Grid Opener Kick-off Rally In Front of Lausanne Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock all Willamette students are urged to form in front of Lausanne hall for a pep rally in preparation for Saturday afternoon's game between Willamette and Cal Poly.

Coach Ted Ogdahl will introduce the Willamette football team, with yells and songs to be led by the Pep Band and the 1954-55 rally squad, according to Ted Primrose and Marilyn Waterman, yell king and queen, respectively.

The Pep Cats will also participate in the rally and will be required to sit in a special section at the game Saturday. There will also be a special section for Willamette students, but segregation of the sexes will not be enforced.

Members of the 1954-55 rally squad include Marilyn Waterman, Ted Primrose, Jim Jones, Skeet Shepard, Bobbie Sjoding, Pat Beckwith, and Marilyn Parker.

Keith Mirlock will be in charge of the Pep Band tonight.

'54 Fusser's Guide Goes to Press Soon

Earlier distribution, continued larger advertising, and a cut in production cost have been promised for the 1954-55 Fusser's Guide which is due to be distributed in the near future, according to co-editors Elfan Erickson and Tom Murdoch.

Murdoch and Erickson stated that the difference in the size of pages as instituted in last year's guide not only slows down the printing process, but adds 75 dollars to the production cost. Thus, all pages will be a standard size in order to help defray hardships being suffered by the publications department due to increased printing costs.

As soon as galley proofs are read they will be distributed to all living organizations, in Eaton hall, and at the Law school. Students are asked to check the galleys for their name and make any necessary corrections.

The cover for this year's guide was designed by Loyal Howard. Don Agnew is serving as business manager, Arda Lien serves as assistant to the editors.

Copy was checked for readability in registration lines both Saturday and Monday so as to speed the copy to the printers.

Speech-Debate Call

New and returning students who are interested in intercollegiate speech and debate activities are invited to attend the first forensic squad meeting of the year to be held Tuesday afternoon, September 28, at 3 o'clock in Room 203 Waller hall.

Once again this year Willamette will participate in debate, discussion, oratory and extempore and after-dinner speaking events on campuses throughout Oregon, Washington and Montana.

The new college question for debate is: "Resolved: that the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the communist government of China."

Petitions Due Friday For Chapel Chairman

Petitions are due next Friday in the office of Dr. Thomas Bennett in application for chapel committee chairman.

The petitions are to be considered by the Inter-Faith council, the coordinating group of student religious activities and announcement of the new manager made later.

Duties of the chairman include wielding the gavel on the committee which administers the Thursday religious services. The committee arranges for speakers, chapel attendance slips and the music for the services.

Saddle Fan May Find Speech Easier Than Falling Off Cliff

When Dr. Howard Runkel and Marion Rutledge cast their votes tomorrow for impromptu and after-dinner speech topics for this year's Oregon collegiate competition, Marion may well be in favor of an equestrian theme. Any speech she made could incorporate a firsthand experience of how she fell off a cliff with a horse—and she now wears a cast to prove it.

Dr. Runkel, head of the speech department, and Marion, veteran member of the speech squad, will help determine both after-dinner and impromptu topics at tomorrow's meeting at the University of Oregon. Representatives from all Oregon colleges will be present.

Marion will attend on crutches because of the early August accident. Her horse, Mickey, had been eager to go home after an afternoon's excursion. Marion pulled the reins to change his mind, Mickey wheeled, and the

Smith Responds To Waiter Plea, Halts Pool Plan

By DUANE ALVORD
Collegian News Editor

President G. Herbert Smith announced in separate meetings before Baxter hall housemothers and the student petitioning committee Wednesday that the proposed rotation of waiters throughout the fraternity wings and the independent unit has been indefinitely postponed in hopes that the present system of unit waiter service will handle the situation in an economical and functional manner.

Several of the housemothers, all head waiters, and the presidents of all the living organizations assembled in Baxter hall had petitioned the administration protesting against an "economy" move which would have rotated waiters throughout the hall. The waiter rotation plan had been presented with the meal ticket plan, and the glass-of-milk-a-meal edict all of which were to have gone into effect this fall to offset an $11,000 loss suffered last year by Baxter hall.

In announcing the change in plans, he went on to add that waiters would be "on trial" and that the present waiter set-up would be on a month-to-month basis. Any uncorrectable violations would be met immediately with the rotation plan, Smith said.

Housemothers were asked to pledge their help in seeing that things go smoothly and to see that no one gets a free meal. Waiters, in turn, are now required to attend a meeting with Miss Lorena Jack, director of dormitories, at least once every two weeks in order to discuss problems and suggestions which arise.

Meets Wednesday

Future Teachers of America will open the year's program Wednesday night at 7:30 in Christo Cottage. Students interested in or undecided about the teaching profession, including freshmen and sophomores, are invited to attend. Special speakers and discussions are slated throughout the year.

PRESIDENT SEAGRAVES Faced With Crises

Registration Totals Near 1000 Mark

Over 998 students have registered for fall semester at Willamette university, it was revealed today by Registrar Harold B. Jory. A breakdown in the early figures indicate a two to one ratio of men over women.

Tabulations show 511 men and 322 women registered in liberal arts, with 23 men and 49 women enrolled in the music school. The College of Law has registered 92 men and one woman thus far.

It is expected that late registration, which will continue for two weeks, will push the total enrollment well over the 1000 mark.

New Varsity Varieties Manager Sets Tryouts in Waller Tuesday

TRYOUTS FOR Willamette university's annual "Varsity Varieties" will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening from 3:00-5:00 and 6:30-8:00 in the chapel of Waller hall, it was announced today by Clarine Woolery, newly-appointed Varsity Varieties director.

MISS WOOLERY assumed the management when Tom Larson was forced to relinquish it because of his audition with Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" in New York City later this month. Bob Alfred has been appointed as co-director.

BOTH MISS WOOLERY and Alfred stressed that all talent of any type will be welcomed at the auditorium. This year's theme, it was pointed out, has been selected so as to accommodate all types of talent.

THE THEME this year will again remain secret until opening night, which has been set for Friday, October 22. The event is held in conjunction with Parent's Weekend which

Ringnald to Speak To Unitarians Sunday

Dr. Marco Ringnald, professor of journalism, will speak at the Salem Unitarian Fellowship Sunday at 10:30 a.m. His topic will be "The Gift of Tongues."

The Unitarian Fellowship meets in the Salem Woman's Clubhouse at 460 N. Cottage, south of the Congregational church.

All But Seniors To Nominate Class Officers

Class nominations for the all-school election October 4 get underway today at 3 when the freshmen name officer candidates in Waller hall. Juniors and sophomores will nominate next week, but a reported "crisis" in the senior class will reinstate old officers without an election.

SENIOR CLASS president Chuck Seagraves, elected for the spring term last year, declared that all elections concerning the seniors will be temporarily postponed.

"We cannot take the chance of having an election at such a time of crisis," he said. "It is my intention to uphold the democratic heritage of '55, but the situation necessitates my continued leadership."

When quizzed on the nature of the crisis, Seagraves referred to "divided loyalties" and refused to comment further.

NOMINATIONS of the other two classes will follow regular procedures next week. Juniors will meet Tuesday at 12:45 p.m. in Waller and sophomores are slated for a Monday noon meeting in Waller.

Presiding over today's freshman meeting will be temporary president Steve Nason, assisted by secretary Maureen Day and sergeant-at-arms Jim Alexander. The trio were elected by the class of '58.

Top Bar Record Set By Willamette Class

An outstanding percentage of those passing the Oregon or Washington bar exams was earned by the College of Law class of 1954. Eighty-one percent of the original class at graduation passed the examination during the summer.

The figures were released this week by Dean Seward Reese of the Law school. He went on to point out that only a little over 11 percent of those entering the law school in 1951 for the three-year course of study had to be dropped or left for other reasons.

Out of the graduating class of 25, seven failed the exam but five of these transferred to Willamette from other law schools and were thus not a part of the original class.

Among other law schools in the state, the nearest figure to Willamette's record was one with 38 percent of the original class passing the bar exam.

Off With the Old

Homecoming, this year set for November 13, gives the University a fine chance to kick up its heels and show townspeople and alums what it can do in the way of celebration.

We think the best way to do this is with rousing, colorful parade that will appeal to the eye as well as the spirit of onlookers.

In past years the efforts made to show Homecoming to Salem have either grated on the finer sensibilities of the people or have been undernourished. Two years ago the raucous-sounding noise parade was replaced by a torchlight parade that wound up littering the city's streets.

Last year a step in the right direction was taken with a colorful costume parade set to the tune of an old-time theme. We believe the idea of a parade, if developed, would appeal to Salem residents and alums and serve to call attention to the football game and the central theme of Homecoming.

Under past Homecoming planning it would be difficult to prepare for an extensive parade because of the conflict in demand for the talents of students. To remedy this, the sign contest should be eliminated and more effort could be directed to a bang-up Homecoming parade.

A well-planned parade the day before or the day of the game would serve to call attention to the campus event; it would raise the spirit of the onlookers and participants. As it is, completion of the signs is a signal to drop into bed or doze in class, neither designed to spread much Homecoming cheer.

A further point is that the women could team up with men on the construction of floats. The former have always had a difficult time handling many of the heavy pieces necessary to building a sign. By joining with the men, their talents could be directed toward lighter tasks.

We don't think by-passing sign building would take away too much tradition. On the contrary, it would offer an event alumni could look forward to watching—a return to the intended purpose of a Homecoming.

SB ROUNDTABLE

First Veep Sounds Off

The opportunities for participation in social events on the Willamette campus are many and varied. The student who limits himself to one field of social life or fails to participate in any way in our many activities is only cheating himself out of an opportunity to develop himself socially as well as scholastically.

If you don't think that this school offers a wide selection of social activities, just take a look at what's coming up in the near future. First of all there will be the activities carnival where all of the different groups on campus will have a booth to show you their activities and interests. This will be followed by open meetings of the groups where you will be welcome to attend and learn more about the groups. They will be scheduled and posted within the next few weeks; watch for them!

OTHER APPROACHING events that you will be interested in are plays, exchange firesides, the military ball October 8, house dances, retreats, the AWS picnic, international weekend, homecoming and parents' weekend, to mention only a few.

Then there are athletic events. We open our home football schedule tomorrow against a tough Cal Poly team. This will be followed by games with Whitman, Linfield, College of Idaho, Lewis and Clark, and two or three others. We've got a top team this year and a swell rally squad to lead us in cheering for them so let's not stop at just attending Willamette's games. Let's really bring out the old spirit and support our teams right through football, basketball and baseball seasons.

TO HELP YOU keep posted on all of the approaching events a large social calendar is found on the bulletin board in front of the student body office in the basement of Waller hall. We are also going to distribute personal social calendars to all of you this year.

The approving, regulating and scheduling of activities is done by the social activities board. This board has the power to regulate all student social functions and is answerable only to student council. Our meetings are held at least every other Thursday at 4 p.m. and are open to all of you. Agendas announcing time, date and business to be taken up at these meetings are posted around the campus well in advance of meeting times and we welcome any of you who are interested to attend these meetings.

If you are unable to attend these meetings you are encouraged to read the minutes which are also posted on the many bulletin boards around campus. If you have any questions or ideas about social activities, contact us at any time and we will talk them over with you.

We are offered a large and varied social life on Willamette, but only if you take interest and participate. It's up to our part will we get the most out of this part of our life. Let's all work together to make our points socially, and scholastically.

Sincerely,
Chuck Carter
President, ASWU

Candidates have been selected for Little Colonel of the Third Annual Military Ball, to be held Friday evening, October 8, at 9 o'clock in the Crystal Garden ballrooms.

Representing Lausanne hall in this beauty and personality contest is Marilyn Hanthorne. Alpha Chi Omega has selected Darlene Snodgrass as their candidate, while Chi Omegas honored Sharon Sittser by asking her to represent them. Mary Mills will be Pi Beta Phi's entrant, and Delta Gamma's contestant is Esther Gwilliam.

Jerry Siefarth, general chairman of the dance, has announced the selection of committee chairmen. Bob McConville will be master of ceremonies and head the Little Colonel selection committee. Other chairmen are Ward Slight, publicity; Neil Daugherty, decorations; Gerry Cruse, refreshments, and Dick Adams, cleanup.

Plans are being made for some new duties for the 1954 Little Colonel, which may include presenting the drill team at their first exhibition drill, announcing the AFROT chorus on their annual television broadcast, and accompanying the drill teams in an escorted limousine in any parade in which they participate.

Tickets for the Military Ball are $1.50 a couple, and may be purchased in all men's living organizations.

AWS Sponsors Picnic

Members of AWS will hold their first function, a wiener roast, at Bush's pasture next Wednesday at 5:30 p.m., announced general chairman Sue Pratt.

Entertainment, planned by Don Denman, will consist of the Pi Phi Quartet, a "Lion Tost," group singing led by Jessie Weaver, and a softball game.

Love Trap Women

Two freshmen women received a surprise Wednesday evening when they discovered that "publicity" pictures they were told to have taken were a hoax. They went to the SAE house and there discovered that they were the victims at the SAE Kidnap Dinner. After dinner they were initiated into the Magnanimous Order of Custodians of Minerva's Lion. Adding to the suspense of the evening was the fact that the women didn't know when they would be released, but the lion lovers escorted them safely home at 8 o'clock.

Knife in the Ribs Ends Venice Love Triangle

Of WU's Nomadic Populace Recounting the Adventures

By GEORGE BLEILE
Collegian Writer

Stabbings, the canals of Venice, cathedrals, symphonies, bicycle riding and a night in jail are some of the experiences a representative group of returning Willamette globe trotters relate.

STEALING ANOTHER fellow's girl is serious business in Venice, according to Bob Straumford and Ellis Von Eschen who saw one jealous suitor take a knife between the ribs during a quarrel over a girl. A second stabbing they witnessed in Tangier, North Africa, had no apparent motive. Aside from crime the two saw most of the sights in the 14 countries they visited in their 8,000 miles of travel by rented English Austin auto.

Dr. Thomas Bennett's bicycle tour, one of five tours taken by Willamette students, ran off on schedule with the group staying in native hostels and camping out in the open. Several times rain proved to be an unexpected bed-fellow to the cyclers.

OF PRIMARY interest to the group were art museums, cathedrals and other cultural features, although a very intimate look at the country side and people resulted from bicycle travel.

For Ray Owens, a member of Dr. Bennett's group, getting home from New York proved to be more difficult than travel in Europe. While hitchhiking through a small Iowa town he was housed overnight by a friendly marshall in the local jail when nothing better could be found.

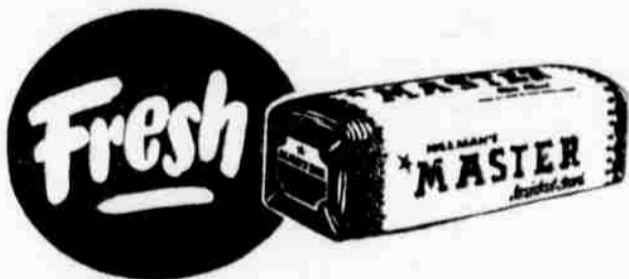

On purely a pleasure tour, Mrs. Merle Kaufman, Pi Beta Phi housemother, visited western European culture centers by train and bus with a party of 12 others.

Wet Threat Faces Frosh Twice-a-Week

"You'll get wet if you don't wear your rook lid every Tuesday and Friday," Letterman club president Norm Dversdal warned freshmen this week.

Enforcement of the twice-a-week lid wearing requirement in effect today will be made by the lettermen, who will also be in charge of Kangeroo Court consequences in October 5.

Freshmen without a cardinal and gold cap may still purchase one in the book store, Dversdal said, and they must wear them at least until Homecoming — when the freshman-sophomore pushball contest will decide their further fate. A freshman victory would mean the end of rook lids.

The twice-a-week regulation is a departure from previous years when rook lids were worn every day of class.

Artist Series Tickets Go on Sale Monday; Lee Month Rotarian

The fall ticket-selling spree of the student-sponsored Distinguished Artist Series will start Monday with a "personal contact" approach. Student season tickets are $4.80 and reserved seats are $6 and $7.20, said Manager Bill Briggs in student council Wednesday.

Series slate includes a Sigmund Romberg festival starring Virginia Mac Watters, soprano, Nov. 3; Segovia, concert guitarist, Nov. 30; Piatigorsky, cellist, Feb. 23; and Iva Kitchell, ballet satirist, April 13.

Benny Lee was selected as Rotarian-of-the-Month for September for his work as manager of orientation week. President Menashe introduced Prof. Don Glecker as the new student advisor.

Tom Steeves was named to head up the campus blood drive to get under way sometime before the Christmas recess.

On a motion by Barbara Jackson, the council decided to authorize the appointment of a committee to write a school "alma mater" to replace "Old Historic Temple." It was pointed out by Ken Cooper, student body member-at-large last year who has been working on the possibilities of an official school alma mater, that the present hymn now being used has never been made official and is not generally received to be appropriate for the purpose. The committee will be announced next week.

The "Old Historic Temple" will be sung until such time that an official alma mater is adopted.

Russian Call

A non-credit beginning class in Russian is now being formed by Ardo Tarem of the Salem YMCA. Tarem is a native of the Baltic region and speaks several languages. Students interested should contact him at the YMCA during the day or call 4-3736 in the evening.

Entered at the Postoffice at Salem, Oregon, for transmission through the mails as second class matter. Published weekly except during examination and vacation periods. Subscription rate $1.50 per year.

State Department Names WU As Foreign Exchange Member

Willamette has been commissioned by the special services division of the Department of State as an Exchange-Visitor program member.

UNDER THE program students from the following foreign countries will be eligible for study: Malaya, Taiwan, Indonesia, Norway, Great Britain, N. Ireland, Austria and the Philippines.

The foreign students must be sponsored through one of three means authorized under the program. The means include scholarships or grants from the University, part-time employment provided under campus auspices or grants awarded by private groups or organizations "in the general interest of international academic exchange."

It will be possible under the program for the sponsor to select a foreign student without taking the matter to the Department of State.

PRESIDENT SMITH was notified last week of the University's selection for participation in the program by Ivan Nelson, acting chief of the special services division. The University was selected under the U. S. Information and Education Exchange act of 1948.

Officers in charge of the exchange visitor program are Deans Ewalt and Hatfield.

Ratification of Willamette's selection was also relayed to the American Consul offices in the countries concerned and the commission of immigration and naturalization. This advance notice aids in expediting the entrance of foreign students.

Parents' Weekend Preparation Starts

Preparation for a successful Parents' Weekend, this year scheduled October 22-24, was kicked off this week by Dave Finlay, manager.

A call was issued this week for workers to help with the annual event which fetes parents for a weekend.

Cards extending invitations to all parents were sent out by students at registration time, and Finlay urged all to write personal letters asking their folks to be on hand for the event.

A list of activities is scheduled including Varsity Varieties, the student talent show, the Linfield ball game, and church attendance by students and their parents at the church of their own choosing.

YR Meet Set

All are invited to attend the first meeting of the year of the campus Young Republican club Tuesday evening. President Don Norris said this week.

The meeting will be held at the Beta Theta Pi house at 7 p.m. Discussion will include a proposed membership drive and the Young Republican state convention slated for Pendleton in mid-October.

McMinimee Advises Lawyers to Be Social

State Senator Warren McMinimee advised College of Law freshmen Wednesday night not to bury themselves so deeply in law study that they lose contact with a well-rounded religious, social and political life.

McMinimee, a 1931 graduate of the law school, spoke to a banquet audience of 150 law faculty members, students and their wives at the annual fall law school kickoff dinner.

Introduced by Dean Seward Reese, the Tillamook attorney said that a lawyer should keep abreast of daily social forces and thereby as an individual "keep his head level and stay on an even keel." He said that young lawyers should not confine themselves strictly to their studies but should maintain a social life, should keep up on daily events and take part in church activities. Senator McMinimee asserted "it is no crime to be lawyer and a religious man."

'Cats Meet Mustangs In First Home Contest

Even with one solid win under their belts, the Bearcats from Willamette will have to buckle down this Saturday afternoon when they meet the tough and offensive-minded Cal Poly Mustangs from San Luis Obispo, Calif.

THE BEARCATS will be out to avenge the 52-7 loss handed to them last year by this squad. At the same time the Jasons may prove their worth to the Northwest conference as league contenders. The first conference game looms next week.

The Cal Poly eleven, coached by LeRoy Hughes, boasts a strong and hard hitting line with a backfield composed of potential TD threats who could make it an afternoon of misery for the Bearcats.

ON THE LINE, the Mustangs have in Bob Heaston a coach's dream. Heaston with little all-coast and CCAA honorable mention behind him, is an answer to mentor Hughes tackle spots this year.

Along with Heaston, stands Vic Buccola at guard. A 205-pound senior, Buccola is the only hold-over from last year's first string all-conference squad. At the other guard spot is Joe Bosnich, another 205-pound senior with CCAA and little all-coast honorable mention behind him, gives the Mustangs plenty of know how through the center of the line.

This year's Cal Poly outfit can be looked upon as a passing threat, with top wingmen like Bud Chadwick, a 205-pound six-foot end combined with Jim Cox, a 6' 3" sophomore transfer from Antelope Valley JC where he made all-Southern-California JC end for 1953.

FOR THE MUSTANGS backfield, Coach Hughes has a troop of touchdown ball carriers who can run and pass. They showed their mettle last year in rolling up 395 points to 80 for their opponents.

Leading the Mustangs in the scamper department is Perry Jeter, a 184-pound scatback who led the team in scoring last year with 89 points and was voted Little All-Coast and All-Southern California small college in 1953. Teamed with Jeter is Thad Murrin a two-year letterman of the hard-running school, who can always be called on for those extra yards needed.

Rounding out the California squad is quarterback Bob Neal, a 1952 all-CCAA mention and the second half of the passing combination that the Mustangs plan on using this year.

In all, the Cal Poly gridders show plenty of color and football power and will make an exciting afternoon for the Willamettes.

The Bearcats, coached by Ted Ogdahl, will be planning on the same starting eleven that up-ended the favored Lumberjacks from Humboldt State college 19-10 last week.

LEADING the attack will be slender quarterback Harvey Neffendorf, a passing wizard, who can keep the Cal Poly defensive team in hot water all afternoon. Teaming up with Harvey

Jasons Upset Highly Favored 'Jacks' In Season's Opening Grid Contest

Led by the pin-point passing of Harvey Neffendorf, the fine receiving of Dean Benson and the hard running of Windy Sequeira and Lou Lofland the Willamette university Bearcats opened their 1954 grid campaign with a 19-10 victory over the highly rated Humboldt State crew of Arcata, California.

It was indeed an impressive win for the Ogdahl bunch as they entered the contest underdogs by two touchdowns, and it looked just that at kickoff time as the Bearcat backfield fumbled the ball with the Lumberjacks quickly turning the miscue into a field goal for a 3-0 lead.

For awhile in the first quarter, it looked as if the old jinx of not winning opening grid tests was going to be changed for the "Jacks," but fine passing on the part of Harvey Neffendorf and the catching of end Dean Benson soon shattered the HSC visions, as Benson caught a fingertip pass from Neffendorf to go ahead 6-3.

Guard Gordon Chung recovered a Lumberjack fumble on the Humboldt 35 to set up the second WU TD. Six plays later, featuring Lou Lofland, Windy Sequeira and Fullback George Bardsley the Bearcats punched the ball across for its second touchdown to make it 13-3 at halftime.

Coach Phil Sarboe had the Lumberjacks fired up for the second half as they charged back for a quick and exciting 79-yard pass play to get within three points of the Bearcats, 13-10.

But that was as far as the Sarboes could go. The Willamette line tightened and late in the third quarter all-conference guard Andy George grabbed a Humboldt State fumble in mid-air and raced 38 yards for the Bearcats to go comfortably ahead 19-10.

In the first quarter, HSC looked like a threat to the CCAA conference crown as quarterback Merle Habgo connected with passes left and right with his receivers catching them in all positions and angles.

Although the Lumberjack showed plenty of power in outgaining the Bearcats in total yardage 280 to 237, the Ogdahl's defensive team sharpened as the game progressed as did the offensive crew, outtotaling the "Jacks" in first downs 10-9.

One injury which could hurt the Bearcats was the severe charley horse in the leg of tackle Dave Anderson. Although the running of Sequeira and Bardsley were greatly missed during the second half with first game bruises. If all three respond to treatment the Bearcats should be in fine shape for the next grid contest.

Mixed Volleyball Play, Dancing Open to All

Willamette's women intramurals will begin this year with mixed volleyball starting the first week in October.

The women's living organizations will elect a representative next week and a program will then be set up which will have Willamette's men and women participating together in volleyball.

Also Folk and Square dancing for both men and women is being offered by the women's physical education department.

The class will be offered Monday's and Wednesdays at two o'clock. The class can be substituted for the regular PE credit.

'Mural Football Set for Oct. 2

Intramural touch football gets under way next week with one league scheduled for action. Due to a shortage in playing field accommodations, this year's 1954 mural program will consist of only one league in football.

Touch football will be played only on Saturday mornings beginning at 9:00 and with a one hour time limit, is the word from the intramural program committee meeting held last Wednesday morning with Les Sparks and mural manager Mike Hovis.

The league will consist of a single round robin and at the end of completion, the four top teams will play in a double elimination tournament. Teams participating are the four fraternities, Baxter hall and possible crews from the Law School and Wits.

Beginning October 4, inter-class basketball will start with each class electing its own coaches, managers and players. A definite schedule will be drawn later for practice hours and games.

The intramural basketball program will be set into motion on November 1, with all three leagues seeing action. This year, games will be played on Saturday morning with two other days to be picked later by the intramural committee.

Trying for number two, coach Ted Ogdahl will be directing his footballers in hopes of a Saturday afternoon victory against the strong Cal Poly Mustangs.

will be halfbacks Windy Sequeira and Lou Lofland the two WU scatbacks who are small but fast, and with just a slight opening here and there can go all the way for the Bearcats.

In the line, last year's only all-conference man, Andy George, will be teaming up with Bob Dyer and Ken Cooper, a hold-over 1952 all-conference center, to give the Ogdahls a strong middle line. Tackles will be Dave Anderson and Dale Greenlee or Sam Haina.

On the flanks are Dean Benson and Phil McCallister, two pass catching ends whom the Bearcats are relying on for deep penetration into Mustang territory tomorrow afternoon.
