ross and Harrison Winston.

Barbara Benson Is Hostess For Charming Lunch

Miss Barbara Benson was hostess Saturday afternoon at a charming luncheon at her home. Lunch was served at individual tables. An attractive spring bouquet centered each table, with clever pink and green place cards.

Those invited for luncheon were the Misses Louise Buck, Virginia Cross, Betty Hamilton, Margaret Hauser, Cathrin Headrick, Carolyn Hunt, Irma Oehler, Peggy Peterson, Marjorie Pickens, Virginia Pugh, Melva Belle Savage, Neva Smith, and the hostess, Miss Barbara Benson.

Coffee House Meeting Is Held Wednesday

Coffee House met Wednesday, March 13, at Willamette Lodge for their regular meeting. Nellie Perrine, president, presided over a short business meeting. A Coffee House chapel in the near future was planned. It was decided that the next meeting, April 3, will be open to anyone interested in joining the club.

After the business meeting members followed their usual procedure by reading and criticizing their own compositions.

Mothers' Club Of Delta Phi Entertained

The Mother's Club of the Delta Phi Sorority was entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gordon Black on Summer street. After the customary business meeting, refreshments were served. Mrs. F. A. Weil poured and Mrs. A. M. Chapman assisted in the serving.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Unruh, Mrs. Oehler, Mrs. Clement, Mrs. McGilchrist, Mrs. Hulst, Mrs. Hauser, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Emmons, Mrs. Haight, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Weil, and the hostess, Mrs. Black.

Miss Rose Naef, former Willamette student, and now attending the University of Oregon, was a weekend guest of Alpha Phi Alpha.

Beta Chi Club Has Regular Meeting

Beta Chi Mother's club held their regular meeting at the Beta Chi house Tuesday afternoon. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Hodge, Mrs. Alken, Mrs. Kenney and Mrs. Powers.

The business meeting was followed by a social hour during which Ina Bennett played several piano numbers, and Dorothy Keeton gave a reading. Refreshments were served following the program.

Chresto Scene Of Informal Tea In Honor of YW's

Chresto was one more the scene of a delightful informal tea given in honor of the old and new cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon, from three to five. Miss Murvine Thurston was in charge of the affair assisted by Misses Betty Abrams, Ila Mills, and Jane Bellinger, assisted by the social staff.

Miss June Lockridge and Miss Barbara Crookham, who were in charge of decorations, had lovely arrangements of daffodils about the room and a gorgeous bouquet of the flowers for the center of the table.

Miss Margaret McGee was in charge of the entertainment which consisted of instrumental solos throughout the hour.

Freshman Glee week-end brought to Delta Phi several alumni who were guests of the sorority for the Glee festivities. House guests included Miss Beuna Brown, Miss Mary Albin, and Miss Margaret Eddy.

Saturday afternoon a very informal tea was held at the Findley home for enabling alumnae to greet each other. Miss Marian Bretz arranged the affair.

Ella Fifer and Vernita Van Fleet (members of APA) were guests of Alpha Phi Alpha Freshman-Glee weekend.

Dorothy Rose Smith, a graduate of Willamette University and a member of Alpha Phi Alpha, visited the Alpha Phi Alpha girls on the weekend of Freshman Glee. She is now attending Oregon Normal school at Monmouth.

Paris Styles

By Mary Knight
 United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 15.—(UP)—Gather ye fullness where ye will—back or front—but leave the hips sleek and smooth.

This is the general rule to be followed as far as skirts are concerned, and whether you prefer front or back fullness should be guided by the shape of your own individual anatomy.

The same rule can be applied to blouses. Many of the new ones shown by Paris houses of haute couture feature front fullness by means of smocking, gathers, shirring and intricate tucking, while the backs remain smooth and untrimmed. Other houses advocate back fullness in blouses, both for suits and the blouses of dresses, using the same means of gathering, fullness, and letting the front surfaces remain somewhat skimpy and trimmed with novel buttons or embroidery.

One reason for this emphasis on either back or front fullness is because of the sleeves, which are highly interesting because of the fact that they are usually cut in one piece with the back or front and are themselves quite full at the elbow or wrist. The fullness of the blouse allows the same fullness to extend into the sleeve either at back or front and thereby give the desired emphasis on the arm.

Today's Fashion Tip
 Sleeve fullness back or front acquired by shirring, smocking and tucking of blouses, and usually cut in one piece with them.

LARGE PORES
 The fabric of our existence is sometimes woven into happiness or despair because of our skins! If we all had perfect, fine-textured complexions, how simple life would be! But since we haven't, we may as well face the facts—and do something about them. And the facts are these—that even the loveliest skin becomes somewhat dull, and sluggish during the winter months. The sudden changes from extreme cold to steam-heated rooms do their part in making the pores larger and the skin rougher and more coarse-textured.

I think I need not tell you that the pores are sensitive to care or neglect. If you let them alone, they will proceed to show you just how unattractive and noticeable they can become! But if you help them, even a little bit, they are more than willing to do their part. The help they need is very simple. Usually, at this time of the year, they are asking for a cream cleanser—a beauty aid that will remove the dirt gently but thoroughly, and soothe them, too, after so much exposure. A light cleansing and massage cream will put them in a good humor for months to come!

Then, they also need a mild astringent lotion, to make them tighten up, and become less obviously. A refining lotion that acts quickly on the pores gives you a smooth, fine skin almost overnight! In addition, you will find that it practically solves the problem of shininess. And you can use it as a powder base, too.

Because the remedy for large pores is so simple, and because I have found that we often don't even see them, many women put off the day of correcting this common skin fault. But the college girl has no excuse. There are pros to be considered—and it is not too soon to make your skin so lovely, so delicate and exquisite-looking that you are sure of a bid to this important social event. If you have found that your skin is not looking its best, examine it carefully with a magnifying mirror, and chances are you will find the trouble lies in—large pores.

If you have a personal beauty problem on which you need advice write Woman's Interest Syndicate, 522 Fifth Ave., New York.

DIAMOND CALL ISSUED; OPEN WITH U. OF O.

Directly after spring vacation, training will begin in earnest for the baseball season which opens with a series with the University of Oregon on April 19 and 20. The first game will be on the Oregon diamond and the second here on Sweetland field.

A comprehensive schedule has been arranged including Oregon State college, who last year succumbed twice straight to the superior fielding and slugging ability of the Bearcats. Other teams on the list are the University of Portland, Pacific, C. P. S., and the Oregon State Penitentiary. Last spring, the Willamette club ended up in second place in the northwest rankings.

Ten veterans are back, but there are still several holes in the lineup to be filled by newcomers. Burch, Erickson, McCann and Tweed will do the majority of the mound duty this year; McCann has been shifted from the receiving end of the battery this year due to the scarcity of hurlers.

Mills will probably spend a good share of his time behind home plate, and Oravec, who last year filled the shortstop berth, will alternate between that position and pitcher. Manning and Sutton are other members of last year's infield who will be ready for action. Stone and Aden, who burned up the diamond last season to lead the northwest batting averages, will be on hand for outfield duty.

La Grande and Salem

Both of these teams have shown basketball ability this season that might have sent them to the finals, but when the numbers were drawn from the hat, chance decreed that one of the two be eliminated in the preliminary round.

Lincoln, or possibly Jefferson, the other team that will represent the Portland schools at the tournament, will probably have an easy scrimmage the first round since they are paired with the eastern Oregon "B" team which as yet is undecided. Astoria, whose "Flying Fishermen" have carried off more silverware than probably any other team in the state, should also have a comparatively easy time conquering the Mill City aggregation, another "B" team.

The game between Klamath Falls and Corvallis at 7:30 p. m. will undoubtedly develop into a hard fought battle since both teams have impressive records. The Dalles-McMinnville contest looms as another nip and tuck game with the lucky team winning. The night cap for the first day's hostilities will be provided by two "B" teams, Oak Ridge and Gardner. Little is known of the comparative strength of these two, since their games have been with smaller schools. A "B" team must come from a school whose registration does not exceed 150, and the result is that the four little fellows are liable to end up in a fog when they attempt to match schools many times their size.

The losing teams of the first round form a tournament all by their lonesome the second day, with the winner receiving the fifth place trophy. This double elimination system gives a team a chance to redeem itself after losing all chances for first money in the preliminaries. Otherwise, a team almost as good as the first place winner might lose in the first round to the champions-to-be, and have no chance to end up in a place anywhere near the rank they might deserve.

Quarter-finals in the championship race are all finished up on Thursday, and on Friday, the two teams who fight it out for the crown are selected. Saturday morning at 9:30, the finals for fifth place are played and at 10:30 the fourth place winner is selected. In the evening, the third place cup is won and lost at 7:30, and the grand finale for first and second places is fought out, starting at 8:30.

After the last game, the trophies, seven in all, are to be presented by Paul T. Jackson, president of the O. H. S. A. A. Five team awards are made to the five quintets finishing uppermost, and two individual awards are given, one to the best player, and one to the best sport.

Students Will Sing

The tour is another part of the publicity campaign entered upon this week by the university. Collegian staff members take this opportunity to urge whole-hearted support of Tuesday's program.

On the Sidelines

By Everett Gary

The Willamette campus will soon become a Mecca for all the aspiring basketball quintets of the state. Sixteen teams will be quartered in and around Salem the greater part of next week, and some grade "A" basketball will undoubtedly be in the offing. Astoria and Salem have shared the majority of honors for the past eight or ten years, but whether they will be able to stave off the attack of some of the other teams of the state this year is a big question.

Salem high started the season in a very unimpressive manner, but during the past few weeks they have been showing marked progress. Records of previous years show that the Cherry City team usually cuts loose during the tournament, and surprises everyone, including themselves. Astoria has a very strong team as usual, and "Honest John" Warren's group of ball hounds are expected to end up in the money.

Ashland is the team that is causing grey hairs on the heads of many of the coaches who will have their proteges at the tournament. This Red and White aggregation from southern Oregon has been piling up wins by the dozen and many expect them to upset the apple cart and carry off the major trophy.

Just how strong the Portland representatives will be this year is a matter for conjecture. This is always a big question, since as a usual thing, the Portland squads stick pretty much to themselves. This makes it impossible to judge them comparatively with other strong teams of the state.

Unless some of the "B" teams pull a "Jack the Giant-Killer" stunt, it would appear that none of them will get past the second day's competition in the championship race. It is almost impossible to expect a team from a school of less than 150 students to fight on an even basis with schools the size of Benson, Astoria or any of the other big schools.

The inter-class swimming meet this afternoon promises to be almost an underclassman landslide. From all present information, it should be a close splash between the Sophomores and the Rooks. One thing, there should be a lot of good swimmers in the Soph class, they have had lots of practice in the Mill Stream. Swimming with them seems to be a necessity.

part of the program was centered around the conference theme, "More Like the Master—His Courage."

Among the high-lights of the conference were inspirational and stirring addresses given by Dr. Bruce Baxter at the formal opening service Saturday afternoon; the discussion period with four groups meeting under the leadership of Professor Heman Clark, Rev. Paul Petticoat, Rev. J. H. McDonald, and Dr. J. E. Milligan; the opening banquet Saturday evening with greetings extended to the delegates by Mayor Kuhn of Salem, Dr. Frank H. Smith of Berkeley, California, Dr. G. Birchett, Dr. H. G. Humphrey, Mrs. Fred Toozee, Mr. Hideo Hashimoto, and the 1934 and 1935 Northwest Young People's Christian Conference chairmen, Mr. Wm. Takahashi and Mr. Jack Nakagawa of Seattle; the evening service with Dr. G. Birchett delivering the inspirational address. On Sunday morning a beautiful outdoor worship service was held at the Belcrest Memorial park.

An impressive candle light consecration service Sunday afternoon climaxed the two-day conference. At that time the chairman of the 1936 Oregon Sectional Y. P. C. C., Ruth Nomura of Portland, and the three vice-chairmen, Shig Watanabe of Salem, Masami Asai of Hood River, and Mary Shinjuna of Portland were installed with Dr. Frank Herron Smith, superintendent of the Japanese missions of the Pacific coast, officiating.

been in effect for university registration here. Those who are immediately concerned with the programs to be given in various high schools are Earl Potter, Martha Jane Hottel, Alexander Meloydoff, and Ina Bennett. Professor H. E. Rahe will aid in furnishing program material and students for the work.

SWIMMING MEET SCHEDULED THIS AFTERNOON AT 3

The two underclasses are equal favorites to splash their way to the interclass title when the swimming meet is held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Y pool.

Both of the classes have some outstanding mermen on their rostrum, and some close finishes are expected. Bill Lemmon, swimming instructor, will be in charge of the meet and he states that there will be numerous events, some of a novel nature.

Twenty, 40 and 100-yard free style races are scheduled, 40 yd. breast and back strokes, free style and medley relays, a 20-yard candle race in which the entrant must carry a lighted candle in his mouth, disqualification resulting if the candle is put out; all these and a water basketball game are on the schedule along with the diving events.

The meet is open to the public, and many students are expected to be present to lend support to their classmates.

CHAPEL RULES ARE POSTED BY OFFICE

Hereafter students who ask some friend to "sit in my seat" during chapel hour will be disappointed when they come to glance at the list of unexcused absences. A proclamation was issued this week by Dean F. M. Erickson stating that chapel monitors are positively forbidden to grant favors with regard to chapel attendance, and that a student will be considered absent if he is not in his assigned place even though he is in chapel. In other words, if the monitor knows that you are to sit in a certain seat, and that seat is taken by someone else, you will be marked absent.

Chapel absence excuses must be in the office of Dean Erickson on or before the seventh day after the date on which the absence occurred, according to the bulletin posted.

It was expressly pointed out by Miss Swanson, secretary to the Dean, that her office is the place to hand in chapel excuses, and not the office of the registrar.

Excuses will not be accepted if all the information asked for on the blank is not given, if blanks do not bear the necessary signatures, or if they are handed in late. Five absences will deduct one hour of credit from the total hours of credit earned.

state oratory, will speak for Willamette in the extemporaneous contest.

Beginning Monday, the contest will continue for five days. First day of the contest, Willamette will compete with University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, University of California, Pomona College, Oregon State, Washington State, University of Washington, and Whitman. Up until last night, when the first defeat of the season was taken, Lawrence Morley and Randall Kester had a record of eight straight wins. Pruitt and Kester, although losing last night's debate, put up a fine argument and offered good competition. O.S.C., however, is still the second ranking team in state debate, with Willamette leading the field with her record.

Willamette's co-ed team is in second place in the state series for women.

Post Soaring

The takeoff was entirely unannounced and not even Post's associates knew he intended to leave until a few minutes before the five-year-old Winnie Mae was hauled from the hangar and warmed up.

Post climbed into his "man from Mars" clothes and was fitted into the plane. His suit looked like a diver's outfit. It was equipped with oxygen apparatus to provide breathing atmosphere high in the sub-stratosphere.

There were very few spectators at the airport when Post was boosted into the plane, his flying suit clumsy and unwieldy, the helmet heavy. Several attaches of the airport did not know of the flight until they heard the plane warning up. They ran to see the takeoff. The plane landing gear cleared the strip nicely. In Post's previous attempt his takeoff was marred by an accident when the landing gear brushed the tail of the plane as he dropped the gear over the airport.

Tennis Squad Prepares For Good Season

In spite of the constant rains, prospective members of the tennis squad have been out limbering up their backhand and forehand drives in preparation for an active season that begins on April 13 against the strong Oregon State racquet wielders.

Membership on the team is decided by means of a ladder tournament with last year's team members seeded at the top of the list. Talbot Bennett, northwest champion last year, tops the heap with Mel Goode, Joe Harvey, Harrison Winston, Wendell Brainard, Bill Lemmon, Jim Burdette, Everett Gary, Ivan Duncan and Ray Griffith following in that order.

SPENP Plan Dies Forlorn Death In Midst Of Poverty

Readers of The Oregon Journal were startled when, on Sunday, March 3, they saw an article which told of a Willamette student's plan to end national poverty by paying college students $150 per month instead of giving it to the old folks.

Well, the plan, which came to be known for its short span of life as SPENP, has died more quickly than it was born. Student sponsors of the idea were to send out 3,000 personal letters to college students, professors, and economic experts.

But when the sponsors came to figure out the bill for postage, they found that it would cost them $90 to begin to end poverty. Being poverty stricken themselves, they couldn't raise the $90 by hook or preferably crook, so, another great idea was lost to the world.

To Elect May Day Queen Next Week

Election of May Queen will take place one week from today, at the regular meeting of Willamette's student body, according to an announcement today by Nova Hedin. The several candidates will be voted upon by secret ballot.

Costs of feeding and clothing needy in metropolitan areas declined $7,262,871 during the two-month period. State contributions are averaging about $50,000,000 a month, $20,000,000 more than their low point 15 months ago.

HANG PROFESSOR

MEXICO CITY, March 15—(UP)—Rebels hanged Prof. Silvestre Gonzalez and left his body dangling from a tree with a placard on it reading, "For teaching socialistic education," a dispatch from Jajutla, in Morelos state, said today.

FOG DRIVES 'EM OUT

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 15—(UP)—The Seattle Indians were on a new training field here today, having been driven from their old one by fog. Hal Spindell, U. C. L. A. catcher, may be pushed into a regular berth if his performance continues, Manager Dutch Reuther said. He also was pleased with three rookie pitchers, Pickrell, Thomas and Carson.

HOLLYWOOD VS. PITTSBURGH

FULLERTON, Cal., March 15—(UP)—The Hollywood Stars will meet Pittsburgh in a practice game Monday at the Pirate camp in San Bernardino, the Star's president, Bill Lane, said today. The Yanniagans were gloating over their performance yesterday when they held the regulars to 4-6 tie.

APPOINTED TO ASSOCIATION

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, March 14.—Dr. Gordon F. Cadisch, head of the school of business administration at Washington State college, has been appointed to the executive committee of the Pacific Coast Economic association. This association includes the major colleges of the Pacific coast to the Rocky mountains.

FEATURE LATEST STYLES AT SHOW

Fashion Parade Is Well Attended; Alpha Phi Alpha Gives Event

By Nellie Perrine
Society Editor, Collegian

An appreciative audience, dressed in formal and semi-formal attire, Wednesday attended a colorful style show and banquet sponsored at the local armory by the Alpha Phi Alpha mother's club and patronesses. The affair was featured by dancing and excellent showings of spring fashions for men and women.

Alpha Phi women modeled sports, afternoon, dinner, cocktail hour, and formal frocks. Oriental kimonos and pajamas were also displayed and modeled. Young men of Salem modeled the latest in double-breasted tuxedos, shirred-and-pleated-back spring suits, and overcoats and hats.

Between dinner courses, couples danced to the music of Alexander Meloydoff's orchestra.

The event was well-attended, with various service clubs of Salem and individuals reserving entire tables for themselves and friends.

Among the types of clothing that were displayed were children's wear, sports, street and tailored clothes, afternoon gowns, knitted formal wear, and lounging garments. Firms that exhibited included Margaret's Baby Shop, Worth's, Smart Shop, Oriental Art Shoppe, Johnson's, Montgomery Ward, Price's, and Martha Leavenworth's knitting school and shop.

"Floor girls," or hostesses, were the Misses Ruth Yocum, Rachael Yocum, Helen Peterson, Dorothy MacDonald, Elva Sehon, Marguerite Rudd, Winifred Putnam, June Dalgren, Norma Fuller, Betty Taylor, Lunelle Chapin, Margaret Howerton, and Ruth Johnson.

Plan Benefit Art Exhibit To Be At Chresto Cottage

Paint Spots and Little Theatre Guild are making plans for a benefit art exhibit during the last of April. Tickets costing ten cents will be placed on sale after spring vacation for students, faculty members, their wives, and friends. The clubs will use the proceeds from this benefit for buying equipment.

Carl Rhoda will be in charge of the benefit which will probably be in the form of a tea at Chresto. Art work of the members of Paint Spots will be exhibited and members of Little Theatre Guild will give readings.

Baxter Speaks At Writers' Banquet In Portland 12th

President Bruce Baxter of Willamette University Tuesday evening delivered the main address at a banquet which honored Billy Stepp of the News-Telegram, L. H. Gregory and Dop McLeod of The Oregonian, and George Bertz of The Oregon Journal, as being the four sports writers who had done the most for athletics in the city of Portland.

He stressed the value of athletics, pointing out the clean and wholesome influences sports have upon youth of today. The outlet of amateur sports, he said, was one of the things that made the depression less severe than it was.

Harris Chosen To Read Paper; Will Speak at Meeting

Fred Harris, Willamette senior, (this week was chosen to represent the university at an International Relations conference to be held April 6-8 at Linfield college. It is the second such conference of Northwest colleges that has been held in this region. The first was held at Seattle.

Harris will read a paper on economic problems of international relations. One other student will also read a paper.

Doctor Robert M. Gatzke was instrumental in having Harris selected for the honor.

REGULAR PROGRAM GIVEN

A talk by Miss Lois Latimer, "Whims of Fashion," featured the regular radio program given by Willamette University over station KOAC at Corvallis Wednesday night. Piano solo work by Miss Helen MacHilton and vocal numbers by Maurice Deau rounded out the program.

Science

Mechanical Brain

PHILADELPHIA, March 15—(AP)—Partial operation of the world's largest differential analyzer, a super-calculating machine, has been demonstrated at the Moore School of Electrical Engineering at the University of Pennsylvania.

The huge mechanical "brain," 30 feet long and weighing three tons, has a "memory" somewhat similar to its human counterpart, but is able to solve problems far beyond the mathematical capacity of humans.

Work on the machine was started more than a year ago by 100 CWA workers under the supervision of Irven Travis, of the Moore School faculty. Travis designed the analyzer, using the same principles followed by Dr. Vladimir Bush, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who designed the first machine of its kind four years ago.

Travis, however, has produced a much larger instrument which when fully completed, will have two and one-half times the "mental" capacity of Dr. Bush's original.

The machine solves problems through ingenious applications of simple physical and geometrical laws, co-ordinated through gears, wheels and mechanical amplifying mechanisms. After related mathematical equations have been solved, the machine "memorizes" the results.

Other variables in the equations then can be solved, after which the machine reaches back into its "memory" to produce accurate answers, recorded on paper and completely tabulated.

Mystical Indians Have 9 Y'ds Cloth

One of the most interesting Wesleyan meetings this year was at Chresto, March 11, when Miss Edna Holder, returned missionary from India, was in charge. Miss Holder was dressed in a native costume and served a native dinner of curry and rice. The room was beautifully decorated with daffodils and ferns and many curios were displayed.

After the dinner Miss Holder spoke concerning the customs, habits, and homes of the people in India. She showed those present some native costumes. One lady's costume had nine yards of material in the trousers and four yards in the shirt. One of the most interesting parts of the natives' wearing apparel was a turban in which there were nine yards of material.

Besides the native costumes of India Miss Holder showed many miniature dishes, some rugs, and scarfs which were made by girls in a Christian school.

Helen Keudell Is Voted President Of Campus YW

Helen Keudell, Junior, last week was elected president of the campus Y. W. C. A. by women of the campus. She assumed her duties as president Monday, March 11.

Martha Jane Hottel, is the new vice-president, and the other officers are: Jean Hollingsworth, secretary, and Irma Oehler, treasurer. The advisory board of Mrs. Peck, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Spears was re-elected.

Miss Keudell has announced her new cabinet as follows: Helen Knight, finance chairman; Julia Johnson, social chairman; Harriet Burdette, worship chairman; Norma Fuller, program chairman; Lois Underwood, girl reserve chairman; Helen Burdick, social service chairman; Jane Bellingier, world conference chairman, and Barbara Crookham, publicity chairman.

ESSAY CONTEST IS OPEN TO STUDENTS

Week's Stay In New York City Listed as Prize In Writing Bout

To determine points of interest in New York City which would most appeal to college students, the Courier Service, in cooperation with the Penhellenic House association, New York headquarters of the National Panhellenic fraternities, is sponsoring a nationwide essay contest among men and women college students. The subject of the contest, which closes on June 15th, is: "What I Would Like to See When I Visit New York."

Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $15, with one week's stay at Beekman Tower included in the first prize, and weekend stays in the second and third prizes are to be given. In addition, the Courier Service will conduct prize winners on their itineraries.

Two hundred suggestions for the essay are given in a list prepared by the Courier Service, which may be obtained from the Contest Headquarters, Beekman Tower, 3 Mitchell Place, New York. The contest entrant is asked to select an itinerary for a week's visit to New York City and to write an essay of between 500 to 1000 words covering this itinerary.

Persons need never have visited New York to enter the contest. Essays will be judged on the integrity and individuality of the point of view rather than on their value as a mere travelogue. Essays should be sent to Miss Dorothy Gaylord, contest secretary, Beekman Tower, 3 Mitchell, New York.

REGULAR MEETING HELD

The Shakespeare club met at Dr. Kohler's new apartment in Kimball Sunday afternoon, March 10, for their regular bi-monthly meeting. The afternoon was spent in reading and discussing the two one-act plays: "The Riders to the Sea" and "The Hour Glass". At the end of the afternoon refreshments were served.
